A SINGING HEN (Erin's Isle).—There is no reason whatever why the hen should not breed successfully. The fact of her having already laid eggs seriously discounts the tale you have been told about her uselessness as a breeder. Many hens twitter quite cheerily, or "sing a few notes," as you put it, and are not less useful breeders in consequence. It is only in very exceptional cases where a hen really assumes singing powers comparing favourably with a cock that there are grave doubts of her success as a breeder.

WHICH IS FAULTY? (R. E. Gerton).—Really, I cannot say that either of the items of diet of which you enclosed samples is the cause of your birds dying. The canary seed is quite sound and of very fair quality; the biscuit food appears to be a mixture of two well-known brands, and is quite good and perfectly wholesome; and the colour is a very good sample of tasteless pepper, and therefore harmless. The colour certainly contains more oil than I like, though not more than many fanciers use, so this could not be the cause of death. Was the colour food given mixed in the biscuit food, and the full strength given quite suddenly, and did you remove the seed when you gave colour food? The answers to these questions might perhaps help to explain the deaths, but whatever the cause it was certainly not due to either of these items of food. The only really satisfactory way of clearing up the matter was to have had a post-mortem on one of the bodies.

A QUINTETTE (S. L. Thuthill).—(1) It depends solely upon the temperament of the three cocks, whether it is advisable to run them together in the aviary. If they agree well together the extra space they would have for exercise, would be very beneficial, but if they quarrel and pluck each other the scheme is, of course, impracticable. (2) The only effect upon their health would be to improve it; plumage also should be benefited, provided the birds do not pluck each other; the song would, in quantity at least, be badly affected. They would sing more and better caged separately. (3) It is quite too late to colour feed the birds now. This can only be done whilst the birds are moulting. (4) If it is a sash window push up the bottom two inches and place a strip of wood two inches wide firmly beneath the bottom sash. The air will then come in between the sashes in the middle, and be directed upwards. (5) Sawdust is undoubtedly the cheapest covering for floor. It is also very clean and healthful to use. But gritty sand is best during the breeding season, and at other times when sawdust is used grit must always be provided in a shallow vessel.

STARTING WITH WINNERS (Printerdom, Walworth).—As regards naming a fair price for birds capable of winning prizes, you set me an impossible task. To a certain extent it depends upon what you are willing to pay, but much more upon what the seller is disposed to consider the birds' value to himself, and, finally, upon the typical qualities of the birds, and the kind of competition they can win in. A bird may meet with little competition at one show, or only mediocre specimens, and thereby win easily, at its next show it may have to compete with better birds, or may itself be a little run down, or badly "got up," and thereby lose. A bird that could hold its own in any competition would probably not be easily bought for £10. But for moderately good birds that can stand a good chance of finding the tickets at ordinary open shows I should think you would have to pay something like £4 or £5 per pair. You could, of course, buy birds able to win and show them once or twice during the season as you suggest, but I think you would be better advised to put yourself in the hands of a good breeder, who breeds his own winners, and get him to supply you with one or two pairs, as may suit your pocket, of good stock birds, which are likely to breed winners. Start with birds of one strain, but not closely related, and do not mix up several different strains.

NOT MOULTING (A. T.).—You omit to say how old the bird is, and when she last moulted. Possibly she postponed her last moult until early this year, in which case it will be difficult to get her to moult again before next spring. Move her to a fairly warm room again, cover over the cage, and treat her as advised to "Greenie," last week, for two or three weeks, except that you should not take her back to the cold room until the moult is quite finished, in case it sets in under this treatment.

MAKES CLICKING NOISE (L. Cullen).—The symptoms you describe are the early stages of bronchial trouble. The bird has probably been exposed to cold draughts, extreme and rapid fluctuations, or impure air. See that any or all of these causes are avoided in future. Keep in a comfortable, but not overheated, place. In addition to usual seed diet, give half a teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake with four drops of sherry and two of cod liver oil emulsion, mixed in it and sprinkled with maw seed every second day for a fortnight. On the alternate days give a good sized spray of watercress. In the drinking water add six drops of syrup of rhubarb and as much sulphate of soda as will cover a threepenny-piece for three days, and afterwards 20 drops of whisky, five each of oxymel of squills and ipecac. wine, and two of eucalyptus oil well shaken in the water every second day for a fortnight.

UNFERTILE EGGS (May).—Your letter is not very clear. I am not certain after reading it whether you have had two or three nests this year. But, anyway, as you say the only cause was mating too early the remedy should be obvious—do not be so impatient next spring. As to the many causes of unfertile eggs you might have gleaned some knowledge from the article on unfertility now running in our columns, besides what you may gather from "Canary Breeding for Beginners." With the latter hand-book and the article in the current issue of CAGE BIRDS ANNUAL on overcoming difficulties you should be well able to avoid this trouble as far as it is possible to do so next season. Be careful to avoid mating too early. The end of March or first week in April is the best time to start breeding operations, and the only natural season. Treat during the winter as advised in the hand-book.

BUILDING BIRDROOM (S. J. C.).—Your ideas concerning the structure of the building seem so sound in a general way that I offer no criticism, and think you may safely go ahead with it. As regards the shape of the roof I would certainly take advantage of the wall at the back and build against it, making the room with a lean-to roof. It would be advisable, however, not to fully utilise the face of the stone wall as a part of the interior of your room on account of the harbour it is likely to afford for insect pests. Place a single thickness of boards over the face of the wall to form the back of the house inside. You make no mention of the floor or nature of the site, so I will venture to remark that if the site is affected by damp, considering the stability of your structure, it would be well worth your time and trouble to make a floor of concrete to build on, or raise the floor a foot or so off the ground.

ROLLER COCK DYING (An Anxious One).—I have very little doubt the cock died from congestion of the liver, which might well have been brought about by the bird feeding itself a little too luxuriously during the breeding season, though this was not absolutely certain to be the cause. Other predisposing causes might have been present, and the bird's age would not help it much. The food you name is used quite successfully by many fanciers, but, personally, I do not care for the long-continued use of any of these medicated foods, however good they may be for occasional use, and in special circumstances. Good wholesome fresh made egg and bread or biscuit food is still hard to beat as a generally useful soft food. I note you say the "soft food," which kind I am not clear about, does not in any way affect the old birds, but you mention only the loss of the six-year-old cock, and do not speak of losing any of the young. If I have not interpreted your wish correctly please write again, and I shall be pleased to help you as far as possible.

CONVERTING FOWL-HOUSE (Constant Reader).—With a very little alteration the house should make a most serviceable bird-room. The door in the end facing the high wall, where you have marked it will be the best place to put it, and a window in the front 4ft. by 2ft. 9in. or 3ft. will be ample. If the window is made to open so much the better. The ventilator should be placed in the highest part of the end in which the door is made, and a fanlight, or one on the model of a Venetian blind, but with the laths rigid and inclined upwards towards the outside would be best. It would really be better to have a ventilator in each end, but if you cannot alter the other end the one must do. As regards the floor if it is usually dry, and not permeated with dampness, it would be quite sufficient to beat down the mould quite firm and smooth, and put down a good thick layer of gritty sand to make the surface just a little higher than the mould outside. Arrange the cage along the back, and flights at the end opposite door.

BRITISH BIRDS, MULES AND HYBRIDS.

Answered by G. E. WESTON.

A.L.N.—If bathing the foot in comfortably hot water twice daily for a time, and afterwards "massaging" the toes gently with a little of some stimulating ointment, or liniment, has no good effect, then the case is hopeless. Birds crippled in this way are seldom cured; and in any case immediate treatment is necessary. I have heard of Mules being bred from a one-legged Linnet (one foot lost through an accident), but, personally, I should hesitate to try with such a bird, or with one which had the toes of one foot doubled up into, so to speak, a ball.

SCOTTIE.—Your outdoor aviary seems very well thought out; in fact, it is decidedly ingenious, while at the same time being thoroughly practical. I cannot suggest any important improvement now, although I should have advised its width being 3ft. instead of 2ft. had I been consulted earlier—even an additional 6 inches would have been a decided advantage. One idea will not work—that of converting the upper part into "sleeping quarters" in the winter. The birds would not go through the small holes shown in your plan. However, it is quite unnecessary to partition off the portion under the span of the roof; it will provide sufficient protection as it is. Just fix a number of short perches (about 4 inches long) high up under the roof, and the birds will roost on these, and be well sheltered. Keep the glass lights up both sides during the inclement weather, and, of course, those in the upper part of the front. I strongly advise you to give at least the chief seed separately; note other recent replies on this point. The birds you name are certainly not too many. Breeding results, however, are very unlikely with more than one or two pairs; in any case, the Yellowhammers are hopeless in this respect.

E. MATTHEWS.—Thanks for your letter. Am glad to know that my advice so quickly improved the condition of your Thrush.

A GOLDFINCH-GREENFINCH HYBRID (W.W.).—How do you know the hybrid is a cock bird, when you cannot tell whether it is through its moult, and what the chief markings of this variety are? As the bird was hatched on August 10th it is hardly likely to have moulted into adult plumage yet. The Goldfinch-Greenfinch cross is not very rare; on the contrary it is one of the commonest, and is easy to obtain. The value of an ordinary specimen is 10s. to 15s.; a really first-class show specimen would be worth three or four pounds, when in exhibition form. Goldie-Greenie hybrids are often advertised at but a few shillings each; note the Mule and Hybrid column recently in the advertisement pages. You should get that part of "Cage Birds Hybrids" which contains a coloured plate of an exhibition specimen of this cross (it is 7d. post free), then you would be able to see at a glance the chief markings.

A MOULTING PROBLEM (R.H.).—The condition you mention is solely the result of weakness due to the strain of the moult. Larks at this period should certainly have live food provided. The best medicine you can try is malt extract and hypophosphates (in combination). Get a small jar from a chemist, and accustom the bird to eating soft-food moistened in this; commence with a very small quantity, and gradually increase to about a small teaspoonful. Birds are shy at any change in their food; hence the reason for beginning with the small quantity.

A BALD BULLFINCH (W.H.C.B.).—Under the circumstances you cannot do better than try the effect of a few applications of a good healing ointment, which will improve condition of the skin, and maybe pave the way to a renewed growth of plumage. Try Kerol ointment. It is advisable to use it warm, to cause it to "work" as thinly and freely as possible. Apply a tiny smear with the tip of a finger, rubbing gently the way the feathers should lie. Repeat morning and evening for five or six days; then await events for a reasonable time. I hope it will have the desired effect. Sorry to hear of the accidental death of the Greenfinch.

THE "PEARTREE" BIRDS (Paddy).—The "pear-tree" Goldfinch is supposed to be a bird hatched in a pear-tree; and the said Goldie is supposed to be a superior sort of creature to his kith and kin hatched in other kinds of trees. Whether he is likely to be so in actual fact I will leave to your own common sense to decide. How is it possible to tell what kind of tree any given Goldfinch was hatched in?

A MULING QUESTION (A.H.).—I always lean to the Linnet and Canary as the best couple for the novice Mule-breeder to commence with. But given a well-behaved Goldie, or Greenie, then there is practically nothing between either of the trio. The Goldie when in high breeding condition has a clear beak, and is in full, vigorous song; the Linnet acquires a deep slate-blue beak, and is also in vigorous song. Don't mix queries for different specialists (not rules) or delay ensues in the reply.

A VARIETY (C. S. Harding).—I have never tried the limits of a Magpie's capacity for mealworms. I am not a wealthy man, you see. One might as well give cherries to pigs. Far better for getting a Magpie (young or old) into condition would be a nice plump freshly-killed mouse every day; or varied with a fat Sparrow. A few Blackbeetles, big and juicy, are also more than a little useful. I never yet had a Magpie which would not bathe, given a suitable vessel. In fact, all my Magpies have been perfect demons for their "tub," no matter whether the thermometer registered 100 in the shade or 10 below zero. You could turn the garden (plant) spray on to your bird, but don't half-drown him; no need to use warm water. Steep the feet a few times in fairly hot water, and afterwards rub them well, but gently, with a good liniment.

FOREIGN BIRDS.

Answered by WESLEY T. PAGE, F.Z.S.

AILING RING DOVE (E.A.B.N.).—(1) I can add nothing to my previous replies save that a round cage is a bad one, a good sized box with a wire front would be far better, but frankly, I consider that, considering the age of the bird and the condition the bird has got into (the round cage has done much to aggravate this) it would be kindest to chloroform the bird, as at its age but little relief can be given—put a few drops of chloroform on a sponge and put this and the bird into a close fitting box and it will quietly pass out of its misery. If you do not care to do this continue the treatment given in our previous replies for another month, but I consider it kindest to destroy it. (1) Waxbills do not take many mealworms; ask the vender to send small ones, one or two per bird daily will be ample. After they have become accustomed to them size will not matter. (2) Spray the birds with the quassia solution after they have had their bath. If your birds really have mites, the latter will be found in the cage, as mostly they do not remain on the bird during the day, but retire into crevices of the woodwork of the cage. Painting the crevices with fir tree oil is a good preventive, and dusting the birds with pyrethrum powder, especially under the wings and round the vent. Make a decoction of quassia chips, 2oz. to the quart of water, decant and bottle, take one part of the above to four of water for a spraying solution for small birds. It is often better to take the bird in the hand and wash (use a mop camel hair brush) and after thoroughly wetting the plumage, dab off the bulk of the moisture with a soft cloth. A few applications and an occasional washing should keep the pests at bay.

WHAT PARROT (W. Colquhoun).—(1) It is an Alexandrine Parrakeet, either a hen or young cock. (2) I have heard very many really accomplished Alexandrines, but they vary much, though as a rule most speak, at any rate, a few words. They take more teaching than a Grey. But you cannot expect any result till it has become quite and thoroughly accustomed to its new house and owners.

AFRICAN GREY PARROT (Derby).—I should much prefer to cut off all sweets from its dietary, and put it on a course of Dinneford's magnesia, putting one teaspoonful in its drinking-water every other day so long as its voidings are not watery-loose; when this occurs cease giving it for a time till the voidings become normal, then give a dose once a week to keep the bird going. If you desire to try your own remedy then dissolve three grains in one ounce of water and put five drops of this in the drinking water every other day for a week, then after a lapse of four or five days, renew the treatment for another week, but you must give the Dinneford's in between so as to lower its tone a little. Supply as much ripe fruit as the bird cares to take. I am also of the opinion that to foment the legs and feet with hot water, dry with a soft cloth, and then paint with whiskey, would give some relief. I should certainly advise the latter being done daily for fourteen days, and then report progress, keeping your own remedy in abeyance for the time being.

FOREIGN BIRD QUERISTS

All thoroughly practical and instructive. Prices quoted are post free from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet St., London, E.C.

BUDGERIGAR AVIARY (Amateur).—I take your query to read that you desire to give up the Budgerigars and devote the aviary to rearing Hybrids. You might try half-a-dozen pairs in it. Put in the following:—Hooded Siskin, Black-headed Siskin, Spice Bird, Hen Canaries, Goldfinch, Greenfinch, Linnet, Bullfinch, Silverbill, Cutthroat, Red-headed Finch, Grey Singing Finch, and Green Singing Finch, Bronze Mannikin, and Magpie Mannikin. You can easily make a choice from the above, but of course, there must not be a true pair of any one species in the aviary. If you put in plenty of cover in the shape of twiggy fir, heather, and other branches, and numerous nest receptacles, screening these with the branches, intruding upon their arrangements as little as possible, while attending to them, I think you might venture to put in nine pairs, with a reasonable prospect of several pairs rearing young. You must not expect every pair to breed, if you do, I fear there is a heavy disappointment in front of you.

WHAT TANAGER? (J. W. S.).—The only birds of the Tanagridae that range as large as Thrushes are the Saltators, which may be simply termed Giant Tanagers. There is a Blue-shouldered Tanager, and it is about the same size as the well-known scarlet Tanager, and yours may be that species, and you have overestimated its size. It will assist me if you as carefully as possible give me the measurement of your bird from tip of beak to tip of tail. It will probably assist you if I state that the Song Thrush measures 9 inches, and the Blackbird fully 10 inches.

CAGE OR AVIARY (Moss Side).—Your so-called aviary is but a large cage, but the arrangements will answer well. I should, however, have a wood and glass shutter to close over the front of it, for night use and during driving rain, especially during the winter months. In a cage of this size I should advise you to confine yourself to Budgerigars, as you desire some of these, and not to mix any of the Finch tribe with them, or, to give a little variety, say two pairs of Budgerigars (one pair each Green and Yellow) and one pair Blue-wing Lovebirds. It is better to have three pairs, with room to be happy and contented, than as many again with continual bickering, and usually more or less unfit. Use twiggy branches as perches, and hang up at least half-a-dozen small barrels or husks. They will thrive on a mixture of equal parts of canary seed and white millet, with an occasional millet spray and few oats, green-food (lettuce in winter), grit and cuttle-bone. You could keep with them, just for variety sake, a Red-crested Cardinal, who would have to have a little fruit (this would not harm the Budgies) and one or two mealworms per diem.

OUTDOOR AVIARY (Sussex).—(1) Re your plan, I should have No. 1 as open flight (wire netting at front, end and roof), No. 2 as flight covered in, open at front only, but with no partition between it and No. 1. No. 3 should be an enclosed shed, with a door in the middle of the partition between it and No. 2. The whole must be made weather-proof—no open fronts to let in draught, and the shed (No. 3) must be well lighted, or the birds will not use it; wire netting must be stretched over all glass on the inside, and for winter weather and night use a glazed shutter over the front of No. 2 would be an advantage. I should increase the height of it; you will see the birds better; make it 9½ft. at back and 8ft. at front, this fall will be ample. (2) Fifteen inches high will be ample for the boarding along front and end. Use only twiggy branches as perches (thick and thin) and put up an ample supply of nest receptacles, and make the open flight a jungle of evergreens, privet, grass and weeds. I should suggest the door to centre of No. 2.

FOREIGN BIRDS FOR PROFIT (A. Johnson).—It would not pay you to import the common species. Budgerigars and Cockatiels should certainly yield a little more than their keep with ordinary luck, but perhaps not during the first year. Do not overstock to begin with; get, say, three pairs, each pair from a different source, and then for a season or two you can safely leave them to interbreed without introducing fresh blood. I should only get one pair of Cockatiels, as more often interfere with each other's breeding arrangements. If you put up a roomy aviary, with shelter shed, open and covered-in flights, you could include pairs of Blue-winged Lovebirds and Rosella Parrakeets, but whatever you do, make your aviary roomy, so that the birds can get a good fly. Furnish with twiggy branches for perching accommodation, hang up a good supply of nest barrels and husks, and sow the open portion of flight periodically with canary seed, grass, and various cereals. Get our Nutshell, "Budgerigars," 7d., post free, from our manager, it will tell you how to feed, treat, etc.

BUDGERIGARS (Budgie). I would not destroy them at once, give them a chance indoors. So long as they are not in a draught, the cooler and more airy part of the room will be better for them, and so long as their voidings are not watery-loose put one teaspoonful of Dinneford's Magnesia into the drinking water every third day, and on the other days half a teaspoonful of Bynophosphates. Supply the usual seeds, millet and canary, also spray millet, a leaf of lettuce two or three times a week, a slice of apple daily, grit and cuttlebone, and leave the rest to nature. If the skin is dry, take them in the hand and lightly wash the skin (using a mop camel-hair brush), with tepid water, and partially dry with a soft cloth, protect them from draught and cold until dry—report progress in a month. If they will eat it, a crust lightly damped with tepid water and dusted with flowers of sulphur will help.

HILL MYNAH (H. Weller).—Soft food (insectile mixture), several good ones are advertised in our pages, ripe fruit, green food, boiled rice, milk puddings, boiled potato, scalded grocer's currants and sultanas, and live insects (spiders, beetles, etc); in the winter you will have to depend mostly on mealworms, say 10 to 12 daily. It is not necessary to give all the above on any one day, but from it you can keep a varied menu—the main diet being soft food, ripe fruit and live insects. A little minced meat may be given twice a week. It should be accustomed to take its bath outside its cage, or in a roomy one hung over the open cage door. They do not need coddling, but must be kept out of draught, and, when tame, a daily fly round the room will help to keep it fit, and while taking this exercise it should be accustomed to take its bath

BUDGIES SLEEPING OUT (O. Miller).—You need not worry, put up one or two husks in the open flight, in sheltered positions, and when the birds feel the cold they will use them. Is your shelter well lighted? If not, you must make it so; remove all your food vessels to the shelter, and the birds will become more accustomed to it, having to go there to feed. I do not think cold kills Budgies, in very severe weather they may lose toes with frost-bite occasionally; damp, muggy, raw weather, is more harmful than frost; they should get sufficient exercise in your aviary to keep fit. Do not add fresh birds till the spring, then you could put in one pair each Cockatiels and Rosella Parrakeets, and also a pair of Red-crested Cardinals—in addition to seed you would have to give a little fruit daily (the Budgies will be the better for this), and the Cardinals two or three mealworms each daily.

OUT OF PLUMAGE ("China.").—Nevertheless, splendidly as the bird has done, its condition now is the result of the unwholesome sops you have been giving. I note you have reverted to a more wholesome diet now, but I advise the following seed mixture for present conditions: One quart each canary seed and white millet, one pint each oats and hemp, half a pint each paddy rice and sunflower seeds, one gill each grit (not sand), shelled nuts, and half a gill of chillies—well mix, and keep a supply in cage. Also supply ripe fruit regularly, and a piece of any plain biscuit it fancies. So long as the voidings are not watery, put one teaspoonful of Dinneford's Magnesia in the water (it can be left in cage) every fourth day, and on the other days put half a teaspoonful of Byno-phosphates in the water. Dust under the wings and round vent with Keating's, or spray with quassia solution. Report progress a month hence.

BAD PLUMAGE (F. Folkard).—(1) Possibly old age, from what you say as to its claws; let it have its bath every other day, and in addition to canary and millet seed keep a millet spray in the cage, a small leaf of tender lettuce during the winter months. Do not omit to supply grit, and keep a piece of clean cuttlebone in the cage. Get a bottle each of Dinneford's Magnesia, and Bynophosphates (always useful in the bird-room), and of the former put 10 drops in the drinking water every fourth day so long as voidings are not watery, and on other days the same quantity of the Byno-phosphates. It may not thoroughly renew its plumage till spring; keep it where it will get light and air. (2) For the table cage get one pair each of Cordon Bleus, Gold-breasted Waxbills, Avadavats, St. Helena Waxbills, and Firefinches. Be sure and stand your cage where the bird will be quite free from draught.

KEEPING PARRAKEETS (Budding Avieulturist).—(1) Budgerigars, Blue-wing Lovebirds, Cockatiels, Rosella and Ring-neck Parrakeets, usually agree together well in a roomy outdoor aviary if not overcrowded. The two latter are a little larger than Cockatiels, but I have found them quite safe with the others. (2) Too large an order, individuality in the same species has to be considerd, too: Red-rumps, Blue-bonnets and Pennants are notoriously pugnacious as a rule, but there are exceptions. (3) There is not much moping in a roomy aviary, very few of the Parrakeets are lethargic under such conditions. (4) Red-crested and Green Cardinals and Thrushes and Starlings can usually look after themselves in a roomy aviary with the above, but it is not advisable to house small species with them, nor to annoy the Parrakeets with too many.

POST MORTEMS.

Mr. G. Yates, M.R.C.V.S., 1, College Road, Harrow, Middlesex, will examine and report upon dead cage birds for a fee of 1s. 6d. each bird; for reply direct, 2s. 6d.; analysis, 21s. Subjects for post mortem examination must be sent packed in a box direct to Mr. Yates, with the fee, this and any accompanying letter being kept from contact with the dead bird. Send by letter-post; it is cheaper and quicker than parcel post. Any bodies sent to the office of this paper will be thrown away, and if a fee is enclosed the loss will be the sender's.

GENERAL.

Answered by THE EDITOR.

R. Howard.—Sorry, but we have on several occasions dealt with similar ideas.

M.—We know nothing of the difficulties of which you speak (or, rather, of which the dealer spoke) and we think they must have been advanced in the nature of an excuse. There are any number of shops, etc., at which you could purchase the British and foreign birds you mention. The number of foreign birds on the market varies, naturally, from time to time.

Ajax (Wrexham).—We have sent your letter to our Mr. W. T. Page, who will answer the questions therein in the query columns of our next issue.

Thanks for the valuable information you gave me through your bright and interesting paper, CAGE BIRDS, on my Canary, writes Mr. T. H. Liffen (Battersea), and am pleased to say the bird is quite itself again.

The eighth annual show of the Deal and Walmer F.A. will be held on November 27-28, writes Mr. W. H. Thompson, 185, High Street, Deal, hon. sec. 1s. entry fee, good prize money and upwards of 70 specials. Entries close November 20. Mr. F. J. Gibbs, Canterbury, will judge.

A silver cup will be given, writes Mr. R. B. Wright, Hon. Sec. Anfield, Everton, C.B.S., for most points in the four open classes—Yorks, Green Mkd. one for the four open classes in Yorks. clears, and one for the four open classes, Yorks Greens., at our big open show to be held on Boxing Day, Dec. 26. Yorkshiremen please note.

I have to thank you, writes Mr. W. Binns, of Blackpool, for publishing the very good drawing of my Yorkshire, which won the second prize at the Crystal Palace show last season. I may say that I have not missed an issue of CAGE BIRDS for the last six years, and the hints and advice given in it have been a good help to me many times.

Some Questions About Young Blackbirds.

Sir,—Could any of the numerous readers of Cage Birds, inform me at what age young Blackbirds turn black; also what age they are when they come on full song? These birds were hatched at the beginning of April. Ardlenshaw Red Cross.

The Autumn Show of the London and Provincial O.S.

Sir, Accept my thanks for the fine report of our autumn show in your valuable paper, Cage Birds. Copies were on sale in the hall at 4 p.m. on Thursday, and I was giving particulars to one of your representatives at 10 p.m. on Wednesday night—surely a record in printing! I was pleased to see the report was a true and unvarnished account of the show, which is what we want in the Fancy, also a little more friendly rivalry amongst the societies, and not so much of the bad feeling and jealous rivalry that exists to-day. I should also like to mention that most of our outside entries came from sportsmen who saw our advert. in your paper, and not from the 1,200 schedules sent out by the society. I should like to thank my committee for the splendid way in which they worked at the show: the hall was absolutely cleared by 11 p.m. on Thursday night. I wish Cage Birds every success.

Are Canaries Too Old at Three?

A South African Reader's Opinion.

Sir. By the time this letter comes to hand, I daresay there will have appeared numerous replies to the query, "Are Canaries too old at Three?" but I trust that it will not be too late. I have a Norwich Plainhead cock well over 5 years at present, rearing 3 of his own young ones. He is mated with a three-year-old hen, and the latter laid three eggs, all full. I think "A Fancier, Senghenydd," can rest assured that the cause of infertile eggs when using the cock in question is not his age. I have had common Canaries fertilising their eggs at the age of six years and over. If the bird is in condition there should be no reason why he does not fertilise the eggs. It is essential for breeders of Norwich Canaries to trim the vents of this heavy-feathered variety. But great care must be exercised in doing so. Avoid clipping the few long feathers growing immediately from the vent, as the stumps of these feathers when cut will prevent both sexes from fertilising the eggs. The trimming should be done by clipping the underflue which covers the vent, quite clear. I have never found it necessary to trim Canaries other than the Norwich. I trust that this will be of some assistance to "A Fancier, Senghenydd."

Are Show Birds Stolen when at Shows?

Other Noted Exhibitors Answer "Yes."

Sir.—In answer to Mr. Turner's query in last week's Cage Birds, "Are show birds stolen when at shows?" I venture to say, in my humble opinion, "Yes." I sent two unflighted Norwich to the Manchester and N.C.O.S. show at Belle Vue last Thursday night, Oct. 24, by the 6.45 train from Leek, waiting to see them off myself, so am quite positive they were all right at this end. You may imagine my surprise, on going to the show on the Saturday, to find the yellow missing, and a miserable, dirty-looking old buff cock put in my cage in its place; in fact the bird was a disgrace to the show. It is quite clear that my bird was stolen by an expert. The other one I sent was claimed at catalogue price, £10 10s., but the stolen one was catalogued at £15 15s., so you will see which I considered the better bird. Evidently the thief also knew. On looking through catalogue, I find the buff marked "wrong class," so it was missing on Friday morning. The railway company state it was practically impossible for the bird to have been stolen while in their charge, as the train only has one stopping place, which is Macclesfield. If this is so, then the bird was stolen between Belle Vue station and the show-room, or from the show-room itself, as two gentlemen told me they held an argument on the strange bird's colour on Thursday night. It is patent to me the thief had plenty of time at his disposal, and also came ready prepared with the valueless bird to exchange for a good one, which dirty action, I am sorry to say, he accomplished without being found out. In the interests of the Fancy, it is quite time that we, as fanciers, banded together to try all in our power to bring to book the wastrels that are sneaking about the country stealing our best birds, or otherwise I am afraid the shows will suffer, and we shall hear far more of the now only too familiar cry—"Short Entries." It will not be safe to send the cream of our rooms away from home, unless we accompany them, and this is far too expensive for the majority of bird fanciers.

Leek. W. Whetstone.

Sir. Following upon Mr. Turner's report upon losing birds at shows, we have to mention that we have suffered the loss of one of our dark Mules while in transit from the L.P.O. show held last week. While not so valuable a bird as Mr. Turner's hen, we think it advisable to warn all fanciers so that they may be on their guard, as once successfully accomplished, these pilferings of other people's property will be bound to be continued by the person or persons concerned. This is the first loss we have had during four years of exhibiting. Cannot some means of securing our cases be invented? Secretaries and others object to the screwing down of lids, which would not take a moment to unscrew. We may mention that the bird was taken out of cage, which, with another, was placed facing the air-holes of case. We have put in a claim to the railway company, and have also placed the matter in the hands of the police. We should be glad if any fancier hearing of anyone trying to dispose of a dark buff Goldie Mule "fed" in any way suspicious would notify us at once. Before closing, would like to thank the secretary, Mr. C. W. Law, for the prompt manner in which he answered our enquiry re missing bird.

The Breeding of British Birds in Captivity.

Should Societies Encourage it?

Sir.—Would it not be to the purpose if societies encouraged the cage breeding of our British birds more than at present? I know the objection is that birds so obtained are never so strong as the wild variety, but surely what has been done with such success in the case of the Canary is not utterly impossible with every other bird. Perhaps if a little more patience were shown by fanciers with time at their disposal, we might at least in a generation or two—it could not be done in a few months—even the Canary did not attain to its present perfection in a year or two—we might at least possess domesticated varieties of a few of the wild birds most usually kept, say, the Goldfinch, Linnet, and Siskin among the hardbills, and possibly the Blackbird and Thrush in the Softbills. Larks I rule out altogether, for I do not think they ought to be caged under any conditions whatsoever. Amongst the foreigners the cage bred Bengalese are not half so often seen in our houses as they deserve to be, owing possibly to the difficulty of depending so entirely on imported birds. I should like to see prizes offered by the cage bird societies for the best cage bred "wild bird," if one may so call it. I think a little work in this direction would in time produce good results, and remove from us bird-lovers the stigma we undoubtedly labour under of caging creatures which have known freedom.

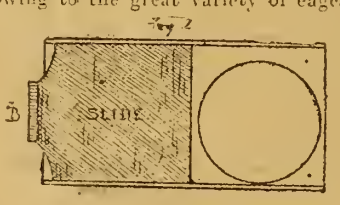
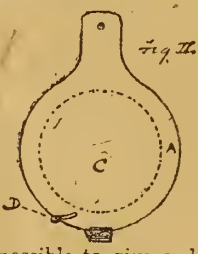
A Novel Decoy.

Sent by W. J. Williams, Ty Poeth, Cefn Cribbur, near Bridgend, Glam.

I think this decoy will prove useful. A stuffed bird acts splendidly. Or the dummy can easily be cut out with a knife from a piece of wood and be painted to imitate the bird you wish to catch. B shows the spring;





A, the staple for holding the thread down. When in working order the bird's beak comes down to the ground, appearing as if the bird was pecking away at some food. Standing a few yards off, it looks more life-like than ever.—W. J. Williams.

No. 613.
Two Useful Doors.

Sent by R. Barron, jun., Glen Cottage, The Glen, Waterford, Ireland.

I enclose sketches of two sliding doors for box-cages. They will be found very handy when shifting birds from one cage to another, as there is nothing to get in the way, as is usually the case with ordinary cages. The slide (fig. 1) is very easily made, but owing to the great variety of cages now in use it is impossible to give a definite size for it. Two pieces of tin are first got, one about half an inch wider than the other. The edges of the wide one are then bent down at about a quarter of an inch from each side, thus forming a groove for the other piece to slide in. Two holes about 2½ins. in diameter are then made, one in the side of the cage, the other (which can be square) in the piece of tin with the sides bent down. The end of the narrow piece is then cut and bent as shown at "B," Fig. 1. All that now remains to be done is to tack the piece of tin with the hole cut in it to the side of the cage and fit the slide into it. Fig. 2 is a more simply made door, only one piece of tin being required. Cut the tin to shape, as shown in "A." Next bore a hole 2½ins. in diameter in the side of cage, "C." Hang the piece of tin over the hole so that it covers it. Let it hang down straight and make a mark where end of slit is. Then put in a screw where mark "D" is to act as a "catch" and the door is complete.—Richard Barron, jnr.

TIMELY HINTS.

Two prizes of 2s. 6d. each (cash or our books to value, at option of winners) given weekly to the senders of the two best Hints. All hints must be WRITTEN ON POSTCARDS, with sender's name and address at foot.

Lino for Cage Tops.

I think my bird friends will find the following a useful hint when cagemaking. Tack linoleum firmly on top of the cage, for the roof, instead of wood, it is much lighter to carry, and I find no red mites in the cages finished in this way; it is easily taken off for cleaning.—Mrs. Mannsell-Eyre, Congresbury Vicarage, Somerset.

Red Mite and Carbolic Soap.

To prevent red mite getting between the cage rack and the cage bottom I find with great satisfaction that I have prevented the same all this season by rubbing the rack with carbolic soap; also if there are any cracks outside the cage it is a very easy matter to fill them up with the soap, as you will find out that it soon dries hard.—T. Tootill (63, Park Street, Farnworth).

How to Treat Mealworm Beetles.

[Winner of Half-crown Prize.]

When the beetles begin to appear, soak a piece of sacking in sweetened porter or sugar and water is nearly as good; and put it on top of the meal. The perfect insect (beetle) does not, as some suppose, feed on meal, but instead, requires moisture. With this treatment, the female will live longer and lay more eggs. Miss M. Dunn.

Cheaper than Enamel.

[Winner of Half-crown Prize.]

I have been reading with much interest the articles in Cage Birds re enamelling of cages. Now enamel comes very dear for a working man to buy, so I thought I could find a cheaper method. After the cages are thoroughly cleaned, I get a pot of paint the colour I wish, put plenty of "driers" in it, to get a good hard surface give two coats evenly, and sandpaper over each time. Then I get some "paper" varnish and give an even coat over that, and I find that is as good as enamel and much cheaper. Trusting this will be useful to someone else, and wishing Cage Birds the success it deserves.—T. Jones, 389, High St., Smethwick, B'ham.

CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE.

Owing to severe pressure on our space, notes by the Secretary are unavoidably held over.

How to become an Associate.

Many readers of Cage Birds have written to say that they would like to join Cage Birds' League, but cannot afford the subscription. To meet their wishes we have decided to form, in connection with the League, a body of Associates. All we ask of these Associates is that they will promise to give every possible attention to the wants of their birds. And they must induce others to see that their birds are kept happy and contented.

All that the intending Associate has to do is to sign the coupon herewith, get five of his or her friends to sign each a similar coupon, and send the six, together with a penny stamp, to the Secretary of Cage Birds' League, who will forward by return an enamelled Button Badge of the League. There will be no other charge. NOW, THEN, BIRD LOVERS! USE YOUR BEST EFFORTS IN THIS SPLENDID CAUSE.

PAIGNTON.

Sixth annual show of the Torbay O.S. held Oct. 30, in the usual venue, the Badminton Hall, and a better place for a show it would be hard to find, as it is lofty, well lighted, and quite free from draughts. The exhibits were staged right round the room, the centre as usual being reserved for a nice display of chrysanthemums and foliage, kindly lent by the president, H. Whitey, Esq. The quality all round was most excellent, and the entry was within two of last year's. Mr. Collings captured special for best in Nor. and Yorks. sections with the winning cl. yell., a grand exhibit. The winning Hybrid which captured the special, Mr. E. J. Lamb's Linnet-Bullfinch, is a gem. All the exhibits were well looked after by a thorough lot of fanciers, which comprised the committee, of whom A. N. Innes, Esq., is the popular chairman. Mr. J. N. Jeffery again held the secretarial reins, and we need hardly say that he was well on top of his work, and had everything working as smoothly as clockwork. He received valuable assistance from his son, Mr. J. Jeffery, the assist. hon. sec., and we think the society are fortunate in having such genial and capable officials all round. Mr. J. H. Payne judged, and his awards were well received.

WISBECH.

Third open show held Oct. 30, in the Selwyn Hall, which is a very suitable place for the purpose well lighted and free from draughts. Everything was carried out in a very perfectly satisfactory manner under Messrs. Ward and Cookson, secs., with a good staff of stewards, who gave the very best attention to the birds. Mr. J. Mackley judged, and his awards were received with every satisfaction. YELL. CL. OR TKD., CK. (8): Good class, all there for type and qual.: 1, sp, Brooke, grand exhibit; 2, Wilmot, close up; 3, Beilby; vhc, Bishop; he, Handley and Son; c, Keech and Son. BUFF CK. cancelled. YELL. HEN: Grand class this: 1, Edmunds, lovely hen, good wing carr., very useful; 2, Alpe, not quite so typical as winner; 3, Keech and Son, very nice lady; vhc, Beilby; he, Handley and Son, true Norwich type, with the best of head; c, Alpe. BUFF HEN cancelled, must be something wrong here. YELL., 1912 cancelled. BUFF, 1912 (8): Might have made two lots of winners here: 1, Handley and Son, grand bird, lovely head and neck, stands out well; 2, Goodman, very nice typical exhibit; 3, Bishop, close up; vhc, Wells; he, Goodman; c, Handley and Son. CREST, ETC., cancelled, also BRIT and A.O.V. cancelled. SELL., 25s. (13): Contained some cheap birds: 1, Handley and Son; 2, Harper; 3, Bishop; vhc, Harrold; he, Thompson; c, Rogers. 15s. (18): 1, Dawson; 2, Bennells; 3, Ramsdale; vhc, Thompson; he, Beilby; c, Harrold. MEMBERS (12): Good class: 1, sp, 2, no name, two grand birds, not much to choose, all there for type and qual.; 3, Beilby, variegated yell., lovely qual., but not the substance of winners; vhc, Mrs. Harper; he, Harrold; c, Rogers. NOV. (8): Some very nice birds in this class: 1, Courts, cl. yell., lovely qual.; 2, 3, he, Breeze, nice exhibits; vhc, c, Courts.

LISKEARD.

Annual show Oct. 30. The birds were staged at the end of the Market Hall, in a splendid light, and absolutely free from draught. The policy adopted this year of confining the competition to Cornwall did not meet with encouraging success. Time was when Liskeard show was looked forward to by all Western cage bird fanciers as one of the events of the year, but of late the committee have not been supported as they have deserved, whether the show has been open or confined. Perhaps if the bolder policy of open competition is adopted another year, things may improve. The entry numbered 89 in 14 classes, three classes being cancelled. Norwich was the strongest section, some real good specimens being staged. The Mule class was hot, two Goldie-Bullies having to put up with cards only. Messrs. Smith, Quilter, Kingdom, Martin, Wills, and Broad were the committee responsible for the management. The secretarial duties were ably carried out by Mr. Jones-Robins. Mr. E. White, Doublebois, judged in a most painstaking manner, and his awards were well received.

SHEFFIELD C.B.S.

33rd annual members' show, held Oct. 26, Montgomery Hall. Entries came up well, 254 birds being staged. Quality was very high. Many would be able to hold their own in open competition. A notable feature is the increase in the Norwich Section, which bids fair to outnumber the Yorks. Twelve yellow cocks in one class is a great improvement. Cup winners: Yorkshires, Mr F. Elliott, closely followed by Mr. J. Thorpe, with one point less; Norwich, Mr. A. H. Waters; Crest, Mr. Memmott; and Brit., Mr. P. Walsh. The stewards, Messrs. J. A. Curley and W. Simmonite, carried out their duties in a very efficient manner. Mr. J. H. Roe judged.

PUDSEY, STANNINGLEY, C.B.S

Third members' show of the season held Oct. 26, at the Fleece Hotel, Stanningley. The entry was splendid, 113 birds being on view. Quality also was good all round, especially in hens. Mr. P. Armstrong, Halifax, judged, and had no light task considering the bad light during judging, but he got through his work in a very able manner. Principal point winners: W. Richmond 27, E. Marsh 25, Towler and Hargreaves 23, F. Page 19, H. Taylor 13, W. Wainright 13, A. Noble 12, and J. Butler 8.

STRATFORD & EAST LONDON FANCIERS ASSOCIATION.

Annual young stock show, held at the Workmen's Hall, Stratford, Oct. 24. The show was a splendid success, but it seemed a pity to crowd it into an evening fixture. Judging did not commence until after 6 p.m., so that visitors were allowed very little time to view the exhibits and ascertain the winners, although cards were up with exceeding promptitude and the arrangements were splendid. The quality was really first class. Mr. W. Maxey, the hon. secretary, is deserving of the greatest congratulation for his "never say die" policy with regard to the Stratford Society. "We are not dead yet," he said to the writer, with a merry twinkle in his eye. And surely ninety exhibits at an evening show bore striking testimony to the truth of Mr. Maxey's remark. Special for best Canary was won by Mr. G. A. Parker with a very smart Buff Yorks., second best, Mr. A. G. Leech, and third, Mr. A. L. Hawkes, sen. Special for best British bird fell to Mr. A. L. Hawkes for a rattling fine Missel Thrush; while Mr. J. Reed annexed the specials for best foreign bird, and also best cage bird in show, with a topping Glossy Starling, in splendid fettle. The show was thronged with visitors until its close. Mr. Geo. Gardner judged.

On getting our CAGE BIRDS recently, we were delighted and surprised to see our Buff Yorkshire on the front page, writer Messrs. Frost and Rogers (Brighton). It is a good likeness of him, and does the artist credit. We hope to win a few more prizes this coming season with him

Mr. Yeldart, of Otley Rectory, Ipswich, writes in the "Strand Magazine," that a Tom-tit found a novel place for a nest in the throat of a large wooden crocodile, where the young birds were to be seen. The crocodile is the work of Mr. Charles Scrutton, of Otley, and stands outside his house close to the high road. The bird discovered a secure retreat for her young in one of the most unlikely places where a nest would be looked for.

The following are the judges for Paisley O.A. Show, Jan. 1st and 2nd, writes Mr. W. Lambie, sec.: Scots Fancy, J. D. Maxwell, (Laurieston), J. Hannay (Dumfries), J. A. Stewart (Cathcart), A. M. Baird (Paisley), J. Watson (Glasgow), J. Hunter (Irvine); Norwich, Allan Chalmers (Kirkintilloch); Bord. and Yorks., R. Lambie (Whitburn); Mules, Hybrids, Brit. and For., A. Craig (Tollcross). The Thomas Love Cup, which was won outright last year by Mr. J. Fulton (Paisley), is to be replaced this year by another. The donor, the widow of the late Thomas Love, has very generously offered to provide, as long as she lives, a silver cup for competition, Scots Fancies, in memory of her late husband.—Wm. Lambie, Sec. and Treas. P.O.A.

GRIMSBY.

Grimsby and Dis. O.S. held their sixth annual show Oct. 30 and 31. The King's Hall, in which the exhibits were housed, is very easy, void of draughts, and with good light. The schedule was capital, and all prize money was guaranteed. The chairman, Mr. A. Oliver, and Mr. F. Yearing, vice-chair, are a brace of genuine fanciers, real workers, and not merely figure heads, both rendering excellent assistance. Committee consists of a band of willing and practical officials, great praise being due to Messrs. A. and T. Cartwright, W. Way, A. Towl, H. Beaumont, A. Robinson, C. Jacklin, and H. Harding. Mr. A. Oliver acts as show manager in up-to-date style, and his duties were carried out in masterly fashion. The hon. secs., Messrs. Towl and Smith, are a couple of rare good men, and pull well together. Both are most courteous, always doing the right thing at the right time, and keeping things in their proper course. The entry totalled 275—a very disappointing item to chronicle, and the officials deserved better fortune, as the management throughout was A1. The Mayoress of Grimsby, Mrs. A. J. Knott (in the unavoidable absence of her husband), declared the show open in a few most appropriate words. Mr. J. H. Roe judged.

Special for best Hardbill, Mr. W. G. Poole; best Softbill, Mr. P. V. Williams; Sandiford's for hottest-tted, Mr. T. H. Mason; Hyde's, Mr. A. Oliver; best Linnet (memb.), Mr. H. Towl; Goldie, Mr. D. Sadler. Other special winners were: Messrs. L. F. Harding, Briggs, H. Harding, J. Precious, Cockeram, and A. Wilson.

CHATHAM.

22nd annual show held in the Queen Hall. Entries were not so numerous as in previous years. No doubt clashing with Bromley had something to do with it. With the exception of the winners, the Canaries were not wonderful in quality. Messrs. Wickham, Hobbs, Gooding, and Smith staged some nice Norwich. Yorkshires were not above the ordinary. British were small in numbers, but really good in quality. The members' cup was won by F. J. Wickham with a nice unflighted buff Norwich. Mr. S. E. Eastmead judged.

The Critique.

NOR.: 1, Hobbs, bonny bird, nice substance, grand head, wins; 2, Smith, nice bird, a little on small side; 3, Wickham, fine size, good head and neck, too long in body, close up to winner, some thought might have gone up one; vhc, Smith; hc, Gooding; c, Taylor. NOR. UNFLIG.: 1, sp., cup, vhc, Wickham, splendid bird, grand substance, lovely type and feather, wins; 2, Lynn, good bird, nice type, fails to winner in substance; 3, hc, Smith, another good bird, a bit on the small side; c, Gooding. NOR., NAT. COL.: 1, 2, 3, vhc, J. Smith, very nice team, nice type and qual., could do with more size perhaps. YORKS.: 1, Pilcher, lovely buff, grand length, neat head and neck, good shoulders, well filled back, grand wings, lovely feather, wins; 2, Clayton, good bird, fails in head, type, and qual. to winner; 3, Hinkley, a very useful stock bird; vhc, Allen; hc, Olive; c, Monday. MULE: 1, sp, 2, W. Smith, good, sound Greenfinch Mule, nice size, not yet fined down, will improve, 2nd very neat var. Goldie Mule; 3, Pankhurst; vhc, Knight, E. C.; hc, Carter, G. LINNET: 1, sp, Pankhurst, really good Linnet, beautifully pencilled, wants polishing, wins; 2, Wickham; 3, Smith, W., two good Linnets, very little between them; vhc, Pankhurst; hc, Knight; c, Taylor. MEMBERS: NOR.: 1, sp, Gooding, F. K., good bird, rather slack in feather, otherwise fit for keen competition; 2, 3, vhc, Smith, J., all nice specimens, but rather on the small side. A.O.V.: 1, 2, 3, vhc, Hinkley, W., all Yorkshires, 1st very neat, typical buff, lovely feather, wants more length, 2nd better bird, but not yet fit, same remark applies to 3rd, altogether a very nice team. LINNET, ETC.: 1, sp, 2, 3, Pankhurst, nice Siskin, not so rich in col. as we should like, some liked the 2nd, a really first-class Mealy Redpoll, 3rd another very fine Redpoll; vhc, Bradley, W.

WAKEFIELD O.S.

BARNSTAPLE.

Another Record—Entries 100 Up.

Twenty-fifth annual show in the Large Market Hall, one of the finest places in the kingdom. The birds were benched in a side annex of the great hall, an ideal place, well lighted with good top light and free from draughts. The entry was a record one, being nearly 100 more than last year. The newly formed Cage Bird Society, which was formed after the last show, took the matter seriously in hand, formed a good working committee of fanciers, with Mr. E. Collins, of British Bird and Mule fame, as chairman, and Mr. J. D. Horrill, of Belgian fame, as Hon. Sec., and the result has been splendid, the membership totalling about 60 for the year. Cups, spls., and cash spls., two spls. in every class. In Belgians Mr. G. S. Baker took 3 firsts out of the four classes, and 10 specials, including spl. for second best bird in show with his champion buff Belgian. In Yorks. some grand birds were staged; Mr. Richards won the members' cup. In Norwich we had some of the cream of the Fancy; birds of true Norwich type. Of Crest and Crestbreds what can be said? They were simply superb. Mr. Bale won challenge cup for best bird in show with a wonderful clear body dk. crest with dark tail, also winning the point spl. and spl. for third best. The Committee consisted of Messrs. G. S. Baker, F. G. Bale, T. A. Blackmore, J. W. Copp, C. Dart, W. J. Halls, F. J. Huxtable, E. G. Piper, F. Richards; Mr. E. Collins, Chairman; and Mr. J. D. Horrill, Hon. Sec., who all took share in the work, and everything went off in A1 style. Mr. R. J. Blackmore judged Belgians; Mr. T. Heath the remainder.

The Critique.

BELGIAN, YELL. CK. (6): 1, 2 spls, 3, hc, G. RUGBY AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

First show, Central Hotel, Oct. 26. Mr. G. Hall, Leamington, who judged, said he thought that both the quality of the birds and the arrangements had improved. General satisfaction was expressed at the awards. The arrangements were in the hands of the chairman and secretary, and they were ably assisted by the members of the committee. The weather was of the worst possible kind, and the attendance naturally suffered in consequence. Several birds changed hands during the evening. Mr. J. W. Veasey took spl for best Can., Mr. G. Nelson best Novice, and Mr. F. Ager best Brit. The most notable birds in the show were, perhaps, Mr. Best's Paradise Whydah and a nice looking Greenfinch belonging to Mr. Ager. Mr. Matthews staged a good Bullfinch, and Mr. Pain a very nice Yellowhammer and Starling.

A Valuable New Book.

Those of our readers who follow the trend of the times will have recognised that the specialist work of reference, written by experts, has come to be a necessity in connection with every department of effort to-day. And now here is the new standard work of reference for Canary breeders and lovers of cage birds. It is compact and complete in one volume, every page embodying the newest and most reliable knowledge. "Canaries, Hybrids, and British Birds," as this fine new work is called, is supplied at a price and on terms that make its possession possible to every bird lover. It is embellished with excellent coloured plates, showing every known variety, and invaluable as indicating to the fancier exactly what he ought to breed to. And as well as containing all information as to the care, dieting, housing and breeding of Canaries, it deals exhaustively with the difficult subject of Hybrids, indicating those crosses that have never yet been achieved and throwing valuable light on this fascinating matter. "Canaries, Hybrids and British Birds" is supplied by the publishers, the Waverley Book Company, Limited, 7 and 8, Old Bailey, London, E.C., for a merely nominal first payment of one shilling, and the balance may be paid by a few small monthly payments while the owner is using the book. A postcard to the publishers will bring to any of our readers who mention CAGE BIRDS, a delightful free booklet, which will tell them all about this sound new work, and the very convenient terms on which it can be supplied to them. Acceptance of this offer of the free book implies no obligation to order the work.

BERWICK-ON-TWEED.

Annual show held Oct. 26. The show proved a great success, a record entry being forward. Some of the members have had a very poor season, but others, especially the novices, a good one. Mr. Wm. Hay won sp. for best bird with a grand unlighted yell. Nor. cock, but Mr. Thompson's grand S.F. yell cock ran very closely indeed for the win. British were a good lot all round, sp. for best going to Mr. Grey's grand Magpie. Foreigners were a grand lot, some gems being staged; these were judged, in the unavoidable absence of Mr. Patterson, owing to illness, by Mr. Seely, of Messrs. Seely Bros., and his awards were well received. Borders, as is wont here, were forward in force, and some hot ones were staged. All the classes were good, and we were pleased to see a large number of young members prominent among the winners. The medal went to a grand buff hen, well put down by Mr. J. Smart. Mr. J. W. Bruce judged this variety and his awards were exceedingly well received. The evergreen Mr. A. Hay held the secretarial reins, and, as usual, had everything in apple-pie order. He was ably assisted by the worthy Chairman, Mr. C. Makins, whose presence at a show is always very welcome, and they were backed up by an enthusiastic committee. The show was held in a new hall, a great improvement on former years, staging, etc., being extra well arranged. The show was well patronised by local fanciers, among whom we noticed Mr. J. Young (Chirnside) with his late colleague, Mr. R. Johnstone, who is at present on a holiday from India, and whom we were pleased to see looking hale and healthy. Mr. G. Brown, late of Chirnside, we also noted among the numerous visitors.

BRAINTREE.

Annual show, held Oct. 26, in Drill Hall, a splendidly lighted and cosy building. The entry was about the same as in previous years, and the quality was excellent all through. Mr. F. A. Runnable, the hon. secretary, had every arrangement made with great completeness, and it would be difficult to find a show at which everything worked with more uniform success. A splendid working committee was comprised as follows: Messrs H. A. Collins, A. Cole, E. H. Dowsett, W. French, G. A. Gage, H. Gage, F. Keys, F. C. Lupkin, A. L. Pulford, H. Spooner, W. H. Strutt, J. Thomason, T. Wheeler, J. Wright. All rendered efficient aid. Norwich made a splendid class for quality, the special winning buff of Mr. F. Clayden, a splendid unflighted bird of grand substance, also winning the Coronation Cup as "runner-up" for the Challenge Cup. Cup for best bird in the show was won by Mr. H. Sayward with a magnificent Magpie, the cynosure of all eyes, which took also special for best member's bird. Yorks were really good in point of quality, and there were one or two nice Crests. British were well up for quality. There were some very nice foreigners, particularly Mr. C. H. Row's Fire-tailed Finch. Mr. Geo. Gardner judged.

GLASGOW (Confined) SOUTHERN O.A.

Nineteenth annual show of Scotch Fancy Canaries, in Grand National Halls, October 26th. Hon. Pres., the Right Hon. Lord Rowallan; Hon. Vice-Pres., Mr. A. Motherwell, J.P.; Pres., Mr. J. Renwick; Vice-Pres., Mr. P. McLellan; Sec. and Treas., Mr. J. Fleming. Judges: Messrs. Carlaw (Falkirk, Kennedy, junr. (Paisley), Park (Govan), McFarlane (Whitewick). Secretary Fleming and his able committee had everything arranged to perfection, the staging of the exhibits being well arranged, and the comfort of the large crowd of visitors duly attended to. The prizes, as usual, consisted of valuable and useful articles, along with some capital specials. The hall is one of the best in the kingdom for show purposes, large and well lighted throughout. Entries showed a considerable falling off compared with former years, which, we understand, was principally caused through the members having had a bad season's breeding, also within the last few years the membership has been reduced very much through deaths and old members leaving the district. Secretary Fleming is very popular in the Fancy, and deservedly so, and we wish him a record show for next season to make up for the present show's deficiency. With a few notable exceptions, the quality of the exhibits was not wonderful. The judges' awards seemed to give all-round satisfaction. In the selection of the cup bird a considerable difference of opinion was apparent, but ultimately Mr. Wm. Gray's buff pied hen was selected as the cup and gold medal winner and special for best bird in the hall; the runner up, a yellow cock belonging to the same owner, carrying off the gold medal for second best—a grand pair of birds, and well worth their positions to-day. In the unavoidable absence of Lord Rowallen, Pres., and Vice-Pres. Motherwell, ex-Baillie Young presented the prizes.

The Critique.

YELL. (8): 1, 2 spls., Gray, fine size and body, grand length of wing, nice full front, tail well circled, a good one, runner up for cup, winner of gold medal; 2, spl., 6, McIlwain, nice size and droop, hard up, tail well in, good reach, not so loose in feather as 1st; 3, Seywright, fails in size only to those in front, nice bird; 4, Lang; 5, spl., Lees; 7, 8, Stewart. BUFF (17): 1, Gray, grand thickness through, full top end, good reach and droop; 2, Lees, nice top end, hard up, fine pose, shade short in neck; 3, Jas. Orr, nice bird, fails a bit in size to those in front; 4, Kogo; 5, John Orr; 6, Low; 7, spl., James Orr. YELL. PIED (13): 1, Stewart, nice body and thickness through, grand reach and droop, wins; 2, 4, Gray, shade stiff, little short in reach to first, good body and length of side, 4 a nice bird; 3, John Orr, better body and size than second, but fails a shade in style; 5, Seywright; 6, Blue; 7, Renwick; 8, James Orr. BUFF (12): 1, 3, Phillips, great size, grand length of side, good reach, good stock bird, 3 another fine size, shade plain, loses in style to others; 2, Clark, fine size, not so thick through the chest nor length of side, but better for reach and droop than first; 4, spl., Shaw, first in Amateur class; 5, Stewart; 6, spl., Gray; 7, spl., James Orr. GREEN (8): 1 Kogo, grand size and reach, good droop and length of wing, very stylish exhibit; 2, Gray, fails in size only to 1st, fine reach, well up, nice thickness through, close thing; 3, 4, spl., Clark, shade plainer and barely the size of those in front, nice style; 5, James Orr; 6, Fleming; 7, Lorhead. FOUL (19): 1, 3, Montgomery, leader full feather in front, fair size, nice reach and droop, tail comes well to spar, good bird, 3 nice size, good reach and droop, plenty of style, good third; 2, Stewart, full frontal feather, fair depth through the chest, firm reach and droop, tail comes nicely to spar, some liked it for 1st place; 4, 6, spl., Clark; 5, Gray; 7, Alex. Orr; 8, spl., Shannon. YELL. HENS (19): 1, Clark, grand size and shape, good body and reach, nice droop, full of style; 2, 6, McIlwain, 2 all right for size, shade, stiff in tail, good body and reach; 3, 3spls., 4, Stewart, a shade more size wanted in leader, otherwise good bird; 5, spl., Shaw; 6, McIlwain; 7, spl., Johnson. BUFF (14): 1, James Orr, nice thickness through, good reach and droop, tail comes nicely to spar, very stylish exhibit; 2, Smith, perhaps more stylish bird than 1st, very little between them, well up; 3, 4, 5, Montgomery, 3, loses only in style to those in front; 6, spl., Seywright; 7, W. Gray; 8, Lang. YELL. PIED (8): 1, Gray, grand body, full of style, hard up, fine pose, tail nicely circled; 2, 3, James Orr, shade light to winner, fine reach and droop, 3rd better for body, shade short in neck, nice length of wing, tail well circled to spar; 4, Blue; 5, 6, McLauchlan; 7, Seywright; 8, Sharp. BUFF (24): 1, 2 spls., 2, spl., Gray, 1st, cup and gold medal, grand type all round, 2 the 1st has it for size only, neat bird; 3, McLauchlan, barely so good in reach and droop to winners, good type; 4, 5, spl., 7, Stewart; 6, spl., Seywright; 8, spl. Clark. GREEN (16): 1, McMillan, grand size fine reach and droop, nice and deep through the chest and length of side, wins; 2, 3, 4, 5, Clark, 2 not so full in frontal feathers as 1st, nor quite so hard up, but fine reach and droop, 3 shade plainer than those in front; 6, 7, McLauchlan. FOUL (17): 1, 6, John Orr, good body and reach, good droop and depth through; 2, 3, 7, 8, Clark, good thickness through, shade gripped on neck, nice length of side, keeps tail well in, 3 smaller, very neat, good type; 4, Kogo; 5 Blue. NOVICE: 1, Shaw; 2, Low; 3, Sharp; 4, 6, Alexander; 5, Lochead. HENS: 1, 2, Shaw; 3, 5, Sharp; 4, Lochead.

SOUTH BIRMINGHAM O.S.

Evening show of members' young stock held Sydenham Hotel, Oct. 26. The weather conditions were terrible, and it was surprising to find over sixty birds staged, many of them from some miles away. Mr. G. Baker judged in the place of Mr. Wells, who was prevented by an accident from attending, and his awards gave every satisfaction. Show Manager Wright was again to the front, having all in good order, and much credit is due to the acting stewards, Messrs. Wright, Harding, Hughes, Murray, and Constable. Special winners: Best British, F. Derry, also most points novice Norwich; best Mule, Mr. Rabey; other winners being Messrs. Clay, Murray, Reeves, and Rees.

GOOD SHOW AT AYR

High Quality the Order of the Day.

The fifth annual show of the Ayr and Dis. C.B.S. was held Oct. 26, in the Academy Hall. Except for its rather out-of-the-way position, which told against the "gate," the hall is a most excellent one for the purpose, very comfortable and lit in the correct way for viewing and judging the exhibits, which on this occasion aggregated 403 a decrease on last year's total of something like 30. The Yorks. and Borders were a very level and interesting lot, and must have given Mr. Dewar some anxiety in placing his awards. As not a single grumble was heard, it shows the care and good judgment exercised by that well-known adjudicator. The Mule and British bird exhibitors were forward in fair numbers with some most valuable and interesting exhibits, which proved the most attractive part of the show. The secretary, Mr. James Sloan, is very capable and efficient, and under his supervision the arrangements were well carried through. Possibly a little more "come-and-go" with exhibitors (especially from a distance) during the staging operations might be imparted with advantage to the club. Amongst the other office bearers we were pleased to note the following during the progress of the show, doing their best to make the venture a success, viz.: Hon. Pres., Robert M'Kay, Esq.; pres., J. Forbes, Esq.; vice-pres., C. C. Irvine, Esq.; committee, Messrs. J. Cameron, S. M'Harg, W. Lyall, J. Whitten, R. Aitken, A. Boyd, J. N. Hunter, A. Lindsay, J. French, J. Murray, J. Bell, A. Campbell, J. Kelly, R. Muir, and T. French. The Canary section was judged by Mr. J. F. Dewar (Edinburgh), and the Mule, Brit., and For. sections by Mr. J. Mason (Peebles), and their awards gave little cause for grumbling.

FALKIRK.

ENTRIES IN EXCESS OF LAST YEAR.

24th annual show held Oddfellows' Hall, Grahamston, Oct. 26. The hall is well adapted for such an exhibition. Staging was erected along the three sides of the hall, also centre, which left plenty of room for visitors, and the light was good. Entries were in excess of last year, and this speaks well for the management of this society. The total of 458 must be considered very satisfactory. Judges were: Messrs. J. Sneaton, Musselburgh (Nor.); Baillie Lambie, Whitburn (Bord. and Crests); and R. Bald, Bathgate (Brit. and For.), and they seemed to give entire satisfaction.

Young Bird Section.

CL., ETC., YELL. NOR. (13): 1, 7, W. Nests of Birds, Poultry, etc., should be regularly sprinkled with KEATING'S POWDER, especially when hens are sitting. Don't forget to do this just previous to the eggs hatching, to destroy the Red Mite. Kills all insects. Harmless to everything else.

WONDERFUL ATTENDANCE AT MANCHESTER.

M. and N.C.O.S. Show attracts 1,500 exhibits, while the visitors surpass all records. Gate £33 better than last year. Sales another record; the Selling Classes alone realise over £20!

The Manchester and N.C.O.S. held their 30th annual show, Oct. 25 and 26, at the famous Zoological Gardens, Belle Vue. The room set apart for the exhibits is very spacious, lofty, and entirely free from draughts. Running down one side there is heating apparatus, which keeps the room at an even temperature. An innovation this year was that the members had a small room set apart for their exhibits, and this left more room for the visitors. The aisles were at least twelve feet apart, and even then the show was packed. Visitors turned up in thousands. Amongst the visitors we noticed Messrs. Geo. Ellison, H. Kinrade, L. N. Hale, Geo. Robertson, S. Morrison, all of whom had come over from the Isle of Man. These Manx gentlemen were astounded at the number and quality of the exhibits. Quite a number of Northern fanciers turned up under the leadership of Mr. Jeffreys, hon. sec., Sunderland C.B.S. Messrs. Dobson and Sons, the Blaydon cracks, were very busy amongst the Crests. The b'hoys from Bradford were in great force. Jimmy's face exhibited the usual smile, and the firm with the weak voice made themselves heard. Eh! what enthusiasts they are! Pity there's not more like them. Not a bird in Yorks. section they did not handle. Who took the unflighted at £11? It seems they can breed Yorkies outside Bradford. Southport fanciers will have to be reckoned with when they can command such a figure. We could not catch all the names of the visitors, but when you hear the Welsh, Manx, Irish, Yorkshire, and Lancie fanciers speaking in their various dialects, you know the North of England is well represented. Sales were a record. The selling classes realised £21. Mr. P. Edward Scarlett was auctioneer. There was some keen bidding. The claims in the open brought the nice sum of £50. The unflighted buff Norwich belonging to Mr. Whetstone went for £10—a cheap bird. Another one, £5 10s., and a Yorkie for £3 10s. The gate is £33 better than last year. Coming to the entries, we have to record a drop of 100, but 1,500 is very good considering the bad moulting season. Manchester are not the only ones who have suffered. CAGE BIRDS stall was well patronised. A fine array of literature for the Fancy was neatly displayed, and the attendant was quite busy. Messrs. Duttou's looked after the feeding of all the exhibits, and did it well. Their stall contained a varied display of seeds and appliances suitable for all varieties of cage birds. The special winners were so numerous that it would take up a column to report them all. Sandiford's case of cutlery for hottest fed bird was won by Mrs. J. E. Deacon, with one of her charming cinnamons. Jimmy Bailey took special for best Yorkie, and Mr. J. M. Walsh F.B.C. medal for best foreign.

The Folk Who Brought Success.

The management of the show was under the generalship of Mr. H. Boothman, whose abilities are tested to the full in running this great show. He has everything in A1 order. From every point he seems to be the man for the position. Nothing is too great a task, or too small a service. It is a pleasure to see him at his work. We trust the society will long have him as their most valuable asset. The assist. managers were Messrs. Raynes, Richards and Metcalfe, who attended to the secretarial duties. We hear friend Raynes has been very ill again, but be managed to look to his duties at the show. The stewards worked like Trojans; it was wonderful to see how quick they got the birds away on Saturday morning, so exhibitors must thank the following gentlemen for their early dispatch of birds: Messrs. Austin, Appleton, Humphries, Atkinson, Beswick, Sam Cook, Fairhurst, James Jones, Lythgoe, Moorhey, Pike, Schofield, Smith, Turner, Welsh, Fulcher (assist. sec. and treas.), Pease, Garner, Morgan, Dooley, Broughton, Bruce, Hayward, Tansey, and Vint. There is also one gentleman we never miss at Manchester, it is the genial president of the society, Mr. W. A. Bladon, who welcomes you as soon as you get into the show. He has a pleasant smile and handshake for all. The society are indeed lucky to have such a fancier for their president. We trust that the efforts of these ardent fanciers will meet with just reward—that is, financial success.

The Norwich Plainhead section was very well filled; the 14 champion classes averaged 14 per class, and the 5 amateur classes 18 per class. The quality of the exhibits all round was very good indeed, but in several cases we noticed birds staged that were, to say the least of it, of considerable length. Taken over all, however, this section contained some very fine specimens indeed. Mr. Booth judged this section, and his awards seemed to give much satisfaction. The Border section was very well filled, the 11 classes averaging 14 per class, and some grand birds were exhibited. The quality all through was very high. Mr. Johnston judged, and his decisions met with general approval.

The Lancashire Specialities.

The Lancs. and Liz., giants and spangled hacks of Canarydom, were under the patronage of their respective specialist clubs. The Giants held pride of place by opening the show, but they did not make the show they ought to do—50 in eight classes is not doing duty to the Manchester executive, who are very liberal with their classification. True, there was hardly a bad bird shown; in fact, it is years since we saw such evenness in the exhibits. There were one or two that stood out above the rest; for example, the young yellow Plainhead, shown by Mr. Beattie, and the buff coppy hen shown by Mr. Barrass. These two got more handling than they liked, but that's the fruits of being a good 'un. Messrs. Fitton, Hordern, Kay, and Hardy were well represented by birds of the right order. We do not notice new faces in the Giant family, but we think if novice classes were put on, it would encourage new aspirants. Certainly the majority of birds are backward, and may be Mr. Quantity was left at home and Miss Quality sent to Cottonopolis. However, we will fight again at Rochdale. The spangles were the hottest lot seen in Manchester for a long while. Talk about evenness of spangle, it did not take an eyeglass to find it. The work on some of the exhibits was more than marvellous—quite perfect. It's wonderful how many spectators this section attracts. The aisles were packed; perhaps, looking for a cheap pair.

Yorks. were a fine lot. Messrs. Ogden Bros., Bailey, Shackleton, Kearns, and Broughton put down some fine birds, Mr Bailey winning special for best. In greens, Mr. Rowlands, of Liverpool, took three firsts out of the four classes. His self yellow is one of the best we have ever seen.

In cinnamon marks, quality was in good force, and the competition was just as keen. The club's specials were to be competed for, and this brought out the cracks, who put down some most magnificent specimens, and outside one or two which always are in front, the placing might be reversed, and no one would grumble, as they are so even. What's a winner worth in this section? We notice last year's novice, Mr. C. Morrison, is making the top sawyer's gallop. He comes from the right stable, and a stayer at that. Crests were a great improvement on last year, both in numbers and type. The C.C.C. are greatly indebted to the Manchester Society for the classification provided. The winners did not stand out on their own, and Mr. Colledge had a hard day's work. Eh! what pains he took with each bird! He seemed very happy in his selections. The Northern cracks, Messrs. Dobson and Sons, ran up against something hot in Evins Bros., from the South, and got a Roland for their Oliver every time. But what a specimen the buff crest is, shown by the first-mentioned firm; quite a sensation. The youngsters of Mr. Bewick will take some whacking next year. We predict high honours for it. The novice classes contained some rare exhibits. The worthy Dr. Twigg and Mr. Barker had a battle royal, with the Dr. more than holding his own.

The challenge bowl in the Crest section for best current year bird was awarded to Mr. Bewick's buff Crest; the challenge bowl for best current year Crestbred went to Messrs. Evins Bros.

The Best Lot Ever Seen.

This being the club show of the famous Cinnies, we expected to find a few good ones on view, but we did not expect to find quite such a hot lot as were here. As the veteran Mr. W. A. Bladon (pres. of the C.C.C.) said, they were the finest lot that had ever been got together. This speaks well for the officers of the Cinnamon C.C., who are leaving no stone unturned to make the Cinnie one of the most popular varieties to keep. What colour! Enough to set you on fire. Why have heat at a show when the Cinnies will provide all the fire that is required! The champion classes were well filled. Mr. Dormer created a record by taking five firsts and a second in six classes. This is winning with a vengeance, but no one can begrudge him his success. He stood out on his own. The odd first went to Mrs. F. E. Deacon, who put down the finest hen that has ever been henched. It was a model. We notice Mr. Dormer could not keep his eyes off it. "Tha's not gooing to get it at Rishton, Billie, so keep thy eyes off." Mr. Goodley put out a great team and fairly held his own, size being predominant. The novice classes brought out some beauties. We noticed a few new names—the Rev. B. Nume, who more than held his own at the first fence. There is still plenty of room for recruits in this section; the C.C.C. have got classes put on for novices at all their patronage shows.

Popular Birds with the Crowd.

The hybrid section contained quite a host of the very best birds of the day. There were some really magnificent specimens both light and dark. The dark Gold. and Linnet-Can. class brought out birds of the highest merit. In the A.O.V. Can. Hybrid, both yellow and buff classes contained Greenfinch and Siskin-Canary crosses of superb quality, and some young budding talent here was asserting itself. The British classes were keenly contested, and taken all through there was hardly a poor specimen to be found in the lot. A fine Goldfinch in very prim condition secured for Messrs. Pitchford and Stocker a popular win of the special for best British in show. Foreign classes brought out quite a show of superb specimens, and competition ruled very keen. Mr. J. M. Walsh secured the F.B.C. special for best in this section. The foreign section is always a great attraction to the visiting public, particularly the ladies and children. Members' hybrid and British classes were well filled with birds of very good all-round merit. Mr. A. G. Smith took special for members' best British bird with a fine Grey Wagtail. Mr. Chas. Houlton judged these, and appeared to receive all-round approbation for his awards. The classes were very stiffly contested, and kept Mr. H. busy up to about half-past four in the afternoon.

The judges were Messrs. S. R. Compston (Lanes. and Liz.), W. Mundell (Yorks.), W. Booth (Nor.), G. Colledge (Crests), H. W. Battye (Cinns., Cinn.-mkd., Yorks, etc.), J. Johnston (Bord.), and C. Houlton Hyb., Brit. and For.). One and all seemed to be in very good "form," for we heard but little criticism of any kind upon their decisions.

Mr. Compston's Classes.

LANCS. COPPY CL. OR TKD. YELL. (5): 1, Hordern, nicely radiated coppy, great length of side, was crossing its wings when taking notes; 2, Fitton, grizzle, hardly as long, good width, grand flights; 3, Hardy, cl., again good length, but fails a little in substance to those above it; 4, Barrass, grizzle, not quite so shapely as above; vhc, Garner. NOTTINGHAM (Permanent O.S.).

Annual open show held at headquarters, October 26th. Entries came up about as usual. Norwich were a fine collection, and some of the classes were hotly contested. Crests were a fine show. Buffs were also good and classed. Mules had Sons having quite a holiday. The Secretary, Mr. J. Bunn, had things all in A1 order, and cards were up immediately each class was judged, the names being written on each card. As no catalogue was issued it makes it very difficult to get correct names. The Secretary is backed up by a hard-working committee, including Messrs. Hayter, Wood, Holmes, Rogers, Bill, Alsbrook, Bostock, Towe, Graham and Stevenson. Mr. W. Harris judged Canaries and Mr. J. Goode British and Foreign.

WINDHILL.

Magnificent Entry of Grand Exhibits.

Windhill, Shipley and Dist. C.B.S. held their 25th annual Function on October 26th. The Carnegie Library, in which the exhibits were staged, is truly a capital venue for such a festival. The classification and prize money were excellent. Total entries, 430, the best for many years past, and exceeding last year's number by upwards of 70. The cream of the birds of "grace and beauty" were in evidence; no matter which way one turned a feast for the eyes presented itself. Unfortunately, nearly all day long King Fog was paying one of his visits, and we did not envy Mr. J. C. Barnes of his task in separating the "cracks." Nevertheless, he appeared happy in his selections, although hampered so much by the bad light. Amongst the many visitors were several of the "old Brigade (as the Fancy goes), viz., Messrs. John Broadley (looking well), Joe Wilman, Bob Sutcliffe, Joe Wilcock, Tom Bennett, and others. As to the management, it was great. The staging was neatness itself, and every bird could be seen at a glance. The stewards were Messrs. Matt Broadley, W. B. Atkinson, J. Chippendale, R. Sutcliffe, P. Gunn. What a worker, to be sure, is good old Matt! Messrs. E. and J. Halliday are also great assets; for four successive seasons they have acted as "despatch clerks" without a single hitch occurring—a fine record. The indefatigable and most courteous Secretary, Mr. J. A. Taylor, proved himself a very capable official, always doing the right thing at the right time, and keeping the ball rolling in the proper direction. Great praise is certainly due to him. Mr. P. Gunn fills the position of "understudy," and assisted practically and efficiently. Mr. R. Garnett, as Sales Sec., is also the right man in the right place. Prize money was paid out on the Saturday to all winners present. When we made our departure the showroom was well filled with visitors, and no doubt would have been much more so had not such uninviting weather been served up. Hard lines! We hope to hear of financial success being attained against even such great odds. Mr. J. C. Barnes (Sheffield) judged, and his awards were well received.

The Critique.

CL. YELL. YORKS (14): 1, Ogden Bros., lovely colour and feather, straight as a gun barrel, wonderful length, clever legs, gem; 2, Shaw, rare length and position, grand back, flights and tail, neat expression, beaten a little in finish; 3, Lunn, stands nicely, good length, neat feather, fine wing carriage, hardly so stylish; 4, Helliwell, nervy, good feather, capital position; vhc, Dykes; hc, Sutcliffe and Son; c, Lawford and Son. BUFF (13): 1, Bailey, delightful quality, beautiful position, rare length, lovely back and wing carriage, pipe tail, trained to the moment; 2, Radley, longer than winner, grand stand, rattling back, flights and tail, possessing clever legs, not quite the quality; 3, Farrar, rich salmon col., straight as a rush, A1 quality, tight as a drum, fails a little in style; 4, Towers, good length and position, well-filled back, neat flights and tail, shade open in feather; vhc, Chippendale; hc, Thomas; c, Ogden Bros. TKD. YELL. (12): 1, Ogden Bros., mkd. right wing, delightful feather, wonderful position and length, perfect back and wing carriage, neatly folded tail; 2, Towers, mkd. right wing, even more length, standing like a guardsman, very stylish, clever legs, wee bit behind in texture; 3, Helliwell, grandly fed, unflighted, thigh tick, delightful staud, capital feather, not so lengthy quite, yet most promising, we heard was the Horton 2nd; 4, Bailey, thigh tick, grand type, col. and feather, nice back and wing carriage; vhc, Burdekin Bros., mkd. wing, ablaze, fine specimen, the Horton winner; hc, Bennett; c, Dyson. BUFF (13): 1, Dyson, mkd. head and tail, feathered to perfection, tight as a Java, rattling position and length, delightfully frosted, gem; 2, Sutcliffe and Son, cheek mkd., rich col. and mealing, teeming with qual., delightful position, rare length, pressed hard; 3, Elsegood, mkd. neck, sweetly moulded, capital feather, grand back, flights and tail; 4, Shaw Bros., mkd. head, full of quality, good position and length, neat legs; vhc, Halliday; hc, Allen; c, Dykes, very nice when right, but untidy about thighs to-day. UNFLIG. YELL. (21): grand lot: 1, Walsh, cl., of wonderful feather and col, magnificent shape and length, most clever legs, shows for all he is worth, with luck should be "one of the b'hoys"; 2, Sutcliffe and Son, mkd. left wing, red-hot, delightful feather, beautiful outline, rare length, close up; 3, Thomas, wonderfully lengthy cl., rich quality, grand head and neck, capital back, wings and tail, inclined to be bulky in waist, yet a "good 'un"; 4, Drake, cl., full of nerve, smooth as glass, true type, but rather on short side; vhc, Allen; hc, Dykes; c, Mountain. BUFF (21), choice class: 1, Bailey, mkd. head, approaching perfection, magnificent from tip of toe to end of beak, a knock-out; 2, Whitley, var., teeming with quality, rattling col., slashing position and length, best of backs, flights and tails; 3, Radley, cl. wonderful length, rich salmon col., grand body, back and wing carriage, when worked draws a little thin in neck; 3, 4, Bennett, mkd. wings, great length, superb feather, nice position, neat; vhc, Sutcliffe and Son; hc, Dykes; c, Briggs. UNFLI. PERTH.

Fine all-round exhibition!
A sensation in the British Section.

The City and County of Perth Society's annual open show was held October 26th, in the Co-operative Hall, an ideal place for the purpose, having splendid light from both ends, and being very roomy. The exhibits were well staged right round, leaving the centre free for the visitors to move about. The entry was fairly good considering the number of shows on the same day, and numbered about 400, shows on the same day, and numbered about 400, while the quality was of the best. Crests were better than they have been in Perth for some years. Norwich were back in numbers, but some of the best were present. Borders had some grand classes, and the winners' names will show what it meant to win a red ticket. British were also a grand section, some of the classes having easily two set of winners. This section provided the sensation of the show, the winning Linnet belonging to Mr. Morton (Motherwell), being protested against as being faked. On being tested the bird was found to have been dressed with some colouring matter, which was taken off on a pad of wool, before the society's officials, and a representative company of prominent men in the Fancy, including CAGE BIRDS representative, along with several of the judges. Result, the bird was disqualified, and under the society's rules of competition all the other prizes won by the exhibitor are forfeited as well. The executive is a good one, Mr. Brown, the president, being an "old hand" at the game, while Mr. A. G. Forrest, his vice, was very active in assisting with the work, while the committee and stewards gave very valuable help in staging and packing of the birds, especially Messrs. Blythe and Bruce, Esslemont, Cranna, Sergt. Inst. Fullarton, R. F. Duncan, and Roy, while the treasurer, Mr. Borrie, was busy watching the "sillar." The obliging secretary, Mr. J. Kerr, had all his arrangements in a forward state, and on the whole the show was a success. The judges were: Crests, in the unavoidable absence of Mr. John Young, Mr. James Sandison (Aberdeen); Plainheads, Mr. W. Grewar (Lochgelly); Borders, Mr. Thomas Arnott (Kirkcaldy), and Mr. James J. Mackie, made his first appearance as a British judge, and all gave great satisfaction, very little grumbling being heard. The Sir John Dewar cup and gold medal were won by Mr. Munro (Strathyre) for best young Border, and runner-up, and silver medal, Mr. W. Bruce (Perth); Sandiford's medal was won by Mr. Allison (Aberdeen), Hyde's by Mr. Robt. Crawford (Pertb). The winning yellow Border hen started to sing merrily after the judging was over, and had to be wrong classed.

KIRKCALDY.

Good, despite counter attractions.

The sixth annual exhibition was held Oct. 26, in the Pioneer Hall, Kirkcaldy, and despite counter attractions we believe the society will come out on the right side. The hall is admirably adapted for such an exhibition, being free from draughts, and affording excellent light, but the exhibits were rather closely packed. In Scotch Fancies, although not numerous, some excellent birds were staged. Borders came up to expectation, but we much regret to chronicle that we heard the judge was subjected to a good amount of heckling, and there are none better at it than the "Fifer." In the Yorks. many good specimens were staged. Crests and Crestbreds scarcely warranted the classification. Plainheads were a very even lot, and contained some noted winners. Mules, British and foreign made a nice show, some very creditable birds being on exhibition. The management was all that could be desired, and everything went off as happy as wedding bells. Mr. Thomas Adamson makes an admirable manager, and he was ably assisted by Mr. John Thomson and Mr. Chas. Rae. Judging was got through in good time. Quite a number of well-known faces were seen during the afternoon, and we trust that the coffers of the society will be greatly augmented. The judges were: Scotch Fcy., Mr. D. Low, Dundee; Borders and Yorks., Mr. J. Hutchison, Dysart; Crests and C.B., Mr. G. Arnott, Kirkcaldy; Plainheads, Mr. W. Hampton, Brechin; Mules, Brit., and For., Mr. J. H. Adam, Glasgow.

LEWES.

A Fixture under Cage Bird Union Rules.

A capital schedule had been issued by the Lewes Fanciers' Association for its show, which was held in the Corn Exchange on October 23rd and 24th. After all the hard things said about the C.B.U. we were surprised to find this fixture being held under its rules; we wonder if this had any adverse effect on the number of entries. Twenty-eight classes were scheduled, and drew an entry of 140; 12 classes were cancelled, and those remaining averaged just under 9 per class, which we were surprised to hear was an improvement on last year. Norwich, with some exceptions, were moderate, but Yorks. were a very nice collection of smart typical exhibits, and competition was keen. Goldies were good, but another week or two will make a lot of difference in the placings. Greenies and Chaffies made a very nice display, all of them being of much merit, and amongst the variety hardbills were several most excellent Hawfinches. The members' special for the best cage bird was won by Mr. Dandridge's buff Yorks.

Splendidly lighted, lofty, and free from draughts, the Corn Exchange is a grand building for a show. All the details of management were exceedingly well carried out by the committee, Messrs. T. H. Pitcher (chairman), S. Elphick (vice-chair), S. C. Sharpe, —. Calderwood, H. Frost, J. A. Howard, —. Berry, F. Eager, R. Cox, M. Penfold, C. Wilmshurst, M. Soffner, W. S. Tucker, W. Ainsworth, P. G. Hughes, and F. Huggett, all of whom attended well to their duties, and did their best for the exhibitors, visitors, and the exhibits. Mr. J. Martin, the hon. sec., was most courteous and energetic in discharge of the onerous duties of his office, and he was most cordially supported by his worthy assistant, Mr. T. Jeffrey. Our Lewes friends have two splendid officials in Messrs. Martin and Jeffrey. There was a nice attendance of visitors. So well managed a fixture deserved success. Mr. C. A. House judged, and his awards seemed to be very favourably received.

BONNYRIGG.

The fourth annual show of the above society was held October 26. A capital entry was forward, especially in the Border section, where some lovely birds of grand type and quality were on exhibition. Most of the Loanhead winners were on show, and repeated their previous successes. The cup and medal winner was an even mark belonging to the popular secretary, Mr. Jas. Hamilton, of yellow hen fame. The Scotch Fancy cup went to a yell. hen belonging to Mr. J. Noble. Norwich, though lacking in numbers, made up in quality. The medal for best was won by Mr. C. Watt (Musselburgh). The hall in which the show was held is well lighted, but seemed a trifle cold during judging, many of the birds at that time feeling it a bit. The judges were: Scotch Fancies and Norwich, Mr. Wm. Rodger, Colinton, and Mr. John Watson, Selkirk, Borders; and their awards were well received. During the course to the respective winners. The show was well of the afternoon Provost Kerr presented the prizes patronised.

HARTLEPOOLS.

A Record Entry and a Good Gate: Lady Wins Members' Challenge Trophy.

The eighth annual show was held in the St. George's Hall, West Hartlepool, when in response to a generous schedule, a record entry was secured. The show was under the patronage of the Y.C.C., N.Y.C.C., N.C.N.P.C., and the N.B.M. and F.B.C. The entries totalled 555. The arrangements for comfort both of exhibits and visitors were very satisfactory and reflect much credit upon the secretaries, Messrs. Woodhead and Pyman, who were ably seconded by the committee. The hall is, we consider, the best which this society has yet had, being very comfortable, free from draughts, and well lighted. There was a very good gate, and great interest was taken in the exhibits. Yorks were a leading feature of the show, and some gems were staged by members of the Y.C.C. and N.Y.C.C. Norwich were also more numerous than usual in the district, and the quality was of the best. Selling classes contained many very cheap birds. Many fine birds were among the Mules and British, although many of the latter, especially the Goldfinches, want a bit more time. Foreign classes were well filled and contained rare and lovely specimens, which were surrounded by crowds of admirers all day. The challenge trophy presented by Lord Furness for members was won by Miss E. E. Pyman. Mr. H. W. Battye judged all Canaries, and got through a long and arduous day's work with credit. Mr. J. Maddison dealt ably with the remainder.

SOUTH SHIELDS.

Grandly Managed Show suffers through Clashing of Dates.

Tenth show of the South Shields C.B.S. held in the Congregational Hall October 25th and 26th. There was an entry of 450 birds in 32 open classes and 20 members' classes. Not nearly so many as ought to have been, considering the excellent prize money, 2s. 6d. special on every class, 10s. 6d. section specials on the larger sections, and 5s. on the smaller. Doubtless the other two Northern shows—Hartlepool and Derwent Valley—had an effect on the entry. It is a pity that other dates could not be arranged so that the clashing between such important shows could be avoided. The hall in which the show is held is centrally situated in the main street of the town, within five minutes' walk of the railway station, but it leaves something to be desired in the way of lighting. We hear the society are likely to choose another hall for their next venture. Norwich were a nice lot. Yorks were good, many Northern winners being staged, while the classes for Borders filled nicely. We could not follow the judge in all his awards in these classes, but when clears, greens, and cinnamons all compete together it is no easy matter to place the cards. The real outstanding feature of the show was the Skylark class, which contained 12 entries, and not a bad one amongst them. The genial secretary and chairman, showing together, won in this class with a nice specimen. In the members' classes this year, classes were provided for old birds as well as young. The usual practice is to confine members' classes except British and foreign to young birds bred by the exhibitor. Of the management it is unnecessary to speak. In the hands of Mr. W. L. Smith everything is right. He is practically the founder of the society, and was its first secretary. He had all in apple-pie order, and everything passed off to even his satisfaction. We were delighted to see the genial chairman, Mr. Thompson, again to the front. Although in his 73rd year he is as young as anyone when there are birds about. Long may he be spared to rule over the Shields fancier, and if they catch his fancier-like spirit, and his unselfish devotion to the club, then it will undoubtedly prosper. Mr. Duke, the treasurer, was well to the front, here, there and everywhere, looking after things. Amongst the stewards one noticed working well and ably assisting, Messrs. T. Winter, J. Mather, J. Barrass, J. Richardson, J. W. Watson, J. Watson, T. Parker. We hope that there was a good gate, and that it will pan out right financially. The society had the patronage of the Newcastle Novice Society, who evidently find the classes more to their liking than those nearer home. They provided an array of specials, commencing with a second prize of a gent's bicycle, but there seem to have been only two members competing. The judges, who did their duty expeditiously and well, were Mr. J. Wilcock and Mr. F. Marwood.

The Critique.

NOR. YELL. (5): 1, sp, Murrell, variег., good bold head, well filled neck, rather heavy wings and tail; 2, J. MUMBLES.

Held October 24, in Pier Pavilion, an ideal hall for a show, being free from draught and composed completely of glass, giving a perfect light. The birds were staged on tiers at end of hall, and were excellently catered for. Entries were a record, and we are pleased to hear that the show was a great financial success, which must be very gratifying to a hardworking committee—Chairman, Mr. Geo. Williams, and Messrs. H. Bear, T. Wood, L. Collins, D. J. Powell, Theo. Davies, Rd. Davies, Jno. Williams, W. Davies, C. Collier, Rd. Balsdon, D. J. Parry, T. Symons, R. Supple, H. Davies, and R. Morse. The secretaries, Messrs. E. G. Bevan and W. D. Eley, were very painstaking and courteous officials. Mr. D. A. S. Longden judged.

DERWENT VALLEY.

Sixth annual open show held Oct. 3, and again proved an unqualified success. The venue of the show was again the Church Hall, Hamsterley, which is one of the nicest halls we have seen for holding a cage bird show—plenty of room, free from damp nts, and in close proximity to the station, thus facilitating the easy arrival and dispatch of exhibits. We have previously commented on the splendid management of this show, and the grand manner in which the birds are looked after, and exhibitors again showed their confidence in the executive by sending in the grand entry of 418, only 27 below last year's record total. This must be considered very satisfactory, seeing that this year two neighbouring societies—Hartlepool and South Shields, were holding their shows on the same day, and the Derwent Valley officials are to be complimented on their fine achievement. The staging was again very nice, being in the usual rows, three tiers high, with large printed cards, denoting the varieties, at the head of each section, the whole looking very neat. The exhibits themselves were a very nice lot. Mr. J. Lindsay again had everything in grand working order, and, as is usual with him, got through his work in fine style. He has a thorough knowledge of his duties, and has everything done at the right time, and in the right place, and this, combined with his kindly and courteous manner, marks him at once as the right man in the right place. He is grandly supported by a splendid body of thorough fanciers, headed by that grand old fancier, Mr. G. Barkass, who is chairman of the society, and Messrs. M. F. Gardiner, W. Tomlinson, W. Curry, T. Betton, J. Oxley, G. W. Charlton, G. Garside, M. Simpson, W. Routledge, R. Johnson, E. Carhill, T. Irwin, E. Jamieson, and B. Nicholson, together with Mr. W. Marsh, who renders great assistance in the secretarial duties. As usual at this show the ladies were again well to the fore, and it is quite a pleasure to see the great interest they take in the welfare of the society, while their services in providing tea for visitors, which is served in the large ante-room, is a boon much appreciated by those who attend this charming fixture. The show was well attended, and we understand that financially the society will come out on the right side. The judges were: Mr. W. Reid (Sunderland), Canaries, and Mr. G. Wilson (Frizington), British.

STAMFORD.

5th annual exhibition, held Oct. 21, in the Corn Exchange, a well-lighted and commodious building. Excluding the members' section, which was well supported and contained some very nice birds, some four hundred exhibits were staged in the thirty-six classes. Mr. secretary Harrison had everything well in hand, and arrangements worked smoothly in all respects. He was ably backed up by the assist. secretary, Mr. A. Spriggs. Messrs. A. Baker, H. Brown, V. [illegible] Court, G. W. Grimes, T. Parker, B. T. Gris[illegible] I. W. Giles, F. Laughton, W. E. Lamb[illegible]ton, J. Sh[illegible]d, A. E. Locke, G. Lee, F. Terry, W. J. Allen, E. Swanson, G. W. Webb, T. H. Wright, T. Woods, made an effective body of stewards, who saw that nothing was left undone that could minister to the comfort of the exhibits. Mr. J. Robson judged.

THE FIRST PRINCIPLES OF CANARY BREEDING.
Some advice that will ensure a good start.
By W. M. Thomson. A volume of excellent advice as to the methods to adopt to ensure success. The cages and appliances to use, how to feed the parent birds before and after the eggs are hatched, the colour feeding of the youngsters, and numerous other important points are dealt with.

THE DIFFICULTIES OF BIRD BREEDING: HOW TO OVERCOME THEM.
By Claude St. John. One of the best and most useful articles ever written on this most interesting subject. Every phase dealt with in a manner of absorbing interest to all bird-keepers, novices and old hands alike.

EXHIBITION FINCHES AND HOW TO KEEP THEM.
By Messrs. A. and F. Hartley. A budget of hints and instructions on the caging, feeding, exhibiting, and general management of British Finches.

AN IDEAL BACK-YARD AVIARY.
By O. E. Brooks. A highly practical article, illustrated, telling fully the best way to construct cheaply an outdoor aviary, suitable for almost any bird kept in a confined space. Full dimensions are given, and the furnishing of the interior to the best advantage is thoroughly explained.

SUCCESS IN HYBRID BREEDING.
Hints that will put you on the right road.
By J. A. Tonks. A real good collection of facts on this subject, put together in a manner to be of the utmost value to all mule and hybrid fanciers.

A GRAND COLOURED PLATE OF THE GREENFINCH-CHAFFINCH HYBRID, which won the Dewar Challenge Shield at the Scottish National Show, and many other prizes. Also many other art plates and sketches. Also full standards and descriptions, of use to buyer, seller, exhibitor, and show secretary.

These and many other useful items make "Cage Birds Annual," for 1912, wonderful value.

PREPAID ADVERTISEMENTS

UNDISPLAYED.—6d. for the first eighteen words. One Halfpenny per Word for each word over eighteen. Name and address to be reckoned. MINIMUM, 18 words 6d.

IMPORTANT NOTE.—Two or more Advertisements coming from the same advertiser, even if sent in different names, are reckoned together, and, after the first Eighteen words, are charged at two words a penny, but no single advertisement, even if accompanied by others, will be charged at less than the minimum price, viz., Sixpence.

Headlines or Footlines, 6d., 9d., 1/-, 1/6, according to size.

ADVERTISEMENTS UNACCOMPANIED BY CORRECT REMITTANCE WILL NOT BE INSERTED.

Postal Orders must be sent as far as possible. All moneys should be made payable to F. CARL.

The Proprietor reserves the right to refuse any advertisement, or to cancel any advertisement ordered for a series, at any time, without assigning any reason for so doing.

Advertisements must in all cases bear the bona fide name and address of the advertiser, and no advertisement will be inserted if addressed to a receiving office, or similar place of call.

Small prepaid advertisements of a general nature and not connected in any way with the Cage Bird Trade are inserted at the rate of 1d. per word throughout. Minimum 12 words 6d.

Advertisements close Tuesdays first post in each week, and should be sent to the advertisement Manager, CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London. Terms for Display Advertisements on application.

REPEATING OF ADVERTISEMENTS

Advt. Manager. "Cage Birds."

ALWAYS USE OUR DEPOSIT SYSTEM.

We are not responsible for the statements made in advertisements, nor of the bona-fides of either buyers or sellers in all transactions the adoption of our Deposit System should be insisted upon

IMPORTANT.

SEND THE FULL COMMISSION.—If the full commission does not accompany the deposit, the vendor will not be notified of its receipt until the amount deficient, plus the extra postage incurred, has been paid to us.

HOW TO REMIT.—Under no circumstances will Cheques or Post-dated Money Orders be accepted as deposits. Uncrossed Postal Orders must be sent and the numbers taken for safety.

RULES.

1.—PROCEDURE.—The intending purchaser should send to this office the amount of the purchase (our deposit fee included), and at the same time he should communicate with the seller, stating what it is he requires sent on approval. We acknowledge receipt of the deposit to both parties. In all cases the depositor should give his name and address, and also that of the vendor, and must write same clearly and distinctly.

2.—END OF TRANSACTION.—The deposit is retained by us until we hear from both parties that the transaction has been completed. If a sale has been effected, we hand the amount deposited to the seller. If a sale has not been effected, we return the amount to the depositor. The transaction must be conducted by the parties themselves. We merely hold the deposit.

3.—AMOUNT OF COMMISSION.—The fee is 6d. for each £1, or fraction of £1, and it must be sent at same time as the deposit.

4.—IMPORTANT POINTS.—The depositor must decide within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the goods whether he will keep or return the same, unless, that is, some other period of approval (of which we must be advised) is agreed upon by both parties. The depositor must at the same time notify us of the fact that he has returned the goods. If the goods are not returned within the said forty-eight hours, we reserve the right to send the deposit to the seller after the expiration of that period. And should the seller fail within three days to notify us of the receipt of his goods back again, the transaction will be treated as ended, and the deposit will be returned to the depositor.

5.—A SATISFACTORY PURCHASE.—When a transaction has been completed to the satisfaction of both depositor and seller, both parties must at once return the deposit receipts as a guarantee of its completion. The depositor must at the same time instruct us to pay over the deposit to the seller.

6.—GOODS ALREADY SOLD.—If the goods are sold before our deposit note reaches the seller, or if for any other reason he declines to do business, he must at once return the deposit note to us. Failing its receipt, we reserve the right to return the deposit to the sender after the expiration of three days.

7.—FRESH TRANSACTION.—In case no sale be effected, a deposit is available for purposes of a fresh transaction, provided another deposit fee be paid.

8.—GOODS IN TRANSIT.—Goods in transit are at the seller's risk, and any damage or loss sustained on the journey must be borne by the seller. But goods not approved of must be properly packed and returned by the same means as were used in sending the same.

9.—PAYMENT OF CARRIAGE.—The payment of carriage must be a matter for arrangement between the vendor and depositor. We do not undertake to settle disputes affecting question of carriage. But in the absence of other arrangements the purchaser is liable for the carriage of the goods, and if the goods are sent on approval and returned, each party pays the carriage one way.

10.—DISPUTES.—In case of a dispute, the decision of the Editor is final.

THE LAST FARTHING

In superb value is assured you by purchasing your catching appliances from me. As a proof of this please read the unsolicited testimonials given below. Only practical men who thoroughly understand their work are employed by me, and no expense is spared to insure every article being of highest possible value and service. To test the truth of this statement I cordially invite any person to have any of my catching appliances on approval, put them to every reasonable test against those obtained from elsewhere at higher prices, and if mine are not far better value smash them up, and I will refund every penny of your money. Surely this will convince even the most sceptical person that my goods are what I claim for them. Clap nets made from superfine thread netting, ½in. mesh, 3 yards long, 5½ft. deep, and 4ft. fly, 4s. pair; ditto 4 yards, 5s.; 5 yards, 6s.; 6 yards, 7s.; 7 yards, 8s.; 8 yards, 9s.; 9 yards, 10s.; 10 yards, 11s. all per pair. Clap nets consist of two nets to the pair, each net guaranteed of above stated size, and are fitted complete with all pegs, poles, lines, etc., ready for immediate use. Loose thread netting as used in above clap nets ½in. mesh, 7ft. deep, 3d. yard; 9ft. deep, 4d. yard; 12ft. deep, 5d. yard. Extra stout netting 5-8 mesh, for use on rough ground and on sparrow nets, 10ft. deep, 5d. yard, all post free. Half-folding sparrow nets, fitted on 15ft. bamboo poles, 5s. 6d.; ditto, on 19ft. poles, 6s. 6d. complete. Lark nets, ready lined and geared, 15yds. by 12ft., 12s.; ditto, 20yds., 17s.; ditto, 30yds., 24s. complete. Lark netting, 1½in. mesh, 12ft. deep, 4d. yard, post free. Self-acting spring net traps, 24 by 18in., 1s. 2d.; ditto, 18 by 14in., 11d. post free. Please note these traps are entirely different to the old-fashioned board traps, they can be baited for hard and softbill at same time, and call bird can be used inside them if desired. Single trap cages, 6d. each, 5s. dozen; double ditto, 1s. each, 9s. 6d. dozen; treble ditto, 1s. 3d. each, 11s. dozen, all with separate compartment for call bird in addition to the traps stated. Patent self-setting and self-acting trap cages, guaranted to automatically reset immediately each bird is caught, 1s. 6d. each. Round or square topped call cages all wire tops and wood bottoms, 4d. each, 3s. dozen. Real Japanese bird lime, guaranteed strongest lime made, does not freeze, and will hold birds in wet weather, ½lb. 6d., 1lb. 10d., 1½lb. 1s. 6d., sample 3d., all post free. Please note this lime must not be confused with any other so-called Japanese lime, as I have no agents, and only supply the public direct. Others are copying name of my lime, but cannot copy the quality. Rest assured that if you have not purchased from me, you have not got genuine Japanese lime. Italian hemp pull lines, specially spun, free from snarl and twist, 60 yards long, 1s. 4d. each, post free. Flirt pegs and lines, 1s. 3d. post free. Brace swivels, three 3d., twelve 6d., post free. Bird calls for imitating call and song of every bird that flies, 2d. each, six 7d., twelve 1s. post free. Pure flax lines, for rabbit nets, 2/6 lb. post free; rabbit nets and netting, and every other appliance kept in stock; send stamp for full descriptive list, which also gives hints on net making. Following letters give an idea as to quality of my goods:—"4, Castle Place, Scarborough, Oct. 13.—Sir, please send another pound of Japanese lime. I cannot speak too highly of it.—Yours, W. Whitehead." "Woolham Yard, Holbeach, Lincs., Oct. 3rd.—Sir, Thanks for sending bat-folding net so promptly. I caught over three dozen Blackbirds and Thrushes with it first night, so consider it paid for itself first time of using.—Yours, J. Whiteley." "5, Oxford St., Griffithstown, Newport, Mon., Oct. 1st.—Sir, thanks for netting sent so promptly. I did not think it possible for such cheap stuff to be good, but it is far superior to that I knit by hand, which cost me 10/6. I shall never pay such a price again as long as you can supply better netting at quarter the price.—Yours, J. Hawthorne." "Chapel St., Mountmellick, Ireland, Oct. 24.—Sir, please send another ½lb. lime. I never had such good stuff before, and always recommended it.—Yours, J. Flanagan." "68, Cartmell Terrace, Darlington, Oct. 8.—Sir, I caught 40 birds this week-end in clap-nets got from you. Yours, J. French." "Dundalk Lane, Ditton Bell, near Widnes, Oct. 24th.—Sir, clap-nets I had from you last year were the best I ever saw, being nicely coloured to match the ground, almost invisible. I caught a lot of birds, although it was late in season.—Yours, W. Houghton." "35, Lindsay St., Arbroath.—Sir, please send another pound Japanese lime. I have never had anything to beat it.—Yours, C. Brown." "Blacklands, Nutfield, Surrey, Oct. 16th. Sir, I had some of your lime last year, and it is best I ever used. Please send another pound.—Yours, B. Smith." "5, Prospect Row, West Thurrock, Grays, Oct. 16th.—Sir, please send pair 8 yard clap-nets. I hope they will turn out better than a pair I had from ——, as they had neither shape nor make, and rotten in bargain. He had three of us, and they all turned out the same.—Yours, T. Orton." "40, Bourne Avenue, Bolton Road, Windsor, Oct. 24th.—Sir, Please send another 20 yards netting. It is far best netting on the market, and honestly worth double the price. Catchers about here won't believe me, so I am sending for this for one of them to see.—Yours, W. Taylor." "135, Upper Bridge St., Chelmsford, Oct. 28th.—Sir, please forward another another 10 yards netting. I am well satisfied with the last I purchased from you.—Yours, A. Hudson." "35, Edge St., Thatto Heath, Oct. 22nd. Sir, netting to hand, and am well pleased with it. Please send 12 more yards.—Yours, H. Cuttler." "Temple, Goonhaven, Cabersticl, Cornwall, Oct. 21st. Sir, Please send 4 yards netting. I am still using the netting I had from you 5 years ago.—Yours, A. Hoskin." "13, East Banland Square, Denny, Oct. 20th. Sir, please send another ½lb. lime. The last I had was the envy of all the catchers round here.—Yours, A. Grant." Absolutely every professional catcher of note gets his appliances from me, so follow their lead and buy from the man who really knows what is required for successful catching, and sees that his customers get it. "Cage Birds" for Nov. 2nd, 1912, says:—

"Here is the new standard work of reference for Canary Breeders and lovers of Cage Birds. It is compact and complete in one volume, every page embodying the newest and most reliable knowledge."

CANARIES: HYBRIDS AND BRITISH BIRDS

In Cage and Aviary.

With valuable Coloured Plates of every known variety, showing the Fancier exactly what to breed to.

Written by Experts in every department.

Get the Book Free and test it without spending a penny.

Now Offered On Approval for four days' FREE Examination.

The Only Book YOU Need.

This is the only book on Canaries you will ever need. It is new, complete, concise and written in simple language. It tells you everything you will ever want to know about the breeding, rearing and keeping in healthy condition of your songsters. You will never be at a loss if you own and use this one book. If it is a question of mating, pairing, sitting, hatching, rearing, feeding, feeding or breeding for colour, care of plumage, cages, nests or aviaries, pedigree or line breeding—the answer is certainly here. And this book also gives you magnificent plates carefully coloured according to nature, which are not merely ornamental, but are of practical value in showing you exactly what to breed to. For these pictures show the standard types of prize birds to-day. This one compact book teaches you everything there is to learn; and it guides you into the fascinating field of scientific canary breeding. But we do not ask you to take our word for its excellence. We ask you to send for the work without charge or obligation to order; to read and test it in every way for four clear days, and to send it back to us on the fifth day if you decide it will not be useful to you.

The Free Approval Form.

POST THIS TO-DAY.

N.B.—We pay carriage both ways if you decide not to keep the Book.

To the WAVERLEY BOOK Co., Ltd., 7 and 8, Old Bailey, London, E.C.

HARRY ALLEN

THE ORIGINAL LINNET AND GOLDFINCH KING.

I have the finest Roller Canaries in England; for real quality notes they stand alone; they can win any contest there is in England, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6 and the real Schoolmaster 12/6. I have also a fine lot of young German Rollers, taught by the winner of over 50 first prizes, 4/6 and 5/6 each. Real Siberian cock Goldfinches, with deep square-cut scarlet blaze, beautifully tanned on breasts, well buttoned, 5/-, 6/6, 7/6, and one that can win under any judge 10/6. Real English Peartree cock Goldfinch, the largest in England, singing hard, 2/6, 3/-, sure prize-winners, for the bench, 4/6 each. Four home-moulted Goldfinches, singing hard, and have bred mules, beautiful birds, 7/6 and 8/6; can earn their money easy with catching. Two house-moulted Linnets, singing hard, with quality notes, finger-tame, a treat to hear, right for teaching. Young Linnet Mules, 7/6 and 8/6. Linnets taught by the champion Linnet of the world, singing hard, with new cage and my book of secrets and a packet of my special mixture. I won all the English championships and the world's greatest contests with this mixture, 3/6 the lot: and a few extra gems, will sing anywhere, 5/6. My A1 special for the bench, the largest in England; this class of Linnets have won at York, Newcastle, Northallerton, Peterborough, Bramley, Morley, in open shows, and dozens of other shows too numerous to mention. Cock Bullfinches, with beautiful black cap and bib, double rich colour on breast, splendid wing-bars, 2/6, 3/-, and sure prize winners for the bench, 4/6. Beautiful cock Siskins, 3/6, 4/6; a few gems, 5/6. These are splendid birds. Cock Larks, as straight as arrows, singing daylight and gaslight, 1/6 and 2/6; a few hand-reared, one finger-lame, as steady as rocks, singing daylight and gaslight, 3/6; and one, cannot be beaten, with quality notes, 4/6. Splendid Chaffinches, Yellowhammers and Greenfinches, 1/6 each. Cock Thrushes and Blackbirds, singing very nice, with low mellow voice, 3/-; hand-reared one a treat to hear, 4/6. Plenty in stock. Hundreds of British and Foreign birds. Everybody welcome to see and hear what they are buying; only honest dealing done with me; so write to your old friend, Harry Allen, Bird Specialist and Judge, Bird Aviaries, 40, Beckett-st., Leeds. (203)

WHEN YOU'VE READ

all that I have to say about my birds, please read what my customers say about the birds they have bought. The letters published below are genuine and unsolicited, and are written by persons who, apart from business transactions, are entire strangers to me. Surely if I can please them so well, I can please you. Will you test me by sending a small trial order, and in the unlikely event of you not being satisfied, you cannot possibly lose anything, as I send all on approval at my own risk, on receipt of cash, or "Cage Birds" deposit system, and if not in every way satisfactory, birds have only to be returned, and back comes all your money. Genuine Worcestershire cock Goldfinches, all clean moulted, and in perfect health and condition, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 8/6; specially selected large cocks, for muling, and warranted now in song, 3/- each, three 7/6; extra special cocks, with full complement of show points and fit for immediate exhibition, 4/- and 5/- each. Note full name and address given with following letters:—"King's Mead Cottage, Pontefract, Nov. 1st.—Sir, birds arrived in good condition. I am well pleased and more than satisfied with them.—Yours, H. Elsworth." "10, Wemysohill Row, Overtown-by-Wishaw, Oct. 25.— Sir, Linnets arrived all safe, and I am highly pleased with them. They are the best I ever got from England. You will get more orders from here, as the bird men are surprised at such value for money.—Yours, Charles Reid." "4, Dagnaire Road, Wood Green, London, Oct. 24.—Sir, I duly received the two Goldfinches on Saturday, and am well pleased with them. The prompt manner in which you executed my little order deserves commendation.—Yours, G. Wilson." "Gas Works, Kirkwall, Orkney Isles, Oct. 25th.—Sir, Bullfinch arrived on Wednesday, in splendid condition, having stood the journey well. He is a very nice bird, and suits me well.—Yours, Robert Robb." "Corsehill, Kilwinning, Oct. 6.—Sir, exhibition Linnet arrived safe, and am highly pleased. He is a topper. Please send following.—Yours, S. Duncan." "156, Agnes St., Belfast, Oct. 7.—Sir, please send another 12 Linnets. I was well pleased with the last I got, they were all sound and healthy.—Yours, J. McWalters." "109, Cobden St., Greenbank, Blackburn, Oct. 17.—Sir, Bullfinch arrived safely this morning. He is in splendid condition, and satisfactory in every way.—Yours, Thomas McGrew." "23, Frank Place, Birtley, Oct. 16.—Sir, received Linnets this morning, in splendid condition. Many thanks for quick despatch.—Yours, G. Vallack." "110, Shankhouse Row, Cramlington, Oct. 14.—Sir, I received Linnets on Saturday and I thank you for the straightforward manner in which you have dealt with me. I shall recommend you to all, as you are certainly an honest dealer.—Yours, Wm. Dodds." "2, Glencairn Terrace, St. Budeaux, Devonport, Oct. 14.—Sir, I am very pleased with the Bullfinch you sent me 3 weeks ago. Everyone who sees it says it is a marvel for the money. Please send following.—Yours, T. Wills." "49, Princess St., Normanton, Oct. 31.—Sir, received birds in good condition, am very pleased with them and the very obliging and straightforward way you have dealt with me.—Yours, J. Barraclough." "Garforth Bridge, Oct. 30.—Sir, received birds in good condition, and sex all right, for which I am extremely obliged.—Yours, J. Jones." "32, Edmundstown, Penygraig, Oct. 30.—Sir, received birds safely, and in good condition, for which many thanks.—Yours, S. Edmunds." Please note, all birds sold by me are guaranteed to be properly netted in County of Worcester by catchers employed solely by myself, and none are sent until feeding thoroughly on ordinary seed mixtures, so that no soaked or crushed seeds are necessary when you get them. I never buy off any advertiser, nor are my catchers allowed to pick birds out for anyone, consequently I am in a unique position to supply exhibitors with the very best, and so I do not exhibit birds myself, all are for sale at moderate prices. (See Appliances and Roller Canary columns for further advts.). (204)

ST. ANDREASBURG ROLLERS

The world's best songsters. Genuine trained St. Andreasburg Rollers, with full change of song by day and artificial light; birds that are sure to please where sweet, classical singing is required. Cocks, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6 each; pure hens, same strain, 2/6, 3/-, 3/6 each. If you require birds to make loud noises, I have Hartz cocks, real loud, free songsters, the best low-priced birds in England. Cocks, in song by day and gaslight, 4/9, 5/3, 5/9, 6/3 each. Matched pairs, for breeding songsters, 6/9, 7/6, 8/6; illustrated price list of Yorkshires and Norwich, post free. Mr. H. Cole writes: Oct. 26th, 1912: "Rollers received in splendid condition. I am more than pleased with them. The quality of their song will secure you more orders." I guarantee every customer satisfaction. All birds on seven days' approval at my sole risk. Neat travelling cages, 3d. each: E. L. Storey, Practical Bird Specialist, Crowle, Doncaster.

THERE'S ONLY ONE

best, and the best Roller on the market to-day is undoubtedly the Leipzig Roller, as imported by me. I want you to prove the truth of this statement by having a Leipzig Roller from me on trial, and an ordinary Roller from elsewhere at any higher price; test them side by side for a week, and if in your opinion and the opinion of any Roller judge you like to ask, mine is not by far the best value at a lower price, return it to me, and I will instantly refund the whole of your out of pocket expenses. By accepting this offer you cannot possibly lose one penny. I am by far the largest retailer of Roller Canaries in United Kingdom, and this trade has been built up solely by the merits of the birds themselves, and not by lavishly displayed advertisements. I import the birds direct, and am sole importer of Weber's Leipzig Rollers, therefore am enabled to sell birds at far less price than others. At present time I have a splendid stock of these Leipzig Roller cocks in full song day and gaslight, with long, hollow rolls, sweet silvery trills, waterbubble runs, soft roulades, piccolo trill, jug-jug of Nightingale, bell, harp, gong, and flute notes, etc., etc., and warranted entirely free from any harsh or objectionable notes, whatever; price, 6/6 and 7/6 each. Special Bandmasters, which excel in the deep bass and hollow bell rolls, 10/-, and 12/6 each. Hens, guaranteed same strain, 2/- each, 3/6 couple. I have also a splendid stock of loud free singing Hartz cocks (often sold as Hartz Mountain Rollers by unscrupulous dealers), in full, loud, vigorous song day and gaslight, just the thing for public bars or coffee houses, where plenty of loud, noisy song is required, 5/- each, seven for 29/9. All are safely and warmly packed in special travelling cages, with food and water to last 48 hours, free of extra charge, and sent on full week's trial at my sole risk during whole time, either on receipt of cash or "Cage Birds" deposit system, and unless birds prove all I say they are and realise your every expectation, the whole of your money is promptly and cheerfully refunded. Following few letters are entirely unsolicited and full address is given so that any sceptical person may make every enquiry as to their genuineness. "16, Brynteg-terrace, Merthyr Vale, Oct. 28. Sir,—Received birds safe and healthy this morning, and I can tell you I am fully satisfied as they are fine birds and well worth money.—Yours, J. Williams." "Rose Vale Cottage, Windsor-st., Rhyl, Oct. 22nd. Sir,—Very pleased with Roller, which arrived safe, and is doing well. Please send another for enclosed P.O.—Yours, W. Griffiths." "56, Belgrave-st., Nelson. Sir,—I would like you to know about Roller cock you sent me in January. He is a knockout for song. He has sung at 2.30 a.m. this summer, and I have had him singing at midnight. In fact, I can get him to sing any time. He is now moulting, but still gives us a tune. Double the price I paid won't buy him.—Yours, S. Addy." "10, St. Andrew-st., Duhlin, Oct. 20th. Sir,—The Leipzig Roller I got from you two years ago is better than ever; he is doing so well and in such grand song that I have been offered twice as much as I paid for him, but will not part.—Yours, T. Henry." "26, Nelson-st., Low Moor, Clitheroe, Oct. 18. Sir,—Please send me one of your world-famed Leipzig Rollers, price 7/6. I had one of your Rollers before, and was well satisfied with it. I have had a little experience with Rollers, and can assure you if I get one as good as last I shall be well repaid.—Yours, R. Hitchin." "6, Fell Avenue, Blaydon-on-Tyne, Oct. 25th. Sir,—Birds arrived safe and sound, with which I am delighted. They are two splendid birds, and I could not wish for better. Please send following.—Yours, Geo. Rohson." "Halberton, Tiverton, Oct. 5th. Sir,—Roller cock I had from you last year is a beauty, and giving great satisfaction.—Yours, W. Harris." "7, Primrose Hill, Northwich, October 10.—Sir,—Received pair Canarics safe and in good health. They are two nice birds, and I am well satisfied.—Yours, S. Lyons." "20, Tuson-st., Preston, Lancs., Oct. 23. Sir,—Please send one Leipzig Roller cock and 5 hens for enclosed P.O. I have been well recommended to give you my order.—Yours, F. Ridding." "3, Blawarthill-st., Yoker, Glasgow, Oct. 26. Sir,—Bird arrived quite safe, and in best condition, and I am very pleased with it. Thanking you for prompt attention.—Yours, J. Cooper." "I have hundreds of similar testimonials, all open for inspection any time. Please note I am the only importer of this strain of Rollers, and all cocks are stamped on wing "Hans Weber, Leipzig." Save all dealers' profits by sending orders direct to me. (See British Bird and Appliance columns for other advertisement.)

Testimonials, for proof of what my customers do with my Yorkshires. From Vancouver, B.C., received here Nov. 3, 1912: "I feel I am bound to write again and inform you of the success I have had with the 2 pairs of Yorkshires you sent me out last spring. I reared 13 youngsters from them in two rounds, and showed 12 of them, taking 8 1sts, 1 2nd, 2 3rds, 1 4th, and have refused several good offers for them, and cannot thank you too much for putting me on the right way to success, though only a novice, and you will receive all future orders from me and my friends."—J. S. Connor to L. Dykes. Another from 29, Brynwyndham Terrace, Treherbert, Nov. 5, 1912:—"Bird arrived safe, in the pink of condition. He started to sing as soon as taken from box, and has been singing continually every day. Enclosed find order for another, and you will receive an order for a pair from my friend this week."—T. J. Rielly to L. Dykes. For further proof of my Yorkshires see show reports weekly.

If you want stock birds or show birds, I have some fine specimens ready for immediate disposal at prices to suit all; and remember I send all orders off same day as received.

OGDEN BROS.

Another Record! 13 firsts in 3 days, besides numerous specials and other wins. Have a few winners to spare, reasonable, also properly matched pairs, bred from the best in the world, 10/6, 15/6, 21/-, 30/-, 40/-, 50/-, 60/- per pair; for proof, watch show reports, as we cannot advertise all our successes, as this paper would not hold them all. Besides scores of birds standing first every week in other names, who would not like it made public; every Yorkshire Union show this season we have won special for most points throughout the show. These are the shows where the keenest competition is. Special invitation to any fancier, or birds sent on approval: Dudley Hill, Bradford. (10)

SHACKLETON'S CHAMPION YORKSHIRES

have won thousands of prizes and specials at all the leading shows in the kingdom. At the Crystal Palace I have won 6 championships, and over 30 firsts and special prizes. Birds bred and sold by me during the last 10 years have won hundreds of prizes and specials for their owners at all leading shows, and again this season my clients are taking leading honours all over the country, thus proving beyond question that this strain stands pre-eminent as the best and most reliable strain in the Fancy. I have for disposal some really grand birds, fit to win in the keenest competition; also some suitable for small shows and novice classes at reasonable prices. Properly matched pairs from 15/6, 20/-, 25/-, 30/-, 40/- upwards; single birds in proportion; Satisfaction guaranteed or money returned in full; approval, cash or deposit: W. H. Shackleton, Melrose Aviaries, Lytton-rd., Girlington, Bradford, Yorkshire. (19)

All my champion prize-winning Yorkshires for sale, cheap, from 12/6 pair, as I intend keeping Crests only; see report South-West London annual show. I had the honour of having the best Yorkshire in the show, which was claimed by a well-known exhibitor. To be sold in one lot or separate; cold-room bred; seen any time.—Slade, 61, Lavender Hill, Clapham Junction. (205)

QUALITY WINS

Do you want to improve your stock? if so, get the best. If you are a beginner, be sure you start with good quality birds. They are always the best, therefore the cheapest. Do not be misled by unshapely crossbreds, but have reliable pure bred birds, on seven days' approval at my risk, so that you may judge the value I give. I have had many years' experience, and supplied many winners to my customers. I have none reserved; every bird is for sale; that accounts for my customers doing so well. My Yorkshires are all bred from the very best of high-class exhibition birds, full of quality, of standard length, light in feather, etc. Cocks, on song, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6 each; hens, 3/-, 3/6, 4/-, 4/6 each; matched pairs, properly mated to breed the right stuff, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-. I have some real fine Norwich, same price as Yorkshires. Remember I send all my birds to you on 7 days' approval at my sole risk. Illustrated price list, post free: E. L. Storey, Bird Specialist, Crowle, Doncaster.

ROUND THE SHOWS.

NEWPORT (Mon).

Held in the Exhibition Hall, Nov. 6th and 7th. The society's enterprise was rewarded by an increased entry, an increase which we believe would have been much larger had the schedule stated which classes the two judges would handle. Exhibitors like to know to whom the task of adjudicating has been apportioned, as it makes a great difference in their selection of competing birds. What suits one judge does not always suit another. If our friends continue in the way in which they have begun, Newport show will become in very truth what its executive claim it to be "The Crystal Palace of the West." This young and aspiring society has the following officials: President, Mr. W. J. Dix; committee, Messrs. C. Richards, E. Moss, W. Dark, J. C. Nathan, J. Davies, D. Edwards, and G. Hughes; treas., Mr. G. C. Carruthers, and secretary, Mr. John Hammett a sarong list of experienced fanciers, and every care and attention was given to the exhibits. Hard and well did the officials work. Much in the successful working of a show depends upon the secretary, and in Mr. John Hammett the society has found a remarkably good one. He is resourceful, tactful, genial, and indefatigible in his efforts to promote the best interests of the society. Thus we had a good show, well managed.

In Norwich the specials for best yell. and buff were won by Mr. A. Hitchings' clear Vell., and Mr. B. H. George's ticked Buff. Yorks. section special winners were Mr. Boundy's cl. yell. and Mr. H. E. Smith's marked buff. Crest specials were taken by the local veterans, A. Allen, with a Green, and A. Simmonds with a massive Crest-bred. Border specials fell to Mr. D. Jenkin's buff, and Mr. S. Smith's varieg. yell., two beautiful birds. The British, etc., made a fine display, and all the winners were birds of high merit. The special fell to Mr. Ray's very handsome Waxwing. The spl. for best Mule was easily taken by Mr. Shellam's noted clear Greenfinch-Canary. The Cardiff enthusiast secured all five first prizes! The judges were Messrs. C. A. House (Canaries), and D. A. S. Longden, and their awards seemed to please everybody.

Mr. C. A. House's Classes.

PORTSMOUTH C.B.S.

Portsmouth C.B.S. were well rewarded for their pluck in advertising so extensively by a record entry. The Long's Memorial Hall, on Nov. 5 & 6, was filled by a grand display. The hall is a fine building, lofty, and with good light all round, so that the exhibits can be easily seen by both day and night. It was kept at a nice temperature, and the birds were quite free from draughts. The Canary section was hardly so full as expected. The British were a very fine lot especially was this the case in the local classes, where could be found both Canaries and British quite as good as any in the open. The exhibits made a fine show on the up-to-date staging.

The exhibition was opened by the pres., Councillor Dye, who made a neat speech, referring to the fancy in complimentary terms. The members of the Society quite appreciate his kindness to them, and took the opportunity of presenting him with a Canary in a handsome cage. The management was at that could be desired. Messrs. King and Joiner, the very able secretaries, having the priceless gift of making things "go." In their efforts they were ably assisted by Messrs. Hall, Olding, Buttress, Saunders, Stoll, Parkes, Bickell, Hatter. Mr. Brown had on view a few good Rollers, which attracted a lot of attention. A feature of the show was the wonderful array of specials, quite the best for some time at any of our South Country Shows. Although the weather was not on its best behaviour the Show was patronised by a good number of visitors during the afternoon and evening. The judges were Mr. J. H. Roe, Canaries; Mr. H. Norman, Brit., Hyb., and Foreign; and their awards were favourably received.

WHITBURN C.B.S.

Meeting held Baillie Institute, 4th November, Mr. Ludivic Laing presiding. Decided, that six birds be nominated for the Tre cup. Allocated over 40 handsome spls. over the 50 classes. Secretary was instructed to advertise in CAGE BIRDS two weeks previous to show, and it is to be hoped that fanciers will give us a bumping entry.—R. Lambie, Sec.

CHESTER C.B.S.

Monthly meeting held 29th Oct., Nag's Head Cocoa Rooms, Mr. F. C. Parker in the chair. Show business claimed attention. Decided to hold next meeting Nov. 11th, at 8.30 p.m., when final arrangements for annual show will be completed, and specials be allotted. Will all members endeavour to attend and so help to bring show to successful issue. Intending members should join at once.—R. L. G. Simpson, Hon. Sec.

STRATFORD & E. LONDON F.S.

There will not be a meeting on November 11th, Palace week. Next meeting, Nov. 28th. Prize money, cards, and specials won at last young stock show. All tickets, ticket money, or specials, must be sent to the hon. sec. per return, so that balance sheet, etc., can be produced at the meeting, as the hon. secretary will not be able to attend on that night. All members requiring clean prize cards must notify the hon. secretary (see par on young stock show schedules).—W. Maxey, Hon. Sec.

WIMBLEDON C.B.S.

Monthly meeting, at 6, The Broadway, on Monday, presided over by Mr. W. H. Stoakley. Washing competition for silver spoon presented by the society for the competitor handling the birds best and most effectively. This attracted a good number of the fair sex, who formed quite one-third of some 50 members and friends who intently watched the operations. "Daily Sketch" representatives were present to take flash-light photos, which went forth to the world in that paper on Wednesday. Three competitors took part, Messrs. E. J. Whittome, F. J. Day, and F. Moore, the last-named winning the spoon by the vote of those present. Before the ordinary business the Chairman said he was very sorry to say that since their last meeting one of the members of their committee—Mrs. Griffiths—had undergone a serious operation, and had been in danger of her life. He was glad to say she was now getting on all right, and he was sure it would be the wish of the meeting that the secretary should send a letter to her expressing their regret and sympathy and a hope for her speedy recovery. The secretary then mentioned that the show arrangements were progressing satisfactorily. Be strongly impressed upon the members the urgent necessity, if the show was to be a success, for pushing the sale of tickets for all they were worth. Three new members were elected, several letters announcing specials given for the forthcoming show were read, and various matters in connection with the show were dealt with.—H. Smith, Hon. Sec.

YORK C.B.S.

The following are the points winners:—Norwich: Wright 27, Shorney 25, Hunter 13, Simmons 2. Yorks.: Simison 26, Campling 22. Brit. and For.: Shorney 49, Simmons 37, Hunter 29, Wright 27, O'Reilley 24, Pool 20, Mack 16, Cass 13, Zimmermann 11, Porter 8, Thompson 7, Dale 6, Gray 6, Ewbank 4, Richardson 3, Farrar 3, Holmes 3, Sayles 2, Chittenden 2, Jessop 1. Junior Class: Cass 12, Chesney 3.—H. Sayles, Hon. Sec.

ANNFIELD PLAIN AND DISTRICT F. AND F.C.B.S.

Meeting, October 26. Carried, that members be allowed to transfer their birds from open to members' classes. A hearty vote of thanks has been forwarded to Mrs. J. Elliott, re offering of silver cup, also to Mr. Dodds for two silver medals. There is a silver cup for best member's bird in the cage bird section. I am also endeavouring to secure a silver cup for the open cage birds, for most points in three birds nominated. All specials we intend to put on the open classes. This should be a great inducement to outside exhibitors. Next meeting, November 9, at the Ox Inn, Oxhill, 7.30 prompt. Members are earnestly requested to attend. Our neighbours at West Stanley are holding their two days' show this week-end. I tender my hearty wishes for a record entry and good gate.—J. W. Christon, Sec.

PAISLEY, TANNAHILL O.S.

Monthly meeting, held in Mr. White's, St. James' Street, Nov. 2nd, Mr. Robert Neil (president) in chair. A large turn-out of members and friends took place, owing to it being annual show day. A most pleasing duty fell to the chairman in presenting Mr. Andrew Ferguson with the Society's silver cup and gold badge, and also congratulating him on winning the first and second amalgamation, this being the third year in succession the Paisley Tannahill Society have the honours. Prize-money and specials went to the following members:—Messrs. Malcolm, Ferguson, Powell, Hulton, Fleming, McDowall, Furnie, Meikle, Gillies, Slater, Moore, Hamilton, Allison, Price, W. and R. Neil. The chairman wished Mr. Thomas Lockie, ex-proprietor of our meeting place, every success in Winnipeg, for where he sails this month. Mr. Lockie very feelingly replied. During the evening songs were rendered by the following members and friends:—Messrs. Neil, Hamilton, Fleming, Meikle, Donaldson, Irvine, Fernie, etc. A hearty vote of thanks to the chairman concluded a most harmonious evening.—J. Stewart, Sec.

FALKIRK (Good Intent) C.B.A.

Monthly meeting held Oddfellows' Hall, Grahamstone, 26th Oct., Mr. J. Muir presiding. Two new members were admitted. Messrs. J. Hunter and J. Penman were appointed stewards for the show. Special prize will be given for most entries in Border at the annual show. Last meeting before show, 30th Nov., when specials will be placed and medals selected. Big attendance requested. W. Clarkson, Sec.

BISHOP AUCKLAND & DIS. C.B.S.

This newly-formed, but rapidly increasing, society held monthly meeting at headquarters, Y.M.C.A. Hall, October 30, Mr. Button presiding. A good muster of enthusiastic fanciers was present. Several new members were enrolled, and a good lot of business was got through. Decided to hold members' table show Nov. 27, with Mr. Will Messenger as judge. All fanciers in the district becoming members on or before Nov. 27 will be eligible to compete for members' prizes and specials.—W. Welsh, Assist. Sec.

GREEN CANARY ASSOCIATION.

Monthly meeting, October 24th, Oldham Hall, Liverpool, Mr. J. W. Metcalfe in the chair. Nominations for membership were received from Messrs. J. Leatherbarrow and E. Rawsthorne. Messrs. Young and Donaldson tendered their resignations. Decided to offer silver cup, to be competed for at the patronage shows, for most points in the novice sections; and notice is hereby given that the gold medal now stands for second most points. Conditions of competition to remain the same. There are still a few outstanding subscriptions. Why should members require so many notices? Table show on syllabus for the November meeting, Nov. 28th. Classification, Green, Yorks., Nor., and Bord., Clear Yorks., Nor., and Bords., British (4 each section). Every member expected to do his share towards making it a record night show. There are also the old show arrangements to make, hence an early start is essential.—Geo. Green, Hon. Sec.

HOLMFIRTH AND DIST. C.B.S.

The second annual prize distribution took place Nov. 1, at Headquarters, Rose and Crown Inn, when an excellent supper was provided by the host, Mr. Buckley. After supper, the genial President of the society, Mr. C. R. Hampshire, presented the prizes to the fortunate winners, and in an excellent speech complimented them on their progress, in not only winning those excellent prizes in members' shows, but on the fact that he had been pleased to observe, as he read the reports in the papers, they were doing very well at the various shows throughout the county of broad acres. He had pleasure in presenting to them the prizes, and hoped they would continue to succeed, and that those who had not won a prize this time would do so next, as he believed in honours going round. Following are the winners' names:—Challenge cup (to be won three times), and gold medal, H. Charlesworth; pair of ornaments, J. C. Beaumont; electro-plated biscuit barrel, G. Bray; gold-plated photo frame, A. Hellawell; breakfast cruet, N. Sandiford; electro-plated butter dish, F. Lee; pipe and case, Tom Smith; hat, A. Bray; alarm clock, J. Heywood; bottle of scent, G. Butler. A hearty vote of thanks was given to the donors of the prizes, to the president for presenting them, and to Mr. Buckley for his excellent catering. After these gentlemen had responded, the rest of the evening was spent in social fashion.—Tom Smith, Sec.

Singing Contests.

KIPPAX.

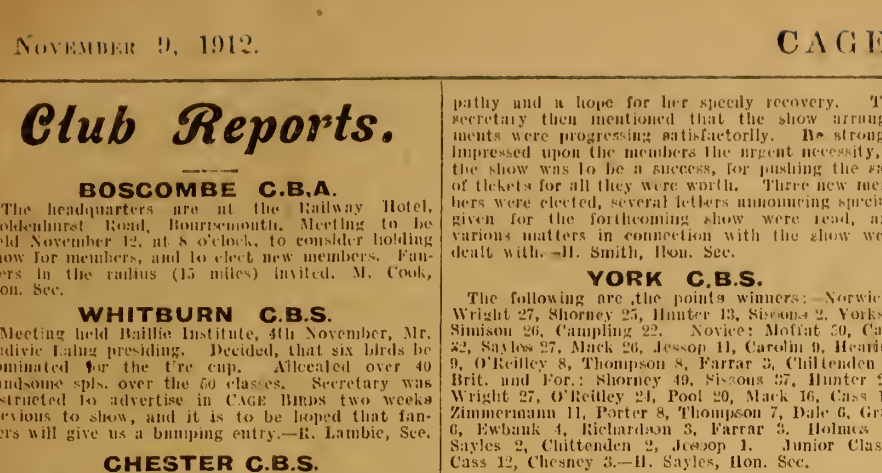
Annual general meeting of the Kippax and Dist. Linnet Club will be held at the Commercial Hotel, Nov. 16th, at 3.30 p.m. Business: Balance sheet for 1912 and election of officers for 1913.—R. Plows, Hon. Sec.

LONDON N.

We are having several Chaffinch and Linnet handicaps during the week at the Swan, Caledonian Road. This house has changed hands, the new proprietor being Mr. Stafford. Shall be pleased to see all old fanciers. The scores being done lately have been but moderate. The new time-keeper is F. Hughes. Further particulars can be obtained from me.—Pony Moore, the Swan, Caledonian Road, N.

PENDLEBURY.

Linnet contest, which should have taken place at Butchers' Arms, Union St., Oct. 26th, had to be postponed, owing to only a few fanciers turning up, it having been raining all day. On Nov. 2nd we held our annual dinner, which was first class; every one was quite satisfied, 40 sitting down. After dinner we had a concert with a large programme of very good singers and players. A most enjoyable evening was brought to a close by a vote of thanks to our host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. J. Siddall, for the excellent manner in which everything had been carried out. Next contest open to Manchester and District, Nov. 16th, for time, first pair up at 2.30 prompt.—E. Hickman.



LEEDS.

Open contest for quality, at King's Head, Shannon Street, on November 2nd, when 16 birds sung for 3 prizes given by Mr. Tillotson: 1, 3, O. Butler; 2, T. Chadwick. Judges, S. Hardcastle and W. Naylor. Nov. 3rd, 24 birds sung for 4 prizes: 1, A. Butler; 2, T. Stead; 3, A. Richardson; 4, T. Johnson. Judges, S. Hardcastle and A. Jennings.—W. Naylor, Hon. Sec.

Usual weekly Linnet contest, held Prince Albert Hotel, Newtown, Nov. 3rd, when 30 birds competed for three prizes given by Mrs. Saynor. Result: 1, J. Clark; 2, Cainforth; 3, P. Madden. Judges, Messrs. C. Lorriman and Soloman.—J. Smith, Sec.

Skinner's Arms, Buslingthorpe Lane. Linnet sing, Nov. 2nd. 12 birds were hung: 1, 2, Sellars; 3, Chadwick. Judges, Clayton and Lorriman. Contest, Nov. 3rd. 14 birds were hung: 1, Sellars; 2, Chadwick; 3, Sellars. Next contest, Nov. 9th.—C. W. Smith, Sec.

We understand that the Tavistock and Dis. F.S. is holding its annual show on Wednesday, Nov. 27, the day following Launceston show, with which the society is working this year. A person will be in attendance at Launceston and will see that all exhibits entered for Tavistock are properly despatched and cared for. There are fourteen open classes. Judge: Mr. T. Pope, Plymouth. Exhibitors have the opportunity of entering in two shows near to each other, and getting their birds sent carriage paid from one to the other.

GRAVES GRAMOPHONES

It's not only the words but it's the way a song is sung that does the business. The GRAVES Gramophone gives you Harry Lauder's own actual voice, and Wilkie Bard's own particular inimitable expression, in fact all the little turns and touches which are the life and soul of the song, exactly as they come from the lips of the singer & with all their original humour & sparkle.

YOU NEARLY SPLIT YOUR SIDES WITH LAUGHING.

Our 1912 Gramophone Model touches the high-water mark of Quality and value, and is a perfect triumph in sound reproducing mechanism. The accumulated experience of years of progress is concentrated in this magnificent instrument, and all that Brains, Enterprise, and Capital can do to produce an unparalleled success has been put into the Graves 1912 Gramophone Model.

EAST HAM.

Second annual show, held Hartley Avenue Schools. Entries exceeded last year. Yorks. were a fine show in themselves, coming up to some of the open show in merit. Some splendid Norwich were put down by Messrs. Taylor in champion section, and Mr. Perry and Mr. Evans had something very choice in the novice Norwich. There was a fair display of the "wee gems." A finer lot of British for a members' show is seldom seen; altogether, the birds made a splendid display. The vice-president, Mr. Oliver presented the society early last year with staging and this year he has extended it, as a further gift. The secretary being absent, the show was ably carried out by the committee, all working as only enthusiasts can. The accommodation was only a small class-room, and we trust to hold it next year in a more suitable hall. Mr. John Robson judged.—F. Fox, Hon. Sec.

From the catalogue received from Mr. Fox, hon. sec., we gather that the principal winners were: YORKS.: Messrs. King, Bennett, Reynolds, Fox Hunsden, Farmer, Parker, Lock, Mays, Smith, Wilkins and Son, Stevens, Fisher. NOR.: Taylor Cooper, Parr, Perry, Evans, Oliver, Dalton, Hunsden, Mrs. Lawrence. BORD: Hammond, Potter, Mrs Curd, Fordham, Fisher. BRIT.: Walker, Oliver, Mrs Curd, Dalton, Cooper, South. MULES: South Cooper, Walker, Mrs. Curd, Oliver. FOR.: King.

SOUTH WEST LONDON C.B.S.

Annual show held New Guild Hall, Wandsworth Road, Oct. 26. Entries were well above previous years, which speaks for the progress the society is making. Four new members joined during the evening. Norwich were good, so were the Yorkshires, few of which were claimed at catalogue price. The Crests made a fine show, the winning hen taking sp. for best in show. In Mr. Freeman the society has an ideal secretary, who, with the assistance of Messrs. Slade (chairman), Lilley, McLaughten, and others made the show a great success. Mr. J. Robson judged.

Our Cage Bird section, writes Mr. G. Mitchell, sec. Biggar Show, increases yearly, particularly British, and if well supported, we will be only too pleased to increase our classification.

On page 9 of schedule, writes Mr. W. H. Pyke, hon. sec. Reading Show, most points in classes 15 and 16 should be 17 and 18. About 150 were sent out before mistake was discovered.

I received a CAGE BIRDS Watch all right, and I am delighted with it. Judging by how it has kept time, it will be as useful to me as CAGE BIRDS is.—JOHN E. SPURR (Radford).

Mr. Jas. Cosgrove, 2, Croftbank Terrace, Bothwell, informs us that schedules of Uddington C.B.S. show have been posted. Those requiring a copy should send to Mr. Cosgrove.

The Scotch Fancy judge at Blackwood show, writes Mr. Hamilton, sec., is Mr. Caldwell, not Mr. Fulton, as printed in schedule. We have some extra specials since schedule was issued.

Messrs. Smarts Ltd., Birmingham, have placed their advertising in the hands of "Harchibald." His first effort appears under "Cycles," and will no doubt interest and amuse our readers.

We paid all prize-money at Barnstaple show, writes Mr. J. D. Horrill, the hon. secretary, three days after the show. We had an increase of nearly 100 entries, and many visitors from all parts came to see this society's first show, and were highly pleased both with the quality of the birds and the high order in which the show was carried out.

I am returning Mr. Thompson's deposit card, as I am sold right out, thanks to your valuable paper; could have sold ten times as many. I think Canaries must be coming into fashion.—F. COMMER, Horley.

It was a great pleasure to see a picture of my winning Nightingale, a credit to your artist, in last week's double number, which I think a good issue. I wish CAGE BIRDS the success it deserves.—G. W. Swain (Watford).

Mr. T. Clelland, sec. Coaltown of Wemyss C.B.S., writes that Mr. J. W. Bruce (Coldstream) will judge British and foreign at their show on Dec. 7, in place of Mr. Watson, of Edinburgh, who is unable to attend.

We are compelled to extend, and entries bearing Monday's post mark will be accepted, writes Mr. R. J. Dartnall, the Hon. Sec. of Enfield Show (7, Gordon Hill, Enfield), our average being less than one per class. Will fanciers please send on, and I will classify.

I am glad to say, writes Mr. F. Thomas, Ramsgate, that through CAGE BIRDS, the only paper in which we advertised, we were successful in getting the support of some of the leading exhibitors, and we were able to show to the people of Ramsgate some tip-top birds.

When replying to advertisers, readers should be careful to put their address on their letters. Mr. W. Smith (Carlton, Notts) says that he has had one or two communications from which these essential particulars have been omitted. Will Mr. C. C. Blythe write him again?

Although we are paying the finest prize-money on the South Coast, writes Mr. H. Gibb, Hon. Sec. Brighton Show, Nov. 14 and 15, entries are very short. Have been obliged to extend till Monday, Nov. 11. Come, fanciers, send along your entries, and I will classify.

We have six hybrid classes fully guaranteed, and we think we ought to have a good number of entries, writes Mr. H. Smith, Hon. Sec. Wimbledon show. Another special feature is that the entry is reduced to 1s. 6d. instead of 2s.

The South-West London C.B.S. has just purchased sufficient staging for one thousand birds. Ladies or gentlemen who would like to join this progressive society should communicate with the hon. secretary, Mr. H. Freeman, 105a, Bolingbroke Grove, Wandsworth Common, S.W.

All prize-money has been paid; specials will be sent as soon as we can get them in, write Messrs. Metcalfe and Deacon, secs. Liverpool show. All railway birds left show by 6 p.m., long-distance birds by 3.30 p.m.; so it is not our fault if exhibitors did not receive them on Saturday night.

The winning numbers of the Leeds C.B.S. prize draw, writes Mr. W. A. Wilson (Hon. Sec.) are: 633, 255, 114, 217, 876, 295. Holders of any of the above numbered tickets will, on application to me, have singing Canary and cage handed over to them. I wish your popular paper CAGE BIRDS every success.

Uddingston and Dis. C.B. Society's show this year is for cage birds only, and intending exhibitors can rest assured that their birds will have every attention, as the committee is composed of experienced fanciers, writes Mr. T. Cosgrove, the hon. sec. There are 55 open classes, for which are allocated 35 specials, so send along your entries.

The Bankfoot and Dist. Society's social and dance will be held Nov. 16 at Brayshaw's Assembly Rooms, Bankfoot, admission 6d. each, writes Mr. F. G. Gelder, the secretary. Several artistes have promised their services, and a first-class accompanist has also been engaged. Dancing from 7 to 11 p.m. Fanciers and friends are heartily invited.

Thank you very much indeed for the sketch of my White Canaries published in last week's special issue, which I think was a most attractive number, writes Mr. C. H. Goodman (Kempston). The drawing was well executed by your able artist, Mr. Norman. I would also like to thank you on behalf of Mrs. Martin, of New Zealand.

CAGE BIRDS to hand Friday, writes Mr. A. H. C. Legg, Sec. Mid Rhondda C.B.S. Congratulations on the grand autumn number. The plate is a real object lesson for the amateur or novice, and that expert Nor. breeder, Mr. E. Baker, and Mr. H. Norman, as painter of the picture here give the novice something to study.

At the Woking, Horsell and Dis. Fanciers' fifth annual show on Nov. 29, Mr. W. H. Grant gives two extra specials in the form of CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE Badges and a year's subscription to the LEAGUE, in novice class, any variety British; and in children's class, any variety cage bird; to the next best not getting a first, second, or third prize.

The officials of the Bradford East O.S. will be at Park Chapel Schools from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. on Tuesday, November 12th, to receive entries for the annual show, Nov. 16th, writes Mr. H. Hill, the sec. The classification is good, and as the show is noted for its good management, exhibitors can with confidence patronise this, the biggest local show in the Yorkshire Union.

Mrs. Page writes that she will be obliged if secretaries will refrain from sending schedules to 20, Bishopsgate, London, the address of the late Mr. W. Page (who died some months ago).

We are informed that prize-money has been paid in respect of the following shows. Any one who has been overlooked should apply to the respective secretaries: Lewes, Kelty, Paignton, Wolverhampton.

Those amongst fanciers who are prejudiced against purchasing from dealers should note the many testimonials published by Mr. W. Gore, of Birmingham, in his advertisements of appliances, British birds, and Roller Canaries in this issue. Nor are these by any means all the testimonials that dealer receives, as the Editor has frequently examined bundles of them which have never been published at all.—(Advt., 204.)

We are asked to notify the following corrections of show reports:—Parrot class at Manchester, 2nd Ditchfield, 3rd Teasdale, and not the reverse, as given in catalogue, while in the novice Crests, 1st should be Barber not Barker. Cheltenham, cl. or tkd. yel. Yorks. ck., 1 and 3 Jones should have read 1st Jones, 3 Crisps; Crestbred hens, 2nd prize, was won by T. R. Ind. Nottingham Permanent, class 9, R. Holmes 2nd prize, not 3rd.

It was with much pleasure, as well as surprise, writes Mr. Marley, I saw the splendid life-like drawing of my Great Grey Shrike adorning the front page of your ever popular paper. I may say the drawing is absolutely par excellence, and does your artist, Mr. Goodchild, very great credit. The expression of the bird is perfectly true to life, and he must have put a lot of work into it to get so fine a copy. Regarding this bird, I consider I have been very fortunate in being able to keep him in the health he now is. He is a very intelligent and interesting pet, and I believe him to be the only Great Grey Shrike at present on the show bench. I wish your well-known paper, CAGE BIRDS, every success.

We have received from Mr. J. A. T. Woodall, the Press correspondent of Sheffield O.S., the following letter sent by Messrs. Martin and Archer, the well-known Huddersfield exhibitors, to one of the committee, congratulating the society upon the management of last Saturday's show:—"Dear Mr. Fletcher, On behalf of Mr. Martin I have to write and thank you very much for the personal attention you gave to our exhibits whilst at Sheffield O.S. show last Saturday. We received them safely by the 6.17 train, and we had them in our birdroom by 8 o'clock on Saturday night. I have told Mr. Martin about the kindness I received at your hands, and it has meant that Sheffield O.S. show is booked up already for next year, all being well, when we hope to let you have a larger entry. The reason our exhibits were not great in number is that our stock is not yet all through the moult, or you would have had double the entry, and we regretted very much we could not send our full team. Such kindness and attention are worthy of further consideration.—Per pro. Martin and Archer, Fred Archer."

The L. and P.O.S. Annual Dinner.

The L. and P.O.S. annual dinner will take place at the Holborn Restaurant on Thursday, January 9th, 1913, writes Mr. C. W. Law, the hon. sec. Mr. Fred Gibson has been once more entrusted with the musical arrangements, and the programme will again include Miss Nance Haines.

Can it be True?

Rumour has it in Sheffield that Mr. T. Bishop, the present secretary of the Sheffield O.S., contemplates relinquishing his post. We trust this may prove incorrect; or that influences may be brought to bear to ensure so able and so enthusiastic a fancier keeping hold of the reins he handles so admirably.

In Canada.

The National C.B.S., of Toronto, Canada, held a matched-pair show on Oct. 9, writes Mr. J. W. Hinde, the secretary, Mr. Mountford winning 1st in Yorks. class, Mr. Walkey in Norwich class. We intend to hold a few more of these shows and give a few specials, and try to draw our members more regularly to the meetings.

Deserving of a Bumper.

The executive of Bristol Show, Nov. 27 and 28, are making a special appeal which is deserving of the recognition of all exhibitors. They have a fine record, and it is doubtful if any other societies have struggled more pluckily. It is, we understand, 8 years since a profit was made at any of their open shows; in fact, the total losses during this period have been nearly £100. In spite of this, no prizes have ever been withheld, no classes amalgamated, and prize-money has always been paid in full. It is guaranteed again this year, and exhibitors should write for schedules. The show advertisement appears on another page.

WHERE ADVERTISING PAYS.

I am perfectly satisfied with the result obtained through advertising in your excellent "Cage Birds" and "Poultry World." We had plenty of enquiries for schedules, and you will see from the catalogue we had plenty of entries.—G. E. Cragg, Sec. Llandudno Show.

Allow me to thank all who answered my advert. in "Cage Birds," as the replies received were far too many for me to answer by letter.—Mr. Buck (Richmond).

I had numerous applications from my last advert., and got suited within a few hours. Without a doubt "Cage Birds" is the best paper for advertisers.—H. Gray (Bradford).

Pleased to inform you that I have this week shipped to Toronto, Canada, 3 doz. show cages, through my advert. in your valuable paper, "Cage Birds."—John Martin (Castle Douglas).

CAGE BIRDS will sell your surplus stock at once. Advertise, and see for yourself.

The Norwich Plainhead Club.

Annual general meeting will be held in conjunction with the club show at Preston on Nov. 16th at 3.30. I should be pleased if as many members as possible will attend. Will members who have anything they wish to bring up please communicate with me at once in order that I may place same on the agenda.—J. HOPKINS, joint hon. sec.

London Fanciers Honoured.

Two well-known London fanciers were honoured at the recent Metropolitan Borough Council elections, Mr. Geo. Gardner being returned for the second time for Ward 2, St. Pancras, and Dr. A. E. Read succeeding in St. Peter's Ward, Southwark. Dr. Read humourously writes: "I have won a 3rd prize in a class of 15 in St. Peter's Ward, and a special for 1st Progressive place!"

In Far Toronto.

We note that the secretary of the Toronto (Canada) C.B.S. is Mr. J. W. Hinde, late of Lancaster, well known some few years ago as a partner in the firm of Messrs. Winn and Hinde, who achieved considerable success in the exhibiting of the Norwich Plainhead, a noted bird being the yellow cock, which won at the Crystal Palace show. We wish Mr. Hinde every success in his new sphere.

A Popular Secretary's Misfortune.

We were extremely sorry to hear of the long and serious illness of Mrs. Bishop, wife of the Sheffield Society's popular secretary. What with the loss of rest occasioned through being at her bedside for many hours at a stretch, and the great amount of work that an All-England show entails, "Tom" appeared fairly "knocked out," and well he might. Since our departure from the show on Saturday last, news reaches us of a slight improvement. That Mrs. Bishop may quickly recruit her strength will be the wish of all.

The Worst Bird.

A happening at the recent show of the Nottingham Permanent O.S. is here commemorated in "verse" by the owner of the Sparrow, Mr. Robert Holmes.

I have been an exhibitor thirty long years,
And have never been tempted to shed any tears;
The prizes I've won would fill a wheelbarrow;
My last special prize was won by a Sparrow.

Five shillings was offered for worst bird in show,
By Master T. Hayter (whom all of us know);
Myself (also others) went in for the fun,
With my little Sparrow, which easily won.

Alas, the third prize and the special I gained,
But afterwards found that my Sparrow was claimed;
Two pence was his price, and, according to rule,
Ten per cent had to come off—which put them to school!

A Trip to Sheffield.

On Saturday last we snatched a few brief holiday hours from business cares and spent them at Sheffield show. A kind of "busman's holiday," true (you know the story of the old 'bus driver who spent his annual holiday riding about on the tops of other 'buses) but we greatly enjoyed the magnificent display of birds got together by our friends in the Cutlery City. The "blades" (keen and true, every one) were on the best of good terms with themselves at the flattering support accorded them by their fellow-fanciers. They manage a show right well, too. It is many a day since we ran up against so enthusiastic a chairman as Mr. T. Dawn—his energy seemed boundless, and necessitated frequent stoppages to enable him to wipe the "honest sweat" from his brow. Messrs. Bishop and Colton, too—indeed, all the officials—are rare good fellows for any society to have on its side. "Tom" Bishop was hugely delighted with three handsome donations he had received—£7 10s. from the Master Cutler, and two items of £4 each from friends! Lucky Sheffield!

Familiar Friends: The Lesser and Mealy Redpolls.

By WILLIAM LECKIE (Portobello).

An extremely interesting article from the pen of a well-known Scottish exhibitor.

I AM confident there is no British Bird kept as a cage pet that is more familiar to all fanciers than the humble Lesser Redpoll. If the question was put to most fanciers who were reared in the country, "What bird did you first keep?" I believe that in abont 70 per cent. of the answers "Redpoll" would have the vote. Personally I kept for longer or shorter periods many birds before my first Redpoll, but none of them is enshrined in my memory like him.

The Lesser Redpoll, one of the smallest of our British Finches, is common throughout our islands as a resident, with the exceptions of the South of England and the Shetland Islands. It is a rare breeding species in the former, and unknown as such in the latter, owing possibly to the lack of alder and birch trees in the Shetlands, the seed cones of which form in winter a very considerable portion of its daily menu.

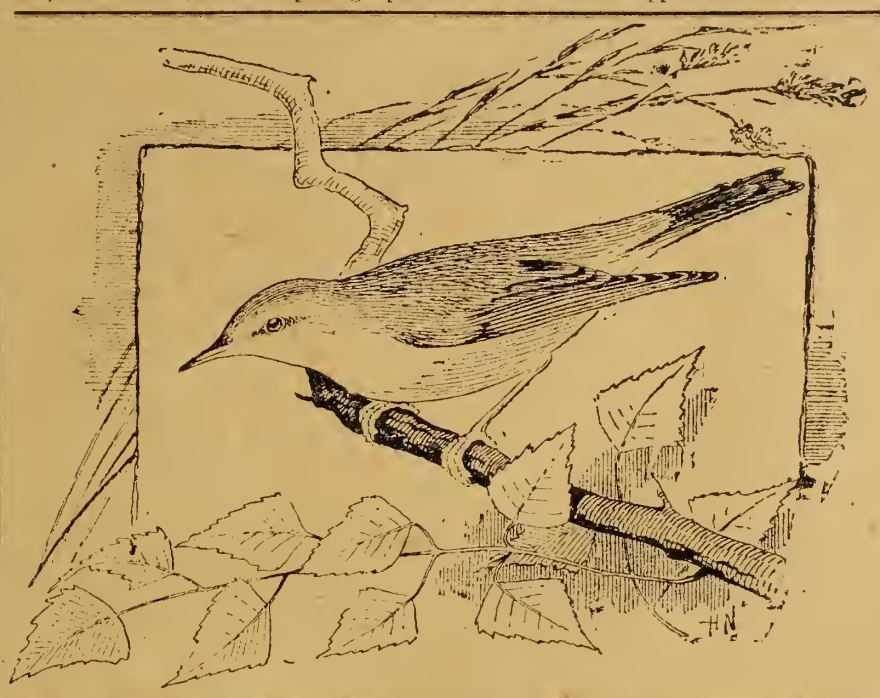
A1 at Lloyds as an Artisan.

It is well known as a breeding species in Scotland, and is a first-class "tradesman," for it builds what, in my opinion, is one of our most beautiful nests. The materials are fine grasses, roots, wool, feathers, and willow down. The nest is cupshaped. The site usually selected is in fairly high bushes or trees, in the vicinity of hill streams or lakes and ponds. Much has been written regarding the fearlessness displayed by the mother Redpoll while incubating, but my own experience teaches me that most birds display the same fearlessness while thus engaged, especially when the eggs are hard set and about to hatch.

The usual complement of eggs is four, but five is fairly common, and six occasionally found. The colour is pale bluish green, spotted principally at the larger end with purplish brown or orange-red spots. I do not know whether the fact that this bird is gregarious in winter has anything to do with its nesting habits or not, but I have found that when one nest was located, as a general rule quite a number could be found in the immediate vicinity. Some writers state that only one brood is reared in a season, but I have caught young birds in nest feather in early October, and allowing the first nest to have met with a mishap, this would mean that at least two other nests had been made after the first.

The Redpoll is a moderately late breeder, the young of the first nest being usually hatched in June. After leaving the nest the brood remain with their parents for a considerable time, in fact, in the case of the later-hatched birds (which I take to be a second brood) they seem to be assimilated in families in the flocks which are found in the late fall and early winter. I do not know if these flocks are to any appreciable extent augmented in winter by migratory arrivals, as I have been unable to trace even a slight difference in size or general appearance between the birds caught well inland during the winter migratory period, and those caught on the coast line where other migratory species are mostly secured.

Easy to Catch: Intelligent when Caged.



The plumage and its habits in a cage are too well known to require description. One of its most peculiar characteristics, in my opinion, is the particularly easy way in which it may be caught. In the case of a "lime set" with a member of the species as a call bird, you may safely reckon that no individual bird of its kind will, under ordinary circumstances, pass without endeavouring to make the call bird's acquaintance, and in the case of very considerable flocks I have seen every bird caught, those that were not limed in the first rush fluttering around even when the others were being removed from the limed twigs, and as soon as the catcher was out of the way dashing down to find the same fate as their friends. There can be no doubt that this is the reason the Lesser 'Poll can, at any time in winter, be purchased from the dealers at such a low price.

Docile and attractive in captivity, it can easily be taught many little tricks, such as pulling up its seed in a small car or its water in a thimble. That they are endowed with a considerable amount of intelligence I had proof in one that I possessed. In pulling up his car he had after each pull to hold his feet firmly fixed on the chain to keep this from slipping back. Now, between the little car board and the cage wires was a small space. In a very short time he learned that by fixing the loose chain with his bill in this space he could jam the car opposite the feed hole and thus save himself the trouble of again pulling it up. The result was that until I filled up this space, no matter how often the car was pushed to the bottom of the board, he immediately pulled it up and fixed the chain in this particular spot and fed at his leisure without extra exertion.

The Food and the Song.

The food of this species in a wild state consists for the most part of the seeds of grasses, and the compositæ order of plants, such as dandelions, thistles, hardheads, and so forth, and in late autumn and winter the seed cones of such trees as the alder and birch. It is also said to feed on buds in the spring. In captivity they thrive well on a mixture of three parts Canary seed, one part rape, and one part teazle. The latter should be withdrawn if they become too fat. The ripe seed-heads of dandelionn, thistle, hardheads, or any of the compositæ plants are also much appreciated.

Pedigree Breeding & Heredity.

By J. W. CUTMORE (Liverpool).

A Lecture given before the members of the Birkenhead C.F.A.

There exists to-day no doubt as to the origin of the domestic Canary and its many varieties; it is a descendant of the little greenish-brown Serin Finch from the Canary Isles. It has been bred in captivity for two or three hundred years, but the greatest progress in the different varieties has been made during the past thirty years. The pedigree breeder has been at work. Variation is the secret of pedigree, and this tendency to sport has been taken advantage of by breeders.

Size and Vigour from Rollers.

The lecturer showed a diagram illustrating how the breeder should work to produce good specimens from an inferior stock by judicious selection and inbreeding. The cross made was between a typical Norwich and a common German Roller, the young resulting therefrom being three mongrels, one almost equal to the Norwich, and one German. He then showed that in three generations he, by careful selection, bred pure Norwich equal to the bird used for the first cross, larger in size, and much stronger birds, whereas if he had mated two pure Norwich of different inbred strains, the two powerful strains acting against each other might have bred wasters.

Many breeders who can afford it take a shorter cut by purchase. Breeders who have with carefulness evolved a fine strain are often loth to introduce fresh blood, even when they suspect that they are approaching the limits of safe inbreeding. But if Mendel's theory of heredity is studied and put into practice, then it does not seem as if the introduction of fresh blood need affect the purity of the strain; a cross is effected with a view to secure invigoration.

The first effect of inbreeding is some loss of size in successive generations, afterwards come impaired constitution and fertility. If the breeder introduces a strongly inbred male of a different line there is conflict between the two powerful strains. The type is apt to be destroyed, and the progeny sports in many directions. Probably the safest course is to use a sire of rather mixed blood, and then the chances are that the concentrated female blood will continue to rule the type of the progeny, and a substantial gain in vigour and fertility will be secured. No doubt type is chiefly influenced from the female side.

The Value of Fresh Blood.

Inbreeding must be resorted to in order to develop and retain type, although if carried too far it will cause a strain to lose stamina and gradually die out. Fresh blood must be brought in to save it from extinction. To use an illustration from dog breeding: By crossing in the Great Dane the Irish Wolf Hound was saved from extinction; the St. Bernard was also saved by the crossing with the dog of the Pyrenees. The Greyhound, bred for swiftness, had to be crossed with the Bulldog to add greater pluck.

It is necessary, after something has been gained by crossing, to breed back again with the strain. When inbreeding, it is better to pair mother and son, or father and daughter, than brothers and sisters. It is very strange that if you cross extreme varieties the result is throwing (reversion) back to the original. In the case of pigeons, a Fantail paired to a Barb will produce offspring very near the common Rock Pigeon. To avoid too close inbreeding when starting to build a strain it is best to have several pairs or families at work at the same time; this affords, later on, material for crossing.

Keep to One Strain.

It is always found in practice that a breeder who is buying fresh stock constantly to cross with, can never breed well: he is constantly introducing into his strain tendencies which he knows little of, which he, therefore, can take no account of, and which crop out in the most unexpected manner. A successful man is not constantly importing fresh blood, but depends chiefly upon successive generations of his own stock. Of course, there is a limit; it is foolish to inbreed without an object, because bad points, as well as good, can be fixed.

Biologists have a theory which is called germinal continuity. It is, that the germ substance is derived from the previous germ substance, the body being a kind of offshoot from it. The young is thus like its parent, not because it is produced from the parent, but because both parent and young are produced from the same stock germ plasm. (This is simply pedigree doctrine.)

By another diagram Mr. Cutmore illustrated that there are pure and impure strains; for instance, the Blue Andalusian fowls cannot be bred true. When blues are paired together about half the chickens are blue, half are black and dirty whites. By many generations of selection breeders have tried without success to eliminate these black and white wasters, but it remained for Bateson and Punnet to show that if black and white are paired only blues are produced. The Blue Andalusian is simply a mongrel of the black and white cross. The blacks if paired will breed true blacks, and the whites if paired will breed true whites.

How Cinnamon Blood Works.

Another diagram showed how the Cinnamon blood works through a strain. If a Green Canary hen is mated with a Cinnamon cock, the young would be mixed Greens and Cinnamons, but all the Cinnamons would be hens. In the reverse mating, Cinnamon hen to Green cock, the young would all be green unless the cock had Cinnamon blood in him. To produce a Cinnamon cock the Cinnamon hen must be mated to a cock with Cinnamon blood in him.

Breeders know perfectly well that green or black-eyed birds never resulted from mating two Cinnamons. Similar conditions exist in mammals. If you pair a grey rat and white rat you get the young all greys, pair up two of these, then you will get three greys to one white, pair the white with a black you again get all greys in the young; then pair up two of these you will get this result in the young, nine greys, three blacks, four white, in proportion to the number of offspring.

Size can be bred into a stock in a similar manner. We know growth is influenced by the supply of nourishment both before and after birth. Well-fed parents produce strong young; a temporary check in growth may make wasters of otherwise good birds, but these may under favourable conditions produce a good exhibition specimen. In selection, size will prove effective in first and second selection from a young stock, but begin to decline after the third selection. In selecting for size the mother's influence is equal to that of the father. I have had many instances to confirm this.

A Mistaken Idea.

In conclusion, said Mr. Cutmore, I will just mention the belief that if the female bears young by a male of another breed, and is then mated with a male of her own kind, the offspring of the second mating will in some cases show the influence of the first sire, and instead of being pure bred, will in some respects be mongrels resembling the offspring of the first mating. Whenever properly controlled experiments have been made, no evidence of such taint has been forthcoming; cases that appear to favour the belief, if examined, could frequently be traced to other causes. I had intended to speak more fully on crossing and hybridisation and parental influence, also on fertility, but must leave this for another occasion.

At the close of the lecture a good many questions were asked, and Mr. Cutmore answered these in a masterful way, showing that he was well-versed in his subject.

Question asked by Mr. Shaw: Could a black-eyed cock, if mated to a black-eyed hen, breed pink-eyed birds?

Answer: Yes, if these black-eyed birds had Cinnamon blood in them, they might throw pink-eyed birds. As illustration, take the number of foul Cinnamons which were bred by the Green breeders, and which they called sports, but which were the result of having at some period introduced Cinnamon blood. No pure bred Green would ever throw a pink-eyed bird, unless it might be in the proportion of white Starlings bred.

Mr. Morton said in his opinion the Green Canary and the Cinnamon Canary were from two different species altogether, as Cinnamons, if kept pure, bred Cinnamons only, and Greens green only, and Cinnamon ticks, if mated together would breed selfs or fouls quicker than Green ticks mated.

Mr. Harding, the chairman, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Cutmore, and said it was the most interesting lecture he had ever heard. Mr. Shaw, in seconding, said he was much indebted to Mr. Cutmore, and hoped that he would be able to find time to give the members another lecture.

Questions and Answers.

DOUBTS AND DIFFICULTIES SOLVED BY SPECIALISTS

Queries will be answered under the following conditions:—

NOTE.—If an answer is required concerning the proper mating, etc., of Norwich, Yorkshires, Crests, Cinnamons, Greens, Borders, Lizards, Scotch or any other variety of the Canary family, we shall, should the querist desire us to do so, be pleased to submit his questions for answer to some leading specialist of the day on the variety concerned.

CANARY QUERIES.

Answered by CLAUDE ST. JOHN.

A BAD EYE (E. S. F. Stone).—You do not say whether there is any swelling or not. Try the following treatment for a fortnight, and if not then considerably better, write again. Bathe the eye for a few minutes each morning with a warm solution of boric acid—a small teaspoonful of acid dissolved in a saucerful of warm water. Apply with a pledget of cotton wool, and avoid wetting the plumage as much as possible. Absorb moisture with wool at the close until the place is fairly dry, and then drop on the eye one drop of a lotion composed of one ounce of rose water, five grains of sulphate of zinc, and ten drops of laudanum. Repeat the drop of lotion each evening, but not the bathing. Continue this daily for four or five days, then do it once a day, and gradually discontinue as the eye seems to improve. Keep cage and perches scrupulously clean.

BAD PLUMAGE AND IRRITABLE (E. A. S.).—I suspect the real cause of the trouble is red mites. But as a first step towards improving the bird's condition you must try to keep it in a more suitable place. If you must keep it in the kitchen, hang it as far away from the fire or range as possible, so as to insure a more equable temperature, but at the same time be careful to avoid hanging it in a place exposed to cold draughts. Examine cage closely for the presence of red mites, and if any are found, thoroughly overhaul it, and exterminate them, as frequently detailed in this column. Give a mixture of three parts canary to one part summer rape as staple diet. Every second day for a fortnight give half-a-teaspoonful of crushed stale sponge cage slightly dusted with flowers of sulphur, and sprinkled with maw. On the alternating days twice each week give a similar quantity of a mixture of equal parts hemp, inga, millet, teazle and black rape, and a spray of watercress four or five times a week. In the water give 20 drops of whisky, as much sulphate of soda as will cover a threepenny-piece, and the same quantity of chlorate of potash every second day for a week, and in the following week substitute four drops each of tincture of gentian, tincture of calumba, and dilute sulphuric acid.

TO EXTERMINATE RED MITES (T. Perrett).—You might have seen full details for accomplishing this in small cages in these replies several times in the last few months—there they are again. Give bird a bath in which a few drops of quassia essence has been mixed. When it has dried its plumage, remove it temporarily to another cage. Clean the infested cage thoroughly, scraping out any open joint or crevice about it with a pin on to a sheet of paper, and immediately burn the debris. If size of cage admits, the best treatment at this stage is to plunge it bodily overhead in a copper of boiling water for a few minutes. When dry repaint or distemper and varnish if necessary, thoroughly clean the position where cage has been kept, and when cage is quite dry, bird may be returned to it. As an alternative to this, dissolve a cube of camphor in a teacupful of paraffin, and thoroughly saturate the cage with this solution; use it all over, inside and outside, and work it into any open joints, etc., with a small paint brush. Place in open air to dry. Next day repeat the process. A third dressing is no much the better. The repaint, etc., if necessary, but before doing so fill all cracks, etc., with putty, softened with oil varnish. When quite dry after this, bird may be returned. Remember to thoroughly cleanse the position where cage has hung, and all cage appliances, whilst cage is being done, and give bird a bath with a little quassia in daily whilst in the temporary cage.

YORKSHIRE HEN GAPING (Sec'y).—Keep this hen in a comfortable temperature for a time, but do not overheat her. Feed and treat generally the same as advised to "Eskimo" this week, but instead of the medicines to be given in the water advised in that reply, give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and as much sulphate of soda as will cover a threepenny-piece, in the water every second day for a week, and afterwards 20 drops of whisky, five each of oxymel of squills and ipecac. wine, and two of eucalyptus, well shaken in the water, two days in every three for a week, and then every second day for another week.

DEFORMED TOE (G.F.B.).—I'm afraid nothing will cure this toe, and my only advice is to leave it severely alone. It has been allowed to go too long without attention for any treatment, short of amputation, to be of any use whatever. The latter I do not advise you to attempt yourself, though if the conditions remain the same some time hence, it would add to the bird's comfort to get a veterinary, or even your family doctor to do this for you. I say sometime hence, advisedly, because I am strongly inclined to think that your recent interference will cause the toe to mortify and slough off.

VARIOUS (Proctor).—(1) If the clear yellow Yorkshire cock is pink-eyed, the best mate for him, other features being suitable, would be a slightly cinnamon-ticked buff, or a wing or eye marked cinnamon buff, if your bird has any even marked blood in him. If it is a dark or green-eyed bird, then mate with a green ticked or marked bird as above-named. (2) If the enamel was quite dry and hard when you put the bird in the cage, it will take no harm pecking at the back of cage. You may have left a few tiny gritty particles on surface of enamel, which attract the bird. Stick a cube of sugar in the wires for it to peck at. This will divert its attention. (3) I believe the food you name is a good wholesome biscuit food, up to the average of such foods, but I have never used it as a complete substitute for egg-food, so cannot say more definitely about it.

PROTRACTED MOULT (E.T.).—Possibly the bird has left its youth behind it, which is responsible for many of these little troubles. You are silent on that point. Do not keep the bird overheated, but at same time, after being acclimatised to a warm room, do not place in a cold one. Keep in just a comfortable warmth, and see that it is not subject to extreme fluctuations or cold draughts, and do not hang near or over burning lights in the evenings. Feed for the next month the same as advised to "Eskimo" this week. In the water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and as much sulphate of soda as will cover a threepenny piece daily for three days and after this in each two tablespoonfuls of drinking water dissolve as much sulphate of soda as will cover a sixpence, half the quantity of sulphate of iron, and add six drops of dilute sulphuric acid. Give the last-named mixture every second day for a fortnight.

A YORKSHIRE HEN (Eskimo).—The hen is clearly much run down from moulting. You do not say whether the room she is in is warm or not. If it is quite unheated place the bird for a week or two in a comfortable temperature, but do not overdo it, and see she is still quite free from cold draughts, extreme and rapid fluctuations, or impure air from the proximity of burning lights. Give a staple diet of plain canary. Every second day give half a teaspoonful of summer rape—the reddish-brown, not the black—separately, and on the alternate days a piece of bread the size of a hazel nut, soaked in cold milk, drained, two drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it, and sprinkled with maw and gold of pleasure mixed together in about equal parts. Twice a week give a small teaspoonful of a mixture of equal parts hemp, inga, millet, and teazle, and a spray of watercress or morsel of carrot, apple, or banana, three times a week. Add six drops of syrup of buckthorn to the water for two days, and afterwards give six drops of tincture of gentian, and 3 each of tincture of calumba and tincture of steel, in the water every second day for a week. Continue the above feeding for two or three weeks.

BREEDING AND NOT MOULTING (H. B.).—(1) If the hen is in good robust health and active condition now, and continues so next spring and summer, there is no reason why she should not breed successfully. (2) As a general rule, it would certainly be correct to say that when a bird fails to moult in the autumn, it shows that bird is not in the best condition, and that something has occurred to bring about a departure from the normal. But there are exceptional cases where a bird will miss a moult entirely, and yet remain to all appearances in the best of health and condition, as though nothing abnormal had occurred. At other times birds will defer the autumn moult for several weeks and commence to shed their plumage just about the time they should be getting ready to mate. These are the most disappointing cases, and often cause the loss of nearly the whole of a season. Then there are many perfectly sound and healthy birds, which moult at intervals of about 10 or 11 months, commencing a little earlier each year until they, too, moult in the spring. You might treat your hen for a month or so the same as advised to "Greenie" on October 26th. Beyond this, if she appears in good health, I would not advise you to interfere with the course of nature.

POINTS ABOUT EGGS (Doubtful).—(1) The length of time eggs may be kept before sitting varies according to the vigour and stamina of the birds; this, of course, naturally affecting the vitality of the germs in the eggs; and also to the manner in which they are kept. In the vast majority of cases, with the eggs kept in a cool place, covered with bran, and given a half turn daily, a week is the limit of time they can be kept with perfect safety. After this time the vitality of the germ rapidly deteriorates. With very strong germs it is quite possible for them to hatch out after being kept double this length of time. But such cases are the exceptions which go to prove the rule. (2) In the case of a hen deserting the eggs after sitting on them three days, supposing she had sat closely so that the germs had made a fair start in growth, I should expect them to be worthless in a few hours after they had apparently become quite cold. There is, of course, latent heat within the eggs to keep the germs alive for some time after the outsides appear quite cold, but once the germs become chilled through, as it were, at this stage their case is about hopeless. At a later stage, when the embryos are more developed, they would take much longer to chill through. The wisest plan, in any case, is to give every egg a full chance, by allowing it to "sit" its full term, and a little over, when they have been chilled. By doing so many pleasant surprises are encountered.

AVIARY ACCOMMODATION (L.A.D.).—About 75 birds the size of a Norwich Canary is the full accommodation of your aviary from a hygienic standpoint. To have a fair chance of success in breeding one-third of this number is sufficient stock to commence with—say 5 or 6 cocks and 18 to 20 hens. Put in at least 30 nesting sites. The foreign birds had better be discarded, particularly the Cutthroats and Zebras, as they will only create disturbing influences, and considerably reduce your chance of success. The cock Finches you may allow to remain if you wish to try to get a few Mules, but in that case you should reduce the number of Canary cocks to, say, three. On the whole it would be more satisfactory to try for Mules only, or Canaries only.

BRITISH BIRDS, MULES AND HYBRIDS.

Answered by G. E. WESTON.

A BLACKBIRD (W.G.).—The bird evidently caught a severe cold and succumbed to pneumonia—a disease that carries off so many caged pets. You should have dealt with the eye trouble by bathing with a solution of Condy's Fluid, used comfortably warm, twice daily. Better luck next time!

BULLIE No. 3 (Woodside).—Am sorry I overlooked one of your questions. There can be no harm in stirring 2 or 3 drops of Condy's Fluid into the bird's water, fresh twice daily, for a time. Give only in a glass or earthenware vessel (not tin or zinc). If there should be any slight throat trouble, this is likely to put an end to it. Comparatively speaking, Bullfinches are not very long-lived in captivity.

AN AILING BULLFINCH (Bully).—I am afraid your surmise is only too correct, and that the Bullfinch cannot recover. Try the following: Mix one ounce of tincture of gentian, and two teaspoonfuls of brandy, and of this mixture stir just over half a teaspoonful into the bird's drinking water (two tablespoonfuls). Give fresh daily for four days, then every other day (plain water in between) over a period of ten days.

IN AN AVIARY (Morgan).—Evidently you have little knowledge of Hybrid breeding, or you would know that Bullfinch hens are very troublesome to keep together during the breeding season—they interfere with each other and fight badly, chasing one another up and down the aviary. Yours is a pretty big place, of course, so three or four hens might manage to get along in it fairly comfortably. The best plan undoubtedly is to give each pair a separate home, even if only a cage, providing it be large. You could partition your aviary into four or five compartments, and keep a Bullie hen in each, with whatever mate you chose. Each compartment could house two pairs, providing both hens were not Bullfinches.

A GREENFINCH-BULLFINCH HYBRID (Manx Hybrid).—A splendid coloured picture of a first-class exhibition Greenfinch-Bullfinch Hybrid as given with one of the parts of 'Cage Birds Hybrids." Why not get this part and compare your bird with it? It costs but 7d. post free. The chief points are size, build (wide chest, broad skull, etc.) and richness of colour. These, of course, can only be properly weighed up by someone well acquainted with high-class exhibition specimens. If your bird is not colour-fed it stands little chance in keen competition, no matter how good it otherwise may be. Thus this would tell against its value, as the bird should consult Houlton's great work, "Cage-Bird Hybrids" (7/6); Norman's "British Bird Manual" (2/3); or Part 1 "Hardbills" (1/1), Part 2 "Softbills" (1/1); "Aviaries, Bird-rooms, and Cages" (2/3); "Seeds, Foods, and Wild Plants" (1/2); "Secrets of Hybrid Breeding" (1/2); Dr. Creswell's "Hygiene of Bird-keeping" (1/1); Dr Clarke's "Septic or Bird Fever" (7d.); "Colour-feeding" (3½d.); or the "Nutshell" booklets (2½d. each): No. 1 "Goldfinch," No. 2 "Linnet," No. 3 "Skylark," No. 4 "Song Thrush and Blackbird," No. 11 "Bullfinch," No. 13 "Chaffinch," No. 15 "Greenfinch," No. 22 "Siskin, Redpoll, and Twite," No. 25 "Small Insectivorous Birds," No. 26 "Large Insectivorous Birds," No. 6 "Ailing Birds and How to Cure Them," No. 9 "Disinfection of Cages, Birdrooms, etc.," No. 12 "How to Moult British Birds." would want keeping over another moult. An ordinary example of this cross is not of great value, say 40s. to 60s., but a real first-class specimen, fit to win at the big shows, would be worth more than double, especially if in "show form."

THE SNOW BUNTING (F. E. S.).—The staple food of the Snow Bunting in captivity is canary seed; it relishes little else in the seed line. Let it be of the best quality. My own bird likes a little insectile mixture (the same as is given Nightingales and the like), which it is frequently given, and has developed a taste for rolled oats (Plasmon oats) and wasp grubs—the latter are practically out of season now. It likes a few mealworms, of course, now and again. I sometimes offer a little mixed seed that has been passed through a seed-mill. It nibbles seeding grass, shepherd's purse and chickweed.

WILD SEEDS (A. H. Baird). The sample of "wild seed" is somewhat different to the vast majority of such mixtures brought to my notice. It would seem to consist largely of the seeds of various grasses and of plantain seed, together with certain "wild rapes." I intend to sow the sample you send in a corner of my garden, and see what comes of it. I should not hesitate to use it; in fact I like the look of it. Wild seed is not of very great value for Canaries—a little now and again is relished—but for such Britishers as will pick it over, nothing can be better in the way of a "tit-bit" or "pick-me-up."

IN A WORKSHOP CORNER (G. W. M.).—You seem to be another of the many who imagine that the easy road to hybrid-breeding lies in putting up an aviary in some corner, and turning a mixture of birds into it. Nothing could be further from the truth. Such a method leads chiefly to disappointment. Take my advice and utilise the space by putting up a number of large cages, turning one pair into each. You will stand far more chance then of realising your ambition and breeding hybrids. Mule breeding (with all Canary hens) might be successful in the aviary, if this contents you. Even then the place would be better divided, through the centre, into two compartments (i.e., each 5ft. high). Think it over and write me again. Note reply given "Morgan" this week.

ANOTHER AILING BULLFINCH (C. M. Morris).—The symptoms are those of a well-established cold, and a cure is uncertain, as I am afraid the lungs must be affected. Are your birds out of all draughts and in an equable temperature? Birds, however, are unfortunately very susceptible to disorders of the breathing apparatus. Try a course of the following medicine: Glycerine, oxymel of squills, ipecacuhana wine and best brandy, one ounce of each, mixed. Stir a small teaspoonful into the drinking water (two tablespoonfuls) fresh daily for a week. Then give on alternate days (plain water in between) over a period of 10 to 14 days.

FOREIGN BIRDS.

Answered by WESLEY T. PAGE, F.Z.S.,

WHAT PARROT (Cage Birds, P.).—It is not a Grey Parrot, but rose-breasted or Roseate Cockatoo, neither is it a Brazilian species, for it hails from Australia.

VALUE OF CATBIRD (Tiverton).—Really what you can get for it, it is really an uncommon bird, and if you had a pair you would undoubtedly find a quicker sale for them than for an odd bird. It is of somewhat sombre plumage, and therefore does not appeal to the general body of fanciers; however, you ought to get 25s. to 30s., though considering that it so seldom appears to be on the market, it might command a little higher figure.

WHAT IS IT? (C. R. Bullen).—Your description is very incomplete, and the only species I can make it agree with at all is the Black-cheeked Lovebird; if you know it is not this species, then try and give me a fuller description of the following parts: Forehead, top of head and back of necks, sides of face, and sides of neck. Is there a ring round eye, and what colour? Throat, front of neck, breast, colour of legs and feet. If it is a Black-cheek, it is impossible to sex it from a written description, and very few indeed would attempt to sex an odd bird if they saw it. A really useful and distinctive difference between the two sexes has yet to be found.

GOULDIAN FINCH (F.M.L.).—It is evidentally a young bird, but such cases of parti-coloured heads, though not common, are certainly not rare, neither are they surprising, as the two varieties persistently interbreed. However, your bird may turn out to be a Red-head when this, or possibly, the next moult is complete. If it still remains as it is I should describe it as a Black-head. Are you sure it is a hen, or is it a young cock in parti-colour? but, of course, with both sexes there are specimens of varying intensity in the colouring of the plumage.

AMAZON STILL IN MOULT (Green Amazon).—The bird is going on well, and now I should continue the same treatment for some little time yet. When you have used up your present supply of chemical food, give bynophosphates for a change, using it in exactly the same manner as the chemical food. The first moult in this country is often a protracted one, and your bird seems to be going on really well. Continue the maize daily for some time yet, but later on it may be given less frequently, though as a regular thing Amazons are best with a little, given, say, two or three times a week. All you are giving is wholesome, and the bird should thrive and develop into a handsome specimen.

GREY PARROT (Anxious One).—I should stop the sopped bread, from what you say it is eating plenty without this; moreover, so long as there is whole seed in its tin do not replenish, at any rate till it gets very low; you will thus compel it to eat the other kinds. Most birds pick out their favourite seeds first and then take the others. You must continue the magnesia, etc., as already advised, only ceasing this temporarily if the bowels become too loose. It will ultimately take the fruit. I should offer a little occasionally; sweet apple seems the favourite kind with most Parrots. The boiled maize will be sufficient soft food for it, and lightly dust this with flowers of sulphur. You can give the celery and lettuce. Stop the sopped bread and report again in another 14 days.

AUSTRALIAN PARROT (S.W.).—It is very difficult for me to advise you, as I am not sure of its species. If you were to repeat query and describe the colour of the plumage on the various parts of its body, I could help you better. If, as I suspect, it is a King Parakeet, then half the bulk of its seed mixture should be canary and white millet seeds, and the other half paddy rice, oats, hemp, and sunflower seeds in about equal parts, with greenfood, any ripe fruit it will eat, grit and cuttlebone, and water for drinking and bathing. So long as the voidings are not watery-loose, give every fourth day one teaspoonful of Dinneford's magnesia in the usual supply of drinking-water, but you must not use a metal drinker. Spray the bird once or twice weekly with quassia solution, but keep it out of draught till dry. It is safe to do this even in winter; choose a genial day, and about 11 a.m. is a good time.

VIRGINIAN CARDINAL (V. A. G.).—The staple diet will be a mixture of canary and white millet seed in equal parts, or better, supply two mixtures and keep a tin of each in the cage. No. 1, as above. No. 2 to consist of 1 part each oats, paddy rice, hemp and sunflower seeds, well mixed together. The bird can then help itself to whichever it desires, but if it shows any tendency to live entirely on sunflower, hemp, etc., do not allow this, but only give a little of the large mixture about three times a week, and then only put this in the cage after it has had a good meal off the smaller mixture. You must also supply ripe fruit daily and, say, three or four mealworms, or other insects per bird daily. The bird should do well in a roomy cage, with a fly round the room daily. A fire-guard should always be in position when the bird is flying about the room.

AVIARY FOR BUDGERIGARS (H.R.W., Novice).—If the circumstances of the case permit, the aviary should not be less than 6ft., though, of course, if you cannot go to this, you will be able to get average results from the birds. Again, the shelter should be nearly as high as the flight, or the birds will not use it; it must also be well lighted, and all glass covered with wire netting in the inside. The idea of the aviary is all right, as per your sketch; but it is not high enough, and you give no front measurements. If you want to breed good, strong, vigorous birds, they must have room to exercise in. You say you have plenty of room: then put up an aviary, say, 12ft. long by 6ft. wide and high, dividing it up as follows: 4ft. shelter, 4ft. covered flight and 4ft. open wire netting; the front should face as near south as possible. In such an aviary you could have three pairs Budgerigars, and one pair each Blue-winged Love-birds and Cockatiels. If you care to send me a stamped addressed envelope per editor, and tell me what size you can go to I shall be pleased to send a rough plan to work to.

YELLOW-WINGED SUGAR-BIRD (Sugarbird).—My reply was posted per return. Queriists must note that queries have first to be forwarded on to the respective specialists. What food do you supply in the covered glass drinker, in addition to the milk? For the present I should limit the quantity and supply to the main diet milk sop and ripe fruit, and only a little of any other items you have been supplying. I should also give it as large a cage as possible, so that the exercise of the aviary may be missed as little as possible.

BUDGERIGARS (Ajax).—This position should not do the birds any harm, for during cold weather they would be warmer in the husks or on the branches. If you have straight perches, take these out and insert in place thereof twiggy branches. Examine your husks, and if there are mite or other parasitic pests harbouring in them, well scald them out with boiling water, and dry in an oven. If the birds are being kept in a room in which artificial light is going to a late hour, possibly it is curiosity that keeps them on the front netting; if that is the case, hang a cover in front of the cage about 8 p.m., disturbing the birds from the netting before doing so. I presume you have husks hanging in the cage, if not, put some in.

FOOT TROUBLE (E. Ashford).—Every fourth day, so long as the voidings are not watery loose, put one teaspoonful of Dinneford's Magnesia in the drinking water; also bathe its feet in hot water (not hot enough for discomfort), dry with a soft cloth, and then paint with neat whiskey; do this daily till relief is given. If you are in the habit of giving this bird tea-sops, milk sops, or table-scraps, gradually discontinue such, and confine its dietary to seed mixture, ripe fruit, plain biscuits, nuts, and a little green food (lettuce, etc.). Keep cuttlebone in the cage, and add a pinch of grit (not sand) to the daily supply of seed. I should resume the bath as soon as possible; if you give it tepid water, it should not do any mischief, if you put the bird into a warm corner till it has properly preened itself and become fairly dry—it is not old for a Parrot.

BREEDING BUDGERIGARS (Ajax Wrexham).—Our Nutshell "Budgerigars," certainly does give the method of procedure for fitting up either a flight or cage, for breeding these birds. There is really little for you to do, put in double the number of husks or small barrels that you have pairs of birds (you must adapt some contrivance to keep the mice out of nest receptacles if they infest your bird room), and well furnish the back of cage with twiggy branches, for the birds to climb about or cut up; replace these as required. Supply canary and white millet seeds, a few oats and millet sprays, green food, grit and cuttlebone, and keep a slice of fresh sweet apple in the cage, also a leaf of fresh lettuce as opportunity offers. You must then leave the birds to settle down, and in due course you may look for results. You could add either a pair of Blue-winged Lovebirds or Cockatiels to your present stock.

FIREFINCH IN BAD FEATHER (D. E. P.).—The hen bird is being plucked by her mate, or the other occupants of the cage. You must cage her separately till the feathers are grown again on the bare parts, and if you put her in a cage similarly furnished to the one she now occupies, and not too small, in a warm room, the plumage should soon be renewed. Give her a cocoanut shell to sleep in. Keep her bowels moving freely, not watery-loose, by an occasional half-teaspoonful of Dinneford's Magnesia in the drinking water (usual quantity), and on the other days the same quantity of byno-phosphates.

All thoroughly practical and instructive. Prices quoted are post free from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet St., London, E.C.

You must not use a metal drinker when giving drugs. If the bare skin is hard and dry, anoint with a little clean vaseline, but do not use enough to run among and grease the surrounding plumage.

ALL ABOUT DOVES (Aislabie).—It is quite impossible for me to answer your query in its present form, even a bare list would occupy more space than the Editor would allow me. If you will kindly repeat query next week, and state your accommodation, how and where you desire to keep them, and whether you favour large or small species, I shall be in a position to give a helpful answer.

AFRICAN GREY PARROT (Oliver).—Very pleased to hear of such a good result, but that small swelling must be kept under observation, and if it develops at all, send us a report of its character. I should foment this daily with tepid water, drying afterwards with a soft cloth. If you have not got our Nutshell, "The Grey Parrot," 2½d. post free, from our Manager, get it, and bring your bird on the diet advised therein, but do not make sudden changes. Bathe the nostrils with dilute glycothymoline so long as the running continues. Every fourth day, so long as the voidings are not watery loose, put one teaspoonful of Dinneford's Magnesia in the drinking water. Examine the interior of its mouth, and if this is slimy, or there are any indications of white spots about it, put a little honey and borax into the mouth once or twice daily; this will help to keep the mouth and throat clear, and relieve the bird. Report progress in a few weeks.

SUGARBIRD IN MOULT (Sugar Bird).—My Sugarbirds subsist entirely on milk sop and fruit, and what few insects they capture in the aviary. Unless your bird is over fat, do not give any medicine, but if it is unduly fat, give it a larger cage, and keep it in a warm room. If you have to give laxatives, give 4 doses of Dinneford's Magnesia—5 drops in the usual supply of milk sop—with three days between each dose. Prepare your milk sop so: One teaspoonful of condensed milk, tablespoonful of finely crumbled sponge cake, saltspoonful of Mellin's Food, teaspoonful of honey, and two or three tablespoonfuls of boiling water and stir well together; of course, half the quantity can be mixed if this be sufficient. Also supply fully ripe banana and grapes. If you have access to any indoor roses, you might collect the green fly from these on a camel hair brush, and so offer it to the birds. One or two mealworms per diem will not hurt the bird (but if it is over fat, do not give these at present). Some Sugarbirds will not touch them, though I have come across many that will; some will not touch insectile mixture, but if yours are accustomed to take a little, by all means continue to supply it. The moult is a critical period with all birds, induce them to take as much exercise as possible, and keep them in warm, but not stuffy quarters. My Sugarbirds were in the outside aviary up to October 24th.

GOULDIAN FINCHES (Enthusiast).—In the face of what has already happened, I cannot advise you to leave these out for the winter, as the young birds have evidently caught a chill; the young birds have also the ordeal of coming into adult plumage before them. Catch them up and put them in the largest cage you can give them, and bring them indoors, they will mope a bit at first, I expect, owing to curtailed liberty. Give them the usual diet, with milk-sop (sloppy) in addition. Also give them one dose of Dinneford's magnesia half teaspoonful to each ounce of the drinking water—follow this by a course of byno-phosphates, given in the same proportions. Keep up the supply of cuttlebone and grit. Gouldians are, as a rule, very fond of a piece of damp rock-salt. Rape, canary and millet seedlings make good winter greenfood, as also does frame lettuce, but neither must be tainted with frost. For the winter housing of such species in a northern county the flight and shelter shed should be of about equal area, with the latter well lighted and the windows so arranged as to admit the maximum of sun during the winter. A sheaf or two of straw hung up perpendicularly, with the heads loose, make good warm winter roosting quarters for small Finches, but there must be no traps between the straw and wall, etc., where the birds can wedge themselves in, and not be able to get out again. Our Nutshell, "Gouldian Finches," 2½d. post free from our manager, should help you.

POST MORTEMS.

Mr. G. Yates, M.R.C.V.S., 1, College Road, Harrow, Middlesex, will examine and report upon dead cage birds for a fee of 1s. 6d. each bird; for reply direct, 2s. 6d.; analysis, 21s. Subjects for post mortem examination must be sent packed in a box direct to Mr. Yates, with the fee, this and any accompanying letter being kept from contact with the dead bird. Send by letter-post; it is cheaper and quicker than parcel post. Any bodies sent to the office of this paper will be thrown away, and if a fee is enclosed the loss will be the sender's.

A. Lee.—Canary died of pneumonia.

F. Fairhurst.—Bird died of enteritis due probably to the ingestion of some irritant material. As you have omitted to enclose a sample of your seed I cannot give an opinion re same. You had better send a sample of each, including the hemp, to Mr. Claude St. John, who will advise and report to you.

Archd. Milloy.—Ulcerative inflammation of the bowels induced by mineral or vegetable poisons. The source of these is difficult to determine, but may be due to contamination of water supply, or other media.

GENERAL.

Answered by THE EDITOR.

Another Secretary.—Will certainly publish your letter—this week, if space permits.

R. Holmes.—We understand there were no catalogues, so the mistake in the numbers may have arisen by reason of this.

J. Brown.—It is a marking ring, and used so that the bird can be identified by the number stamped upon it.

Exhibitor.—We are getting very tired of receiving letters of complaint concerning the Dublin Society in question. It is hard to believe that the secretary would deliberately refuse to send the marked catalogue for which you say you paid. Why not complain to the chairman?

C. Mayer.—You can certainly bring wild birds into London providing you can prove that they have been caught over a fortnight. The Protection Acts vary in every county, and it would be too lengthy a matter to deal with all. Why not get copies of the Acts for the places you are most interested in?—they are only one penny each, plus postage.

J. Coveney.—You cannot get into trouble providing you do not catch and keep birds which are protected by the Wild Bird Act governing the County of Kent. In the metropolitan police area practically all birds are protected.

CAGE BIRDS will sell your surplus stock at once. Advertise, and see for yourself.

Correspondence.

Appreciated by the Novices.

Sir, With regard to last week's coloured supplement, I thing it rather a good idea for the different birds to be faulty, and then to have someone to point those faults out. It is a grand way of educating us novices.

Green Canary Classes at Preston Show.

Sir, Owing to an error in our schedule, the green classes are not right according to the C.C.C.A. requirements. Will you please help me out of the difficulty by inserting the following in a prominent position. The green Canary classes at Preston show should read as follows: Class 22, self or foul yellow York cock; 23, do. buff; 24, do. yellow hen; 25, do. buff; 26, do. yellow Nor. cock; 27, do. buff; 28, do. yellow hen; 29, do. buff.

A Record Entry at Paignton Show.

Sir, -Many thanks for the excellent report of our show. We are sorry it was stated that entries were two short of last year. We know these figures were given to your reporter the night before the show, but the entries were really 12 above last year, and a record for the society. We shall be glad if you will give us the credit of this in your paper, as we worked very hard to get it. All prize money was paid within three days of show, as advertised.

J. N. and J. Jeffery, Secs.

The Criticism of Judges' Awards

Sir,- I am sure Mr. Baker's excellent article on Mr. Norman's fine picture of Norwich last week will be much appreciated by your readers. His remarks respecting criticism of judges came just at the right time. I lately visited a certain show where I was not exhibiting, and followed the judging soon after the cards were up and saw nothing to complain of, although a friend of mine did not get a ticket with his birds. Later in the evening, a well known judge was reporting for another paper "by gaslight." His remarks as published were most scathing and in my opinion savoured more of the "green-eyed monster" than just criticism.

Colour-fed Greenfinches at the Scottish National Show.

An Explanation.

Sir, With reference to a letter from Mr. A. McLean in your issue of last week desiring me to correct a slight error I made in my advert. when I claimed to have sold the Scottish National winning Colour-Fed Greenfinch the advt. should have read Non-Fed. I am not in the habit of stating falsehoods in my advts. or correspondence I have had in Cage Birds. About the end of Sept. last I had a letter from an old friend, Mr. Chris. Waters, of Monkwearmouth, Sunderland, in which he wrote words to this effect: I am sure you will be interested to learn that the F.M. Greenie I purchased from you Feb., 1911, has done a lot of winning, and he mentions wins, finishing up with 1st at Scottish National. I mistook his writing the word non-fed for colour-fed. I am very sorry to drag Mr. Waters' name into this matter, but I know him to be a real good fancier, who would not object to this explanation. At the same time, I consider Mr. McLean is quite justified in "pulling my ear," and I hope he will take this note in the spirit it is given.

A. J. A. Martey.

Unprolificacy in Canaries.

Sir, I read Mr. Steel's article on this subject with interest, and then pondered. But it was of no use. All my pondering failed to convince me that my own experience, and that of so many others which I handle, went to show that Canaries are becoming so unproductive as the article suggests. I could, of course, point to numerous isolated instances of unprolificacy, which, however, do not by any means occur invariably in highly bred birds. On the contrary, they occur in the commonest birds as well as in the moderately good and the best. On the other hand, the very many instances which occur now-a-days, perhaps more than ever before, of hens having broods practically all the year round when allowed to do so, and of hens laying almost perpetually whether mated or not, is a set-off that points just as strongly in the other direction. Mr. Rukin's account of his Lizards' breeding in your issue of Sept. 28 might also be taken as indicative of very many other examples which certainly do not point to barrenness. I hope many more breeders of good exhibition stock will yet give their opinions on this point.

Claude St. John.

A Novice's Quick Jump!

Sir,—Lewes show report says that members' special for best bird went to Mr. Daudridge; but the special for best member's bird in cage-bird section was awarded to my Hawfinch. As this was my first show, and I am therefore out of the novice section on making my debut as an exhibitor, I trust you will excuse me being a little jealous of the honour. I thank you in anticipation for the correction also for splendid report.

The Hornsey and Wood Green C.B.S. Annual Show.

Sir, -I notice in last week's Cage Birds it is stated that the Wood Green Society have postponed their annual show to Jan. 4, 1913. This has no connection with the above Society, as we are holding our annual show as arranged, on Nov. 16, at the "Three Jolly Butchers," High Road, Wood Green. I shall be glad if you will make this clear to your readers in your next issue. The notice I refer to should have read: "The Wood Green Fur and Feather Society."

Keeping the Birdroom Window from "Sweating."

Sir, I have been a constant reader of Cage Birds for a number of years, and I have had many useful hints and much information from it. I should like to know how to keep the glass in the front window of my bird-house from "sweating." Would any reader help me in the matter, as I don't like it? I herewith give a description. It is facing South-East, and stands on 8in. plank floor; 6ft. long, 6ft. wide, 8ft. high at back, 2in. from stone wall; lean-to roof, 6ft. high in front; 4ft. square fixed window: two 8in. ventilators, one in each end parallel with back, and inset in a 12in. by 40in. triangle, which is on hinges, and opened as I think necessary, and runs in a direct line over cages.

Sad Losses Due to Heating Stoves.

Sir,—I am sorry to inform you that Mr. Fred Bowman, the well-known Yorkshire Canary fancier, of Glasgow, has had the misfortune to lose the whole of his stock, owing to the failure of his heating-stove on Sunday last. Readers who are in the habit of using artificial heat should be very careful about their stoves, as they are very apt to go wrong when you least expect it.

S. F. Wood.

Sir,—It is with regret I hear that one of our recently joined members, Mr. W. E. Atkinson, Anlaby Road, Hull, has had the misfortune to lose all his birds, suffocated by gas. It is doubly unfortunate, as Mr. Atkinson was on his holidays at the time. He was hoping to make a good entry at our open show. I hear his loss numbers 46 birds, and I am sure all fanciers will sympathise with Mr. Atkinson in the loss sustained, especially so seeing that he is a recent recruit to the Fancy.

E. R. Ridley.
Hon. Sec. Hull C.B.S.

[We are sure fanciers will join us in a heartfelt expression of sympathy with Mr. Bowman and Mr. Atkinson.—Editor.]

Alleged Clear Linnet Mule ("Wrong-classed") at Grimsby.

Sir,—In your report of Grimsby show (held Oct. 30 and 31) you give my exhibit as "wrong classed," alleged to be an ordinary Canary. I don't know what the judge thought it was, but I say it is a clear Linnet Mule, bred from a Yorkshire hen and a Grey Linnet. I have had the hen in my possession for three years, and she has never been mated with a Canary. The Linnet was caught here two years ago. Her first season (1910) mated with Canary-reared Linnet: 1st nest, 4, 3 fairly light, one dark Mule; 2nd nest, 2, 1 light, 1 died. Second season (1911) mated with the caught Linnet: 1st and 2nd nests, clear eggs; 3rd nest, 2 light Mules. Third season (1912) mated with same Linnet: Three nests clear eggs: 4th nest, one light, one clear (the bird in question). These were hatched about the end of July, and as I had no Canaries breeding at that time, there could be no mistake about the eggs. Then, again, I keep my Canaries in a separate aviary—they are fifteen yards apart. I am only a novice, but I know better than to exhibit my birds as anything but what I represent them to be. I have taken Cage Birds regularly, since I started my aviary, and have found valuable hints on feeding and management of birds.

Harold G. Fisher.

Mules at High Blantyre Show.

Sir,—Kindly allow me to ask the judge at High Blantyre Club show, Nov. 2, to give his reasons for the following decisions. The novice mule class contained three birds, two Greenfinch Mules, and one Goldfinch. In this class the judge placed a Greenfinch Mule 1st and the Goldie Mule 2nd. These birds were then placed in the champion class to compete for the Mule cup. In this class the judge placed the Goldie Mule 2nd and the Greenie Mule (which beat it in the novice class) was placed 4th. When asked his reasons for this, he stated that he wanted to mix them up a bit. I would like to know what was meant by "mixing them up," and would esteem it a great favour if the judge would enlighten me.

Wm. Gunning.

Are Canaries Too Old at Three?

A Well-known Yorkshireman's Opinion.

Sir, Without the slightest hesitation, I say, "Decidedly No!" My long experience in the Canary Fancy both as an exhibitor and breeder prompts me to make such a reply. I have proved it over and over again. Doubtless it may appear startling to many when I assert that I have a bird (a Yorkie to boot) in my aviary at the present time that is sixteen years old, and has never yet proved itself too old for stock production. What is more, the bird is as good and neat as ever in its appearance save slight signs of weakness in the legs. The bird can be seen in my aviary to-day, and I can vouch for my statement. This and other birds which, in my experience I have come across, prove that Canaries are not too old at three.

A Noted Lizard Fancier's Hard Luck.

Sir, I have commenced the season with very bad luck, having already two of my teams of Lizards out of action. I sent six birds to Grantham on Wednesday last, and on Thursday I got a wire to say my best Broken Cap Silver was in a dying condition this bird was also entered for Sheffield, so that put a stopper on both shows. On Saturday I received word from Mr. Bishop, Sheffield secretary, that my 3rd Grantham Broken Cap Gold, had arrived dead at Sheffield, hence same being marked absent in catalogue. So I had the doubtful pleasure of receiving four birds home in place of six. Pleased to say my Clear Cap Gold "Ray of Gold" has added 1sts at Grantham and Sheffield, to his 1st at Manchester—not bad this, for a novice. I have to thank Mr. Barnes, of Grantham, for his care of my ailing bird, as he has promised to try and bring it round for me, and is giving it every attention. I am pleased to say Lizards are coming up fairly well at the shows, but Lancashires are coming up badly. Sheffield show, however, suffered on account of Oldham and Rochdale Good Intent being same day.

Who First Established the White Canary Strain?

Sir,—It seems scarcely worth while at this date to reply to Mr. Kiesel's letter appearing in your issue of August 10th, and especially as it must be quite apparent to the least intelligent of your readers that my claim is to establishing first a true strain of White Canaries, breeding true to colour, not to having bred myself the first white sport—this Mr. Kiesel undoubtedly did about six months before my bird (which I purchased) was hatched. But, in spite of his possessing a white bird a season before I did, it was not until a season after I had done so that Mr. Kiesel managed to breed all whites from white parents, his previous white birds having all been bred from a coloured parent, and having coloured brothers or sisters in the nest (as he himself stated) therefore being sports and not a true type. I have to thank Mr. Kiesel for putting the matter so clearly before your readers, and thus proving my claim to having been the first in the field to establish a type of White Canary, breeding true to colour. You may be interested to know that the season has started very well with me, as I have now eleven more young white ones.

To Bring Young Canaries into Song.

Sir,—If anyone has bought a young Canary which has not come out on full song, the best thing to do with it is to take it to someone who has a loud singing Canary, or better still, to somebody who has a room full, and ask to leave it for a week. Then fetch it away, and if he is a cock bird, and in good health, he will sing before you are up the following morning. I have tried three young cocks, my own breeding, and the customers are quite satisfied with them now; they never sang before.

The Crested Canary Club's Cup Awards at Manchester Show.

Sir,—I wish to enter a protest against the Crested Canary Club cup awards at the above show, and suggest the 1st prize birds in the current year classes should be judged by two other judges. My reason for this is as follows: The awards were not made at the Manchester show, and no one, not even the show secretary, could say who had been awarded the cups up to packing the birds off on Saturday night. Although I am interested in these awards, being one of the prize winners, I am not entering this protest as a bad sportsman, but as an official of the C.C.C. Club, whose rules do not admit of awards being made after the catalogues are published and the names of the exhibitors known.

C. C. Ley.

The Alleged Protest at the City of Glasgow Show.

Sir,—On looking over my Cage Birds of Friday last I see that the secretary of the City of Glasgow show says there never was a protest laid that he heard of; but I might say I went to protest myself, and I gave the secretary the class number and cage number, and I asked him if the prize-money had been paid out, and he said "Yes." I told him I had come to lay a protest against this bird, but he never said he would take it. I have never laid a protest before against any bird, so I did not know what to do. But I can assure you, Mr. Editor, that this will not be my last, when I have a cause the same as this. I had a gentleman with me in the show who had never seen a bird show before, as he only goes out to catch a few birds. When he saw the bird that the protest test was going to be made about, his remark was: "Who on earth painted this bird, for there never was a bird that colour!" I have no fault to find with the officials of the show: I only want the truth. While painting and such-like things are going on I am sure the shows will never pay, as novices can see for themselves they have no chance of winning except they can get some one to paint their birds for them; or else we must have judges who will put these birds out.

S. Williams.

A Failure at Linnet Catching.

Sir,—"Up in the morning early" in your fine double issue was very amusing to me, as unfortunately I had similar experiences this year. Although I thoroughly understand the setting of nets and have had considerable success at times, I was very much disappointed this year when trying to secure some Linnets. Considering how they are offered and sold at a few pence each, one would imagine that to catch them in hundreds would be an easy task. Well, I expended in week-end outings this year to catch Linnets quite 30s. to 40s.; results, not one single bird. I certainly understand the setting out of nets, having had considerable success with other birds in previous years, but Linnets I could not secure. I set my nets well out in meadows, stubble fields, in ideal surroundings—in fact, there were continually some 50 to 70 Linnets feeding in the field. I had two brace birds acting perfectly on the sticks, another on the ground, and four or five in cages around the nets, and all sorts of enticing seeds and plants inside, but all to no avail. As I am not likely to be a competitor to professional catchers—never having sold, nor intending to sell a bird—I would be pleased to hear an expert's opinion as to why I failed. I can only account for it myself for the following reasons. My birds did not call well—most of them were out of a large aviary, and not used to small cages. I mixed a few Goldfinches with the Linnets, i.e., I had a few around the nets in trap cages. Otherwise, everything seemed perfect. A little advice would oblige.

NOTES BY THE SECRETARY.

A League Associate in New Zealand.

CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE members are of course aware that they have fellow-members in widely distant parts of the world, but until now the associated members (those who have received a badge by virtue of obtaining the promises of five fellow bird-keepers to keep their pets in happiness and comfort) have been confined to our own little piece of the world's surface. It gives me great pleasure therefore, to welcome as an Associate member of the LEAGUE Mr. S. Burman, of New Zealand, who has sent six coupons signed by bird lovers in Auckland, and who concludes his letter thus: "Wishing you every success in your grand movement." I hope that readers in the far places to which CAGE BIRDS reaches will follow Mr. Burman's example, until we may be able to say of the Associates, as we can already say of the ordinary members, that they extend all over the world. Mr. Burman sends with his coupons a New Zealand stamp, which I am, of course, unable to use for the return postage, and I am keeping this as a souvenir.

First League Medals Won.

Six of our Silver Medals were won at Sheffield O.S. show. Some fifty members of this society are members of CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE, the last recruits to our ranks being the well-known Hybrid exhibitors, Messrs. Martin and Archer, and it is appropriate that the society which has the largest number of LEAGUE members should lead off with our medals. The winners were: Yorks., Dr. Craig; Nor., T. Havenhand; Crests, J. Memmott, Brit., P. Walsh; Hybrids, Martin and Archer: For., G. Fletcher.

Ramsgate C.B.S. had one silver medal, and this was won by Mr. F. Thomas, our local hon. sec. Mr. Thomas writes: "I have been fortunate enough not to take the cake, but to win CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE Medal, and I shall be proud to wear it.

The Qualification for the Medals.

The conditions under which the medals are granted are stated below. I am getting quite a number of enquiries from secretaries as to how many medals their societies are entitled to offer in their schedules, but it is quite impossible for me to find out this. My books will not tell me if CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE members are members of any particular society, and each member should see for himself that the secretary of the society to which he belongs is aware of his being a member of the LEAGUE. If secretaries, having this information, will apply to me accordingly, giving the names of the members who are LEAGUE members, the medals will be granted according to the number.

The Matter of Overdue Subscriptions.

A large number of subscriptions are now overdue for renewal, and I should be pleased if LEAGUE members would kindly forward Postal Orders. to save the trouble and expense of individual applications.

TERMS OF MEMBERSHIP.

PATRONS.—A donation of not less than Ten Guineas in one amount, or an annual subscription of not less than Two Guineas, shall constitute the donor or subscriber a Patron.

LIFE MEMBERS.—A donation of not less than Five Guineas in one amount shall constitute the donor a Life Member.

VICE PRESIDENTS.—An annual subscription of not less than Half-a-Guinea shall constitute the subscriber a Vice President.

HONORARY LIFE MEMBERS.—The payment to CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE of a legacy of £20 and upwards shall constitute the administrator or executor making the payment an Honorary Life Member. A form of bequest will be sent, post free, on application.

ORDINARY MEMBERS shall pay an annual subscription of Two Shillings and Sixpence.

JUNIOR MEMBERS.—Members under the age o fourteen years at the date of joining shall pay an annua subscription of One Shilling.

Leaflets setting forth the aims and objects of the LEAGUE will be forwarded, post free, to any reader upon application.

BADGES.

Neat and unobtrusive badges are supplied to members, without any charge beyond their subscriptions as above. The badges may be had either in button form, or mounted in rolled gold in two forms, one as a brooch for ladies or for cycling caps or coat lapel, and the other as a pendant for bracelet or watch-chain. The kind required should be specified clearly.

MEDALS.

Gold, Silver, and Bronze Medals are offered for competition among CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE members at Open Shows. The terms under which these will be given may be had upon application.

CAGE BIRDS FREE TO PATRONS.

A copy of CAGE BIRDS, the official organ of the LEAGUE, is forwarded to patrons weekly, post free.

How to become an Associate.

Many readers of CAGE BIRDS have written to say that they would like to join CAGE BIRDS' LEAGUE, but cannot afford the subscription. To meet their wishes we have decided to form, in connection with the LEAGUE, a body of Associates. All we ask of these Associates is that they will promise to give every possible attention to the wants of their birds. And they must induce others to see that their birds are kept happy and contented.

All that the intending Associate has to do is to sign the coupon herewith, get five of his or her friends to sign each a similar coupon, and send the six, together with a penny stamp, to the Secretary of CAGE BIRDS' LEAGUE, who will forward by return an enamelled Button Badge of the LEAGUE. There will be no other charge. NOW, THEN, BIRD LOVERS!—USE YOUR BEST EFFORTS IN THIS SPLENDID CAUSE.

THE BIRD LOVER'S PLEDGE.

hereby promise to take every care of my feathered pets and to induce others to do the same

The members' classes had a very good entry in the amateur section, and some fine Yorks were put down. Norwich were very strong and numerous, and created excellent competition. Novices were fewer in number, but a few very good Yorks and Norwich were brought out. Hybrids and British in the members' section were very strong and competition keen.

WOLVERHAMPTON.

Sixth annual exhibition, held in the Co-operative Hall, Nov. 1 and 2. A better room for the purpose it would indeed be very difficult to find, being spacious, well lighted both by day and night, and quite free from draughts. It is again our pleasing duty to chronicle another splendid entry in every section except Borders and Mules, which were a failure, the former having three classes provided with only four entries; a very poor response. The winner in the unlighted yell. Norwich class is a stormer, and was awarded the coveted special for best bird in show, which distinction it has gained twice within a week. The Yorks. section had the patronage of the Midland Counties Y.C.C., this being the second competition of the season for the splendid trophies put up by this club, and no doubt this accounted in a measure for the grand entry in this section. The members' classes were well filled with some cheap bargains, being limited to 20s.

Of the management we cannot speak too highly. This society is well known for its thoroughness in anything it undertakes, and this year quite lived up to its reputation. The arrangements were of the best; every bird was staged in a good light at a convenient height. Mr. J. Gibbons was again at the head of affairs, and right well did he discharge his many secretarial duties, though, unfortunately, he was unavoidably absent for the greater part of the first day, but a most capable substitute was forthcoming in Mr. J. A. Tonks, one of the Vice-presidents, a thorough worker, who stuck to his post in splendid fashion with great credit to himself and his society. The other officials, all thorough good fanciers, were: Chairman, Mr. F. J. Weaver; Vice-chair, Mr. R. Willoughby; Treas., Mr. T. Garfield; Show Committee, Messrs. W. Harrison, J. Millencamp, E. Hall, Rowley, Barrett, Crundell, Hyde, Hunt, Hampton, Price, Robinson and Martin. Mr. J. Robson judged.

PARTICK.

Partick and Dist. C.B.C. held a most successful show Nov. 2, the entry being far in excess of former years, while quality was extra good. Canaries were the feature of the show, Yorks being predominant. The executive received a very gratifying entry in the five open Yorks classes, some grand birds being forward from England, but this variety is now making great strides in Scotland, and to-day they made themselves felt, as the principal winners were very evenly divided between the two countries. The spl. winning York was shown by Mr. Heggie. Nor. also were good, the winning yell., which took special for best in show, was well shown by Mr. Maxwell. Brit. on the whole were good. The management was, as usual, par excellence, being under the supervision of well-known fanciers, headed by Mr. Henderson; while the secretarial reins were in the hands of Mr. Priest, which was a guarantee in itself. The hall is an ideal one, and the show was well patronised during the afternoon. Judges were:—Open Yorks and even numbers, Mr. J. W. Bruce; odd numbers, Mr. J. Moreland, and after their decisions were made very few comments were to be heard, everyone being well satisfied.

WINDSOR.

Held in the Guildhall Nov. 6th. This is the first year the society has had the show in the spacious large hall, and a better place it would be impossible to find; large, well lighted, and heated, and with its pictures, plants, and carpeted floor, has quite an air of luxury about it. The entry was about the same as last year. The officials hoped for more, but the clashing with other shows evidently had its effect. Among the exhibits the Yorks. held pride of place; these were both numerous and good. There was a nice lot of Nor. We think the most attractive part of the show, especially to the ladies, was the fine gathering of Softbills and foreigners. The members' section was not the least important, and many fine birds were benched therein. The committee are a fine body of fanciers, and their efforts in catering for the birds and staging them to the best possible advantage cannot be too highly praised. Chairman, Mr. W. G. King; committee, Messrs. J. Simms, H. May, F. J. Drye, A. Turner, H. Simms, A. Montgomery, W. G. Clark, C. Griffin, and W. Owen. The hon. sec., Mr. E. A. Stickland, is a splendid worker, and most courteous and obliging. He had everything in perfect order; not a detail awry. Mr. H. Norman judged, and his decisions were well received.

Mistake in Glasgow District schedule; class 63 should read "Foreign Goldfinch," not "Bullfinch," telegraphs Mr. Hutchison, just as we go to press.

Another Record Gone at Blaydon.

MANY MAGNIFICENT SECTIONS.

A record entry of 772 as a reward for excellence of management.

Held November 1 and 2, in the fine room of the U.M. School. Blaydon succeeds because those who are responsible for its working are an united, progressive, go-ahead lot of fellows. One of their rules reads: "No member will be allowed to remove his own birds, until all birds from a distance are sent home." A good rule this, and one which many societies could adopt to the benefit of themselves and their supporters. Then they are generous towards exhibitors. They pay full prize money in all classes over six entries. This means that if there are only seven entries in a class 20s. in prize-money is paid, although the entry fees only amount to 10s. 6d. The prize-money is promptly paid, the exhibits are met at the station, and great attention paid to their watering and feeding during the show, and at the close birds which can reach home on Saturday night are sent off by early trains, whilst those which cannot are kept over till Monday morning, the secretary making himself personally responsible to exhibitors for their care over the Sunday. These are some of the reasons why Blaydon has reached a high position amongst the societies of the North, and is keeping it.

The Men Who Do It.

By the excellency of their management the society has become looked upon by the residents as one of the institutions of the locality, and it is well supported by the leaders of public thought in the town. Col. F. R. Simpson, J.P., is the honorary president, and he is supported by a strong band of vice-presidents. Coming to the actual workers we have Mr. John Hands as chairman, and what a power he is, full of enthusiasm, with good organising ability, he leads his forces in grand style, and Mr. T. Leck, the vice-chairman, supports him well, as does Mr. J. W. Clark, the treasurer. Other members of the executive are Messrs. G. S. Elwood, T. Brown, G. Simpson, Jas. Carr, J. H. Crass, Jos. Clark, C. Vallans, Jos. A. Carr, R. Pattinson, T. Fletcher, C. Graham, W. Purvis, R. Havis, J. Davison, J. Tyson, J. Hillary, T. Ridley, N. Walker, and J. Robson. A really grand lot of typical North country fanciers, workers, one and all, mindful of the fact that the birds entrusted to their care were valued by their owners, and needed the same watchful care and attention as their own. Mr. G. Havver, the secretary, is one of the best; all his work was carried out with that attention to detail which makes for ease and smoothness of working, whilst his unfailing courtesy and geniality got over any little trouble or difficulty that arose. A good officer indeed.

Amongst the Exhibits.

The open section drew 615 entries, and with 157 appearing in the members', made up the grand and record total of 772. Norwich opened the ball with thirteen classes, and a magnificent lot they were. The section was simply a blaze of colour. Mr. Humphries' tkd. yell., which won Sandiford's special, is a triumph of the feeder's art. In both clears and ticks, the yellows pleased us better than the buffs, whilst the unflighted birds pleased us better than the old ones. The noble Crests had only four classes, which shows what a change has come over the Northumberland Fancy of recent years. Ten or fifteen years ago Crests and Crestbreds were the chief attraction at Tyneside shows. Still, if the numbers are no longer there, the quality has been maintained. The special for best bird in show fell to Messrs. Dobson and Sons' handsome exhibit, and well did it deserve the honour. Yorks. had eight classes, and drew the splendid entry of 160, an average of nearly eighteen per class, and the quality was there, right through the section. The competitions for the Northern Yorkshire C.B.'s challenge cup, and Mr. Ramsden's cup, no doubt had something to do with the handsome lot of young birds staged. Instituted six years since, no one fancier has yet succeeded in having his name inscribed twice upon the N.Y.C.C. young bird cup, and as it has to be won twice in succession or three times in all, it looks as though the club will not be called upon to find a second cup for a few years yet. The lucky winner on this occasion was Mr. R. Butler, of Jarrow. British were a good show. The class of the section was that for Siskins, Twites, etc., in which Mr. Foster won with a wonderful coloured Twite, whose coat shone like a piece of satin. Some very handsome exhibits put in an appearance in the foreign classes. Mr. Christer's very handsome Blue Mountain Lory, and the most lovely Sugar Birds of Mrs. T. Taylor and Mr. Young, were the cynosure of many eyes. A splendid show was wound up by the grand display made in the members' section, in which were many exhibits, good enough to have held their own in the open. The judges were Messrs. W. A. Cowgill, Nor. and Yorks., and C. A. House, the remainder.

Mr. Cowgill's Classes.

BO'NESS.

Eighth annual fixture held Nov. 2. The entry exceeded the 400 mark, which was considered very satisfactory, considering the amount of club and open shows held on the same day. Norwich and Borders were a shade below former years, but British fairly beat all records, most of the classes being very heavy, and they must have given the judge a hot day's work. The Linnet and Redpoll classes contained some stormers. The winning Twite, which was catalogued at thirty shillings, was quickly claimed as were several others at good figures. The president, Mr. T. Bell, scored well in this section, having a grand team forward, and winning the Fife challenge cup for most points. Mr. John Nicolson, Bathgate, secured the Verney cup for the best six nominated birds. The Norwich section contained some very nice birds of good quality and type. Some real gems of the first water were staged in the Border section. The yellow hen staged by Mr. A. Gilchrist was a gem all over. The hall in which the show was held is of nice size, and free from draughts, but we think that, when another year comes round, if they were to stage the British birds on the centre staging, it would show them off to more advantage, as box-cages need all the light that it is possible to get. The officials are a hard-working lot everyone a fancier, and are well supported by a good committee. The secretary, Mr. Thos. Cameron, is the right man in the right place, and is very obliging and courteous. We are asked to state that there were a few printer's errors in the list of awards, which the officials regret very much, but all prize-money will be paid according to judges' slips. The judges were: Norwich, Mr. Wm. Grewar, Lochgelly; Borders, Mr. Geo. Brown, Leith; British, Mr. P. McQuiston; and their awards gave universal satisfaction, for no grumbling could be heard at their decisions.

The Critique.

CREST CK.: 1, sp, Cram, crest and wing mkd., nice round crest, well laid on, fine centre, nice, leafy feather, good substance; 2, Sharp, larger crest, not so well laid down, some pen feathers in centre; yet, nice length of feather, of good qual.; 3, Binnie, massive body, heavily var., fails in crest to 1st and 2nd; 4, Masson. HEN: 1, Masson, useful sort of hen, nice crest, of good formation, fine length of feather, split on one side of crest. C.B. CK.: 1, 2, Cram, almost green leading, broad skull, well lashed, nice length of feather, well laid on, 2nd var., better in body properties, and nice entrance, good rise of skull, fails at back of skull only, very close; 3, Binnie, grand thick body, nice rise of skull, not the lashing or length of feather. C.B. HEN: 1, 2, Masson, big var., grand skull and lash, nice feather, 2 cl's in substance and qual. of feather. HEN, 1912 BRED: 1, Lambie, almost green, fails in centre and length of feather; 2, Campbell, grizzle crest, small in crest, and lacks substance; 3, Ferguson, short of size, and fails in length of feather; 4, Masson. ROLLER SINGERS IN CONTEST.

Largest number ever gathered together in England.

The fourth annual Roller Singing contest of the Midland Roller C.C. was held in the large dining room of the Swan and Peacock Hotel, Wolverhampton, the headquarters of the Society, Oct. 31 and Nov. 1. The entries reached the grand total of 250, which is the largest number of Rollers ever got together in England. Everything passed off very well with the exception of one unfortunate incident. The respected judge of Rollers, Mr. F. A. Lester, entered a team of four birds which he has trained in open wire cages, his idea being to demonstrate to the Fancy that good birds can be trained without the darkening down process generally in vogue. His birds were despatched from London 11 a.m. on Wednesday, and should have been in the show room by 4 p.m. at latest. They had a very lengthened journey, and did not arrive till 12 noon the next day—one bird dead and the others quite knocked out. Only one did a little singing before the judge, the other two no song. They must have had very rough treatment from some strong-armed, weak-headed railway official. Mr. T. J. Smith, the Hon. Sec., worked like a Trojan, and was well supported by all the local fanciers. The show closed at 9 on Friday night, and by 10 the birds were in the hands of the railway company for the return journey. Messrs. J. Netherwood, G. Wareing, and M. Jacquemin were the judges.

The Awards.

Glorious Spectacle at Sheffield.

All Records Pulverised; A Novice Class of 60 Birds! Cutlery Capital's Huge Success.

The Sheffield O.S. held their 2nd annual show on Nov. 1, and 2. The Temperance Hall, in which the function took place, is a room of capital size, good in light, absolutely free from draughts, near to the centre of the city. This most enterprising and very progressive society will, in the near future, we are firmly convinced, require a still larger place. Their sole ambition is to run a show second to none, and if the schedule issued is any criterion their object is certain to be attained. The "ground bait-" put down was 22s. per class (26s. in the Foreigners), with a host of very valuable specials, including cups, medals and so forth. The great inducements were finely responded to by the Fancy, no less than 953 entries being booked, thus creating a record for "Steelopolis." The staging of exhibits was on the three-tier principle, and between each aisle, directly overhead dozens of electric lamps provided brilliancy when daylight had departed. The cost of this arrangement was very heavy, yet the effect was gorgeous and admittedly advantageous for the sight-seers, as every bird could be plainly seen. Many beautiful palms greatly enhanced the surroundings. The Master Cutler, J. Rossiter Hoyle, Esq., officiated at the opening ceremony, and spoke excellently, his words being most appropriate for such an occasion and flattering to the society. A vote of thanks was proposed by the Rev. J. Smith, M.A. (Baslow) and seconded by Dr. J. G. Mylan. The President is the Right Hon. the Earl Fitzwilliam, D.S.O.

The Good Ship's Crew.

The Chairman is Mr. T. Dawn, a fancier of the right metal, not merely a figure head, but a most strenuous and enthusiastic worker; from opening to closing of exhibition his efforts were great, and inspired all the committee under him. Mr. J. A. T. Woodall (Vice-Chair) makes a capital understudy, and rendered great assistance. The Committee of Management consists of many well-known and well-tried fanciers, who all gave of their best, praise being due to the following for their splendid work on behalf of the society, viz.: Dr. W. Craig, Messrs. H. Bishop, G. Fletcher, J. Mace, G. Moore, J. Memmott, C. Marshall, J. Milne, T. Rilal, E. E. Smith, A. Somerfield, T. F. Turner, P. Walsh and F. Elliott. The Treasurer, Mr. J. W. Drabble, is the right man in the right place, and the "shekels" are safe in his keeping. The Hon. Sec., Mr. T. Bishop, carried out his duties in masterly fashion, promptly and efficiently. He is a grand stamp of fancier, courteous and obliging to one and all. He was assisted by that well-known mule breeder. Mr. R. Colton, who, as most will be aware, has had a lengthy "all England show" experience, and he knows the correct way to run an open venture to a successful issue. Truly, Messrs. Bishop and Colton are a brace of wonderfully good officials. The stewards, who proved themselves full worthy of their trust, and kept the "house in order" were Messrs. A. Somerfield, Dr. W. Craig, J. Milne, J. Mace, G. Fletcher and J. Memmoth. As each class was adjudicated upon prize slips were quickly affixed, the winners placed in rotation, and every detail expeditiously executed. Messrs. A. Somerfield and J. Fletcher attended most efficiently to their watering and seeding throughout.

The attendance was great, all parts of the country being represented. Amongst those whom we observed and chatted with were Messrs. J. W. Ramsden (London), Dr. A. M. Deane (Dewsbury), D. Hunter (Scarbro), L. Dykes, J. Bailey, Odgen Bros., F. Hammond and J. Thornton (Bradford), Evans (Stocksbridge), Radley and Son (Skelmanthorpe), T. Simpson (Worksop), S. Cook (Manchester), Joe Thomas (Halifax), R. Garnett (Bradford), Archer (Huddersfield), Gregory, Bagnall and Brotherton (Rotherham), J. Warrender (Hoyland), and many fanciers. Mr. J. C. Barnes, the well-known local fancier, we noticed spent many hours at the show, and met many fancier friends.

Many birds were claimed, the winner in the Yorkshire hen (Novice section), catalogued at £5 5s., shown successfully by Mr. J. Radley (Skelmanthorpe), finding a fresh stable on the Tyneside. The money taken at the door amounted to a goodly sum, and along with the tremendous lot of tickets sold by the members, points towards a capital balance in hand when the auditors have done their work. The Gift Class (upwards of 20 birds) provided a drawing competition, each purchaser of a ticket being entitled to a chance of winning a prize-bred Canary, etc. It was amusing to observe the anxious faces (especially the feminine ones) when the "lucky numbers" were posted up.

Among the Exhibits.

Yorkshires opened the catalogue, and fully deserved the general opinion passed upon them, as "the" feature of the show; truly a superb and marvellous collection, the best array ever been brought together within the "grimy city." Norwich, with the open Nor. P.H. Club's patronage, provided a huge treat for those who swear by the "short and thick uns." Undoubtedly a magnificent display, and one to be remembered for many a long day to come. Lancashires and Lizards were capital, though quantity was lacking. We must not overlook the Crests and C.B., certainly not numerous, but of exceptional merit, with a few "eye openers" amongst them.

Special winners are as follows: Best Nor., Mr. J. E. Davies, with a marvellous cl. buff ck.; Novice, Mr. T. Rowbottam; Challenge cup (very handsome, kindly presented by Dr. W. Craig) most points Novice Yorks., fell into the hands of Mr. S. Binns (Cleckheaton), he staging a very choice team; best Crest, Mr. J. W. Guy; C.B., Mr. E. Radley; Lan. Coppy, Mr. W. Hardy; P.H., Mr. A. Beattie; Liz., Mr. J. Rukin; most entries in show, Dr. M. A. Wilson; Teapot, most entries, Mr. P. Walsh; Sandiford's for hottest fed, Mr. T. H. Mason, with a red-hot mkd, yell. Nor.; Ramsden's, for hottest fed, went to a cl. yell. Nor. cock, a ball of fire, the property of Messrs. Richinson and Hibberson; Ramsden's for best-fed Liz., Mr. W. P. Barnes; medal, Nov., Liz., Mr. B. Clegg; best Yell. Coppy, Mr. A. Hordern; P.H., Mr. W. Kay; Buff Coppy, Mr. A. Hordern; P.H., Mr. G. Fitton.

Judging in the commencement was delayed somewhat by consignments of birds arriving at the show late (shall we blame the railway company once again?), therefore throwing the completion of awards over until late on in the afternoon. Catalogues without the awards were quickly on sale, but those with the awards printed were not obtainable until Saturday morning—absolutely no fault whatever of the society, but of other people. The judges were Messrs. W. Mundell (Bradford), W. Vardy (Hucknall), J. Naden (Rochdale) and Chas. Houlton (St. Helens), and their placings gave general satisfaction.

The Yorkshire Section.

There was a record entry in Yorkshires, and the elite of the fancy benched the cream of their stock. What an array of talent the following names represent: Messrs. Bailey, Shackleton, Ogden Bros., Dykes, Towers, Wilcock, Sutcliffe and Son, Binns, Crawhall, A. Hirst, G. Hirst, E. Radley, A. Radley, Morrison, Thornton and Bower, Thomas, and Cooper! "Jimmy" Bailey won the special for best Yorks. in the show with his ticked yellow, a bird of rare merit, standing well away in its class; He also captured the special for best cln. mark. Mr. Joe Thomas won in yellow hens with a bird of rare length and quality, and Messrs. Ogden took the 1st in buffs with a lovely wing and cheek marked bird. There was a wonderful entry in the Novice Section—198 in the four classes! These classes were a treat for any Yorkshire fancier to dwell amongst. Birds of great length and quality were to be seen standing cardless; and no wonder! In the hen class 60 entries were made, and the judge had only one first to award! Mr. Mundell had real hard work in placing the cards.

Remainder of Canary Classes.

CL. YELL. (11): 1, 2, Davies, with a magnificent brace, former massively built, delightful shape, teeming with quality and colour, demon; 2, ablaze with col., feathered to perfection, sweetly moulded, hardly so thick through, perfect carriage, gem; 3, Mallinson and Son, well up in substance, red hot, pleasing head and neck, rather longer in build, yet of wonderful merit; 4, Harland, short and thick set, capital col. and feather, jaunty in carriage, clean cut away, smaller; vhc, Hunter; hc, Hirst; c, Heap. BUFF (13): 1, sp, best in section, Davies, absolutely one of the finest specimens we have ever clapped eyes upon, bordering on perfection from tip of toe to end of beak, a dream; 2, Mason, delightful shape, superb in col., fine substance and carriage, grand col., but not so ruddy as winner, quite; 3, Thomas, for shape, qual., col., and carriage, all one need wish for, beaten in substance only, a model; 4, Heap, full of qual., rich tone of col., nice shaped body, wanting a little in head and neck, yet very choice; vhc, Fox; hc, Ball; c, Dr. J. C. McConaghey. TKD. YELL. (9): 1, Davies, mkd. wings and head, quite a demon for col., feathered to perfection, wonderful size, delightful symmetry, clock like in action, stormer; 2, Havenhand, mkd. wings and head, magnificent shape, rare substance, shone like satin, beaten in depth of col., yet capable of making a big name; 3, H. Thomas, lightly var., exquisite feather, richly fed, cobby, and of A1 carriage, not one of the biggest, but one of the best; 4, Hunter, mkd. wing, red hot, soft silky texture of feather, beautiful head, neck, and chest, wee bit longer barrel, flights, and tail; vhc, Pickles; c, Mallinson and Son. BUFF (11): 1, 2, Cook, with a brace of charmers, mkd. wings and head, full of character, rare size and shape, superb quality, delightful col., graceful movement, topper, mkd. left wing, still deeper fronted, wonderful substance, feather, and shape, well across, rich undercolour, near on equal in merit, a real gem; 3, Dodd, mkd. head, round as a ball, tight as a Java, sweetly moulded, red hot, neatly frosted, not the size; 4, Johnson, mkd. wings and breast, hottest in class, true type, lovely carriage, beautifully clothed, smaller, but a living picture; vhc, Webster; hc, Harland; c, Pickering and Wright. YELL. HEN (16): Grand class, two sets of winners could easily have been selected: 1, Thomas, mkd. wing, tail, and about head, magnificent feather and col., wonderful size for a hen, delightful shape and carriage, will take some stopping; 2, 4, Davies, with a couple of very bewitching damsels; 2, mkd. head, A1 col. and feather, grand contour, rare size and carriage, will yet improve, bit raw around eyes yet; 4, cl., of capital shape, size, and quality, full of col., sweet carriage, well worthy of her position; 3, vhc, Hirst, mkd. wings and eyes, teeming with qual. and col., choking shape, fluely braced wings, pipe tail, not quite the substance of above; hc, Ball; c, Dodd. BUFF (12): 1, c, Heap, very massive, cl., wonderful size, qual., col., and carriage, richly frosted, many envious eyes were cast on this most dainty damsel, the Newcastle winner; 2, D. Hunter, cl., if anything even more substance, fine symmetry, good col., neatly mealed, fine carriage, hardly so fine in texture; 3, Cook, cl., nice shape, good col., not the size, and we thought coarse somewhat in dress, bit lucky; 4, Pickering and Wright, cl., capital feather and col., nice size and shape, moves well, clean cut away; v, Hirst, lightly mkd., delightful shape, fine size, magnificent feather, light as wax, near on best in class many thought, truly a gem of gems "if a hen," has masculine character somewhat; hc, Johnson. YELL. UNFLIG. (21): 1, sp., Mason, mkd. wing and head, hot as a stove, not a feather misplaced, fine shape and substance, delightful carriage, should make a "knock out" with another good moult; 2, Waters, fine sized, cl., richly fed, beautifully clothed, well up in head and neck character, grand body, perfect wings and tail, real gem; 3, H. Thomas, cl., feathered to perfection, ablaze with colour, grand shape and carriage, not so massive, good 3; 4, Harland, good size, A1 col. and qual., neatly formed body, lacking little in head and neck; vhc, Pickering and Wright; c, Simmonett. BUFF (16): 1, Dr. J. C. McConaghey, mkd. wings and head, marvellous substance, delightful shape, rattling feather and col., prettily frosted, grand carriage, will do some winning; 2, Pickles, mkd. head, again of wonderful size, teeming with qual. and col., perfect shape, around eyes little in pen., when completely through will take some knocking, truly an eye opened; 3, Miss A. Scott, "Bravo the Ladies" mkd. eyes and neck round as a ball, ablaze with col., delightful feather, neat in carriage, credit to his owner; 4, Johnson, mkd. wing and head, smooth as a bottle, correct shape, capital col. and qual., smaller, but a picture; vhc, Harland; hc, Mason; c, Ball. NOVICE YELL. (9): 1, Potter, cl., rattling shape, qual. and col., not overdone with size, yet one that commands observation, neatness itself; 2, Hoyle, cl., more substance, nice feather and col., capital head, neck, and chest, bit heavy behind; 3, Butler and Barlow, lightly var., red hot, A1 qual., short and thick set, might have won, very smart exhibit; 4, sp., Richinson and Hibberson, very nice shaped, cl., full of col. and qual., on the small side, yet good one; vhc, Halford; hc, Howe and Senior; c, Cobb. BUFF (14): 1, sp, Rowbottam, cl., great size, lovely shape, col., and qual., fine carriage, capable of winning many open shows; 2, Battersley, very shapely, cl., teeming with qual. and col., neatly frosted, not quite the substance; 3, Hudson, short and thick set, cl., A1 feather and col., grand carriage, very close up; 4, vhc, Rhodes, heavy mkd., cobby, and of nice shape, col., and feather, not so much substance as might have; hc, Miss A. Scott; c, Clarke. HEN (11): 1, Briggs, cl. yell., delightful contour, richly clothed, fine substance, dainty carriage, fascinating damsel; 2, Simpson, well shaped, cl. buff, grand qual. and col., neatly frosted, moves gracefully, bonny; 3, Rhodes, yell. var., cobby, capital col. and feather, not large, but awfully nice, worth her place; 4, Rowbottam, yell., lightly var., A1 qual. and col., nice neck and head, longer in body, wings, and tail; vhc, Butler and Barlow; hc, Battersley; c, Hudson. UNFLIG. (14): 1, Lawton, cl. yell., good shape and col., well up in size, rather open in feather on front; 2, Boaler, cl. yell., tight as a Java, capital shape, feather, and col., sweet carriage, our choice; 3, Rowbottam, buff mkd. eyes and neck, rare col. and qual., good shape and size, crosses wings a little which tells against it; 4, Simpson, cl. yell., short and thick set, good col., nice shape and size, bit coarse in feather around thighs; vhc, Battersley; hc, Potter; c, Richinson and Hibberson. CRESTED (7): 1, 3, Guy, with a couple of "choice 'uns," former, buff mkd. root of tail DC, heaps of feather, well up in substance, crest of capital size and radiation, good droop and centre, in the pink; 3, buff green, pied tail DC, lovely feather, shapely crest of nice size and formation, neatly drooped, good centre; 2, 4, Radley and Son, buff var., DC, wonderful substance, rare shaped crest, very thickly packed, delightful droop, and correctly placed centre, gem, we thought value for first; 4, buff mkd. wings DC, heaps of rich qual. feather, good substance, crest, large, and of capital frontal, runs wee bit narrow, neat droop and centre; vhc, Evans and Son; hc, Evans; c, Colton and Dawn. HEN (6): 1, sp., 3, Guy, again with right sorts, buff mkd. wings DC, marvellous size and qual., crest large and as round as a hoop, veiny, and well thatched, delightful droop, correct centre, gem; 3, buff, almost green DC, shapely and with a grand formation of crest, leafy, but not over large, yet of rattling droop and centre, a picture; 2, 4, Evans (J.), buff mkd. wings DC, capital feather, crest round as a crown, thickly packed, rare droop and centre, not quite the size, yet grand specimen; 4, buff, lightly var. DC, superb qual., leafy crest of fine frontal, bit weak at sides, well drooped, neat centre; vhc, Barker; hc, Radley and Son. C.B. (6): 1, 4, M. Emmott, leader a cl. buff, wealth of rich qual. feather, with a very massive skull of great width and rise, unfortunately weak on legs, but for this failing would be one of the "nuts," hard lines; 4, cl. buff, lovely qual., nice shape, characteristic head, yet not in it with its stable companion; 2, Evans, buff var., shapely and with a wealth of rich qual. feather, grand skull and lash, one we liked much; 3, Radley and Son, buff mkd. wings and eyes, abundance of feather, rare substance of body, wanting in density of head feather, and might have greater width, neat lash; vhc, Guy; hc, Hobson. HEN (7): 1, sp., E. Radley, buff green pied wing and tail, wealth of feather of rich texture, nice shape, capital width, rise, and density of skull, neatly browed, gem; 2, 3, Guy, buff, almost green, very shapely, abundance of feather, head of good character, but not so massive, nice lash and in fine trim; 3, buff mkd. wings and head, abundance of clothing, well up in size, good rise and width of skull, lacking density, yet nice specimen; 4, Barker, buff var., good shape, A1 feather, smaller all through, still very pleasing; vhc, Colton and Dawn; hc, Memmott; c, J. Evans and Son. CREST, 1912 (5): 1, 2, Radley and Son, with a delightful brace, leader buff mkd. wings DC, wonderful substance, superb qual., crest round as a rim, capital droop and centre, beauty; 2, buff, mkd wings DC, rattling quality, and of rare size, crest extra large, and of magnificent radiation, thickly packed, wonderful droop and centre, better at back of crest than winner even, our choice, topper; 3, 4, Memmott, lightly var., DC, nice qual., not the size of above, yet of capital frontal, slightly spit at sides, neat droop and centre, may yet improve; 4, buff mkd. wings, DC, plenty of feather, crest, good radiation and droop, centre bit open, yet one we liked; vhc, Evans. C.B. (6): 1, 3, Barker, buff green, wealth of lovely feather, fine substance, grand width and rise of skull, beautifully lashed, real gem; 3, buff, mkd. wings and eyes, capital quality, head of nice character, neat lash, not near so massive as winner, but very neat exhibit; 2, Evans, buff green, pied tail, plenty of capital feather, nice substance, beaten slightly in head as regards width, otherwise equal; 4, M. Emmott, buff, lightly mkd., A1 qual., not the size, shows character nicely; vhc, Radley and Son; hc, Cowpertwaite. NOV., CREST (10): 1, 3, Rewick, buff, lightly mkd. DC, rich in qual., capital substance, crest veiny and as round as a hoop, grand droop and centre; 3, buff, mkd. wings DC, lovely feather, crest of good shape, well drooped, A1 centre, might easily have been 2nd; 2, Kenyon, buff, lightly var., DC, crest thickly thatched, nice shape droop and centre, on small side; 4, Richardson, buff, almost green DC, rich, veiny feather, crest of nice formation, good droop and centre; vhc, c, Godfrey; hc, Dr. A. M. Deane, buff, cl. body DC, real good exhibit, should have been higher up. C.B. (10): 1, 2, Bewick, with a brace of beauties, buff green, pied tail, abundance of feather, rare substance, fine cushioned skull of nice width, neatly browed; 2, buff var., plenty of feather, nice size, hardly the width, yet of capital merit, and very close up; 3, c, Godfrey, buff var., abundance of feather, good size of body, not the head as those above; 4, Priestley, buff green, pied tail, rich qual., smaller, but awfully neat; v, Dr. Deans, might have gone up one; hc, Kenyon. LANC. COPPY (6): 1, sp., Hardy, grizzled coppy, massive in build, great length, capital spread of coppy of correct shape, in the pink gem; 2, Beattie, cl., wonderful size of body, fine length, A1 qual., not so good in head piece quite, yet fine specimen; 3, Hordern, cl., lovely

BKN. (12): 1, 2, Hamer, with a brace of beauties, magnificent ground col., rowed to perfection, not a feather misplaced, moves gracefully, topper; 2, rich in qual. and col., fine shape and size, not quite so profuse in spangling, yet one of the very best; 3, Rukin, for col., qual., shape, and size, all one need desire, neat work, very close up indeed; 4, hc, Ollerenshaw, fine substance and qual., rich col., grandly marked, good one for stock; vhc, Millington; c, Barnes.

Hybrids, British and Foreign Birds.

The Hybrid, British and Foreign Bird sections were marked by a glorious record entry for a Sheffield show. Good as was last year's show in the Cutlers' Hall, this year's went one better. All the winners in the Hybrid classes were birds of the champion order. British Seedeaters were great in quality and quantity, and here a capital Goldfinch belonging to Captain Hurst, of Liverpool, secured special for best hardbilled British. Softbill classes were simply magnificent, and a perfect Wryneck won the special for best Softbill. Such extraordinary Skylarks, Thrushes, Blackbirds, Starlings, Nightingales, Whitethroats, Black Redstarts, Wrens, Pipits, Waxwings, Blackcaps, Redwings, and other species of Softbills it is extremely rare to see assembled together at a provincial show. The competition was of the very keenest.

The Foreign Bird section was a most magnificent spectacle, and super-excellent was the condition in which the birds were shown. In this section a most perfect specimen of the "Green Leek" or Barraband's Parrakeet, took no less than three specials, viz., F.B.C. medal for best members' foreign, guinea sp. for best foreign in show, and for rarest foreign. Officials and members of the society were filled with the greatest delight and satisfaction at the noble response from exhibitors.

GOLDFINCH (16): 1, sp best Brit., Hurst, grand Finch, all over it, well balanced, clean cut col. and markings, and in tight glossy condition; 2, Blanchon, broad chest, like first, grandly cut blaze, good tail, moons, and bars, nice level feather and condition; 3, Metcalfe, very good in all points, shade smaller only, grand condition; 4, Dr. Wilson, very like 3rd, nice condition, runs close up; vhc, Wright, nice type; hc, Fletcher; c, Haigh. BULLFINCH (7): 1, Woods, gem for condition, one of his noted winners; 2, 4, P. Walsh, grand head, A1 breast col., nearly equal in feather to first, 4th rather narrower head, A1 body and condition; 3, Dr. Wilson, chubby, fine col., good cap, and in very nice condition; vbc, B. H. Wilson; hc, Lee; c, Woodhouse. LINNET (16): 1, Lovatt and Mason, like the Manchester winner, in tip-top form to-day; 2, Stamp, fine markings, shape, and col., nice glossy condition, close up; 3, Inman, almost, if not quite, equal in all points, nicely shown; 4, P. Walsh, very nice level feathered bird, good shape, markings, and condition; vbc, hc, Marley, gives way in condition a little to-day; c, Simpson. GREENFINCH (16): A hot lot: 1, vhc, P. Walsh, lovely size, shape, col., qual., and condition, joaque; 2, Lee, fine, big, cobby buff, in very smart feather and condition; 3, Metcalfe, yell., fine substance, col., and condition, good qual., level feather; 4, Hurst, thick set buff, in fine condition, perhaps only a shade smaller than 2nd; hc, Marley; c, Inman. LESSER REDPOLL (12): 1, Marley, little gem, all there in col., shape, markings, and condition; 2, Ford, little swell, very like first, and hard to separate; 3, Hexter, rare col. and markings, not quite body of others; 4, Bishop, good body size, nice feather and condition; vhc, Scott; hc, Sawer; c, Smith. MEALY, ETC. GLASGOW EAST END O.A.

Glasgow East End O.A. held their 31st annual show, 2nd November, in the Bridgeton parish school. The room, with abundance of light and space, and nice even temperature throughout, is well adapted for show purposes. President, Mr. D. Harris; vice-president, Mr. A. McMillan; treas., Mr. John Millar; sec., Mr. Jos. Harris. Judges: Scotch Fcy., Messrs. Allerdice and J. D. Maxwell; Nor. and Bord., Mr. Jas. Laurie. The classes were small in numbers compared with former years, the members having experienced a bad breeding season in the three sections. The quality was fair. The yell. pied cock (a Paisley winner), belonging to Mr. J. C. Muir, was winner of cup and gold badge, and the yell. hen, same owner, was runner-up. They were staged in the pink of condition. In the Norwich section the cup and gold badge fell to Mr. D. Harris's variegated buff cock. In Borders the even marked buff cock, also belonging to Mr. D. Harris, winner of gold medal for best Border, is a real gem. Secretary Harris had every arrangement made for the comfort of visitors. The birds were nicely staged, and everything was in tip-top order. There was a large turn-out of visitors and fanciers. The judges' awards in the different sections gave every satisfaction.

BRECHIN.

Forty-ninth annual show, held in the Temperance Hotel, Nov. 2nd. This hall is a capital one for the purpose, being well lighted and free from draught, and the birds were well staged all round. The entry was very fair, about 350 birds being forward, and quality was of the very best. Mr. Smeaton had a grand team of Norwich on show, and captured the cup with a very nice undlighted yellow hen (we understand the Glasgow winner), and in Borders Mr. John Craig had a field day, carrying off the Border cup and B.F.C.C. medal with one of his noted clear buff cocks, and Mr. Irons won novice medal for Borders, Mr. W. Black cup for most points in wild bird section. The Executive is one of the best we have met, the President, Mr. George Davidson, being busily engaged in looking after the Borders, and the Vice-president, Mr. Stirling, also doing his part in the work, while the committee and stewards had a thorough grasp of their duties, more especially in the packing and despatching of early birds, while the whole was supervised by Mr. George Mitchell, the secretary, who, ever courteous and obliging, had all his arrangements in apple-pie order. There was a good attendance of fanciers and public, and everything went off well. The judges were: Norwich, Mr. Harris (Lochgelly); Borders, Mr. Mossie (Annbank), and Brit., Mr. Jas. Fyfe (Forfar), and their awards seemed to give general satisfaction.

GRAND ENTRY AT LIVERPOOL.

A record attendance and some splendid sections to look over. More tall Amateur classes.

The fifth annual open show was held on November 1st and 2nd in the St. Martin's Hall, an ideal place, being large, well lighted, and extremely cosy, and affording easy access to the stations. There were 250 exhibitors, and the entries totalled 953. Quality was of a very high standard. Novice and amateur classes were well to the fore—the best ever seen in Liverpool. Norwich came up well some real typical specimens being exhibited. Cinnamons were also good in number and quality, but the Novice Cinnamons did not fill as well as they might have done. Borders came up well in quality as well as in numbers. British and Mules were about as usual. The two Foreign classes only contained eight exhibits—we think if the committee would be a little more liberal with their classification in the British and Foreign sections they would receive much better patronage. Messrs. Metcalfe, Deacon and Green make ideal secretaries and show managers. Everything was in splendid order, and they got through an immense amount of work in a thorough business-like manner. They were backed up by a grand committee of hard working and willing fanciers—Messrs. Wellings, McDermott, Lloyd, Lawson, Deacon, Rowlands, Bunner, Parsons, Thornton, Walker, Howcroft, Malone and Ritchie. All did their level best to ensure complete success. The lady stewards deserve every praise for the excellent manner in which they worked; they included Mesdames F. E. Deacon, McNulty, W. R. Knowles and W. C. Robinson. CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE members were well to the fore, all showing the badge. The Wright-Crossley cup and special for best Green was won by T. Rowlands; Hydes' special, Mrs. Deacon; Ramsden's, W. R. Knowles; Magnet soap, A. Wellings. We hear the attendance was a record. Sales were very good many birds finding new owners. The judges were: Yorks., H. W. Battye; Nor., J. W. Cleminson; Borders, E. Brunskill; Mules, Brit. and For., J. Walsh; and their awards seemed to give general satisfaction, as we heard but few complaints.

The Hot-bed of the Green Canary.

Liverpool being the hot-bed of the Green Canary, naturally we expected something good being put down, and eight classes brought out a total of 140. This is not a record for the Show, but there has never been such quality, colour, and type seen in Liverpool before. We must congratulate the exhibitors for their untiring efforts in bringing the Yorkshire Green to the standard of perfection that it has attained lately. The young self buff cock is without doubt the finest specimen that has ever been benched. We note the pencilling on the majority of the exhibits does not run into the ground colour, as it used to do; there is not the Cinnamon blood being used, hence this improvement. The Amateur Greens produced 46 birds in two classes, and they compared very favourably with the champions, for type and quality, but were a little lacking in size. Some of the winners, however, were staged quite like old hands.

The Norwich Green is a variety again coming to the fore—76 in four classes. We noted new aspirants, and there is plenty of room, the winners are evenly divided, no one "scooping the pool." We are afraid the judge in this section was not in his happiest vein, some noted birds taking a "back seat." Colour does not count everything in this variety. But why grumble? It will be someone else's turn next week. We heard many inquiries for Nor. Greens, so it looks as though the Yorkshire men will have to put a few more, else they will be beaten in numbers at each Show.

The Amateurs Score Again.

The Yorks turned up well, and the honours were equally divided. Messrs. Jimmy Bailey, Joe Thomas, Chittenden, Linaker, Knowles, Dyson, Benson, Charley Robinson, and McNulty, had quite a pitched battle. Nothing stood out "on its own." The Amateurs were a fine turnout indeed, 136 in four classes; this proves the Novices are the backbone of a Show if they are catered for. Two or three sets of winners could have been found in each class; certainly there were a few "strays," but don't forget that the top sawyers were once the greenest of novices, and it is to the recruits we must look to support our shows. We noted exhibits from all parts of the country in the Novice section; this looks well.

Borders turned up in good numbers, an average of 14 over the 3 classes must have been gratifying to the management. The Greens led in numbers, and it is pleasing to note the improvement taking place every year in the type of this section of the Border; it is hardly anything behind the clears in this respect.

Among the visitors we noticed the Rev. B. Nune, from Cumberland, who is a keen fancier. The Show was packed, and there was a fine muster of the gentler sex. A host of Welsh fanciers came down with the excursion that is run for this Show. We stayed and noted the methods of the Liverpool fanciers, in despatching the exhibits. All long distance birds were in railway vans at 3.30 p.m., and all railway birds away by 6 p.m., while the Hall was in darkness at 7.30 p.m. That's smart work if you like. Prize-money and specials were all paid out at show. A cinnamon was claimed at £11, and another at £6 10s., and various Norwich at £3 3s. In the Selling Classes 80 per cent. of the birds were sold; this shows what quality was put out.

MARKINCH.

20th annual, held 2nd Nov., in Masonic Hall, which is an ideal hall for the purpose, plenty of light and free from draughts. The management was all that could be desired, everything passing off very smoothly. We found the secretary, Mr. George Mitchell, the right man in the right place. He was ably assisted by Mr. T. Gilmour, a good understudy, and a willing band of stewards—Messrs. Summers, Keddie, Lindsay, J. Thomson, T. Thomson, Danskin, and A. Buchan—not forgetting Treasurer Davidson, who one and all did their utmost. The entry was a very good one, totalling 360, an increase of 60 over last year; every section showed an increase except Borders. The quality was very good, some past winners again coming out at the top. Mr. Summers won special best young bird, bred by a member; Mr. Wm. Barclay won special for best British, with a fine Linnet, closely pressed by Mr. Pringle's winning Goldfinch. The show was well patronised by the public and fanciers from surrounding districts. Judges were: Scots Fancy, Mr. J. Watson; Borders, Mr. H. Bennet; Norwich and Crests, Mr. A. Chalmers; Mules and British, Mr. W. Connelly, who all appeared to give general satisfaction.

COLINTON & CURRIE.

First show of the Colinton and Currie Parishes O.S. held November 2, the venue being the Drill Hall at Juniper Green, which is an ideal hall, well lighted, warm, and completely free from draughts. The space, which will require to be utilised in future, may be augmented by setting back staging. The attendance being far in excess of the management's expectations, the result was that moving became a difficulty. A table on which were displayed such an array of specials as few societies can boast bore ample testimony to the desire on the part of inhabitants to encourage the hobby. These averaged about two prizes per member, and ranged from cups, gold medals, and clocks, to various specimens of ladies' handicraft in wire and wool, and even in butter. In Mr. J. Napier the society has a most courteous and able secretary, and he was ably supported by a committee who have little to learn in the art of management. The judges were: Scotch Fancies, Mr. McLennan (Edinburgh); Borders, Mr. James Hamilton (Eskbank); Norwich and Brit., Mr. Jas. Winter (Edinburgh); and all these had their work well in hand, their decisions seeming to give general satisfaction. The Hope silver vase was captured by Mr. Rodgers with a massive buff pied S.F. cock, a popular win; the Mitchell cup for best Border went to Mr. Michie with a real gem of a yellow hen; the Norwich trophy was annexed by Mr. Robertson with a buff cock of rare quality and substance; the similar honour in British section going to Mr. Johnstone for a Linnet which won rather easily.

The Critique.

SCOTCH FANCY, YOUNG YELL. CK.: 1, Begbie, pied, very nervy, good size and action. HEN: 1, 3, Rodgers, leader possessing good shoulder and drive, wins easy, latter beaten in substance, good head, hardly finished yet; 2, Begbie, excels in size, tail not down yet, good shoulder and action. BUFF CK.: 1, cup, Rodgers, pied, rare reach and substance, comes down well, popular win; 2, 3, Begbie, green leading, good action, fails top end a bit, hardly finished; 3rd, better length, loses in substance, will improve. HEN: 1, 2, 3, Begbie, leader, good length, carries tail well under, somewhat sluggish to-day; 2nd, beaten in substance, better action; 3rd, similar type; 4, Preston. BORD. FCY., CL. OR TKD. YELL. CK. (25): 1, 2, Michie, leader rare col., nice head, good wings and tail, slightly frilled on neck; 2nd, neck tick, good col., beaten head perhaps, rather leggy; 3, 4, Crabb, former better head, loses in feather and substance; 5, Williamson; 6, Johnstone; 7, Napier. HEN (21): 1, cup, 2, Michie, leader a gem for col., contour, and texture, wins well; 2nd, beaten in texture, yet a good one, nice pipe tail; 3, 6, 7, Williamson; 4, 5, Crabb. BUFF CK. (18): 1, 5, Crabb, good qual. feather, rather leggy and slim, some preferred; 2, Michie, better front and neck, nicely rounded; 3, Johnstone, beaten type; 4, Brydon; 6, Fleming; 7, Williamson; 8, Wilson. HEN (23): 1, Napier, nice one, excels feather, well packed, wins nicely; 2, 3, Michie, former heavier than leader, grand action, well put down, latter very similar type, well judged; 4, 7, Johnstone; 5, Williamson; 6, Crabb. A.O.V. YELL. CK.: 1, Robertson, wing and neck tkd., good col., rather thin; 2, Michie, nice head and body, crosses wings a little; 3, Campbell, nice one, hardly finished or would have gone up; 4, 5, Napier; 6, Daily. HEN: 1, Fleming, almost even, nice texture, rather open in wings; 2, Williams, heavier stamp, beaten in type; 3, Napier, we liked very much, a nicely moulded uneven; remainder of class, no names. A.O.V. BUFF CK.: 1, no name, mkd. both wings, good col. and texture, packs well; 2, Daily, we made a hen, nice one for qual., rather wild; 3, 4, Williams, former a bit frayed over bill and thin, might perhaps have changed places; 5, 6, Napier. HEN: We missed. The crowding the Norwich was preclusive of our taking notes, but we noticed that many of the birds were patchy in colour, due in some instances to their being hardly finished. Norwich bids fair to become the feature of this show, some of the exhibits being very cobby and typical, but a tendency to pinched heads and long barrel is very evident, even the cup winner being slightly long in wings and tail. Yell., CK.: 1, 5, Campbell; 2, 6, Preston; 3, Davidson; 4, Napier; 7, Thomson. HEN: 1, 4, 6, Campbell; 2, 3, Thomson; 5, Preston. BRIT.: These were the poorest feature of the show, and the splendid prizes offered should stimulate the members into making a better effort on next occasion. 1, trophy, 7, Johnstone; 2, Robertson; 3, 5, Scott; 4, Dickson; 6, Wilson; 8, Campbell. A.V. MULE (1): 1 Johnstone. OLD BIRDS, SCOTCH FANCY: 1, Rodger; 2, 3, 4, Begbie; 5, Campbell; 6, Smith. BORD.: 1, Michie; 2, 5, Brydon; 3, 6, no name; 4, Fleming. NOR.: 1, H. BARNSLEY AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

Members' show, held Nov. 2nd, in large Club-room at Headquarters, the Clarence Hotel, an ideal place, being roomy and well lighted. Entries came up well. Mr. W. Atherton, the assist sec., put down a splendid team of Yorks. Mr. Charlesworth's unflighted bull was the best in this section, truly a gem (send him out, Mr. C.). Messrs. Race and Toulson put down some nice exhibits. Messrs. E. Thorpe and Lister staged some rattling Norwich, which should do well in open. Mr. W. Rapson, our worthy chairman, staged a nice team of British. Winners of most points: Yorks., Mr. W. Atherton, 56; Nor., Mr. E. Thorpe, 60; Brit., Mr. W. Rapson, 19. Mr. J. Overend placed the cards, and his awards were well received, he taking great pains with the birds. The show was better attended on this occasion by local fanciers. Next show in the same place on Nov. 30. I appeal to all local fanciers to join the society. I heard that we are likely to enrol some champion Norwich exhibitors; may it be true. I advise members to enter more birds in the selling classes, as there were several visitors to claim some birds. I invite local fanciers to attend meeting, Nov. 9th, at the Clarence Hotel (private room), at 7.30 p.m.

MATLOCK.

The Palace of the Peak show, as this society calls it, held October 31, was hardly such a success as it might have been, many classes having to be cancelled. We cannot understand this at such a well-managed show. The Victoria Hall, in which the show was held, is a fine place for a show. The birds were splendidly staged, and looked after in the very best manner. Norwich were a nice collection, and of fair quality. Yorks. were not so good, and one of the classes had to be cancelled. Mules and Hybrids were fair. Mr. W. Vardy judged. The society have a fine secretary in Mr. G. Poyser, who was ably assisted by a hard-working committee.

The Critique.

RAMSGATE.

First open Show held October 30 and 31 at Brockman's Restaurant, Harbour Parade. For a first effort the Show was a pronounced success, both as regards quality and entry; and a more delightful room for such an exhibition could not possibly have been chosen. It was splendidly lighted, and directly overlooking the broad expanse of Harbour, where the sad sea waves danced in their mad play, while the birdies sang merrily and peacefully a refrain to the ocean's wild music. The arrangements could not have been surpassed, and the committee are to be congratulated upon the way in which they were carried out. Councillor J. W. Chapman is the president; W. Thornton, Esq., hon treas.; Mr. A. Afrigan makes an excellent secretary; and the following gentlemeu as committeemen did yeoman service:—Messrs. F. Thomas (chairman), J. Thomas, A. Fassam, E. G. Kew, T. W. Brown, H. T. Wellard, and J. W. Burgess. The competition was very keen in many classes of the open section, and the members staged some really tip-top birds. Bearing in mind that it was a first effort, the list of specials was a highly creditable one. An interesting item in the programme was the presentation of a Goldfinch and cage to the president, on the occasion of his opening the Show, as a mark of the committee's appreciation of his interest in the Society. The birds were judged by Mr. Geo. Gardner, whose awards appeared to give general satisfaction.

Members' classes were excellent in point of quality, many good birds being shown, and the competition was very keen in some classes. The members are to be highly complimented upon their first effort, and they have done well to establish the Society at a time when the Fancy was "going down to the deeps" in Ramsgate. The display in the members' section was a credit to any Society, but space forbids a lengthened critique of the exhibits. YORKS: 1, sp., 2, 3, vhc, c, sp., Wellard; bc, Fasham. NOR. CL. YELL. LEICESTER.

The thirteenth annual show of the Leicester Hand-in-Hand C.B.S. was held Nov. 2 and 4, and proved a great success, the entries being up on last year, and the quality all round was most excellent. Norwich, as usual at this fixture, made a great display, and the competition in most of the classes was very keen, the local fanciers holding strong hands. Members' classes contained many excellent specimens that would give a good account of themselves at many open shows, and, judging from the enthusiasm displayed by the younger members, we should think the society is in a most healthy and vigorous condition. British and Mule classes contained many gems, and the competition was very keen. The exhibits were nicely staged, and had the best of care and attention from a strong committee of genuine fanciers. Mr. A. Freestone makes a most capable secretary, and is most courteous and obliging to one and all. Mr. J. H. Payne judged Canaries; Mr. R. J. Howe, Mules, British, and Foreign.

EVESHAM.

Show, held October 31, in connection with the annual Chrysanthemum Show, and made an attractive display, which proved of great interest to the many visitors. Quality was first class, all the winners being birds of much merit. They were nicely staged, and were well looked after. As usual, Miss Burlingham and Mr. G. Walton did their best to make everything pass off as smoothly as possible. We were pleased to see a local exhibitor top the Yorkshire class with a smart unflighted yellow, which also captured two specials. Mr. G. Witts again was at the helm, and proved a capable and courteous official. Mr. J. H. Payne judged.

GRANTHAM.

2nd annual show, held October 31st. The Auction Mart, Finkin Street, is a room of fine size, good light and centrally situated. President is H. G. Sowden, Esq., vice presidents are Sir A. Priestley, M.P., and B. C. Thompson, Esq. The entry exceeded last year's number by about 20, and no doubt would have still been better had not so much clashing of shows been in evidence. Yorks. were a very choice collection, Messrs. Ogden Bros. and L. Dykes staging some eye openers, and providing a study for the "Ginger Breads," as to what to breed up to. Norwich also were of very fine merit, Messrs. F. Fox, Keech and Son, E. Wilcox, J. Baker, W. Ratcliffe, and F. Lockton placing on view some "good 'uns." Selling classes once again contained many bargains. Lizards, as pretty as paint, were greatly admired, notable "stables" were represented, viz., Messrs. J. Rukin, E. Ollerenshaw, F. Harner, Barker Clegg, and W. P. Barnes. Crests were not numerous, but grand, and Mules pleased not a little, Messrs. G. Edwards and T. Simpson claiming the plums. British in more cases than one captivated, and when one mentions such names as Messrs. S. H. Mays, W. Woods and E. Cowperwaite, this points towards "nuts" being present. Foreign added tone, the pair of Paradise Whydahs that won (unfortunately no name in catalogue) were in great order. The stewards, Messrs. E. Bond, W. Cryer, H. Parsons, W. Ratcliffe, Ward, H. Lowther, F. Lockton, Turner, Maxlow, and W. Bond, all worked with a will, and a more genuine lot of fellows we need never wish to meet; all are worthy assets. Treasurer E. Bond is the right man in the right place, and in Mr. W. E. Allen the society have a superb and hard-working secretary, and one who knows the correct manipulation of a show to a nicety. Every praise is due to him for the great exertions he put forth on behalf of his colleagues. Staging was neatness itself, every bird could be seen at a glance. Management throughout most excellent, and no fancier need fear to place their most valued specimens under the care of this society. The members are every one true fanciers. Specials: OPEN: E. Barker, Crest; J. Rukin, G. Liz.; F. Ollerenshaw, S. Liz.; G. Edwards, Mule; S. H. Mays, best Gold or Bullfinch. MEMBERS: Best Nor., W. Ratcliffe; Nov. Nor., W. H. Bond; Soft-bill, F. Brewin; Mule, ditto. Mr. J. C. Barnes (Sheffield) judged, and his awards were well received.

CLEATOR MOOR.

Away in the distant pit districts of Cumberland are to be found some of the most earnest and best of fanciers, and such a place is Cleator Moor, which has long been known as a veritable hotbed of the Fancy. At the show which was held in the Market Hall on November 2nd, a most excellent lot of birds were brought together, the entry being in excess of last year, and the quality splendid right through. Most admirably were the birds staged, and attended to by the members of the committee, who are, one and all, the keenest of fanciers, men who know how to run a show and do it. Mr. B. Gray, the chairman, is a host in himself, and his efforts were most admirably seconded by Mr. J. G. Sumpton, treas., and supported by Messrs. Thos. Adair, Jackson, Sumpton, jun., Jos. Whalley, C. Adams, R. Fowler, P. Branney, D. McLarten, J. and G. Bainbridge, J. Keough and S. Byrne. Mr. J. E. Byrne, the secretary, is a most admirable official, and nothing was wanting on his part to make things move easily and quickly. To his energy and urbanity much of the success achieved was due. Seven classes of Yorks., headed the list, and a grand, sleek, well-feathered, stylish lot they were, particularly the team shown by Mr. Stewart. This gentleman had quite a field day, winning six of the seven first prizes. Mr. House passed a bird of Mr. Douglas's in the Tkd. Yellow class as being a Buff. Yet this bird has won as a yellow under three different judges. It is certainly very hot in colour, but is decidedly mealed on the head, neck, and upper part of its body. The decision was much discussed. Many a good Mule has been turned out in this district, but the old hands who used to give a lifetime to their efforts to produce a clear Mule are not now so numerous. Only eight birds were staged here, and not a Light one amongst them, but the winning Darks of Messrs. Bertram and Baines, and Sumpton Bros. were good. British were a very interesting collection, and competition was keen. The Goldies were hardly ready, but they made a grand class, quite the best we have seen this season. Linnets were really wonderful. Never have we seen two finer classes, or classes in which the birds were so close together. Not only in colour and marking, but also in shape and size they were most excellent. Some of the Greenfinches were much too hot in col. A Greenfinch should bear some resemblance to its name. The variety class was headed by a magnificent Chaffinch, followed hard by a Bramble of wonderful colour and marking, its spangling coming well down. The special for most points in show was won by Messrs. Sumpton Bros., who scored 93, Mr. Jas. Stewart taking second with 88. Mr. C. A. House judged, and his decisions were well received.

The Critique.

YORKS., YELL. FELLING AND DIST. F. AND F.S.

This newly-formed society held their first evening members' show, Oct. 26th, at Headquarters, The Blue Bell Hotel, High Felling. The room is well lighted, and the cage birds had a roomy corner all to themselves. A large number of fanciers were present. Mr. W. Stockton judged, and his awards were well received. YORKS. (6): 1, 2, res, vhc, Burrell; 3, hc, Hunter. NORWICH (13): 1, 2, 3, Bainbridge; res, vhc, Still; hc, Clark. CREST OR C.-B. (5): 1, 3, Rustin; 2, res, Arnold. HYBRID (2): 1, O'Neil; 2, Armstrong. BRITISH (4): 1, Armstrong; 2, Stell; 3, Arnold. If fanciers only put their shoulder to the wheel they can make this society one of the strongest in the North.

MANNINGHAM.

The third show of the season, Oct. 30, at Headquarters, Mr. R. Halliday judged, and his awards gave satisfaction. Mr. J. Newton won special for best bird with his yellow hen. Mr. H. BORDER CITY (Carlisle).

A capitally arranged and well managed fixture, the 4th annual exhibition of the above society, lost nothing by comparison with previous efforts. The hall in which the show was held on Oct. 30 and 31, is in every way well adapted for the purpose, being roomy, comfortable, and splendidly lighted by day from the roof. Entries, taken all round, came up well, the worst supported section being the York-shire. 10 open classes, including 2 limit, were scheduled, and out of these four classes were can-celled, the remaining six averaged seven entries per class. Why cannot the local exhibitors of Yorks. patronise the county shows? Borders were well re-presented, both numerically and in quality, as several of the prominent leading exhibitors had teams forward, an average of 15 birds over the 14 classes being extremely good. The Norwich, and British were also good. The foreign section, though not large in numbers, contained exhibits worth going a long way to see. The silver challenge cup for best bird in show was awarded an exhibit in this section, the lovely Sugar Bird belonging to Mrs. T. Taylor, Gateshead. The committee comprise Messrs. G. Davidson (chairman), T. Holmes, Jos. Robson, H. C. Palfrey, W. Wilson, R. Thomlinson, G. Higgins, I. Robson, jun., D. Bunting, C. Cubby, Fred Bell, W. Davidson, J. Chapplow, Frank Bell, and W. Dixon. Mr. John C. Bell, an enthusiastic supporter of the foreign section, makes an ideal secretary, and in conjunction with Mr. T. J. Rob-son as show manager, and also Mr. G. Davidson (chairman), spared themselves in no way to ensure a successful show. The judges were Messrs. J. Rob-son and A. Brown (Canaries), and W. Nicholson (Brit. and Foreign).

MAIDSTONE.

The manner in which our Maidstone friends are supported by the fanciers in the district is proof that the management is not only good, but they merit the goodwill of the Fancy. Considering this show is open to a radius of only 6 miles, and is the 23rd annual, the numbers and quality of the exhibits were far above the average. Mr. Day, the affable and courteous hon. sec., with his hard-working committee, gave genuine satisfaction to all concerned. Mr. A. E. Enfield judged.

METROPOLITAN C.B.A.

The members of the Met. C.B.A. held another of their successful annual exhibitions on Nov. 2, at the All Saints' Parochial Hall, Battersea Park, which was kindly lent for the occasion by the Rev. H. G. Hills. There was a very good entry, and the birds were well staged and carefully attended to. Yorks. were a very fine lot, the majority being ex-ceptionally level in type and quality. Mr. E. Tebbs secured special for best bird with a grand yell. of good type and size, well drawn and with fine wings, and hot in colour. This is no doubt one of the best he has bred. Runner up was a buff hen, same owner, of lovely quality, but hardly so nicely drawn. Other good birds were staged by Messrs. King, Mall, More, etc. Norwich were hardly so good as in former years, although some nice specimens were staged. Special went to a beauty, a varieg. hen of short cobby build, with good head and wings, shown by Mr. F. J. Martin. Mrs. Thynne sent in a very fine team of "wee gems," and secured the special with a buff cock of neat build, a beautifully modelled young bird that should do well later on. The novice section was hardly so well filled as usual, but many of the birds staged were of good type and quality. British made up a nice collection. Mr. Denman makes a good secretary, indeed, and had everything in order. He had good assistance from Mr. and Mrs. Thynne, Messrs. Tebbs, More, Martin, etc. The winners of silver cups for most points at young bird and annual shows were as follows:—Champion Canary, Mrs. Thynne; novice, Mr. J. W. Burgess; Brit., Mr. Walker.

THE LAST FARTHING

In superb value is assured you by purchasing your catching appliances from me. Only practical men who thoroughly understand their work are employed by me, and no expense is spared to insure every article being of highest possible value and service. To test the truth of this statement I cordially invite any person to have any of my catching appliances on approval, put them to every reasonable test against those obtained from elsewhere at higher prices, and if mine are not far better value smash them up, and I will refund every penny of your money. Surely this will convince even the most sceptical person that my goods are what I claim for them. Clap nets made from superfine thread netting, ½in. mesh, 3 yards long, 5½ft. deep, and 4ft. fly, 4s. pair; ditto 4 yards, 5s.; 5 yards, 6s.; 6 yards, 7s.; 7 yards, 8s.; 8 yards, 9s.; 9 yards, 10s.; 10 yards, 11s. all per pair. Clap nets consist of two nets to the pair, each net guaranteed of above stated size, and are fitted complete with all pegs, poles, lines, etc., ready for immediate use. Loose thread netting as used in above clap nets ½in. mesh, 7ft. deep, 3d. yard; 9ft. deep, 4d. yard; 12ft. deep, 5d. yard. Extra stout netting 5-8 mesh, for use on rough ground and on sparrow nets, 10ft. deep, 5d. yard, all post free. Batfolding sparrow nets, fitted on 15ft. bamboo poles, 5s. 6d.; ditto, on 19ft. poles, 6s. 6d. complete. Lark nets, ready lined and geared, 15yds. by 12ft., 12s.; ditto, 20yds., 17s.; ditto, 30yds., 24s. complete. Lark netting, 1¼in. mesh, 12ft. deep, 4d. yard, post free. Self-acting spring net traps,, 24 by 18in., 1s. 2d.; ditto, 18 by 14in., 11d. post free. Please note these traps are entirely different to the old-fashioned board traps, they can be baited for hard and softbill at same time, and call bird can be used inside them if desired. Single trap cages, 6d. each, 5s. dozen; double ditto, 1s. each, 9s. 6d. dozen; treble ditto, 1s. 3d. each, 11s. dozen, all with separate compartment for call bird in addition to the traps stated. LARK, WAGTAIL, PIPIT, Etc.

Thirty-four Coloured Plates in all.

Reasons why you must own this New Book on Cage Birds.

Because it tells you how to make a success of your Birds; how to select them; how to feed and treat them; how to breed from them; and—if you go in for owning valuable specimens—how to wash and dress them for Exhibition, and how to care for them while they are at the Shows.

This book tells you when to mate your Canaries, when to breed, when to feed; when to doctor them, and when to let them alone; when to strengthen your stock, and when to weed out the poorer birds; when to buy and when to sell.

There is an Index of some 600 items in which you can turn up in an instant any point relating to your birds on which you need guidance. At the same time the sections are written by such genuine Bird lovers and practical Fanciers that they prove interesting reading for everyone who is concerned with Cage Birds and who opens these pages at random and reads right on.

The book is admirably planned, so as to help the beginner equally with the experienced breeder. Each section begins at the beginning of the subject it deals with, and all the processes are clearly explained. With this book at hand many an owner of only one or two birds will be led into the delightful hobby of Canary Breeding.

And it gives the result of years of patient experiment on the part of specialists in this difficult business of Canary breeding, and embodies rules for success that have never before been published. So that "Canaries and Cage Birds" is equally necessary for the man who has been long at Canary Breeding. It will tell him all about the crosses that have never yet been accomplished, and help him to excel in those points he is most uncertain about.

"Canaries and Cage Birds" is the newest, the best, and the fullest work on the market, dealing with this important subject of Canary breeding. It covers the whole wide field of information concerning British Birds in Cages.

Read what the men who have bought it say:

Mr. BARKER, East Ham, writes :—
"Canaries and British Birds safely. I am well satisfied. I think there is as much here as anyone could wish to know."

Mr. BRYANT, Acton, London :—
"Best work on this subject I have ever seen."

Mr. WEST, Barton-on-Humber :—
"I think no Fancier can do well without it."

Mr. J. LAMBIE, Old Huntingfield, Midlothian :—
"The Plates are grand and are a big help to young fanciers."

Mr. BENYON, Clydach, Rhondda Valley :—
"I have no hesitation in recommending it to young breeders as essential. Without doubt the most complete work of its kind."

Mr. H. HANCOCK, Bursiem :—
"I think the book a great help and well worth the money."

Mr. RALPH HARRISON, Whitley Bay :—
"The book to make Breeding a success—complete in every department."

Mrs. BERTRAM, Christchurch, Hants :—
"I have found it of the greatest use, while the Illustrations are of value to the novice and the expert alike. The sections dealing with Hybrids is especially commendable, and should prove of service to fanciers."

Mr. McLINDEN, Dublin :—
"It commends itself to the past master in bird keeping, and is invaluable to the amateur, for it is written in such simple language. The chapters on Rearing and Pairing are very explicit, and the coloured plates are, to my mind, simply superb."

Mr. MILES, Colne :—
"A most valuable work, instructive alike to the novice and to those more learned in the fancy.

JUST ARRIVED

First consignment for this season of the real Siberian Goldfinches, all in magnificent plumage and condition and full song, price 5/- and 6/- each, seven for 28/-; few extra large exhibition specimens, with big, broad skulls, deep square expansive blaze, rich tanning, well mooned and buttoned, and fit to win immediately, 7/6 and 10/- each. Please note, these birds must not be confused with the ordinary Russians imported in boxes and sold as Siberians. My birds come direct from Siberia in single wicker cages, and no dealer in England is allowed to pick them before I have been through them myself. The winner at last Scottish National was sold by me. I have sold more winners than any man alive during the past 21 years. All sent on approval on receipt of cash or deposit system of this paper, and money returned in full if every satisfaction not given. To ensure getting the genuine Siberian birds send to the actual importer:

HARRY ALLEN, THE ORIGINAL LINNET KING

and champion of all champions. Patronised by all the Linnet clubs throughout England. Real St. Andreasburg Rollers, the pride of England, with pure hollow rolls and any amount of changes, 8/6, 10/6; and the real Schoolmaster, unbeatable, 12/6. There have been two at this price deposited with the Editor of "C.B.," one in Ireland and the other in Cheshire, and the deposit was handed to me within three days. They said the Canaries were the best they had ever heard, which goes to show I deal in nothing but the purest of blood. Try one. Real Siberian cock Goldfinches, with deep, square cut, scarlet blaze, perfect type, 5/-, 6/6, 7/6, and real winners for the bench. Real English Peartree cock Goldfinches, the largest in England, 3/-, 3/6; nice prize-winners for the bench, 4/6. My English and Siberian Goldfinches have swept the deck in all open shows. Linnets for the bench. My A1 specials have won at all the leading shows, 2/-. I have a grand lot in, and one that can win anywhere, 5/-, a topper. Bullfinches, the largest in England, perfect cap and bib, 3/-; sure prize-winners, 4/6. The Bullfinch I sold got first prize in a very strong class. Larks, for the bench, sure winners, 2/6. I sold the Lark that won 2nd prize at Rotherham. Now I have one, a real topper, can win anywhere, 4/-. Larks, singing daylight and gaslight, steady as rocks, 1/-, 1/6, and 2/-; a few hand-reared ones, will sing anywhere, 3/6; and one, a real gem, with quality notes, 4/6; Linnets, taught by the champion Linnet of the world, sing indoors or out, right for catching or contest singing, with new cage, and my book of secrets, 3/6: and one, a real champion, 4/6; two house-moulted Linnets, winners of 20 first prizes, with beautiful quality notes, singing very hard, 10/6 each. I am the only dealer that can supply this class of bird. Beautiful cock Siskins, 5/-; Yellowhammers, Greenfinches, and Chaffinches, for the bench, 1/- each. Hundreds of British and Foreign birds in stock; no waiting. Only honest dealing done with me. No waiting, plenty in stock. No waiting, so send to your old friend: Harry Allen, Bird Specialist and Judge, City Aviaries, 40, Beckett-st., Leeds. (223)

THERE'S ONLY ONE

best, and the best Roller on the market to-day is undoubtedly the Leipzig Roller, as imported by me. I want you to prove the truth of this statement by having a Leipzig Roller from me on trial, and an ordinary Roller from elsewhere at any higher price; test them side by side for a week, and if in your opinion and the opinion of any Roller judge you like to ask, mine is not by far the best value at a lower price, return it to me, and I will instantly refund the whole of your out of pocket expenses. By accepting this offer you cannot possibly lose one penny. I am by far the largest retailer of Roller Canaries in United Kingdom, and this trade has been built up solely by the merits of the birds themselves, and not by lavishly displayed advertisements. I import the birds direct, and am sole importer of Weber's Leipzig Rollers, therefore am enabled to sell birds at far less price than others. At present time I have a splendid stock of these Leipzig Roller cocks in full song day and gaslight, with long, hollow rolls, sweet silvery trills, waterbubble runs, soft roulades, piccolo trill, jug-jug of Nightingale, bell, harp, gong, and flute notes, etc., etc., and warranted entirely free from any harsh or objectionable notes, whatever; price, 6/6 and 7/6 each. Special Bandmasters, which excel in the deep bass and hollow bell rolls, 10/-, and 12/6 each. Hens, guaranteed same strain, 2/- each, 3/6 couple. I have also a splendid stock of loud free singing Hartz cocks (often sold as Hartz Mountain Rollers by unscrupulous dealers), in full, loud, vigorous song day and gaslight, just the thing for public bars or coffee houses, where plenty of loud, noisy song is required, 5/- each, seven for 29/9. All are safely and warmly packed in special travelling cages, with food and water to last 48 hours, free of extra charge, and sent on full week's trial at my sole risk during whole time, either on receipt of cash or "Cage Birds" deposit system, and unless birds prove all I say they are and realise your every expectation, the whole of your money is promptly and cheerfully refunded. Following few letters are entirely unsolicited and full address is given so that any sceptical person may make every enquiry as to their genuineness. "16, Brynteg-terrace, Merthyr Vale, Oct. 23. Sir,—Received birds safe and healthy this morning, and I can tell you I am fully satisfied as they are fine birds and well worth money.—Yours, J. Williams." "Rose Vale Cottage, Windsor-st., Rhyl, Oct. 22nd. Sir,—Very pleased with Roller, which arrived safe, and is doing well. Please send another for enclosed P.O.—Yours, W. Griffiths." "56, Belgrave-st., Nelson. Sir,—I would like you to know about Roller cock you sent me in January. He is a knockout for song. He has sung at 2.30 a.m. this summer, and I have had him singing at midnight. In fact, I can get him to sing any time. He is now moulting, but still gives us a tune. Double the price I paid won't buy him.—Yours, S. Addy." "10, St. Andrew-st., Dublin, Oct. 20th. Sir,—The Leipzig Roller I got from you two years ago is better than ever; he is doing so well and in such grand song that I have been offered twice as much as I paid for him, but will not part.—Yours, T. Henry." "26, Nelson-st., Low Moor, Clitheroe, Oct. 18. Sir,—Please send me one of your world-famed Leipzig Rollers, price 7/6. I had one of your Rollers before, and was well satisfied with it. I have had a little experience with Rollers, and can assure you if I get one as good as last I shall be well repaid.—Yours, R. Hitchin." "6, Fell Avenue, Blaydon-on-Tyne, Oct. 25th. Sir,—Birds arrived safe and sound, with which I am delighted. They are two splendid birds, and I could not wish for better. Please send following.—Yours, Geo. Robson." "Halberton, Tiverton, Oct. 5th. Sir,—Roller cock I had from you last year is a beauty, and giving great satisfaction.—Yours, W. Harris." "7, Primrose Hill, Northwich, October 10.—Sir,—Received pair Canaries safe and in good health. They are two nice birds, and I am well satisfied.—Yours, S. Lyons." "20, Tuson-st., Preston, Lancs., Oct. 23. Sir,—Please send one Leipzig Roller cock and 5 hens for enclosed P.O. I have been well recommended to give you my order.—Yours, F. Ridding." "3, Blawarthill-st., Yoker, Glasgow, Oct. 26. Sir,—Bird arrived quite safe, and in best condition, and I am very pleased with it. Thanking you for prompt attention.—Yours, J. Cooper." "I have hundreds of similar testimonials, all open for inspection any time. Please note I am the only importer of this strain of Rollers, and all cocks are stamped on wing "Hans Weber, Leipzig." Save all dealers' profits by sending orders direct to me. (See British Bird and Appliance columns for other advertisement.)

CHAMPION YORKSHIRES

WE HAVE THEM AND WE'LL SELL THEM which is proved by the champions we have bred, sold and exhibited for over 30 years, winning thousands of prizes, championships, cups, bowls, medals, etc., at leading shows throughout England, including three times championship Crystal Palace. This season we have supplied some of the biggest champions out, which are winning leading shows. It is a well-known fact that exhibitors keep the best for themselves, but as we cannot follow the shows, all our winners are for sale, including some real gems, fit for Palace or swell shows; also clinking lot of stock birds, the best money can buy, possessing plenty of length, full of style, and feather like wax, the sort that do breed champions. Cocks or hens, yellow or buff, from 7/6, 10/6, 15/-, 20/-, 30/- each; approval; we guaranteed satisfaction, or return money in full: Messrs. Ambler, Langton Lodge, Scotton, near Knaresboro, Yorkshire. (211)

5 Specials. 9 Firsts. 3 Seconds. 7 Thirds.

The above is the record of my wins on Saturday, November 2nd, 1912. Every bird shown at champion shows, and in the hottest competition. See reports of Blaydon, Sheffield, Liverpool, and Leicester.

Mr. E. Davies, Ventnor House, Tenby, writes:—Nov. 9, 1912.—I am very pleased with the Yorkshire cock. I won second prize with him at the show. Another client writes from London, dated Nov. 11, 1912:—I won First and 2 Seconds at our show with the birds, and am well pleased with them.

The originals of these and hundreds similar are filed here for the inspection of all visitors.

I have now for sale a number of Grand Lengthy Yorkshire Cocks, feathered to perfection, and on full song, at 6/6, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/-, 12/6 each upwards. Hens, smart, erect, racy birds, and feathered like wax, at 3/-, 4/-, 5/-, 7/6, 8/6, 10/- each upwards. Matched pairs, correctly mated for breeding winners, at 8/6, 10/-, 12/6, 16/-, 17/6, 20/- per pair upwards. Clears, Ticked, Marked, Greens and Cinnamons in stock, ready for immediate delivery.

NORWICH PLAINHEADS.

SHACKLETON'S CHAMPION YORKSHIRES

have won thousands of prizes and specials at all the leading shows in the kingdom. At the Crystal Palace I have won 6 championships, and over 30 first and special prizes. Birds bred and sold by me during the last 10 years have won hundreds of prizes and specials for their owners at all leading shows, and again this season my clients are taking leading honours all over the country, thus proving beyond question that this strain stands pre-eminent as the best and most reliable strain in the Fancy. I have for disposal some really grand birds, fit to win in the keenest competition; also some suitable for small shows and novice classes at reasonable prices. Properly matched pairs from 15/6, 20/-, 25/-, 30/-, 40/- upwards; single birds in proportion; satisfaction guaranteed or money returned in full; approval, cash or deposit: W. H. Shackleton, Melrose Aviaries, Lytton-rd., Girlington, Bradford, Yorkshire. (10)

QUALITY WINS

Do you want to improve your stock? if so, get the best. If you are a beginner, be sure you start with good quality birds. They are always the best, therefore the cheapest. Do not be misled by unshapely crossbreds, but have reliable pure bred birds, on seven days' approval at my risk, so that you may judge the value I give. I have had many years' experience, and supplied many winners to my customers. I have none reserved; every bird is for sale; that accounts for my customers doing so well. My Yorkshires are all bred from the very best of high-class exhibition birds, full of quality, of standard length, light in feather, etc. Cocks, on song, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6 each; hens, 3/-, 3/6, 4/-, 4/6 each; matched pairs, properly mated to breed the right stuff, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-. I have some real fine Norwich, same price as Yorkshires. Remember I send all my birds to you on 7 days' approval at my sole risk. Illustrated price list, post free: E. L. Storey, Bird Specialist, Crowle, Doncaster.

PARROT PROBLEM

solved. For full proofs send postcard at once for my large book, "Parrot Prattle." This is the most wonderful book ever offered free of all charge to all Parrot fanciers. (This "Parrot Prattle" is registered copyright, and all infringers and imitators will be proceeded against). It contains hundreds of testimonials from all parts with full names and addresses, many interesting facts, and gives valuable advice and hints to all Parrot buyers. Full details of our original system of selling Parrots on four weeks' trial, at our risk, which we were the first to introduce. We sell Parrots of all descriptions on four weeks' trial, at our risk, before settlement. Cheapest and best in the Kingdom, and any Parrot sold by us and not giving full satisfaction, will be exchanged any time within twelve months. Remember we lead and others try to follow. Write to other dealers as well as us, and judge for yourselves. Lists of Parrots for sale and above book post free on receipt of postcard. Telephone No. 40 Morecambe.

Club Reports.

TREDEGAR AND DIST. C.B.S.

Meeting held Nov. 7, at the Silver Grill. Mr. E. Powell in the chair. There was a good attendance to discuss business of forthcoming open show, Jan. 2, 1913. Classification was approved as follows:—Crests 2, Nor. 7 (2 Nov.), Yorks. 7 (2 Nov.), Bord. 2, Brit. 6 (1 for hens), Mules 1, For. 1, Sell. 2, Members 1. Mr. J. W. Metcalfe, of Liverpool, will judge. We hope fanciers will support our first venture. W. B. Watkins, Sec.

EDINBURGH WESTERN O.S.

Annual meeting held in Riego St. Hall, Nov. 7, the president, Mr. D. Burgess, presiding over a good gathering of members. The balance sheet for 1911-1912 showed the club to be in a very satisfactory condition, there being a balance to carry over to next year. The auditors reported everything in good order, and the balance sheet was unanimously approved. The following officials were duly elected for next year:—Hon. pres., Mr. C. Lyell, M.P.; hon. vice-pres., Mr. D. B. Campbell; pres., Mr. T. Ballantine; vice-pres., Mr. D. Burgess; sec. and treas., Mr. C. Grant; committee, Messrs. G. Cockburn, J. Reid; auditors, Messrs. J. Bowman, J. Prondfoot. The retiring officials received a very hearty vote of thanks.—Charles Grant, Sec., 54, Eyre Place.

NATIONAL GREEN-MARKED Y.C.C

Meeting held Oct. 12, at the Manningham Show. Mr. W. A. Cowgill presided over a well attended meeting. The following were elected members: Mr. S. Midgley, C. E. Hall, O. Atkinson, J. Harney. A letter was read from Mr. J. W. Ramsden, manager of the Palace Show, saying that his committee had decided to provide only three classes for green marked Yorks., viz., two classes for C.M. cocks, and one for G.M. hens (yellows and buffs). The letter was fully considered, and it was decided that if the Palace Committee cannot provide the four classes, we shall be reluctantly compelled to withdraw our patronage from the show. Since the above meeting I have written Mr. Ramsden, and he has replied saying that his committee cannot provide the four classes, so will members please note that the patronage of the N.G.M.Y.C.C. will not be at the Palace 1913.—E. Clegg, Hon. Sec. and Treas.

SUNDERLAND C.B.A.

Meeting held Nov. 9. Mr. J. Farrer presided over a good attendance. Business in connection with open show on Jan. 17 and 18 was before the meeting, and it was decided to give a cash special to every class. It is hoped also to give a special to every section. The classification for members was considered; agreed to give 28 classes, making a total of 68 classes. Tickets are now ready, and I hope every member will consider it his duty to sell as many as possible. Messrs. Hunt and J. Riseborough will give 5s. to the person selling the largest number. I am now preparing the schedule, and will be glad to know what specials and subscriptions are promised. Prospects for our show are very favourable, but it depends upon every individual member doing his utmost to make it a success. There are some members' subscriptions still unpaid, which should have been paid by July. Please let me have them. Next meeting, Nov. 23, when we have further show business to consider. Please attend.—J. Jeffrey, Sec.

NORTHERN BORDER & S.F.C.C.

Meeting and table show, held Nov. 4, at Pillar's Cafe, Mr. W. Smith in the chair. A grand entry of 46 birds was made, this being a record. It was proposed that Mr. Duncan be asked to judge our pair show, to be held after the turn of the year. Mr. Greenwell moved, Mr. J. Craig seconded, that a table show be held at our next meeting. Mr. T. Chapman to be asked to judge champion section, and Mr. J. Craig the novices. The winners at the table show were: Class 1: 1, 4, Smith; 2, Montgomery; 3, Johnston; vhc, Espie. Class 2: 1, Montgomery; 2, Johnston; 3, Smith; 4, Craig. Class 3: 1, Greenwell; 2, vhc, Johnston; 3, c, Montgomery; 4, Smith; vhc, Craig. Class 4: 1, hc, Johnston; 2, vhc, Montgomery; 3, 4, c, Greenwell. NOV.: Class 5: 1, Snaith; 2, Smith; 3, Beaver; 4, Affleck. Class 6: 1, 2, Beaver; 3, Smith; 4, Wilson; vhc, Affleck; hc, Snaith. Class 7: 1, Wilson; 2, Smith; 3, 4, Snaith; vhc, Affleck. Class 8: 1, 2, Affleck; 3, Beevor; 4, Smith; vhc, hc, Reed. A hearty vote of thanks accorded to the judge, Mr. C. Farrer, concluded one of the best meetings the society has ever had.—M. C. Potts.

NORTHERN YORKSHIRE C.B.S.

Meeting and table show held Oct. 30. Mr. Cattell was elected to the chair, while Mr. Crawhall was occupied in judging the birds. Mr. Kennerson, of Sunderland, and Mr. McCarthy, Newcastle, were elected members. The table show was very poorly supported, champion section bringing two entries only, while the novices did not come up to their usual numbers. This may be accounted for by the fact that we are in the thick of the open show competitions, and members do not care to risk bringing out the birds at night. It was decided that we provide novice classes only at our next table show, Nov. 20. Mr. Cattell to judge. Our president, Mr. Crawhall, will give 2s. 6d. for best bird, as an inducement to members to make a good entry. Special attention of members is directed to our next meeting, when the question of Ramsden's special will come up for discussion, as through oversight, same was not judged for at Blaydon show. Awards:—CHAMP., HEN: 1, 2, Dix. NOV., OLD BIRD: 1, Miley; 2, Willis; 3, Cattell. UNFLIG.: 1, Cattell; 2, Birrell; 3, Willis. HEN: 1, 2, Smith; 3, Cattell; 4, Birrell; vhc, Miley.—R. Tindale.

LOANHEAD C.B.S.

Financial meeting, held in Mason's Arms, Nov. 9, Mr. A. Jardine, President, in the chair. Balance sheet was read, which showed a balance of £10 2s. 2½d. for prize-money. It was agreed to pay 2s. per class, after which a balance is left in favour of the society of £1 7s. 3½d. The President congratulated the local committee and secretary for the grand progress the society was making. Looking back for six years, since the society was started, they had always paid at the rate of 6s. per class, and at the same time made up a cup fund, from which they were able this year to buy two new cups, and he was sure, with the same careful management, it would still improve. Prize money was then paid to members present. The Secretary informed the members of the very sad loss that Mr. R. H. Douglas, one of our local members, had sustained, one of his sons (Robert) dying suddenly. The members expressed their sympathy with Mr. and Mrs. Douglas, and instructed the secretary to write the sorrowing parents. New members admitted: Messrs. Watt, Moffat, Burns, Musselburgh, J. Sterling, A. Ketchen, Bonnyrigg, and Geo. Greig, Penicuik.—W. B. Smart, Secretary.

METROPOLITAN C.B.A.

Show report has a mistake in the winner of the British cup; it is Mr. Cross and Mr. Hall the runner up. Champ. cup, Mrs. Thynne, runner-up Mr. Sebbs. Novice cup, Mr. Burgess; runner-up, Mrs. Denham. Woods and Co., special; Mrs. Thynne, Mr. Stamper's special, Mrs. Thynne.—G. Denham, Hon. Sec.

PONTYPRIDD F. & F. SOCIETY.

Meeting at Victoria Hotel, Saturday, Nov. 16th, 7.30 p.m. Fanciers wishing to join should attend, when they will participate in reduced entries, the numerous money specials, and also the Federation specials. The show of Dec. 4 is under the patronage of the Welsh Cage Bird Club, and the cage birds will be staged in the commodious and comfortable Long Room, kindly sanctioned by Mr. W. C. Hinchley.—A. A. Gordon McLucas.

DERWENT VALLEY.

Meeting held Nov. 9th, at 19, High Westwood. Mr. Barkess in the chair; moderate attendance of members. Business in connection with our open show; open prize-money all paid. Specials and a members' classes settled. Members' prize-money lies over till we see how draw turns out. Will members please make every endeavour to make the latter as great a success as possible, and bring all duplicates and unsold tickets to our next meeting, December 7th.—Lindsay and Marsh.

MUSSELBURGH O.S.

Meeting held Nov. 8th, when the various specials were allotted. Mr. J. Steel, Dalkeith, acting for Mr. J. Evans, jun., handed over the handsome cup presented by that popular amusement caterer, to the society, to be awarded to the member who exhibits the best insectivorous British bird. Mr. Evans was accorded a most hearty vote of thanks, Mr. J. Currie coupling with same Mr. Steel. Schedules have been posted to all known fanciers. Any fancier having been overlooked can have one by applying to my address at 101, High-st., Musselburgh.—W. Nisbet, Sec.

HALTWHISTLE AND DIS. C.B.S.

Meeting held Nov. 11, Mr. G. H. Bowerbank in the chair; fairly good attendance. The principal business was to arrange final details for open show, Nov. 22 and 23, and everything is now in splendid order, the main thing now being for exhibitors to rally round us and let us have a thumping entry. Several of our members are sacrificing one and two days from their work, so exhibitors may rest content that their exhibits will be well cared for. Will members please let us have their entries early? This will greatly facilitate our work on the last few days.—Nicholson and Tallantyre, Hon. Secs.

VALE OF LEVEN C.B.C.

Monthly meeting, held in Village School Room, Alexandria, Nov. 7, President Hannah in the chair. Secretary submitted estimate for catalogue, which was agreed to. Hon. Vice-pres. Bell intimated that Mr. W. E. Gilmour had consented to present the prizes (which will number over 100), at 4 p.m. Secretary intimated 20s. each from Col. Brock and W. E. Gilmour, Esff., 10s. each Messrs. P. Denney, A. A. Allen, M.P., and 5s. from Mrs. Leffer Smallet, and expected others. Stewards were appointed for show, and other arrangements having been gone into, the meeting adjourned until Monday, when the various specials will be halloted, each class receiving an equal share.—A. H. McLean.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Fortnightly meeting held on Nov. 11, at the Church Institute, Paddington Street, Mr. W. A. Shepherd in the chair, Mr. Dickinson, Hon. Sec., and 27 members present. Various correspondence was read, and further specials for annual show announced as received from Mrs. Parry and Miss Edith Higgins. The gift of a silver challenge cup for competition in British classes was also received from Mrs. Page in memory of her late husband, Mr. W. Page, who was one of the most active workers in the Association. A very hearty vote of thanks was passed to the donors for their handsome gifts. Result of Yorks. judging competition was announced, but there being no many ties for the medals, final settlement was adjourned till next meeting. A washing competition then took place, for which there were four competitors, Messrs. W. Knight, Kelly, Pooley and Stiles. After a very interesting display the final judge, Mr. Oldaker, announced that Mr. W. Knight was first and Mr. Kelly second, and gave his reasons for arriving at that decision. Members plied Mr. Oldaker with questions, and his replies gave many useful hints, gained by his long experience. Very hearty thanks were accorded him for his services, and with a vote of thanks to the Chairman the meeting closed. —Fred Thynne, Assist. Hon. Sec.

SHEFFIELD O.S.

Monthly meeting, held headquarters, Nov. 5th, Mr. T. Dawn presiding. There was a good attendance of members. We had a great draw, viz., a lecture on the Yorkshire Canary, by W. Mundell, Esq., of Bradford (this able lecturer always has a good following). Mr. Mundell was in his usual jolly mood, and took us through every stage of the Yorkshire Canary. He based his remarks on his own practical experience, and everyone present heartily enjoyed the discourse, and expressed their appreciation of the knowledge gained. I heard it whispered that "Pa" likes to visit Sheffield, as he can always rely upon having a good time. One little bit of business was brought forward respecting the clashing of dates of our members' show on December 7th with the Bradford National. The matter was left in the hands of the committee to see if they could rebook hall and judge. (This has now been done, vide "Twitterings.)—A. T. Woodall.

READING AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

Monthly meeting held Palmer's Hall, Nov. 6, before a fair attendance. Some details of the cup competition were settled, after which Mr. G. H. Acton kindly gave a paper on foreign birds and their management. At the outset he emphasised that to keep them in good condition they should have thorough cleanliness and attention in all respects. Time would not permit of going through all the species, so he proposed to confine himself to the smaller varieties and give another paper on the larger foreign at another time. Then he gradually worked up from the smallest to the Cardinals, illustrating his remarks as he went along by pointing out the birds on coloured plates, which made it very interesting. Being at once hardy, inexpensive, and easy to keep, it is a pity more fanciers do not go in for them. Either in cage or aviary, they are most attractive in appearance and interesting in their habits. At the shows it is safe to find the most crowded part of the room is the foreign section. Mr. Acton had evidently taken a lot of trouble over this paper, and tried his best to make it interesting, but the scanty interest in it taken by the members present will not encourage him to try again. Prospects for the annual show on Nov. 20 are good, and we anticipate a good entry. This being the first time we have had open foreign classes, we trust that fanciers living in this district will patronise us in good numbers.—W. H. Pyke, Hon. Sec.

LANCASHIRE AND LIZARD F.A.

The following is a list of points gained by members of L. and L.F.A. at Manchester, Sheffield, and Nottingham shows in Lancashires; and Manchester, Grantham, Sheffield, and Nottingham, in Lizards:—Lancashires—Champion: G. NEWCASTLE-UPON-TYNE C.B.S.

Monthly meeting, held Nov. 7th, Mr. T. C. Crawhall in the chair. A vote of thanks was accorded the chairman, show manager, secretary, assistant secretary, and stewards for the splendid way the show was carried out. Mr. Crawhall, Mr. Atkinson, and secretary responded. Will members please note that tickets for social and dance in Co-operative Hall on Dec. 18th are 1s. 6d. each; they will be issued shortly. Let us endeavour to make this a huge success. Time, 7.30 p.m. to 1 a.m. Messrs. Potts, Atkinson, Curry and Patterson were appointed committee for social. There will be a committee meeting of the society on Nov. 28th, when I hope to be able to give an account of our late show, which has been a success financially.—J. W. Reed, Sec.

Singing Contests.

LEEDS.

PONTEFRACT.

The Pontefract Linnet Club held an open show on November 9, of housemoulted Linnets. A very good entry was made, and the quality was excellent. The winners were: 1, T. Jones, Pontefract; 2, W. Nelson, Castleford; 3, A. Longfield; 4, P. Wilson, a good runner-up. Mr. A. Towler, of Castleford, acted as judge, and carried out his duties in a very satisfactory manner, everybody being pleased with his work. This club will start with its weekly club and open contests on first Saturday in Dec., and will all and intending members please make a note of this and rally round us.—W. Beard, Sec.

ROUND THE SHOWS.

SWANSEA.

Record Entry in Yorkshires; 166 in Nine Classes; Good Management; Wonderful Quality.

12th annual show held Nov. 13th and 14th, at Workingmen's Club and Institute. A splendid schedule was issued by the society, and exhibitors responded by making a grand entry. The staging was carried out on similar lines to former years, two tiers high, neatly covered with red baize. Good wide passages were allowed, so that without the least inconvenience a good view of the wonderful array of exhibits was obtainable. This part of the arrangement was in the capable hands of Mr. Phil Jenkins, who at the last moment undertook the duties of show manager in the unavoidable absence of Mr. J. E. Jeffreys, and we must congratulate him on the able way he discharged his duties, without the slightest hitch occurring. In Mr. S. H. George the society have an ideal secretary, who simply revels in hard work, and much of the success of the show is due to him. The assistant secretary, Mr. W. H. Jenkins, is another splendid worker, and appeared to know exactly what to do and when to do it. He got through a lot of work in splendid fashion. The society have as their president F. Rocke, Esq., who has for years proved a good friend to them, and is well supported by a goodly number of influential vice-presidents. Mr. W. J. Bancroft, the popular old Rugby International full back, is the head of the working committee, and is well supported by the vice-chairman, Mr. D. J. Jenkins, and committee: Messrs. J. H. Ford, J. W. Ford, J. Gay, J. Mock, J. Steer, P. Jenkins, J. Hocking, and D. A. S. Longden. Norwich were a grand lot, very level in quality, and some fine teams were put down by Messrs. Jeremy, Lohr, Collier, Redwood, George, and others. Special for best Norwich was won by Mr. D. Jeremy's variegated buff. Yorks. were a wonderful collection, several sets of winners in most of the classes, and gave the judge a difficult task. This section was the feature of the show:—20 variegyell. cocks, 21 variegyell. hens, 26 buff hens, 30 unflighted yell., and 20 unflighted buffs. The chief spoils fell to Messrs. Ogden Bros., Knight, Hawes Bros., Crisp, Green, and Sutcliffe and Sons. Borders were well to the fore, some real stormers being staged by Messrs. D. Jenkins, Eley, Allen, Smith, Hocking, Sampson, and Johnston. Mules and Hybrids were a wonderful collection, and quite a show in themselves. Messrs. Martin and Archer winning the special for best in section with their clear Linnet Mule, "Perfection," in a class which contained probably the best Canary-Bullie living, also the noted clear Greenie-Canary. The chief awards in the section went to Messrs. Archer and Martin, Shellam, and J. J. Rees. British were a very level lot, some noted winners putting in an appearance, Messrs. Jeffreys, Bancroft, Marley, Sam Jones, Heal, and Ford, putting down some good teams. The judges were: Canaries, Mr. J. Robson; Hybrids and Brit., Mr. J. F. Dewar.

I was much surprised and pleased to see my Lesser Whitethroat's picture in CAGE BIRDS last week, writes Mr. E. Hattersley, and think it a very creditable drawing. It did very well to get second in such a strong class at Sheffield. I wish your paper the success it fully deserves.

Fanciers will be well repaid for a visit to our show, writes Mr. G. F. Crawford, hon. sec., South London C. and F.A., the same being the largest and most popular mixed members' show in London. At time of writing entries (all sections) are well on the way to 1,000, which easily beats all previous records for this club. Held Nov. 20, 2 till 10, in the Public Baths, Old Kent Road, S.E.

I have taken over the duties of secretary to the Dewsbury Society, writes Mr. L. Barker, 492, Robinson Street, and all correspondence should be addressed to me. Mr. Shaw is, we regret, leaving our district, and going to Huddersfield. Our members show will be held in the Little Saddle Hotel, Nov. 16th, birds to be staged at 3 o'clock (all contributions to be paid up to date); judge, Mr. W. Richmond, Rodley.

At Doncaster and Dist. C.B.S. annual open show (cage birds only), the committee are composed of true and experienced fanciers, and exhibitors will receive the utmost consideration—everything possible will be done for the safety and care of all exhibits. The Drill Hall is a splendid room, and we have this year greatly increased the classification, and engaged popular judges. We trust our reward, writes Mr. G. Bescoby, the sec., will be a bumping entry.

I was very pleased indeed, writes Mr. A. E. Jeffries, to see such a good report of my buff cock in your valuable paper. It is the bird which appeared on your front page, Feb. 24. He has been out four times, and has won 1st and special Norwich novice in a class of 35, 1st South Shields novice, class of 17, 3rd Middlesbrough, champion class, 4th Shildon, champion class; so now I have to retire from novice classes, as I got one first last year in novice classes. I consider I have done very well this being my second year of exhibiting. The clear yellow, which appeared with the buff, has now won 4th South Shields champion class and 4th Shildon champion class.

On taking up my CAGE BIRDS, writes Mr. Howick, Midhurst, I was greatly surprised to find on the front page the picture of my Canary-Bullfinch Hybrid. I am sure I think it a great honour; he is only five months old. His first time out was at Clapham, where he got fourth. Then first and sp. at Bromley, and first and sp. Barnstaple, first at Portsmouth, first and sp. at Leyton—4 firsts and 3 specials in succession. I bred him myself, and have gone by little hints which I have picked out of your most valuable paper from time to time. It is a paper that no fancier should be without. Even if he has only one bird he would find it a great help. Wishing you and your most valuable paper and Mr. H. N. every success.

We are asked to publish the following corrections of show reports:—At Portsmouth Mr. H. Ninness won 1st in Blackbird class, not Dell as reported; and 3rd in Crest-bred class should read Mrs. Spooner, not Broad; 3rd in Novice unflighted Yorks, should be Mellows, not Olding; Mr. Mellows also won 1st in Buff Hens, not Etheridge as in the report [Mr. Mellows' name does not appear in the catalogue, his entries being sent too late for inclusion. Ed.]; in Marked Yorks (Novice) 3rd was won by Mr. G. King, who also took 2nd in Yellow Hens, not Cooper as in report. At Liverpool, Mr. Whalley's 4th hen in the Amateur Yellow or Buff class was a clear buff, not varieg, as reported. At Markinch, in the A.O.V. Border class 3rd Bickerstaffe should be 3rd R. Lambie.

How the Redstart Wags its Tail.

Apropos of Mr. Tout's remarks published in our issue of Oct. 5, we take the opportunity of quoting from an article in the Oct. issue of the "Avicultural Magazine" on the nesting of the Black Redstart. In this the author, Mr. Teschemaker, says, "I have often seen the statement that the tail motion is horizontal. After very close observation, I have come to the conclusion that the motion is (1) generally vertical, (2) sometimes diagonal, (3) sometimes elliptical, but I have never been able to convince myself that it is ever truly horizontal. Nevertheless, it is not an easy matter to decide, because the motion is so rapid."

In the Stockton show schedule the classes for Foreign birds should read "Single or Pairs," writes Mr. J. W. Lowes, the sec.

Messrs. Lovegrove and Lovegrove write that at Highgate and Hampstead Show they had three of their birds claimed at catalogue price.

We hear that a Budgerigar, which talks fluently, is to be an attraction at the City and Suburban show this week-end (Nov. 15 and 16).

Entries for the Great Horton (Good Intent) O.S. Show will be taken at the Wesley Place Schools on Tuesday, Nov. 19th, writes Mr. H. Gornall, sec.

There will be a class for Foreign birds at Stranraer show, Dec. 13, it having been omitted from the schedule, writes Mr. McMeekan, the sec.

I see that Mr. B. Clegg is credited with having won the Novice Lizard Medal at Sheffield show, but I was the winner, writes Mr. E. Lord, Newchurch.

Mr. W. J. Douglas, hon. sec., writes that the result of the Whitehaven C.B.S. draw is as follows:—2201, 1864, 876, 2514, 879, 2333, 793, 945, 43, 701, 1457, 1505.

Mr. W. T. Dawes (60, Cobden St., Derby) writes that he would be glad if Mr. J. Radley (late Temperance Hotel, Ossett) would communicate his present address.

Special 73 in schedule of Buckhaven show should read as follows—A handsome medal for the best foreign bird in all classes—writes Mr. R. Hazzard, the hon. sec.

We hear from Mr. Clelland, hon. sec., that Mr. Sharp, Bathgate, will judge at Coaltown of Wemyss, Dec. 7, in place of Mr. Bruce, who is unable to fulfil the engagement.

The winners of the draw, which consists of singing Canaries at Blaydon Show are: 58, 1820, 1377, 936, 1791, 827, 1461, 1356, 22, 1657, 1465, 1819, writes Mr. G. Havver, the sec.

The next meeting of the Metropolitan C.B.A. is postponed, writes Mr. G. Denham, the sec., so that the members can visit the City and Suburban Society's show held today (Saturday).

Owing to a printer's mistake, it is stated in Buckie shew schedule, writes Mr. Bunyan, the sec., that it is held under the auspices of the Border Fancy Canary Club, but this is not so.

For having received back my birds in good time, and in splendid condition from Banbridge Show (247 miles), writes Mr. S. O'Reilly, Cork, I beg to thank Mr. H. McCagherty, the obliging sec.

Schedules of the South Co. Dublin Show, Nov. 28th and 29th, have been sent out. Any fancier not having received one should please write at once to the hon. sec., Mr. D. Smyth, 14, Tivoli Terrace, N., Kingston.

Exhibitors showing at Launceston on November 26th can have their birds sent to Tavistock show, Nov. 27th, carriage paid, provided they are entered by date of closing, writes Mr. N. H. Reed, hon. sec. Launceston show.

The shortage of entries is deplorable, write Messrs. Dawson and Fearn, secs. of Darley Dale Show. We have not a single one in the Cage Bird section, and make an honest appeal to exhibitors. Advertisement appears on another page.

Having been approached by the Bradford Fanciers to postpone our Members' show, which fell on December 7th, so as not to clash with the Bradford National Show, we have by the generosity of Mr. Robson, the judge, been able to do so until January 18, 1913, writes Mr. T. Bishop, hon. sec. Sheffield O.S. We have fixed Nov. 7 and 8, 1913, for our All-England Show; will secs. kindly note.

On the return journey from our show, write Messrs. King and Joiner, exhibits were collected and conveyed to Portsmouth Town Station at the society's expense, thus no extras should have been charged in any case to any exhibitor.

I am leaving for Australia in a fortnight, and I have sold all my Yorkshires, including winners at Manchester, Dover, and Chatham, to Mr. Lucas, of Whalley Range, who is advertising them this week, writes Mr. H. Davies (Whalley Range).

Your special prize in the shape of a framed plate of Cage Birds duly received, writes Mr. McIlwain, Glasgow, and I am highly pleased with it. It is really a work of art. Wishing Cage Birds, of which I am a great admirer, every success.

Mr. W. Rudd, the well-known bird specialist, of Norwich, is importing direct from Germany Roller Canaries of the best known strains, which, being a very large buyer (proof of which he has submitted to us) he is able to offer at most favourable prices.

Mr. B. Tidy, hon. sec. of the Sittingbourne C.B.S., writes that he has sent schedules to nearly all the fanciers of Kent, and anybody who has been overlooked will receive one per return of post, if they will apply for same to him at 13, High St., Sittingbourne.

OBITUARY.

It is with deep regret, writes Mr. H. Bamsey, that I have to announce the death of Mr. John Bexson, of Derby, brother of Mr. Jos. Bexson, the well-known judge, which sad event took place at his residence rather suddenly last Friday morning, Nov. 8, from double pneumonia.

Mr. W. B. Smart, secretary Loanhead and District C.B.S., writes:—"It is with deep regret that I have to announce the sudden death of Master Robert Douglas, age 12 years, the son of Mr. R. H. Douglas, after a few hours' illness. I am sure the sympathy of all fanciers will be extended to Mr. and Mrs. Douglas in their sudden and sad bereavement.

It is with the deepest regret, writes Mr. J. Cook, secretary Leicester C.B.S., 35, Layton Road, that I have to announce the death of one of our oldest and most respected members, Mr. T. Ride, after a very short illness. I am sure his many friends will join with us in expressing our deepest sympathy with his widow and family. Our society have opened a subscription list for them, and any sums, however small, will be very thankfully received if sent to me.

It is with sincere regret, writes Mr. W. A. Wilson, hon. sec., Leeds C.B.S., that I have to announce the death of one of our members, Mr. George William Dews, who passed away November 8th, after suffering for many months at the early age of 32 years. He was an ardent lover of the Yorkshire Canary, and a great supporter of our members' shows. His genial disposition won him hosts of friends, who, I am sure, will be deeply shocked on learning the sad news, and will offer their heartfelt sympathy to his widow in the hour of her great trial. In our hearts he will long remain.

Mr. W. Gilbert writes that he has been compelled to resign the hon. secretaryship of the London and Counties A.C.B., and that all communications should henceforward be addressed to the new hon. sec., Mr. G. G. Stubbs, 92, William St., Albany St., N.W.

By an error in our schedule, writes Mr. R. Blincoe, sec. Rochdale O.S., I find that the British Classes are entered as 63—67. This should read 65—69, Foreign 70,71, Stuffed Specimens 72. Also Section Specials 63—67 should be 65—69; 68—69 should be 70—71; 70 should be 72.

Will kind friends and members who had Dulwich and Peckham Show tickets for sale kindly send on cash for sold tickets, writes Mr. Richardson. Specials in kind will be presented at annual concert. A pair of spectacles left behind at show, can be obtained on application to me.

Schedules have been sent out to 1,100 fanciers for Glasgow and Dist. C.B.A. Show, Nov. 22nd and 23rd, writes Mr. Wm. Hutchinson. They are requested to note mistake, viz., Class 63 should read Foreign Goldfinch, not Bullfinch. A p. c. to me at 163, Hospital Street, Glasgow, will ensure schedule being sent to any fancier omitted.

The New Cross Society was rewarded with a great success at the show on Nov. 7, there being 128 birds staged, amongst them 31 Borders, and we have the pleasure of knowing we are to have some more Bord. men join next meeting night, write Messrs. Barton and Barton (13, Gillian St., Ladywell). We would be pleased to hear from Border fanciers wishing to join.

Further "Twitterings" will be found on page 951.

Mr. E. Jaycott, hon. sec. Crewe O.S., writes that Mr. Brotherhood will judge the members' show on Nov. 30. There is very keen competition among the members for the handsome challenge cup given by P. V. Williams for most points throughout the year in Canary classes for nominated birds.

Kindly state, writes Mr. W. G. Andrews, hon. sec. W. Bromwich C.B.S., that we are not holding an open show this year. We have had to substitute an inter club show, Nov. 21. I have received so many applications for schedules, that I should be glad if you would publish this.

The London and Counties A.C.B. seventh annual autumn show takes place at "The Earl Cathcart," 39, Osnaburgh Street, N.W., Nov. 16, when all interested will be heartily welcomed, writes Mr. G. G. Stubbs, the hon. sec. Doors open at 4 o'clock; admittance by catalogue, obtained at door.

In your report of Blaydon show, writes Mr. Crawhall, President N.Y.C.C., you state that no member has won the N.Y.C.C. cup twice. Mr. Hutler, who won it this year, also won it in 1909, with the grandfather of his present young bird. We all congratulate Mr. Hutler on this, his second win.

Kindly call attention to the auction sale of our chairman's stock of birds, writes Mr. H. Smith, hon. sec., Wimbledon Show. He is obliged for business reasons to dispose of them, and it should be a good opportunity for novices. Entries are short, and we will accept up till Saturday, Nov. 16.

We are informed that prize-money has been paid in respect of the following shows. Any one who has been overlooked should apply to the respective secretaries: Muirkirk, Warrington, Old Shildon, Manchester, Halifax, Portsmouth, Sheffield O.S., Dulwich and Peckham, Hamilton, Cadzow Oak, Blaydon.

The sec. of Pentrebach show, Mr. Brown, appeals to intending exhibitors at show, Nov. 28, to enter as early as possible; closing date Nov. 23. He writes: I should like to point out that this section has a separate staging from all other exhibits, and we have an expert judge in Mr. G. Gardner. We have secured the services of Mr. Menzie, the well-known Liverpool fancier, who has kindly consented to act as head steward in the cage bird section.

Allow me to thank the many who have written congratulating me on the prompt payment of prize-money and our good management, writes Mr. G. Marlin, sec. Hamilton, Cadzow Oak O.S. This postcard from Mr. H. Bennet (Kelso) is just a sample:—"I was surprised to receive my prize-money by this morning's post, which is almost a record I think in paying over prize-money from a Saturday show. You will make a good name for your society, and I wish it every success.

The rendezvous to-day and to-morrow (Friday and Saturday) is undoubtedly the City and Suburban's 17th annual show at the Church Institute, 60, Paddington Street, Marylebone. There you will meet the old familiar faces, and not a few of England's classic winners of the day, besides getting a glimpse of the latest seven guinea cup for the Crests. This makes our 20th cup. The hall is two minutes from Baker Street and Regent's Park Railways (underground) and 'buses pass the street corner.—(Advt.)

"Prince Charlie" Dead.

We are sorry to hear from Mr. C. Pearce, of the death of his Light Mule, "Prince Charlie." He arrived from Nottingham show on Tuesday morning dead in his cage.

[This fine mule had a most successful career both in Scotland and in England, and at Nottingham was third in a strong class.—Ed.]

Too Good to Lose.

I don't think I shall manage another of our open shows, writes Mr. H. Boothman, hon. sec., Manchester and N.C.O.S., unless there is a difficulty in getting a manager. I have been show manager for three now, and I think a change is good. I wish to thank you for the splendid report you gave us of our show. I am pleased to say I have received a large number of letters thanking us for our attention to the birds, and am more pleased to say we have not had one with a grumble. All prize money, etc., has been sent out.

Respected Fancier's Serious Illness.

We very much regret to hear that Mr. J. Patterson has been very ill again. Mrs. Patterson writes:—"I am extremely sorry to have to say that Mr. Patterson will not be at Cowdenbeath show. His illness assumed a more serious character after I wrote you last, and he has been very ill indeed. For twelve days and nights the fever ran high, and he is now so weak that he is only able to sit up for about one hour per day. The doctor assures me that he is making a good recovery, considering what he has come through, and is hopeful that he has only to gather strength to be quite well. He will not be out at any shows this season.

Wild-Bird Life.

The Long-tailed Tit.

The rain, frost, and rough winds have nearly cleared the trees of leaves, and almost every feathered creature within range can be easily detected. In the gardens the fruit trees are bare, but the rose bushes and climbers will retain their foliage until we have much more severe weather. The active Tits in small parties continue their ceaseless search for insects and even the gardener admits that at the present time they can do no harm. In a fair sized garden all the species can be identified at some time or other during the winter, although the long-tailed bird is the one the least likely to be seen, unless the garden adjoins open fields and wood. In the writer's district we do not see much of them round the buildings, but just outside the village along the old country roads where the hedges have not been demolished, the Long-tailed Tit may frequently be seen. One can follow a party of them for quite a long way, flitting along the hedges, darting from side to side, never a long way from each other, always twittering and calling. No fear of one being lost, the constant twittering of his companions being a guide for any straggler. Nearly every bird-lover has read of, or seen, the wonderful home of these birds, a globular nest composed of moss and fibre, snugly lined with hair and feathers, and so compactly put together, that the writer knows of one that actually stood the storms of three winters, and still had some shape and substance about it. Many birds' nests are compactly built, and would stand a lot of bad weather, but they are mostly demolished by other birds when seeking materials for their own homes. Although one would think the long-tailed Tit's nest would be easily detected, this is not always the case, its colour no doubt being a great protective agent. The nest seems to us to be a curious home for a bird with an exceptionally long tail; one would think that such a domicile would be more in keeping with a short-tailed or even tail-less species.

LONGTAILED TIT.

The Novice's Chance.

"V.H.S." writes drawing attention to the splendid manner in which the L.C.B.A. are catering in all varieties for the novices at their show, held Nov. 28, 29 and 30.

Scottish Plainhead Club in Luck.

I have to intimate to members of this club that Mr. W. Aitchison, president, has presented a cash special of half-a-guinea for most points gained at Aberdeen show, and a special of same value for most points at Scottish National show, writes Mr. J. Brown, the sec.

A Prince of Entertainers.

That "prince of entertainers," that "monarch of merriment," that "queen of song"—the honours are distributed too often nowadays in quarters where they are but scantily deserved, but no one who has spent an hour in company with a Graves' Gramophone will question its right to all those enviable titles. The Graves' instrument is simply what the perfect Gramophone should be; handsome to look upon, an ornament to any room in any home, and an amazingly faithful interpreter of an amazingly wide compass of sounds. The Graves' Gramophone delivers it so perfect, so unsullied by mechanical interference as to command genuine and general admiration. The choir boy's solo or the thunderous torrent of "massed brass" is reproduced with a truth and clarity which hold one spellbound, and through the whole gamut of sound the fidelity is just the same. Start your Graves' Gramophone, shut your eyes, and your favourite comedian, your almost worshipped prima donna seem really with you in the flesh. You can "pick out" every instrument in the pulse-quickening orchestra; you can catch the faintest tremolo even of the violin! Admirable in every detail as this Gramophone unquestionably is, our readers may obtain it on terms almost more admirable still. An initial payment of five shillings brings the Gramophone along with ten carefully selected ten-inch records, all securely packed and ready for your immediate enjoyment. Nine further payments of five shillings each, and the Gramophone is yours, to yield rich dividends of pleasure whenever an hour seems dull or the world seems blue.

Through a Bird-room Window

This article on Red-Faced Lovebirds is No. 30 of the new series of personal birdy experiences related by that eminent aviculturist, the Rev. C. D. FARRAR.

No. 30.—My Red-faced Love Birds.

YOU will always find it a safe rule to take a thing just as soon as it is offered—especially a bird. It is never easy to get a rare one except when you don't want it, or can't pay for it, but when you have to get out and go after it with a gun, you'll find it as shy as an old Crow that every farmer in the county has had a shot at.

Now, Red-faced Love Birds are never particularly easy to get, and strong and healthy ones are still less so; and a really acclimatised pair I have only once seen, and as soon as I saw them I made them my own. One day I saw a pair of Red faced Love Birds advertised as "thoroughly acclimatised"; but I have read these words so often that I have ceased to attach any literal meaning to them. However, as I wanted a pair of these birds at the time, I wrote to the advertiser, saying that if he would allow me to have them on approval I would gladly buy them if they proved all that was stated.

A Truthful Advertiser.

I received a very nice letter by return of post, saying that the birds should be despatched by a given train, and that they would prove all that was stated about them. I was wild with excitement in the time of waiting. Why should a man think that he is certain to obtain a great treasure, just because he happens to want it? Other people want it too, a great deal more than he does—but they approach it with fear and trembling, not in casual certainty. However, that is my way, and once again my luck was in the ascendant, for when one morning there came the well-known ring at the side door, and "a porter with some birds" was announced, it was not more than half a minute before the wrappings were off, and I saw before me the most lovely pair of Red-faced Love Birds that I ever hope to see, outside Africa. They were literally perfect, and as "tight as wax."

I remembered the saying of a little girl who brought a very old and wizened baby to the vicarage, and asked me to hold it. I said, "I will next time you come"; not meaning next time; my intention was all right, but it was vague. I merely meant "some day," like the sinner who means to give up his evil courses, usually when they are no longer pleasant. I shall never forget my little friend's answer: "There mayn't be no next time, mister!"

The Opportunity Seized.

I felt it was the same here. If I didn't take these birds, there might be no next time for me, and I therefore wired my acceptance. As I lovingly examined those birds, it gave me a better conceit of myself, so to speak, and I think conceit is the most delicious possession in the world. The conceited person is always perfectly happy—he knows for a fact that the world revolves round him. That's how I felt that day. That pair of Love Birds made me feel that to breed them and get a medal was merely a question of time. It would be myself first, the rest nowhere! In the sequel you will find I was mistaken.

My friend Mr. Oates at this time had also a very nice pair of Red-faces on which he set great store. One morning he wrote to tell me that his hen had gone wrong, and a few days later that she had passed over to the great majority. And then a mean little devil whispered that perhaps now there would be the chance for me. I was ashamed, and snuffed him out of existence, or at least I hope so. But you never know with these mean little devils, there are so many of them for one thing, and they are so cunning, calling themselves by quite other names. One never knows when one has them, and it too often amounts to them having you.

As the weather was nice and warm, I carried them out into the garden and set them free in a nice sheltered compartment devoted to Yellow Budgerigars. Here, they at once made themselves at home, and seemed quite pleased to have such a nice place to fly about in.

Peaceful, and Easy to Keep.

There was no difficulty about feeding, as they only seemed to care for canary seed and millet. They ate groundsel and flowering grass, but they were not half so keen on it as the Budgerigars. There were very nice washing arrangements in the aviary, but the Red-faces did not seem at all keen on "the order of the bath." In fact, I never saw them attempt to bathe; they seemed to have as inordinate a prejudice against tubbing as the average human boy.

I had read in books that Red-faced Love Birds were very spiteful. Mine must have been the exception that proves the rule, for they never offered to touch the Budgerigars.

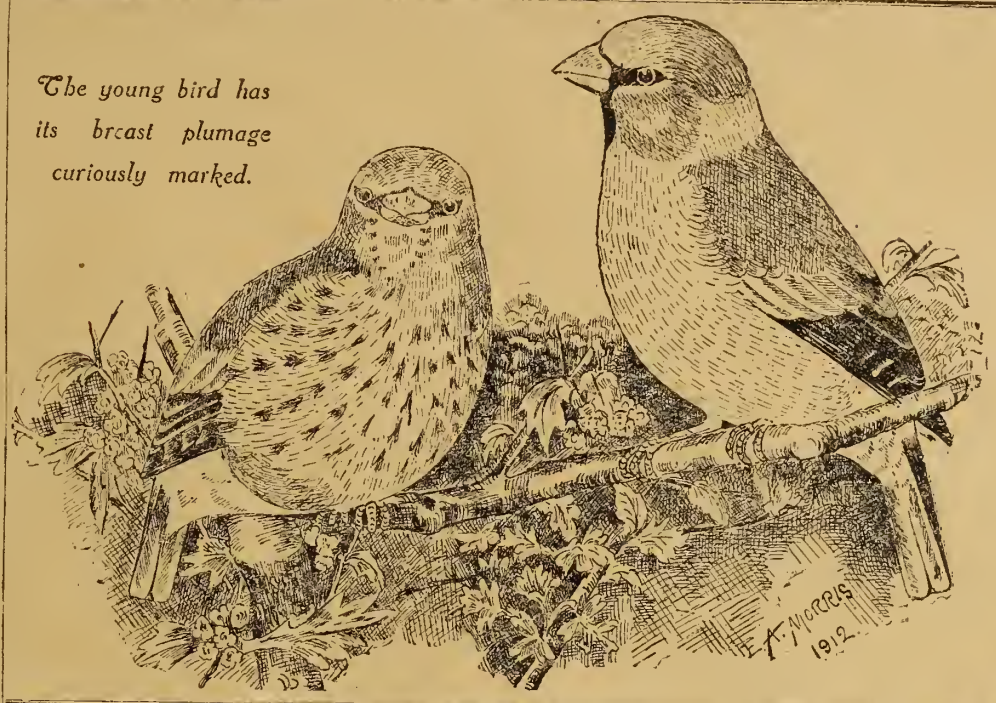
Disappointed Hopes.

I had great hopes of breeding these difficult birds; and to this end I put them up a really beautiful nesting box, the same as I use for Budgerigars, only, of course, on a larger scale. At first my hopes stood on tip-toe, for they soon appropriated their new home, and woe betide any Budgerigars that came too near. I was delighted, moreover, to find after a time that the floor beneath the box was littered with chips, and the hen was usually inside a good part of the morning. After this had gone on for some time, I thought I would have a look inside. Alas, my expectations were doomed to disappointment. There was nothing in the box but a few chips. I tried to think what was wrong; clearly there was something. At last I came to the conclusion that the temperature was not high enough to induce egg-laying. And as this was a trouble that I could not get over without going to great expense, and that perhaps for nothing, I determined that the honour of breeding these birds would have to be for another.

I am sure everything was right as far as it went. The birds were healthy and evidently inclined to breed, but the temperature did not sufficiently remind them of their native clime. If I was determined to breed these birds I should construct a special aviary for them, properly heated with hot water, and I feel sure that, given a healthy pair to start with, I should succeed. The difficulty is to get a healthy pair. Those that came over last year are only "a little flock," as the Protestant Reformers were so fond of styling themselves, and they usually suggest to an onlooker the motto of the Roman Gladiators, "Moriture te salutant." (These about to die salute thee)

How to Distinguish the Sexes.

Red-faced Love Birds are bonny little things, about the size of an English Sparrow. The cock has a beautiful crimson head; that of the hen has an orange tinge; so that it is easy to tell a true pair. The outer tail feathers are red barred with black. The cock has a black under wing; the hen a dingy green.



Let me give one little bit of advice. Never handle Red-faced Love Birds unless you are used to such work. They don't look very formidable, but only let one get hold of your hand, and I can compare it to nothing else than the bite of an old buck Squirrel. Those who have had that experience will know what I mean. Some birds are weak-billed, Red-faced Love Birds are not. I believe that if thoroughly acclimatised, they will stand an English winter all right out of doors, if their aviary is sheltered. At least mine did, and they seemed to suffer no more than the Budgerigars who shared their home. Personally, I would never buy them if they look the least bit "thick"; as they are certain to die. Consumption, or Bird-fever, the curse of all imported birds, will assuredly carry them off.

One day a friend came to see me, or the birds. I doubt that he had any clear intention of buying when he left home, but I wanted an aviary for one of my new experiments, and I felt that the Red-faced Love Birds and I must part. I therefore skilfully drew my friend's attentions to their beauty, their comparative rarity, and above all to their beautiful condition. I watched him out of the corner of my eye, and I saw that my words were sinking in.

Repentance Comes Too Late.

Some salesmen think that selling is like eating—to satisfy an existing appetite—but a good salesman is like a good cook—he can create an appetite when the buyer isn't hungry. That was what I did that day. I created an appetite, and then I proceeded to gratify it by selling my friend the finest pair of Red-faced Love Birds I ever saw. I thought at the time I had been rather smart. I have realised since that there is no fool like a young fool, because in the nature of things he has got a long time to live—and to regret his folly.

Many years later, when I had become richer or more successful, I had a nicely heated aviary, where I feel certain I could have produced young Red-faced Love Birds; but then, alas, there were none to be got; and I was reminded of the saying of a dear little girl I once knew in the slums; she was lying at the point of death, surrounded—too late—by every luxury. "It's hard, ain't it mister, 'ow the happetite comes when there ain't no jellies, an' the jellies comes when there ain't no happetite!"

The young bird has its breast plumage curiously marked.

THE NOBLE-LOOKING HAWFINCH.

See article on this page.

A FAVOURITE WITH EXHIBITORS.

The Noble-looking Hawfinch.

By E. A. MORRIS (Ilford):

WITHOUT doubt the Hawfinch can claim one of the foremost positions among our exhibition hard-bills, not on account of its song (as its vocal abilities are somewhat limited), but its extreme docility when once steady, and its ability to win in the very keenest of competition. To those fanciers who have had little or no experience with the noble-looking bird in question, the following lines are addressed, and may, perhaps, meet with some appreciation.

Selecting for Exhibition.

In the first place it is necessary to know what constitutes an exhibition Hawfinch; for this purpose it is a good plan to visit a few large shows and carefully compare the winners with those lower down in the awards. A large, bold, thick-set bird is very desirable, if at the same time possessing plenty of rich clean colour. By clean colour I mean free from smokiness and not of that dull dirty appearance often seen in this bird. It should have a large, full broad head. The bib should be almost triangular in shape (although some fanciers prefer those of the thumb-nail shape), dense black in colour, clean cut and free from ragged edges. The wing bar should be clearly defined, running well to the middle of the back, and be free from any break.

If possible obtain birds in their nest feather as I find they moult more freely than the adults. It is not so easy to tell at a glance the sex of Hawfinches in their nest feather as in the adults. The former do not resemble their parents in colour, being very much like young Thrushes in colour and markings. Their body colour is a rich yellowish tone, with arrowing down the breast, as shown in the accompanying sketch. Although the cocks carry a little more colour than the hens, young Hawfinches are very similar, but can be distinguished by their wings; the primaries and secondaries of the cocks are jet black, while those of the hens are edged with grey. This is a certain way of telling the sex of young birds.

The Moulting Often a Trying Period.

Although a fairly hardy bird, the Hawfinch often suffers during the process of the moult, and a little extra attention and care at this time are essential. A little linseed tea given once a week tends to ward off colds, and therefore should be used during the moult. Hemp seed should not be given at this time, as it darkens the plumage to a great extent, which is not always beneficial to the Hawfinch. Should a bird be "stuck in the moult" cochineal tea given for a few days will usually cure the trouble. If required for keen competition it is necessary to colourfeed.

Being a rather large bird, the Hawfinch requires a fairly roomy cage. One about 18 inches long, 15 inches high and about 9 inches deep makes a nice stock cage. This should be of the box pattern, with a loose wire front. Only two perches are required, and these should be placed about 6 inches apart; they should be at least half-inch square. Either sawdust or coarse grit is suitable for the cage bottom. A bath should always be placed at the bird's disposal, as the Hawfinch is usually a good bather. If the bird will not bathe, a good spraying every few days is very beneficial.

The food should consist of good sunflower seed as a staple, with the addition of a little mixed seed occasionally. Green peas, fresh from the garden, are greatly appreciated by the Hawfinch, and it also relishes shepherd's purse. In its wild state it lives principally on seeds and berries, such as the beech, ash, hornbeam hawberries, etc. In captivity it is very fond of meal worms, a few of which should be given each day.

An Important Point when Exhibiting.

A great point with an exhibition Hawfinch is steadiness. Here one must have patience. When the birds are fresh caught they should be caged separately, and the cage fronts covered down to the perches with calico the first week, leaving the bottom of the front uncovered. The birds do not damage themselves to any extent when this method is adopted. Give a meal-worm or two daily, at first pinning them to the perch. In most cases after a few weeks, the birds will take them out of one's fingers.

When fairly steady commence keeping the birds in show cages for a day or two each week. Handle the cages frequently, but at all times gently. Very soon one will notice a considerable change in the birds. In confinement the Hawfinch requires no heat.

For Rules see page 922 last week.

THE following gentlemen represent CAGE BIRDS staff of ADVISORY EXPERTS. Queries must in no case be addressed to any of them individually, but to the Editor.

Canaries.—Claude St. John. British Birds, Mule and Hybrids—G. E. Weston. Foreign Birds—Wesley T. Page, F.Z.S., M.B.N.H.S., &c., Wild Bird Life—H. Norman.

NOTE.—If an answer is required concerning the proper mating, etc., of Norwich, Yorkshires, Crests, Cinnamons, Greens, Borders, Lizards, Scotch or any other variety of the Canary family, we shall, should the querist desire us to do so, be pleased to submit his questions for answer to some leading specialist of the day on the variety concerned.

CANARY QUERIES.

Answered by CLAUDE ST. JOHN.

KEEPING IN FULL SONG (A. Cruse).—Certainly; there should be no difficulty at all in keeping a Canary in full song in a place where it can hear the song of a Linnet. In the majority of cases a healthy cock Canary would be induced to sing more, rather than less, by hearing other birds. The only thing you need fear is that the Canary may possibly pick up some of the linnet's notes, which may not be desirable if it is a well-trained songster.

WHAT KIND OF ROLLER? (Amateur).—You should have no difficulty whatever in getting a songster with a good variety of "changes" in its repertoire. Deposit cash with the Editor and then ask any respectable dealer to send you a bird of the Seifert or St. Andreasberg type on approval, explaining that you want a songster with plenty of variety in its song rather than one trained to sing two or three excessively long deep hollow rolls. There are plenty such birds to be had, and it is pleasing to note that there is a tendency now-a-days to add more variety to the repertoire of even the best contest singer.

CAUSE OF DEATH (L. C. C.).—It is quite useless speculating on the cause of death in any case after the occurrence. The only reliable or rational means of obtaining such knowledge is to have a post-mortem made on one or more of the bodies. In your case where the same cause was so obviously responsible for each of the deaths, it would only been necessary to post-mortem one of the bodies. I can only suggest from the few details you give that the deaths were probably due to acute pneumonia. Had the birds been exposed to a sudden chill from any cause—possibly too free bathing? Neither can I tell whether your room is too cold without knowing its temperature, whether in a sheltered position, affected with damp, etc., and also the breeding of your stock. Assuming it is too cold, other methods being unavailable, a portable hot-water coil heated by gas would form a very suitable method of heating. But the place should be properly ventilated, and you must always be prepared to face the risks inseparable from these methods.

A.O.V. (L. C. C.).—Your queries are admirably laconic, but unfortunately there is a conspicuous lack of particulars, which, to say the least, makes them a trifle vague. The cause of birds wheezing at night is very often the sign of the early stages of asthma, but it may also be due to an overfed condition. See they are kept free from cold draughts, or heated or impure air. Give a half teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion mixed in it, and sprinkled with mow seed, every second day for a fortnight. Add ten drops of syrup of buckthorn to the drinking water for two days. Afterwards give 20 drops of whisky, five each of oxymel of squills and ipecac. wine, and two of eucalyptus oil, well shaken in the water every second day for a fortnight. See former reply concerning temperature of room. Norwich not singing may arise from some condition of health, or age, or they may be the wrong gender. Any healthy, self-respecting Norwich cock should sing on the following dietary. Staple diet plain canary only. Every second day give separately half a teaspoonful of summer rape and a spray of green food, or morsel of banana or sweet apple. Twice a week, on the intervening days, give a similar quantity of egg food, crushed biscuit or sponge cake sprinkled with a mixture of equal parts, maw and gold of pleasure seed, and on the remaining days, which will occur about three times a fortnight, give a small teaspoonful of a mixture of equal parts hemp, inga, millet, teazle, and black rape, with a slight sprinkling of mustard.

VARIOUS (L. M. S.).—(1) Casual in-breeding when you know nothing of the pedigree of the birds is very rarely advisable, particularly when it is as close as mating mother and son. The practice is admittedly invaluable when properly done, but unless one has some very definite object in view it is best to avoid close in-breeding. If you were sure the hen was not the result of a consanguineous union no harm would result from the mating you propose, and it would undoubtedly fix and perpetuate to a great extent the good points the hen has inherited, but—and here lies the rub—if she has a decidedly bad fault it will be just as likely to perpetuate that also. (2) The symptoms point to an anæmic and generally weak condition. In a similar case in future, give a morsel of bread and milk with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it, and sprinkled with soft sugar every second day, and otherwise feed as advised in latter part of reply to "L. C. C." under heading "A.O.V.," but omitting the soft food. In the drinking water add 20 drops of chemical food every second day, continue until bird is decidedly better. (3) If the slipped toe, Is, as you suspect, the result of an accident, it would have no effect whatever upon any of her progeny. Her small size is certainly somewhat against her as a stock bird, but is far from a disqualification if she comes of good sized stock, and possesses good typical features apart from size. Mate her with a bird of good size and substance of body that comes of a good large stock.

BREEDING FOR COLOUR (Ansell).—Your query leaves me in doubt whether the young birds are really deficient in colour. If they have taken the prizes you name since the moult there cannot be very much fault with them. You must not, of course, expect buff birds to look anything like so deep and brilliant in colour as yellows. I do not advise you to double-buff with these birds next year to improve the colour. Mate them with good, sound rich yellows, with plenty of natural colour, not colour which comes from feeding, bred from double-yellows if possible. You say nothing about markings, but if your birds are clears, let the mates be ticked or lightly variegated. It is a dash of green blood that will do you best service, but do not go too close to the fountain-head if your aim is to get a good percentage of clear or slightly ticked birds.

VENTILATION (Constant Reader).—If you incline the blades of ventilator at a sufficient angle—say, 60 degrees, which is more than a right angle—I do not think there is the least fear of any draught blowing on to cages at the opposite end of room. As a matter of fact if ventilators are working properly there should be no intake of air at all by these apertures in the top part of room, which are outlets for the egress of the used up air which always rises to the top of the room. The intake for fresh, pure air should be near the floor in the centre of the front. Make this ingress 14ins. long and 7ins. deep, and the outlets each 8ins. by 6ins., and in each case you need not allow more than a clear quarter inch of space between each blade. Try them in the way advised, and if you are not satisfied with the working it will not be a difficult matter to reverse the inclination of the blades of the top outlets. But I think you will find them work O.K.

PERIOD OF SONG (L.E.W.).—There can be no definite time placed upon the singing period of the Roller. It depends solely upon the health and vigour of each individual, and this, of course, turns very largely upon how it is kept and managed. It is fairly safe to say that a Roller will sing well just as long as its health and general condition are kept good, whether it be two or three years or ten or twelve years. In fact, I have had quite good performers at the latter age, and have known others at a much greater age. Hence you will see the value of the assertion that they only sing two or three years.

WHAT IT ALL MEANS (J. Brown).—The ring on the leg of one of the German Canaries you bought simply means that it was placed there by the breeder as an identification mark to assist in tracing the ancestry, or pedigree, of the bird. The number on ring is merely the number under which the bird's description and breeding is entered in the owner's stud register.

BUSHES FOR AVIARIES (Andrew Robertson).—(1) Canaries are among the most destructive birds to small growing shrubs in aviaries. It is exceedingly difficult to get any small plant, particularly such as thorns, which they take as an acceptable addition to their menu, to grow, on account of the birds denuding them of the foliage and budding shoots. Stripping the bark, now they have denuded the plant of foliage, will afford amusement and healthful occupation to the birds, but nothing more. It will not harm them in any way. (2) Unless the aviary is a large one, wherein you could plant good-sized shrubs and bushes for cover, I would not advise you to encourage them to nest in bushes. Nothing is better for nesting sites than the small wooden travelling cages in which German Canaries are imported, if the water-pot, seed-box, and the short bars at one end are removed. But if you prefer shrubs, etc., hawthorn, privet, box, flowering and edible currants, lilac, hazel, elder, syringa, laurel, and guelder rose are all suitable.

HIND TOE TURNED UNDER (Roller).—I would not advise you to interfere with this bird's deformity now. If its other foot is perfect the fact of this one toe being unable to grip the perch will be no bar whatever to successful mating. All you need do is take care that the perches in breeding cage are of a suitable size and shape to give the bird a firm and comfortable grip, and that they are fixed securely, so as not to wobble about when birds alight on them. The reply you refer to last week would apply to your case, with the modification that there is no risk of your bird's toe sloughing. This danger might arise, however, if you put on a ring at this late date.

SWELLING ON FACE (E. McPherson).—Remove a few of the small feathers where the "head" of the swelling appears, but do not get quite near the eye, and prick it with a clean needle. Gently press out contents, and wash clean with warm water in a saucerful of which you have mixed a few drops of extract of witch hazel. Then dry gently and anoint place once daily for a few days with Lanocyllin. Do not wet the plumage more than is quite unavoidable, as this will cause the bird to rub the place more than it otherwise would, and probably make matters much worse. Keep perches scrupulously clean until the place is quite healed.

MAKES NOISE IN THROAT (Dickybird).—Examine cage closely, particularly about joints, and where small crevices are likely to exist, and if you find a white powdery-looking substance adhering to the surface, mites undoubtedly have a footing. If the birds are restless at night the same cause is at work. To deal with them, see reply to "T. Perrett" last week. For the noise, in addition to the usual seed diet give half a teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake with four drops of sherry and two of cod liver oil emulsion mixed in it every second day for a fortnight. Add six drops of syrup of rhubarb and as much sulphate of soda as will cover a threepenny-piece to its water for three consecutive days, and afterwards 20 drops of whisky, five each of oxymel of squills, and ipecacuanha wine, and two of eucalyptus oil well shaken in the water two days in every three for a week, and every second day in the following week.

DOUBTFUL PARENTAGE (Maesgwyn).—(1) Keep the hen in a fairly warm and equable place, but not overheat her, and see that she is free from cold draughts and heated impure air from burning lights. Give a morsel of bread and milk with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it, and sprinkled with soft sugar every second day for three weeks, and twice a week on the alternate days give a small teaspoonful of a mixture of equal parts black and red rape, millet, teazle, and maw. On the remaining days give a morsel of banana. Give plain canary for staple. Allow it to bathe three or four times a week. In each two tablespoonfuls of drinking water dissolve a crystal of sulphate of soda the size of a split pea, ditto of sulphate of iron half as big, and add six drops of dilute sulphuric acid. Give this in place of plain water every second day for a fortnight. (2) It is quite possible for either of the two cocks to be the male parent of the young in question. The probabilities, however, are very much in favour of the last one employed—the eight-year-old—being the parent. If mating had not been taking place freely between the first two, and commenced soon after the cocks were exchanged, I should regard the probability as a "cert." It is just one of those points which it is impossible to "swear to," but, personally, I should find eight-year-old "guilty."

Answered by G. E. WESTON.

A WEED (W. H.).—The weed sent is the field speedwell—very common, but I have never tried its seeds on birds of any kind, so can pass no opinion upon their value as a bird food. I have little doubt, however, that its seeds are found amongst many wild seed mixtures sold. It is a near relative of the other speedwell, whose tiny blue flowers are conspicuous in the spring, which is popularly termed "bird's-eye."

IN AN AVIARY (T. E. R.).—You can keep Yellowhammers, Chaffinches and Goldfinches together in a large aviary such as yours. Yellowhammers are seed-eaters (known as "hardbills," that is), but relish live food, and also a little insectile mixture, and are the better for these items. Wagtails are softbills; you will find full and up-to-date information on the feeding of them in "Nutshell" booklet No. 25 (post free 2½d.). You could try nine or ten pairs in your aviary, say, Goldfinches, Linnets, Siskins, Redpolls (Lesser and Mealy), Bullfinches, Chaffinches, Bramblefinches and Greenfinches, with a fair chance of one or other of them breeding, and that collection would not be an expensive one.

EATING THE PAINT (Friend).—Sorry to hear of your losses. I believe that white paint is reckoned the most dangerous of all—the white lead in it is, I understand, the ingredient that works the damage. If I am wrong, I hope some reader will correct me. Personally I do not use paint, but washable sanitary distemper, which answers splendidly, and I have never experienced any ill results from it, nor have I heard of anyone else doing so. I do not trouble about the brand so long as it is of good quality—Hall's, or Duresco, or any good make is suitable. It is, as a matter of fact, often advertised in our columns. You certainly made a mistake in using common paint.

GOLDFINCH AILING (B. B. B.).—Give for two days half-a-teaspoonful of syrup of buckthorn in the drinking water (two tablespoonfuls). Follow this with 20 drops of tincture of gentian in the same quantity of water for 8 to 10 days (fresh daily, of course). Let him have a few thistle and hardheads daily.

A FEW NEVER BRED (Hybrid).—A few "hardbill" crosses that we are waiting to see proved possible are Chaffinch, Bramblefinch or Yellowhammer and Canary; the same with the Bullfinch (also the Siskin-Bullfinch); then there is any cross with the Hawfinch as one parent—the Greenfinch-Hawfinch being possibly the most likely. Any cross between the Buntings would also, so to speak, be a winner. This is not a complete list, but just a few that occur to me on the spur of the moment, and enough, I think, for you to be going on with.

FOREIGN BIRDS.

FOREIGN BIRDS (S.H.C.).—(a) If you are simply transferring them from one outdoor aviary to another, this can take place at any time, but if you are putting them outside into the garden aviary when ready, then, irrespective of being early or late, they must not be put out till first week in May; with hardy species they are better settled out all the winter, but with a new aviary you must make the best start you can to put indoor birds out earlier would be a case of "more haste, less speed"—and your season should not be a barren one. The best way of trapping birds in an aviary is a light wood frame, say, 18 inches square, with a drop door operated by a string from outside the aviary—put the food vessels in the trap and drop the door when the bird goes to the food. Sexes should be equal or the odd birds interfere with the nesting pairs. (b) I should keep the Saffron Finches with the Weavers and Javas. (c) Chinese Painted Quail, Diamond, Peaceful, or similar small Doves. (d) Yes, re Lavenders, if your county is a northern one, you must take them in for the winter. Chingolo Sparrows can stop out; many individuals are pugnacious, and also obstreperous; at the same time they do not work much harm if the aviary is roomy and not overcrowded.

AVIARY PLANS (G.M.W.).—Speaking of them as a whole, your suggested aviary should give good results, and providing your county is not far north will suffice for housing the birds you name out of doors all the year round, save perhaps the Lavender Finches, but this you can ascertain by observation. You must put a good sized window into the shed, as unless it is well lighted the birds will not use it. While you can keep, say, forty of the small Ornamental Finches in it, twelve pairs are the utmost you can put in it for there to be any prospects of breeding. The back of the aviary must be well lined with twiggy branches and nest receptacles hung up behind these, also bundles of brushwood must be fixed in the corners and against the roof, with well screened nest receptacles amid them.

A FEATHER PULLER (J.B.).—You do not say what kind of Parrot it is, not yet how you have been feeding and treating it; supply me with this information, and I shall be in a position to help you. In the meantime boil a tablespoonful of maize till soft, drain off all water and lightly dust with flowers of sulphur before supplying to the bird; give this quantity fresh daily, as it only keeps fresh 24 hours. So long as the voidings are not watery loose, put one teaspoonful of Dinneford's Magnesia in its drinking water. Keep cuttlebone in the cage, and put a pinch of grit (not sand) into the daily supply of seed. Get a little clean paraffin oil, dip your finger in it, and gently rub the bare parts with same, but you must not use sufficient to run among and grease the plumage. Also spray twice a week with quassia solution, taking care it does not take a chill while the plumage is moist. Keep it amused with cotton reels and a piece of a branch with the bark on, renewing same as necessary—see other replies.

AMAZON PARROT (C. Woodall).—You must let a vet. or some skilled fancier see it at once; the exuded part must be pressed back and a band put round the body to keep it in position. Of course, a hole must be cut in the bandage to leave the ventral passage open. But I strongly advise you to consult a vet., who can put a stitch in or take some other step he may think necessary and give the bird relief at once. Write us again at once, giving a short history of the bird, describing food and treatment, and stating how long you have had it. I cannot help you till I get these details. Keep the bird warm and quiet. On receipt of above information I will reply per return.

YELLOW-WINGED SUGARBIRD (Sugarbird).—I should only give the insectivorous food and cake in limited quantities for the present, but keep a strict watch on the bird, and do not allow it to become abnormally thin. The great difficulty with birds in cages is to avoid overfeeding; at the same time they should be in good condition, but any case of overfatness should be at once checked by the use of a laxative and limiting the food supply, but the reducing process must not be carried too far. Re the Cardinal, get from your chemist the following mixture:—Ipecacuanha wine, oxymel of squills and glycerine in equal parts, put ten drops of this into the drinking water (usual daily supply), till relief is given. One dose (half teaspoonful) of Dinneford's Magnesia in the drinking water to precede the above treatment. Let the Cardinal have as much fruit as it will eat, also three or four mealworms or other insects per diem.

WHAT WEAVER? (Napoleon).—It is not a Napoleon; this species has the sides of body, as well as the top of head, neck, sides of neck, and breast, bright yellow, only the centre of abdomen being black on the undersurface. If your drawing correctly shows the colour areas, it is a Taha Weaver, an uncommon species.

GREY PARROT PULLING ITS FEATHERS. (A. Crookman).—As you will get the Nutshell before you see this reply, you will know how you ought to feed it. Get some bitter aloes and anoint the bare places with it; the bitter taste may check the bird picking at the pen feathers. I shall also spray with quassia solution twice a week, taking care that the bird does not get a chill while the plumage is moist. Every fourth day so long as the voidings are not watery loose, put one teaspoonful of Dinneford's Magnesia into the drinking water, and on the intervening days use either chemical food or hypophosphates. Give it a piece of a branch regularly, replacing it as it is cut to pieces; a piece off some fruit tree is best, but almost any kind will do. At the same time it is not well to use those of a splintery nature. Let it have as much ripe fruit as it will take. You will have to keep a watch on the bird, and persevere with the treatment with some Parrots feather pulling is an actual vice.

COCKATIEL AND ROSELLA (A. G. Wyndham).—The only thing to do is to leave these birds together, and if both are fit and adult, failing mates of their own species, they may make a match of it. On the other hand, they may ignore each other. I have never heard of this cross having been reared. Nothing certain is known about sexual differences in plumage; some hens have a green patch on the nape, but all hens have not this distinction; but I have never known an adult cock Rosella to have the green nape patch. Except where the plumage of the sexes is entirely different, colour distinctions are only applicable to adults. The only other distinction I have been able to discover is that the bill of the male is a little longer and also a wee bit stouter at the base than that of the female. The female is said to be a wee bit smaller and less brightly coloured than the male, but this distinction is certainly not constant; the plumage of the species is so variable as to intensity with both sexes, that fine distinctions are of very little value. If you a▸ any time want to pick a pair and have a number of adults to choose from, pick birds in which the shape and size of the head and beak vary to some small extent, and you will generally have a true pair. All Parrots can be taught to talk. I have heard of, but never seen, a talking Rosella, and I should imagine it would take a lot of teaching.

POST MORTEMS.

Mr. G. Yates, M.R.C.V.S., 1, College Road, Harrow, Middlesex, will examine and report upon dead cage birds for a fee of 1s. 6d. each bird; for reply direct, 2s. 6d.; analysis, 21s. Subjects for post mortem examination must be sent packed in a box direct to Mr. Yates, with the fee, this and any accompanying letter being kept from contact with the dead bird. Send by letter-post; it is cheaper and quicker than parcel post. Any bodies sent to the office of this paper will be thrown away, and if a fee is enclosed the loss will be the sender's.

In the Courts.

A Deal in Goldfinches.

A case of interest to fanciers was recently decided at the Mold County Court, before his Honour Judge Moss.—George Henry Burkhill, Buckley, sued Evans and Roberts, bird dealers, Llanwrst, for £1, the value of Goldfinches supplied. It appeared that plaintiff advertised the birds, and defendants replied asking for them to be sent on to Llanrwst. Plaintiff forwarded the birds, and later received a letter in which defendants complained that the birds had received injuries in transit. However, they made an offer which plaintiff at first accepted, but subsequently he requested defendants to return the birds. Evidently defendants were satisfied with their bargain, for they refused to do so. Plaintiff repeatedly asked for them, and at last defendants said they would neither return them nor send the money.—His Honour on hearing the facts, gave judgment for plaintiff, for amount claimed with costs.—"Chester Chronicle."

Twelve Months for Parrot, etc., Frauds.

It was stated at the Derby Assizes on Nov. 4, that thirty complaints from all parts of the country had been received concerning the transactions of James Wilshire, a labourer, of Ilkeston, who was convicted of obtaining cheques and postal orders by false pretences. The prisoner, it was stated, advertised at £1 each a number of Parrots, whose attainments were set out in glowing terms. They could talk, whistle, bark, kiss, and perform acrobatic acts, and were used to the nursery. A Cardiff customer received what he described as an Australian Crow, worth not more than 5s., while another customer said he was forwarded a Cockatoo of no ability. Wilshire also offered for the same amount pure bred Yorkshire terriers, and a Birmingham breeder who bought one said he could call it nothing but a freak of nature. The prisoner maintained that his descriptions were accurate, and said that the public misled themselves in these matters by not asking the necessary questions. He consented to other charges being taken into consideration, and Mr. Justice Scrutton sentenced him to twelve months' imprisonment with hard labour.—"Manchester Guardian."

DULWICH AND PECKHAM.

Ninth annual members' show held at the Reindeer Hotel, Rye Lane, Nov. 5. The entries were 63 in excess of last year, but the Yorkshire section was disappointing. A society that gives ample classes for this variety, with six exclusive specials, to say nothing of the chance of winning the cups, etc., should have support. Champ. Nor. were the feature of the show, and one of the finest in London this season, averaging 14 per class. "The News of the World" challenge shield, value £7 7s., was won by Mr. Baker, of Cowes, with a buff cock of exceptional merit, while the society's young bird bowl, value £5 5s., went to the same exhibitor; there was some difference of opinion concerning the latter award. Some splendid specimens of the Norwich variety were also staged by Messrs. Richardson, Hazel, Spillman, and Morris. The points challenge cup, value £5 5s., went to Mr. Tringham for the second year in succession, while the novice cup was taken by Mr. Reeks. Ramsden's and Sandiford's specials went to Messrs. Richardson and Baker respectively. Other winners of specials were: Messrs. T. Tringham, Fairman, Crawford, Richardson, T. Tebbs, Morris, Hazel, Botting, Coombs, Reeks, Matthes, Cant, Gillard, Cornish, Tomsett, and Clark. Novice Norwich might certainly have been more numerous, but there were some nice specimens among them. Of the novice Yorks. we have already said we should have liked to have seen them with the champions; this, we think, is sufficient praise. British birds were especially good. Of the management we cannot speak too highly. In Messrs. Richardson and Fairman were found too capable managers, one with great experience, the other a willing learner, and both possessing those necessary assets, the desire and ability to take every care of the exhibits entrusted to them. They were ably supported by a hard-working committee, who had all the birds packed and the room cleared by 10.30 a.m. Mr. John Robson judged. Unfortunately, through some misunderstanding with the printer, no catalogues were on sale.

LEITH O.S.

The fifty-third annual show was held on November 9th. A grand total of 600 entries was forward, which creates a record for the society. The quality was of a high order, especially in the British section. The Keddie Cup winner was a non-fed Greenfinch of massive build and excellent colour, the property of Mr. John Messer, a popular win. The Scotch Fancy section contained a few birds of great merit, the cup winner being a yellow pied hen belonging to Mr. John Munro, which, for size and substance, was all that one could wish to see. The Norwich, although down a shade in numbers, made up for it in quality. Mr. Finnie's fine buff hen carried off premier honours. The Borders were a show unto themselves; in every class a double set of winners could be found. The buff cock belonging to Mr. Wm. Dodds was awarded the cup and B.F.C.C. medal for best. We have to congratulate the President on his successful debut with his greens in this section. The hall in which the show was held is an ideal one for such a purpose, being well lighted and free from draughts. The show was under the management of a very capable set of officials, who carried out their duties in a very satisfactory manner, everything passing off like clock work. The judges officiating were: Scotch, Messrs. A. Hamilton (Caldercruix) and Mr. J. Carlaw (Falkirk): Nor., Mr. E. Campbell; Borders, Messrs. R. Lambie (Whitburn) and J. Thomson (Newton Grange); British, etc., Mr. J. F. Dewar; and their awards gave every satisfaction. The show was well patronised by the public.

Keeping the Bird-room Window from "Sweating."

Sir,—If O. Moffit will, after cleaning the glass of his bird-room, dry and polish with a duster, having glycerine smeared on it, he will find this to have the desired effect.

New Society for Cannock, Hednesford and District.

Sir,—Will any local fancier who would care to join a new society of Cannock, Hednesford and district, let Mr. Shephard, of Heath Hayes, or myself, at 161, Stafford Rd., Cannock, have their addresses. We shall be able to call a meeting then.

The C.C.C. Support at Gateshead Show.

Sir,—Although the support of this club was voted to Gateshead show, I regret to inform the Fancy through your valuable columns that the society has reduced its classification below the minimum demanded by this club; therefore the cash specials, etc., as already announced, will not be competed for at their show.

Short Entries at Shildon Show.

Sir,—I would very much like to know through your valuable paper from any exhibitor the reason we can't get entries at our show? I might say we gave good prize-money and good specials, and I am sure we had a good schedule, also the room where the show was held is second to none in the north. This is our second open show, and we could only get about 200 entries each time. We also have had many letters congratulating us on the way we returned the exhibits. Now, Fanciers, let us know the reason, and see if we can't put it right next year.

The Future of the Sheffield O.S.

Sir,—After visiting Sheffield O.S. show on November 2nd, I come to the conclusion it was the best show I had seen for some years, and was glad to see Sheffield once more back to the high standard it occupied some years ago amongst the Fanciers of England. I was very much surprised to read in "Twitterings" this week that Mr. T. Bishop contemplates relinquishing his post as secretary after working so hard, and making it one of the best societies in the Midlands. I am sure when Mr. Bishop took the reins into his own hands and formed this society two years ago the fancy here was in a very low state, and to him the credit is due for such a revival of the Fancy in Sheffield. He is the only secretary that can make a show pay its way in Sheffield, so we cannot afford to lose such a worker. Last year he had a balance of £20 on the right side, and this year, by the looks of things at the show, will greatly add to this balance. I have made inquiries, and find out that it is the "novice know-all" or "wind-bags" who are at the bottom of all the unpleasantness. Now, Mr. Bishop, take no notice of such like; you have the support of all true Fanciers in Yorkshire. Let's go one better next year with you at the head of affairs.

Who First Established the White Canary Strain?

Sir,—In your issue of the 9th inst. I observe a reply from Mrs. Martin, N.Z., to my letter of 16th August last, and, as usual, her cry is: "I think I may claim that I am first in the field." It is evident that she does not even remember what she wrote in former communications. For example, in Cage Birds, 24th July, 1909, Mrs. Martin states that she thinks her friend that bred a White Canary in that year wrote to Cage Birds announcing the fact. Now, after an interval of three years, she comes along with quite a new tale—to this effect—(27th July, 1912), Cage Birds): "I may also state that before Mr. Kiesel's white Canary was exhibited I wrote home to Mr. Ramsden, manager of Crystal Palace Show, asking him what would be the value of my (then only) White Canary—a hen—a sport from buff parents. I exhibited it this year in Wellington, N.Z. So I think I really was the first in the field." All the while Mrs. Martin well knows that my bird had been mouths in existence, in fact was exhibited at the Crystal Palace before her friend's bird was hatched. Further, I had bred 11 Whites before Mrs. Martin bred her first; likewise, as I pointed out in my letter to you, August 10. Dr. Galloway (Aberdeen) and Dr. Simpson (Glasgow) had also been in front of her in the breeding of a white Canary. Evidently Mrs. Martin thinks that we on this side are possessed of very short memories—otherwise she would never chance such a letter as that of 27th July, 1912. Really it surprises me to note Mrs. Martin's attempt to come out of this controversy on such a quibble as "White to White" breeding.

W. Kiesel.

The Recent Record Show at Sheffield.

Sir,—I wish to thank you for the splendid report you gave us of our All England show in the issue of Friday last. Fanciers who were not present at the show, on reading your report must have realised they had unfortunately missed a treat. I also wish to thank the numerous exhibitors and visitors for the very kind congratulatory letters I have received, and hope to hold their confidence in the future. All prize-money, specials, and accounts have been paid.

T. Bishop, Hon. Sec.

Lizard Canaries at Blaydon Show.

Sir,—In regard to my clear capped, Gold Lizard being "wrong classed" at Blaydon show, on reading the report of the above show in your paper I notice it is reported as a broken cap. Perhaps Mr. House, the judge, will be good enough to give his reason for wrong classing this bird, as I have have examined it thoroughly and cannot find the slightest sign of anything which points to it being a broken cap. I may say the bird in question was exhibited at Newcastle show a fortnight before Blaydon in the clear cap class, and was placed first.

Entries and the Midland Counties Y.C.C. Patronage.

Sir,—May I draw the attention of Midland Society secretaries to the splendid results our patronage brought the Hanley and Wolverhampton Shows? At present we are in want of application from two more shows for champion section, six or more classes, viz.:—Yellow (clear or ticked), Buff ditto, Yellow or Buff (marked or variegated), ditto (unflighted), Yellow Hen, Buff Hen.

Curious Happening at Warrington.

Is a Waxwing a "Hardbill?"

Sir,—An error was made at Warrington Show last Saturday by the judge in the any other variety Hardbill British Class. An exhibitor had entered two birds, one in the any other variety Hardbill class, and the other in the Softbill class. On arrival at the show he had apparently put the numbers on the wrong cages, with the result that his Waxwing competed with the Hardbills, while the Corn Bunting competed with the Softbills. The least a committee of a society can do in such a case, when a fancier has, through either hurry or carelessness, committed such a mistake, is to re-number the cages, thereby allowing the birds—which in this case were good ones—to have a run for their money. Apparently the committee allowed the mistake to stand, and the judge awarded the Waxwing first prize in a strong class of Hardbills, while the Corn Bunting in the Softbill class stood cardless, but whether disqualified or not there was no indication either in the catalogue or on the show-cage. If I had been an exhibitor in the same class I should have lodged a protest, and should have expected to have been successful; because it is obvious to the mere novice in the British fancy that in this case the committee intended Softbill and Hardbill to mean Insectivorous and Granivoreous.

Sub Rosa.

The Judge Explains and Pays.

Sir,—Kindly oblige with a small space to correct my mistake at Warrington show, Nov. 9, in class 41. A.O.V. Hardbill. Not thinking at the moment, I placed the Waxwing 1st, whereas the same should have been "W.C." Not until I was marking my catalogue from my judging book on my way home did my mistake strike me. I don't wish any of the prize-winners to suffer through the mistake. I am quite willing to make the prize-winners' money up to the full amount, as though the Waxwing was not there. I will make the second prize bird's money into 1st and follow on to the vhc, which will come 4th. I cannot write the exhibitors, as the catalogue I received at show goes no further than the letter C, and one in the D's (catalogue enclosed). I suppose this will be the printer's error. Will those entitled please write me, and I will forward the difference on to them. I apologise for the mistake, but I cannot correct it in any better way, as there will be no loss to prize-winners, only to myself.

A Yellow Sparrow Near Swansea.

Sir,—It will interest my brother fanciers to know that a yellow Sparrow has been seen in the Swansea district. I and a few fanciers took a stroll to see him, and we were not sorry we took the trouble. He is a young cock, with beak, legs and feathers all the same colour—a perfect yellow cinnamon Sparrow.

How Did the Lizard Acquire Its Spangling?

Sir,—Having read Mr. Cutmore's splendid lecture on Pedigree Breeding and Heredity, there is one question I should like to ask the worthy lecturer, and that is can he tell us, or give his opinion, how the Lizard Canary came to be spangled the way that it is? I may say that I have kept and bred this variety over 25 years, and have tried various crosses, but all with one result—entirely spoiling the beautiful spangle of the bird. It is well known that the Lizard Canary is at its best after the first moult, as before and after the spangling is very rarely the same. I am sure it would be interesting to breeders and fanciers of this lovely bird if Mr. Cutmore would kindly give his opinion.

Birds Caught Wearing Marking Rings.

Sir,—A friend of mine caught a Thrush on November 2nd at Moorland, near Bridgwater, on the leg of which was a ring marked Aberdeen University, and numbered 22 over 128. No doubt it was marked for the purpose of finding how far it travelled, and we are hoping to read some account of it later.

J. Dyment.

Sir,—I forward you a ring taken off a Seagull I caught on the shore at Morecambe, Sept. 14 last. It is one of Witherby's rings, No. 28825. I thought it would interest some readers of Cage Birds, which I wish every success.

Jack Aldren.

Sir,—I have to announce the capture in my back-garden at Bo'ness on Nov. 7 of a hen Greenfinch wearing a ring with the following inscription, "Aberdeen Univ. 776T," and trust that this will be of some service to the study of birds migrating.

Mules at High Blantyre Show.

Sir,—Kindly allow me to reply to your correspondent, W. Gunning. First of all, I would draw his attention to the statement he is impudent enough to credit me with having made when asked my reason for reversing my decision in the Mule classes at above show. If he was there at the time, when such reason was asked and given, he must know that he is not adhering to the truth. I will here give, for the benefit of our deeply concerned friend (and all whom it concerns) my reasons for so doing, and hope that he may not become so mixed up again as to attempt to wriggle and twist some base insinuation out of my explanation. When judging commenced, the secretary asked that the novice classes be judged first to allow of their being transferred to the open classes. The mules were placed on the table five in number, not three, as your correspondent would have you believe. I did my best to steady this wonderful Goldie Mule, but it was no use, as he evidently preferred the wires to the perch; hence my reason for putting the Greenie Mule (which was steady and in capital condition) in front of him; this was about 11 a.m. The class finished, the birds were then transferred along with the others to the open class, and were not again seen by me till I had passed twenty other classes through my hands, which can't be done in a few minutes. Their turn arrived, however, and along with others they were again trotted out in front of me. Now, during the time that had elapsed between their first and second appearance, the Goldie Mule had settled down considerably, and justified my action in giving it the preference; but, bear in mind, although the bird received preference for position, it certainly did not enhance its value as a mule. While in conversation with those interested, I distinctly made them aware of the fact when I said neither of the two was of outstanding merit, and it was here my meaning was misconstrued, as I further told them that when the classification was open to all varieties, and the birds were of equal merit, it was quite customary for judges to select the best of each variety and mix them in their awards, thus giving all varieties a run for their money. I think I have given your correspondent full explanation. I hope that the next time he desires any enlightenment he will stick to the truth, for facts are chiels that winna ding, etc.

The Clashing of Shows.

Hartlepool Returns Thanks.

Sir,—The members of the Hartlepool C.B.S. desire to thank all those who have sent letters of thanks for prompt payment of prize-money, the quick despatch of birds, and the way our show was managed generally. We, in turn, desire to tender our sincere thanks to those exhibitors who enabled our society to establish a record (for us) in the number of exhibits, viz., 557. On glancing through your columns, we read that our society's name was mentioned in respect to holding our show on the same date as that selected by Derwent Valley and South Shields. We regret very much that three shows in practically the same district should be fixed on the same date, especially as there is a vacant date on the 16th November, with no show whatever advertised in the North. We have held eight shows and five of them have been fixed on the last Saturday in October. This date has been announced in your columns immediately after our annual meeting in January, and though we quite recognise that no one can appropriate unto themselves any particular date, we think clashing where possible should be avoided, if only for financial reasons. Considering these circumstances, we cannot do otherwise than express our regret that the societies above named had not the bumping entry which we are sure their efforts deserved.

A Failure at Linnet-Catching Explained.

Sir,—Seeing in last week's Cage Birds "Very Old Subscriber" failed to catch Linnets after being in a field where they were feeding, I think that if he had had two good brace birds (not birds that will hang on the string, but birds that will sit the stick, and baffle their wings) and a man walking them round, I guarantee he would have got three parts of the Linnets that were there. A man walking them round makes a lot of difference. He wants to walk them round slowly till he gets them near the nets. The man at the pull line has his brace birds up ready. When they are near the nets, drop your brace birds down, and the Linnets will follow them in. If he finds that they will not drop in the nets, he wants to pull at them as they are crossing the nets; but see that they are low enough. I may say that I have been a bird catcher for the last fifteen years, and I never take any call birds with me, but I take two or three good brace birds, birds that know their work before I take them out. I always get where the Linnets are feeding, and have some one to walk them round. Call birds are all right where the Linnets are crossing from one place to another. If the Linnets that the "Old Subscriber" is writing about have been "plagued," they will be a lot harder to catch. Then there is nothing for it but time and patience, or leaving them alone for a day or two. As for putting seed in the nets, I don't believe in it, unless there is snow on the ground. Another thing is to be up early, so as to get set as they come for their first feed. Anyone wishing to know anything concerning bird catching, making nets, making bird lime, etc., I should only be too pleased to supply them with the information. Bird lime is a thing I never use, as I believe in catching dozens at a time, not ones and twos as in the case with bird lime, besides having to clean them.

H. Palfrey.

"Very Old Subscriber" writes that the sentence in his letter which read that he had expended 30s. to 40s., should have read £30 to £40.—Editor.

NOTES BY THE SECRETARY.

Respecting Associate Membership.

Notwithstanding the very clearly expressed conditions printed on the coupon published at the foot of these notes each week, I am continually getting coupons which have not been properly filled up. Some readers send six coupons all filled up by themselves, some bearing names all written in the same handwriting; others send one coupon only, while this week I have received six coupons, all filled up by Long Eaton readers, but with no letter to indicate which of them has sent the coupons. I am therefore unable to send Associate Badge in exchange for these until I know the name of the sender.

The Norwich Fund.

Since the closing of the subscription list in aid of the fanciers of Norwich who suffered through the late floods, two amounts of 1s. have been received, one from "A League Member" and one from "A. R." Hampstead. The total amount, therefore, contributed by readers of CAGE BIRDS is £13 5s. 6d.

A Cup Offered to Cage Birds League Members.

At the show held December 4th by the Forres and Northern O.A., a silver medal of CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE will be in competition for League Members only. I am very pleased to hear from the secretary, Mr. W. Cumming, that Mr. D. Ross will present a cup for competition among CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE members. Members should remember this, and make an effort to win this cup which has been so generously presented by Mr. Ross. Further, LEAGUE members, will, on production of their membership receipts be admitted to the show on payment of threepence, instead of the ordinary admission money. The cup has to be won three times, not necessarily in succession, so that members who miss it the first time will be able to have further tries.

TERMS OF MEMBERSHIP.

PATRONS.—A donation of not less than Ten Guineas in one amount, or an annual subscription of not less than Two Guineas, shall constitute the donor or subscriber a Patron.

LIFE MEMBERS.—A donation of not less than Five Guineas in one amount shall constitute the donor a Life Member.

VICE PRESIDENTS.—An annual subscription of not less than Half-a-Guinea shall constitute the subscriber a Vice President.

HONORARY LIFE MEMBERS.—The payment to CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE of a legacy of £10 and upwards shall constitute the administrator or executor making the payment an Honorary Life Member. A form of bequest will be sent, post free, on application.

ORDINARY MEMBERS shall pay an annual subscription of Two Shillings and Sixpence.

JUNIOR MEMBERS.—Members under the age of fourteen years at the date of joining shall pay an annual subscription of One Shilling.

Leaflets setting forth the aims and objects of the LEAGUE will be forwarded, post free, to any reader upon application.

BADGES.

Neat and unobtrusive badges are supplied to members, without any charge beyond their subscriptions as above. The badges may be had either in button form, or mounted in rolled gold in two forms, one as a brooch for ladies or for cycling caps or coat lapel, and the other as a pendant for bracelet or watch-chain. The kind required should be specified clearly.

MEDALS.

Gold, Silver, and Bronze Medals are offered for competition among CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE members at Open Shows. The terms under which these will be given may be had upon application.

CAGE BIRDS FREE TO PATRONS.

A copy of CAGE BIRDS, the official organ of the LEAGUE, is forwarded to patrons weekly, post free.

HENRY J. FULLJAMES,
Secretary CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE,
154, FLEET STREET, LONDON, E.C.

How to become an Associate.

Many readers of CAGE BIRDS have written to say that they would like to join CAGE BIRDS' LEAGUE, but cannot afford the subscription. To meet their wishes we have decided to form, in connection with the LEAGUE, a body of Associates. All we ask of these Associates is that they will promise to give every possible attention to the wants of their birds. And they must induce others to see that their birds are kept happy and contented.

All that the intending Associate has to do is to sign the coupon herewith, get five of his or her friends to sign each a similar coupon, and send the six, together with a penny stamp, to the Secretary of CAGE BIRDS' LEAGUE, who will forward by return an enamelled Button Badge of the LEAGUE. There will be no other charge. NOW, THEN, BIRD LOVERS!—USE YOUR BEST EFFORTS IN THIS SPLENDID CAUSE.

THE BIRD LOVER'S PLEDGE.

DARTMOUTH F.A.

Third annual show, Nov. 12th, held in the Subscription Rooms. The opening ceremony was performed by the Mayor, C. Peck, Esq., who in an appropriate speech, said that next year's show would be held in connection with the fat stock show, and would as a result be a much larger show than the present one. The unfortunate cancelling of several cage bird classes helped to make this section smaller than would be the case if prizes were on a sliding scale, and would also prevent amalgamating classes. The chairman, Mr. W. J. Lugg, was a most genial official, as was also Mr. J. Veale, the able Hon. sec. Mr. A. Walker judged.

NOR. CK.: 1, sp., Grant, cl. yell., nice col. and qual., good wings; 2, res., Bovey, nat. col., yell., head marked, good size and very stylish; 3, vhc, c, Grant, cl. yell., good body, nice wings and col.; hc, Veale. MULES: 1, sp., 3, Daw, former Jonque Linnet Mule, of splendid qual., very steady and well shown, and a bull of the same variety, similar stamp; 2, Knapman, neat Dk. Goldfinch Mule, fair blaze, close feathered, very steady; res., Bovey; 4, Grant. A.V. BRIT.: 1, sp., 2, res., vhc, Rosser, well marked Wryneck leading, well-known winner, followed by a large Nightingale, in splendid feather; 3, Watts, Linnet, very steady, good feather, rich col., nice whites. FOR.: 1, sp., Pillar, African Grey Parrot, grand feather and cond.; 2, Watts, redheaded Cardinal, col. well up, nice size, shows well; 3, res., vhc, Gurowich, well matched pair of yell. Budgerigars.

BODMIN.

The 20th annual show of the Bodmin and Dis. Chrysanthemum, Cage, Bird, etc., and Dairy Association, was held on November 6th, and proved a record success, the attendance being large from all parts of the neighbourhood and a gate of £112 was netted. This year the weather proved favourable, and all roads led to Bodmin. Much of the success of this annual event is due to the splendid energy and enthusiasm displayed by a large band of officials who have the interest of the society at heart, and who make such excellent arrangements as to ensure success. Mr. John Pethybridge, the genial town clerk, was this year's President, taking quite an interest in the event. There are a large number of Vice-Presidents. Mr. A. Ernest Jago is the Hon. Secretary, a position he has held with conspicuous ability for many years. He has the work at his finger tips, and everything goes smoothly. The Committee of Management consists of several well-known fanciers, and everything was done promptly and efficiently. Committee, Messrs. T. H. Spear (Chairman), W. J. Adams, J. E. Bray, H. Brewer, J. Brewer, N. Birkenshaw, J. Brown, G. Buscombe, R. T. Buscombe, R. C. F. Edyvean, N. C. Hardwick, E. Harris, S. T. Hore, H. Kendall, E. C. Kent, J. E. Kistler, C. Lean, F. Liddell, W. S. May, R. Northcott, J. H. Pellow, J. Perkin, E. Scott, N. Shelley, Jos. Spear, W. Spear, F. G. Stevenson, S. Tickell, G. B. Treverton, W. T. Verran, W. West, J. Ivey and W. E. B. Lee. In connection with the cage birds there was a new departure this year; instead of being in the Market House they were staged in Agar Hall, and a better place could not possibly be found. The staging left nothing to be desired, and was evidently much appreciated by the exhibitors. The Norwich classes were a fine collection, and the Crests were, without doubt, as good as ever shown in Cornwall, the winner, exhibited by Mr. G. M. Davey (Plymouth) obtaining special for Norwich section and special for best bird in show. The winning Goldfinch is a grand specimen. Mr. J. Davies was the judge, and got through his task smartly.

SPALDING F.A.

Annual show held Nov. 7, St. Thomas' Hall. Entries throughout showed a slight decrease this year, and seven of the 14 classes had to be cancelled. Norwich totalled 40, and some well-known exhibits made their appearance. Yorks were well represented by many well-known exhibitors. The arrangements were of the best. The secretaries (Messrs. Elkin and Monks) are two hard-working fanciers of the right sort, with the intention of making their effort a success, and a word of mention is due to the stewards (Messrs. Auton and Murrell), who worked with a will to get the cards on the birds at the earliest possible moment. One entry, a cl. yell. Norwich, Class 42, No. 5, a good all-round bird, arrived at 3 p.m., and was too late for judging. Mr. W. P. Barnes placed the cards, and his awards appeared to give every satisfaction.

ALNWICK.

Alnwick and Dist. C.B.S. held its 5th annual show November 13, in the Century Hall. The hall is quite a new one, and a cosy place, of nice height, free from draughts, and with plenty of room for the exhibits. We were pleased to come across quite an enthusiastic lot of officers—patrons and president, down to the committee, all being there and working like Trojans. The society is well served by way of a president, J. W. Allan, Esq., while we were pleased to see quite a splendid collection of British (not on competition) from one of the vice-presidents, Councillor Lingwood, to whom great credit is due for so handsomely staging the team. Happy, courteous, and industrious were the chairman, Mark Swan, Esq., and industrious were the chairman, Wm. Straughan, Esq.; committee, Messrs. Miller, Wake, Nesbit, Dixon, Pope, Tennent, Robinson and Rogerson—an excellent lot of fanciers. Treas., Mr. Staig, and assist.-secy., Mr. Tate, ably led on by the genial secretary, Mr. R. Forster, had everything in apple-pie order. We were pleased to note a steady flow of visitors when we left, although the weather was of its worst nature. Entries were better than ever, considering the reduction of five classes, while the birds of quality were all here, some toppers of the first water being staged. Mr. W. Marshall took special for best in show with his old warrior, the winning Crest. The other judge took Mrs. Taylor's winning Sugarbird, and as the two could not agree, the spin of the coin favoured the Crest. It also won Hyde's special. Most points in show, Mr. Miller, who took points spl. for a member, also Sandiford's, and best member's bird; Mr. A. Hay took Canaries, Mr. J. Maddison the remainder, and their awards were well received.

CANTERBURY.

Annual show held Nov. 13, in the Corn Exchange, a fine roomy building for a show, with a grand top light. Our section was staged in quite a cosy corner, with just sufficient heat to make it comfortable. Norwich were A1, some very fine birds being staged. The principal winners were Messrs. Taylor, Euston, Wickham, Wood, etc., and in the Yorks., Messrs. Rayner, Lockett, Leaver, Wraight, Austin, etc., secured the premier positions. Some good Hybrids and British birds made up a very interesting collection. The management was all that could be desired, Mr. J. W. Sarjeant being well up to the work; in this he had willing helpers in Messrs. H. W. and F. H. Casemore, Taylor, Easton, and the Rev. Soames. Catalogues were out in quick time. Mr. H. Norman judged.

DUNBAR.

Annual show, held Nov. 9th, when entries were about the same as usual. Borders were the strongest classes, and some good birds were forward. The sp. and B.F.C.C. medal for best were secured by Mr. J. Thomson, the well-known Green specialist; his winner was a masterpiece of this variety. Mr. Cordon accounted for both the Scotch Fancy cups, with some gems. Crests and Crestbreds were really good. Mr. Burns having forward some fine exhibits. Mr. H. Bennet judged. The show was held in an ideal room, away from the other sections, and was under the careful supervision of Mr. Burns. We are sure if fanciers knew the care that was bestowed on their exhibits the society would receive better patronage. Mr. Gilhooly, the worthy secretary, had everything in apple-pie order, and the show was well patronised.

BANBRIDGE (Ireland).

Show, held in Town Hall, Nov. 7, 8. Entries showed a great increase on previous years, and quality was very high indeed. The President, Mr. Halliday, worked hard, also the Vice-president, Mr. Harvey, and their efforts, combined with those of Mr. McCaherty, the hon. sec., left nothing to be desired. Mr. A. Livingston, Paisley, judged Scotch, Belgian, British and Mules. Mr. J. Hartley, Norwich and Yorks. Both appeared to have given every satisfaction. Messrs. Dickinson, Faith, Boyd and McBurney acted as stewards, and everything passed off without a hitch.

The Critique.

BELGIANS (6): 1, sp., 2, Ronaldson, buff, beautiful shoulders and top, nice droop, very nervy, 2nd, yell., wonderful substance for a yell., extra good shoulders and neck, not so nervy as winner; 3, Lavery, yell., nice shoulders and neck, very taking exhibit; 4, Neill; vhc, Ronaldson; hc, Neill. HAMILTON (Cadzow Oak)

Annual show, held Nov. 9, in the Town Hall, Hamilton, a most suitable place for such a show, being well lighted all round and of a most comfortable temperature. The classes were well represented by prominent exhibitors from all parts, and the entries were slightly up, while the gate, although not quite a record, was the best the management had experienced for the last four years, and was voted a distinct success. That such ought to be the case goes without question, as one has only to look at the names connected with this association to repose sufficient confidence in such a body of fanciers as to trust them with their most delicate specimens. It would hardly be fair to single out any individual, as all worked energetically for the welfare of their show, and the big smile on the face of Mr. Marlin, the worthy Secretary, foretold that he had achieved the object of his desire, and felt rewarded for labour spent for the well-being of the Fancy. The judges got through their work in nice time, and we failed to hear much grumbling, which is to say that their awards met with general approval. Weel ken't faces, representing all the different varieties, were assembled. The judges were, for Norwich and Crests, Mr. J. Smeaton (Musselburgh); Borders, Mr. J. Hamilton (Eskbank); Yorks., Mr. J. Smeaton; Hybrids, British and Foreign, Mr. R. Bald (Bathgate).

The Critique.

CL. or TKD. YELL. CK. (7): 1, Morris, fine size and qual., neatly filled, fine carr.; 2, Watson, well up in size and substance, nice feather, well put down; 3, Shearer, Senr., good body and nice qual., not quite so well filled at top end as leaders; 4, Marshall, nice qual.; 5, Kennedy and McEwau; 6, Gallacher. BUFF (12): 1, Fleming, fine size and qual., neat carr. and style, well braced and in good trim; 2, Mathieson, fairly good all round, except, maybe, a trifle weak at head; 3, Braidwood, fairly cobby and neat, good qual., beaten in staging; 4, Naismith, fine style, very close up; 5, Stewart; 6, Hobbie. VAR. or GREEN CK. (13): 1, Campbell, yell var., fine size, grand condition, shapely and well braced, a good one; 2, and members' cup, Braidwood, fine massive buff, plenty substanec and short feathered cobby exhibit, well shown; 3, Fleming, good large yell., fine qual., neatly staged, hard up for higher position; 4, McNeil, nice yell., good trim, neatly put down; 5, Calderwood; 6, Liddell. CL. or TKD. YELL. HEN (9): 1, Fleming, topper for size and qual., neat cobby body, well filled in at front and top end, clean cut, wins well; 2, Calderwood, fine one for qual. and shape, not just so massive as leader, but well up; 3, Morrison, good one for feather, but rather unsteady; 4, Cameron, grand quality and size, massive built, just inclined to be long behind; 5, Watson; 6, Steel. BUFF (13): 1, Morrison, nice qual. feather and typical good head and neck, neat front, might be a shade better in wing carriage; 2, Cameron, good one for size and substance, cobby made, well up for top honours; 3, Fleming, fine size and good type of feather, must have pressed; 4, Braidwood, good size and qual., neatly staged, well placed; 5, Stewart; 6, Barrie. VAR. or GREEN HEN (6): 1, Blackley, nice broken green, raro qual. and shape, cobby and short behind, could do with more size; 2, Braidwood, nice size and good shape and qual., might just he a shade shorter behind; 3, Morrison, fine feather, good qual., nice size and condition; 4, Barrie, well up in size and shape, a little faulty in wing carriage; 5, Scobie; 6, McFadyen. UNFLIG. CK. (16): 1, Harris, fine tick yellow, lovely qual. grand size, cobby, neat carr.; 2, Gallacher, fine col., good qual. feather, stylish, neat, well up on leader; 3, Mathieson, rather smaller in build, but lovely qual. and shape, must have pressed; 4, no name, late entry, good qual. exhibit, rather smaller; 5, Naismith; 6, Cameron. HEN (16): 1, Fleming, well up in size and lovely texture feather, neat shape, fine carriage; 2, Cameron, real nice one for shape, cobby and thick set, short neck and sweet head, fine braced wiugs, just a bit open in feather at thighs, but good one; 3, Harris, nice qual., shapely, could be better in wing carriage; 4, Morrison, fine size, good qual., well put down, in fine trim; 5, McKay; 6, Williams. UNFED CK. (10): 1, Gallacher, nice one for size and qnal., broad, well-filled front, neat head and neck, staged in fine bloom; 2, Fleming, well up for size and condition, nice thick make; 3, Thomson, fine qual., and well filled in at top end, good body, just loses in wing a trifle; 4, Marlin, rare skuil, neatly made body; 5, Shearer, Junr.; 6, Cant. HEN (8): 1, Calderwood, fine size and qual., nice head and neatly filled in front, good shapely make, fine carriage; 2, Morrison, nice thick set, well made cobby lady, good size, and in prime condition, well staged; 3, Gallacher, not quite so massive, but not far off the mark in point of quality; 4, Cant, fine size and substance and in grand form bearing hard on 3rd; 5, Liddell; 6, no name. CREST: 1, Cram, rare massive bodied, feathery exhibit, capital top piece, fine frontal, neat spread all round, in fine trim; 2nd, Hamilton, very nice one, not quite so massive in body or so good in frontal, but thicker in crest, abundance of leafy feather and must have been well in the hunt for top position; 3, Nimmo, good one, but beaten in substance, fine top and in good feather and condition. C.B. (5): 1, 2, Cram, two good ones from the same stable, fine body and substance, plenty of feather, rare skull and fine lash, groomed to perfection; 3, McKay, fine size and substance, not just quite finished yet; 4, Hamilton, nice shaped skull and good body feather, not quite up to leaders in size; 5, Wilson. BORD. CL., ETC., TKD. YELL. CK. (22): 1, Munro, real shapely, well drawn, neatly tapered, stylish spec., close fitting, A1 quality feather, in topping condition, wins here; 2, Watson, another of the right kind, put down in winning form, hard up on winner; 3, Pollock, good one, nice make and fine quality feather, neat tail, scarcely just perfect in wing carriage, otherwise all right; 4, no name, nice one, not just in full bloom yet; 5, Davidson; 6, Gentleman. BUFF (13): 1, McKenzie, lovely quality feather, real waxy-like jaunty little fellow, staged to win, one of the cream; 2, Ritchie, fine qual., neat wings and tail, not just so well drawn as winner; 3, Bennet, good one, possessing rare Border qualities, must have pressed for another point; 4, Allan, good feather, neat shape, good tail, wings; 5, Hamilton; 6, Houston. YELL. HEN, CL., TK. or FOUL (15): 1, Dunsmore, good shape and fine quality, neat carried wings and fine close tail, maybe just a wee trifle strong in beak, otherwise good; 2, Pollock, grand little exhibit, lovely qual., neat carr., fine shape, must have tried hard for the top; 3, Haston, nice one for qual. and shape; 4, Houston, very nice one, looks scarcely finished yet; 5, Campbell; 6, McKenzie. BUFF (16): 1, Hamilton, nice typical shapely specimen, top quality feather, grand condition, wins 3rd in members' class; 2, Bennet, another of the right kind, grand quality, lovely feather and carr. of the best, close up for top position; 3, McKenzie, not much behind, beautiful waxy feather, lovely shape and carr., neat and clean cut away; 4, Davidson, nice one for quality and shape; 5, Kerr and Smith; 6, Pollock. UNEVEN YELL. (12): 1, Davidson, really good yell., fine jaunty carriage, sweet type, fine boxy feather, capital condition; 2, Lawson and Sons, cinn. mark, yell., looks a hen, topping qual., neat carr., stylish, capital trim; 3, Bennet, really nice yell. of fine qual. and col., neat shape, but inclined to be a bit unsteady; 4, Fisher, yell., capital feather, nice make, good wings and tail, nicely placed; 5, Beck; 6, Richmond. BUFF (11): 1, Bennet, in rare bloom, capital qual. feather, nice jaunty carriage, sweet close-fitting boxy feather; 2, Fisher, neat wings and tail, good shape, nice condition; 3, Davidson, well up in type and qual., sweet jaunty shape, neat fitting wiugs and tail, must have pressed hard; 4, A. Walker, real heanty for shape and type, good qual.; 5, Davidson; 6, J. Walker. EVEN MARK: 1, 4, Watson, leader fine markings, lovely qual. and type, capital feather, good carriage; 4th, nice qual., fine condition, but a bit unsteady when we saw it; 2, A. All Quality at Nottingham.

Magnificent display in all sections: Some wonderful Crests: Record broken at the "Gate": Model management.

Thirty-first annual exhibition, held in the Mechanics' Lecture Hall, Nov. 9 and 11. It proved in every way satisfactory, and quite equal to the many splendid shows organised by the Nottingham and Notts O.S in the years that are gone. It is curious that the society should never (at least of recent years) be favoured with an entry that can be described as a "bumper." We have in the past ventured to ascribe this to the unpopularity of Saturday and Monday, so far as exhibitors are concerned, as show days; and we still hold this opinion. The society knows its own business best, however, and it certainly is very doubtful whether any increase of entry fees resulting through a change in the days could compensate the loss of "gate" that would follow. The receipts on the Saturday again well beat all past records—over £21 being taken in sixpences! Good business, and no mistake!

The popularity of Nottingham Show is well deserved, too, for we do not know of any fixture where, year after year, the same unvarying high quality of the exhibits is to be met with. In every section champions of the various breeds are always to be found, and this no doubt accounts for the exhibition proving such an unfailing draw to the large number of fanciers in the surrounding districts. Further, the management is of the highest possible character; birds could not possibly be more carefully looked after, or the needs of exhibitors be more sedulously studied. The unpacking and repacking arrangements are perfect; Mr. Ley gives this department his personal supervision and his help. The staging, too, on the up-to-date three-tier principle is all that one could desire, while the show-room is lent an added attractiveness by means of drapery and plants. The scene on the Saturday evening was magnificent, the handsome room being simply packed.

The society once again had the invaluable assistance of Mr. R. Rhodes, than whom there can be no better or more popular chairman, his genial, business-like manner helping greatly to steer the show into the harbour of success. Mr. G. C. Ley, too, once again very ably filled the role of vice-chairman, and this enthusiastic and successful Crest fancier was one of the hardest workers in the hall. As a keen business-man himself, he is a firm believer in "system"—and there can be none better than the Nottingham system as adopted to-day. The committee is composed of very good fanciers, and one and all put their shoulders to the wheel; no trouble is too great for them. Messrs. G. W. Boaler, W. Bown, W. Cottingham, F. Clarke, G. Hill, T. Hodgkinson, J. Renshaw, W. H. Raven, G. Sharpe, J. W. Saywell, E. Wolfe, and G. A. White are to be congratulated on their work. Valuable aid, too, was rendered by Messrs. R. Miller, E. Robinson, T. H. Hayter, Wall, and R. Graham (the latter a Crest fancier of the good old school).

Coming to that most important of all departments, the secretarial one, we must say that no society could be better served. Mr. G. E. Wilkinson—fast becoming a regular old war-horse—smiling and imperturbable as ever, saw that everything ran smoothly and well. He is a rare good sort, and none know better than the members what they would lose by his absence. We hope he will long stick by them, and hold the secretarial reins. In Mr. J. G. Royce he has a splendid assistant. In fact, Mr. Royce this year did the bulk of the work, and the magnificent success of the venture is an all-sufficient testimonial to his ability, and the manner in which he carried out the extra duties devolving upon him. Mr. Wilkinson was quite proud of his "nestling"—a truly promising bird. The society is in luck in having at command so enthusiastic and genial a worker.

An excellent display of cages (breeding, show and stock) and fanciers' appliances was to be seen on the stall of Mr. E. Page (Annesley Road, Hucknall Torkard). This maker is developing a big trade—low prices and good workmanship being his motto. A tastefully arranged stand of CAGE BIRDS' books, etc., was in charge of Mr. W. Cottingham, the well-known Nottingham fancier and dealer, who also did good work in feeding the birds.

This being a cup show in connection with the Norwich P.B. Club, we went prepared to find very strenuous battles being fought in the endeavour to annex points towards the capturing of the various valuable trophies offered for competition amongst the members. The best birds of the Fancy were present, birds of marvellous character, full of fire, and of wonderful substance and symmetry, feathered to perfection—truly a sight worth a journey of many miles to see. When such notable stables as Messrs. J. E. Davies, S. Cook, W. H. Howe, W. Wrigley, and J. Hayhurst are represented, "hard nuts" are bound to be there to be cracked. A good day's work was accomplished by Mr. J. E. Davies, for 3 firsts and other wins went his way; Mr. S. Cook also staged a magnificent team, likewise claiming 3 firsts and other honours. In the amateur section we had 129 entries in six classes, averaging over 21 per class, and hardly a "waster" in the whole lot; many amongst them, indeed, were quite capable of competing among the "upper ten" without being numbered amongst the "also rans!" Really a very fine display, and a credit to the "starters," shall we say. Lovely specimens were those of Miss A. Scott (bravo for the weaker sex), and Messrs. A. Bradley, G. W. W. Boaler, W. Philpot, and W. Lee. The special for best in section fell to Mr. J. E. Davies.

Year after year the display in the Lace capital creates a wonderful stir amongst the breeders and admirers of the noble Crests and Crest-breds. The classification is excellent. The Crested Canary Club's patronage is in evidence, so can one wonder for a moment that magnificent specimens should be on view? To-day we had truly a marvellous collection, the best that England can produce. Our worthy friend, Mr. T. Heath, went into raptures when judging the Crested-bred buff hen class, and well he might, so marvellous were they in character. In the current year yellow Crest class, much controversy took place over the 2nd prize bird. The general opinion seemed to be that it was a buff. On scrutinising this exhibit most carefully the crest itself and the chest and under feathers certainly point towards a yellow, but the back feathers undoubtedly denote buff properties. Under the circumstances, however, it was considered that the judge did perfectly right in giving the benefit of the doubt to the exhibitor. Special winners:—Best crest, Mr. F. G. Bale, his buff grizzled tail D.C., the Plymouth winner we presume, doing the necessary. Best C.B., Mr. G. C. Ley, an eye opener all over. Crest (bred 1912), Rev. G. W. Joyce; C.B., Messrs. Evins Bros.; cl. body C., Mrs. E. Litchfield; yell. C. or C.B., Mr. J. Brotherton; Nov. Crest., Dr. Twigg; C.B., Dr. Twigg. Best in section, Mr. F. G. Bale; best vhc, Mr. G. C. Ley.

The birds of "grace and beauty" mustered fairly strongly, and we have no hesitation whatever in declaring them the best collection of Yorks. that has appeared at this well-known Midland fixture for many years past. Yorkshiremen, give of your best support on future occasions, and our Notts. friends are willing to cater right well for you. Mr. W. E. Kearns (Rawtenstall) staged a very fine team, capturing three 1sts and spl. best in section, with a very fine buff cock, mkd. head. Best vhc, John Hibbitt, junr.

The Lizards were a fine lot, some noted teams being in competition, and the section attracted a lot of attention. The awards, we understand, in some cases were altered from those which obtained at previous shows, but we heard no grumbling; one fancier sportingly remarked that it was a good thing the same birds didn't always win.

Although not numerous, the Lancashires excelled in quality. We should certainly have liked to have seen more of the "Giants of Canarydom" benched. That very old and esteemed fancier, Mr. G. Fitton (Rochdale) staged a few real gems, and with six entries claimed 2 firsts, 1 second, and 3 thirds, also gaining special for best in section. The Midland enthusiast, Mr. Green, also put down a few good ones.

In the Hybrid, British and Foreign bird sections the quality of the exhibits was fully equal to the high standard set by the best of the Canary sections—particularly so in the classes set apart for our native birds, in which many noted teams met and rendered the judge's task of placing the awards none too easy. The total of exhibits, however, was not what it ought to have been, considering the inducements put before exhibitors. What can foreign bird men want? They were offered six classes and 26s. prize money in each, for a 1s. 6d. fee, yet in two classes there were not enough birds even to win the prizes! Fancy only three entries in a class confined to Budgerigars!—very discouraging. The two novice British classes were likewise a failure. The chief special winners were: Best in Hybrid and Brit. sections, Messrs. Martin and Archer (the noted Chaffinch-Greenfinch); best hardbill, Messrs. Pitchford and Stocker (a fine Goldie); gold medal, best softbill, Mr. P. Walsh (Wryneck); Foreign Bird Club's medal, and best foreigner, Mr. J. M. Walsh (Black-throated Tanager).

The judges were Messrs. W. Vardy (Nor. and Liz.), T. Heath (Crests, Yorks. and Lancs.), and G. E. Weston (Hyb., Brit., and For.). They were favoured with an excellent light, had the assistance of a highly efficient band of stewards, and got through in good time, with the result that the catalogues, with full awards, were on sale by three o'clock—another record for the society!

Mr. W. Vardy's Classes.

NOR. CL. YELL. (10): 1, 2, Davies, topping couple, leader massive in build, grand shape and carr., teeming with qual., hot as a stove, gem, 2nd for type, qual., and col., all one need desire, not possessing the substance of his stable companion, yet a picture; 3, Proctor, rare size and col., grand head, neck, and chest, neat carr. of flights, short tail, hardly the exquisite feather of those above; 4, Dr. McConaghey, short and thick set, superb feather, nice action, beaten a little in col. and size; vhc, E. Wilcox; hc, Hayhurst; c, Adnitt and Driver. BUFF (13): 1, Davies, well known winner, looking even better than ever, often described as a "real stormer," and full worthy of the homage; 2, Proctor, still more substance, A1 feather, col., and frosting, rare head and neck, bold-fronted, clean cut, shade longer in barrel, but a beauty; 3, Thomas, bonneer, wonderful head, neck, and chest, lovely texture, rich col., but bit loose behind to-day; 4, Wrigley, capital feather and col., jaunty carr., sweetly moulded, gets one wing up, which tells against it; vhc, Hill; hc, Alton; c, McConaghey. TKD., YELL. (12): 1, Davies, mkd. wings and head, ablaze with col., delightfully clothed, rare shape and size, tight as a Java, Sheffield 1st week previous; 2, W. H. Howe, variegs., the old warrior of last year, captured many 1sts, and wears well, capable of doing a lot of winning yet; 3, Cook, mkd. head, full of qual., like a ball of fire, very shapely and stylish, grand finish; 4, Thomas, lightly variegs., cobby, excellent qual. and col., moves finely; vhc, Hill; hc, Wrigley; c, Prince. BUFF (7): 1, 2, Cook, charming brace, leader mkd. wings and eyes, demon for col., superb feather and mealing, round as a ball, graceful carriage, eye opener, the Sheffield winner, 2nd mkd. wing, red hot, good size and carr., capital qual., rare shaped body, perhaps not quite so full in head and neck; 3, Wrigley, mkd. wing, root of tail, and head, well up in substance, A1 qual., neatly frosted, moves well, beaten a trifle in symmetry; 4, Adnitt and Driver, mkd. wing, cobby, splendid qual. and col., not a feather misplaced; vhc, Sharpe; hc, Gilbert; c, Senior. YELL. HEN (11): 1, Cook, cl., marvellous substance, exquisite qual. and col., grand head and neck, fine expanding deep chest, delightful wing carriage, knock out; 2, Thomas, mkd. wings, tail, and eyes, well up in size, lovely texture of feather, full of col., all front, stood 1st Sheffield, close up; 3, Davies, mkd. head, A1 col. and qual., fine shaped body, neat wing carriage, nice head and neck; 4, Barraclough, mkd. neck, short and thick set, capital feather and col., fair size; vhc, Whittaker; hc, Proctor; c, Hill. BUFF (7): 1, Whittaker, mkd. wing and head, rare size, grand col., feather, and frosting, sweetly moulded, lovely carr., shows to perfection; 2, Symonds and Son, very shapely cl., capital feather and col., jaunty carriage, well across perch, nice size; 3, Vaughan, cl., tight as a Java, A1 qual. and col., nice shape and style, fairly deep in chest; 4, Hill, green, silky texture of feather, shapely, nice substance, worth her place; vhc, Bowler; hc, Twine Bros.; c, Pearce. UNFLIG. YELL. (9): 1, Wrigley, thigh mkd., grand shape and carr., well up in size, delightful feather and col., beautiful finish; 2, Cook, mkd. neck, lovely col. and feather, very shapely, full of style, fine substance, even fuller in head and neck, must have pressed; 3, vhc, Proctor, warmly fed cl., silky texture of feather, grand head and neck, wee bit longer; 4, Senior, beautifully clothed cl., rich in col., cobby and neat, in the pink; hc, Adnitt and Driver; c, Barraclough, red hot cl., true type, A1 feather and size, we thought could have gone up. BUFF (8): 1, Howe, cl., wonderful frame, magnificent feather and col., lovely from tip of toe to end of beak, will want stopping, one of the "nuts"; 2, McConaghey, mkd. wing and head, still more col., capital feather, neatly frosted, moves nicely, good body, bit "sour" in head character; 3, Whittaker, very shapely cl., rich tone of col., delightful feather, not the size, certainly, but we thought pressed 2nd very hard; 4, Proctor, red hot cl., silky texture, capital subs.; vhc, Hill; hc, Hayhurst; c, Prince. NAT. COL. CK. (13): 1, Hayhurst, cl. buff, bonneer, round as an apple, magnificent feather, rich col., lovely carr., gem; 2, Herbert, cl. yell., well up in col. and qual., grand shaped body, fair head and neck; 3, Wrigley, model of a cl. yell., delightfully clothed, well up in size, grand carr., A1 col. and finish; 4, McKail, buff mkd. head, capital feather, very shapely, A1 carr., clean cut away, not the substance; vhc, Springhall; hc, Lee; c, Huggins. HEN (8): 1, Cook, variegs. yell., true shape, superb feather and col., fine subs. and carr., well shown, Manchester winner; 2, Howe, lightly variegs. yell., A1 feather and col., nice subs., wee bit longer in body, yet very charming; 3, Davies, yell., mkd eyes and root of tail, full of col. and qual., sweet expression of head, thick neck, bold front, shade smaller; 4, Thomas, well clothed cl., very shapely, nice action, capital col., again on the small side; vhc, Alton; hc, McConaghey; c, Gerrard. AMATEUR: YELL. (24): Very choice class: 1, Bradley, mkd. wing, superb col. and feather, grand subs. and shape, free action, regular swell; 2, Brown, variegs., ablaze with col., rich texture of feather, well up in size, neat head and neck; 3, Fielding, warmly fed cl., silky feather, lovely body and carriage, loses bit in head and neck; 4, Bond, variegs., good size, qual., and col., shapely, not far behind; vhc, Cooper; hc, Hitchin; c, Drury. BUFF (21): Again a hot lot: 1, Miss A. Scott, lightly variegs., teeming with qual. and col., grand shape, size, and carr., real beauty; 2, Philpot, cobby thigh tkd., lovely feather and col., A1 carr., clean cut away, not quite so large; 3, Hitchin, almost green, capital qual. and col., more subs., nice head, neck and chest, bit square behind; 4, Fielding, well fed, slightly variegated, rare quality, good subs., nice body; vhc, Hopcroft; hc, Bond; c, Kirkby and Son; No. 9, Worthington, very bonny cl., minus a claw, but many though might have got in. YELL. HEN (19): 1, Boaler, cl. of rare subs., col., and quality, lovely contour, capital carr., dainty damsel; 2, Scott, red hot variegs., A1 feather, grand shape, one of the best, very close up; 3, Stafford, mkd. head, short and thick set, silky feather, full of style, would do with more col., nice size; 4, Fennell, variegs., rare subs. and col.; superb feather, neat head and neck, good chest, longer in barrel; vhc, Drury; hc, Fildes; c, McKail. BUFF (23): Choice array: 1, Philpot, mkd wing, rattling subs., exquisite col. and qual., delightful shape and carr., grand exhibition; 2, Boaler, mkd., wing, neck, and eyes, good shape, col., and qual., nice carr., hardly so close in feather, yet close up; 3, Blease and Son, mkd. head, cobby and of excellent carr., capital qual. and mealing, behind in substance; 4, Grey, well fed cl., good size, fair body shape, not nice expression of head, neat carr.; vhc, Hopwood Bros.; hc, Fielding; c, Fennell. UNFLIG. YELL. (21): Many very promising birds here: 1, Lee, cl. of great warmth, feathered to perfection, wonderful size and shape, A1 carr.; 2, Boaler, cl., magnificent feather and col., very shapely, not the size, yet one of great merit; 3, Hitchin, mkd. wings and head, massive in frame, grand shaped body, fine carriage, rich feather and col., fails little in head and neck; 4, Huggins, mkd. head, ablaze with colour, rattling feather, fine head and neck, lacking somewhat in chest properties; vhc, Simpson and Vertigan; hc, Smith; c, Fildes. BUFF (21): 1, Bradley, bouncing cl., teeming with qual. and col., delightful shape and carr., could win at many open shows; 2, Grey, cl., short and thick set, jaunty carriage, tight as wax, hot, beaten in substance only; 3, Blease and Son, mkd. eye, full of fire, cobby, A1 quality, well put down; 4, Fielding, mkd eyes, ablaze with col., shapely, good texture of feather, nice carriage; vhc, Scott; hc, Garbutt; c, Stafford. LIZARDS, GOLD CL. CAP. (8): 1, Ollerenshaw, rich ground col., grand shape and size, delightfully rowed, sweet carriage; 2, Barnes, very shapely, good size and carr., full of neat work, not quite the richness of col., still pressed hard; 3, Hamer, good subs. and shape, free action, neat rowing; 4, Rukin, full of col., lovely qual., grand shape, prettily and profusely spangled, should have been higher, we thought; vhc, Hampshire; hc, Ditto; c, Ditto. SIL. CL. (12): 1, Rukin, rattling shape and size, delightful col. and rowing, one of the finest we have seen for many a day; 2, Hampshire, even more subs., sweetly moulded, evenly rowed, rich body col.; 3, Rukin, superior col., well up in size, profusely mkd., bit soft when taking notice; 4, Hamer, good in feather, shape, col., and qual., graceful action, neat spangling; vhc, Ollerenshaw; hc, Barnes; c, Pickering. G. BK. (9): 1, 4, Ollerenshaw, with a choice pair, full of fire, superb quality, rare shape and size, magnificently rowed, beautiful shape, full of neat work, but for damaged tail feathers no doubt would have been higher up; 2, Hamer, sweetly moulded, A1 qual., nice size and carr., lovely rowing; 3, c, Barnes, shapely, capital qual., col., and spangling; vhc, Bosworth; hc, Hampshire. SIL. BK. (12): 1, 3, Rukin, brace of beauties, lender the bird that was so ill at Grantham, now in condition, real "knock out" all through, we are extremely pleased to record its quick recovery; 3, full of qual. and col., nice shape, neatly rowed, not far behind; 2, 4, vhc, Ollerenshaw, fine trio, splendid shape, rattling spangling, bold and distinct, full of nerve, hardly so rich in col. as winner, 4th beautifully rowed, good size and shape; hc, Hampshire; c, Pickering.

Mr. T. Heath's Classes.

BUFF (9): 1, 3, spl, Fitton, cl., giant, delightful qual. and subs., marvellous skull of great width and density, profusely lashed, stood 1st Manchester we believe; 3, cl., nice length and subs., fails in skull to its stable companion, yet full of merit; 2, Maitland and Vickers, cl., lovely qual., grand body subs., beaten a little in skull, neat lash; 4, Kay, cl., true character but rather diminutive, A1 qual., in the pink; vhc, Green; hc, c, Hordern.

Mr. G. E. Weston's Classes.

CL. ETC. CAN. HYB. (7): 1, 2, Martin and Archer, the noted clear Linuet and lightly grizzled Greenfinch, two gems of their kind, in very perfect condition, much admired; 3, Pearce, almost 6-pointed jonque Goldie-Can., the celebrated "Prince Charlie," magnificent size, very stylish, ablaze with col., carries rare polish; 4, vhc, Gilbert, two almost clear buff Goldie-Cans., trifle small, but otherwise lovely exhibits, beautiful shape, col. and qual., hard luck to meet leaders; hc, and members' spl., Hayter. DARK (10): 1, c, Somerfield, the well-known jonque Greenie, winner of about 50 firsts, grand size, style and col., not quite fit yet; 2, 4, Martin and Archer, leader the Palace winning jonque Goldie, gem of its kind, also not quite ready, pen feathers in face; 4th, big shapely Siskin, well mkd., trifle flat in col.; 3, Hayter, jonque Greenie, excellent size and shape, lovely tone of col., all of a shimmer with qual., unfortunately takes the perches none too well; vhc, Bowler; hc, Kitchener. A.O.V. HYB. (6): 1, sp, Martin and Archer, the Greenfinch-Chaffinch, often described, bonnie exhibit, in lovely order, a great attraction; 2, Hayter, real nice Linnet-Bullie, good size, fine col., well mkd.; 3, J. M. Walsh, Can.-Bullie, jonque, on the small side, exquisite col. and condition, shines like silk; 4, Holmes, very big buff Can.-Bullie, lovely shape, a baby, fails to-day in col. and polish, promising bird; vhc, Gilbert; wrong class, Mrs. Mallatrat, we understand is said to be a variegated Can.-Bullie, and if so should be in class 59. BRIT. GOLD. (8): 1, sp, Pitchford and Stocker, charming bird, expansive square-cut blaze, lovely tone of col., stylish, shapely, rich tan, well mkd., in beautiful condition, wins hands down; 2, Fletcher, good stamp, fine blaze, well cut, nice col., rich in chestnut, not in the highest condition, and inclined to be unsteady; 3, Allen, not so forward, will probably beat 2nd later, nice big face, good cobby body, finely mkd.; 4, Brooks, loses trifle in under-blaze, otherwise close up, good Finch; vhc, Bowler; hc, Reynolds; c, Lovatt and Mason; wrong class, Hexter, a mistaken entry, palpably a foreigner. BULLFINCH (8): 1, 3, Woods, leader perfect gem, medium size, lovely cobby shape, splendid carriage, bold head and neck, dense well-cut cap and bib, very hot even breast col., not a feather awry, polished like glass; 3rd, bigger, magnificent shape and style, very dense breast colour, but not quite so fiery in tone as winners, grand bird, would have been second but for some untidy feathers on back, due, maybe, to soap in the wash, both house-moulted; 2, P. Walsh, correct cobby type, well across perch, nice size, splendid bold head and front, fine cap, good and level in breast colour, staged in great form, waxlike in plumage; 4, Gilbert, another grand bird, beautiful type, col. and markings, A1 condition; vhc, Marley; hc, Martin and Faux; c, Brooks; No. 4, looking soft. LINNET (14): 1, vhc, Marley, leader magnificent size and shape, perfect style, fine cond., very sound in col., but a little on the dark side, chock-ful of work from top to bottom; 2, P. Walsh, hardly the size, plenty of work all over, prominent whites, lovely nutty col., grand polish, coming into fine form; 3, Lovatt and Mason, very rich and sound in col., carries beautiful polish, grand shape and style, but on the small side and deficient in pencilling; 4, Brade, grand size, good sound col., profusely, though finely, pencilled, excellent cond., pressed 3rd hard, but does not show well, faces cage back too much; hc, Mrs. Pyrah; c, J. M. Walsh. GREENFINCH (10): 1, P. Walsh, really magnificent jonque, big, very thick set, tight as wax in plumage, lovely tone of colour, not spoiled with pepper, grand wings, bold head and neck, steady as a top, ran Goldie close for the special, his show cage could be improved upon; 2, 4, Brade, two clinkers, leader trifle smaller, well fed, nice tone of col., very bold shape, plenty of gold in wings and tail, 4 also a bonny bird; 3, Marley, buff, nicely fed, exquisite qual. and condition, very shapely and stylish, but on small side; vhc, Hayter; hc, Mrs. Pyrah; c, Pilgrim. TWITE, ETC. LEYTON.

First Open Show held Nov. 7 and 8, and proved to be a distinct success. The venue chosen for the occasion was the Grange Park Hall, a roomy building, but its capacity was stretched to the utmost to contain the very fine entry of nearly 700 birds. Norwich and Yorks. had the most conspicuous positions, and although there was a good entry of clubby ones, the long slim Yorkies were far more numerous, most of the classes being well filled. The unflighted class contained twenty-eight charmers. The winner, staged by Mr. Green, of New Southgate, was a very fine specimen, Mr. Pattrick's beauty (first Cheltenham) standing cardless, although its aviary companion secured the second position. Mr. Jones, Walthamstow, had out an exceptionally hot team, scoring four firsts and other positions in very high company. Messrs. Hawes Bros., did well, and other winners were Messrs. Salter, Rorke, Easterling and Carson, Cook, Atkins, Smith, Foxen, etc. Novice classes were hardly so well supported, although some good birds were put down. Norwich were good, Mr. Morris, Stoke Newington, doing well. Mr. Rippon, Chelmsford, also annexed a few of the desired awards. The novice men filled all their classes with some very fine specimens. We missed the classes of Borders, which have now become a feature of all London Shows, one only, in the A.O.V. class, represented this popular variety in the open. Members made a big entry and staged some charming specimens. The cup winners for best unflighted birds were as follows: Champion, Mr. C. H. Bennett, with a very fine Yorkie; Amateur, Mr. H. W. Burbridge, also with a Yorkie; Novice, Mr. W. Dalton, with a very typical high col. Norwich; British Bird Cup, Mr. A. J. A. Marley; Novice British, Mr. G. Oliver. The management was of the best and only what one would expect from such well-known fanciers, as Messrs. Cooper, Marshall, Dalton, Pettit, Burbidge, Parr, Hellens, Swankley, Parker, Marley, Morris, etc. The worthy president, Mr. S. C. Rhodes also lent valuable assistance. Messrs. Forse and Son undertook the secretarial duties and carried the work out in a very efficient way. Mrs. Marley paid special attention to the feeding of the British soft bills which looked well under her care. The hall was packed with visitors during both days, and the venture should prove a financial success. Mr. Robson judged Canaries, and Mr. Frostick British, etc.

MR. J. FROSTICK'S CLASSES.

British birds made a grand display. Greenfinches and Insectivorous were specially fine classes, the latter containing a couple of good Dartford Warblers, an adult bird of Mr. Adams' securing 1st and special for best softbill. Though the quality of the exhibits generally was of a very high standard, the entries were not nearly so numerous as they should have been with such an excellent schedule provided, many prominent Metropolitan exhibitors preferring to send their birds hundreds of miles away to risking their treasures having to cross London. Foreign birds were a complete failure, both in numbers and, with few exceptions, in quality, and this in London town, too, so noted for exotic birds of rarity. With a specialist judge to place the cards, we had hoped for better things.

GOLDFINCH (12): 1, sp, Harris, Cheltenham winner, bonny Finch, improving daily; 2, vhc, Hinson, good all-round, but not so forward; 3, Stephens, fails in col. of blaze; 4, Mortara, excellent col., fails a little in width of skull; hc, Offord; c, Sarling. BULLFINCH (6): 1, Carrier, one of the best out this season, rich colour, splendid cap, and steady as a rock, wins; 2, Harris, lovely col., fails in cap, but will improve; 3, Roby, nice bird, not so good in head properties; 4, Marley, not quite rich enough in col.; vhc, Sadler; hc, Orange. GREENFINCH (12): 1, sp, 3, Marley, leader nicely fed yell., good size and shape; 3rd, well known buff which, for a buff, falls in nothing but size; 2, Harris, yell., grand qual., not over steady, will improve, beak would be all the better if trimmed; 4, Botting, slashing natural col. bird, should make a topper given time; vhc, Hellens; hc, Orange; c, Pettet. LINNET (6): 1, Nicholas, exceedingly rich in col., marvellous quality, shines like satin, trifle open in breast work, but a grand bird; 2, 3, Marley, leader beautiful markings, both losing here in richness of col. and size; 4, Cormick; vhc, Hall; hc, Hellens. CHAFFINCH, ETC. (9): 1, 2, Marley, beautiful Chaffinch, real topper, staged to perfection; 2nd, very nice Bramblefinch; 3, vhc, Hull, both Bramblies, fail in condition; 4, Botting, good Bramble, loses a bit in col.; hc, c, March. SISKIN, ETC. (7): 1, Marley, grand Twite, lovely markings, rich col., well put down; 2, Nicholas, gem of a Redpoll, nice even tone of col.; 3, Sadler, Twite; 4, Woodcock, Twite; vhc, Sadler, the only Siskin in the class, but not a bouncer or would have gone up; hc, Hull; c, Botting. HAWFINCH (3): 1, sp, Harris, well-known champion, scoring yet another easy victory; 2, 3, Marley, leader good col., fails size to winner. A.S. BUNTING (5): 1, sp, Marley, yellow, good col., fine well-defined head marks; 2, Botting, Lapland, not one of the biggest, but nicely marked; 3, Ford, yellow, close up to winner; 4, Harris, yellow, would be improved by feeding. SOFTBILL (small) (10): best class seen this season; 1, sp, Adams, Dartford Warbler, charming little bird, in full adult rich coloured plumage; 2, hc, Rose, delightfully steady, grand coloured Yellow Wagtail, well shown, and good Redstart; 3, Mortlock, grand Blackcap, rare size, rich cap, in the pink; 4, vhc, Puck, Whitethroat and Blackcap, beautifully shown; latter fails in size to 3rd, other points equal; vhc, Evans, another Dartford Warbler, and a good one, but not yet matured; hc, Askew, splendid Shore Lark, but outclassed here; c, Andrews Bros., artistically staged pair of Bearded Tits. A.O.S. (6): 1, 2, 3, vhc, Marley, grand team comprising Blackbird, Song Thrush, Great Grey Shrike, and Fieldfare, all beautifully staged, and fit to win in any company; 4, Woodcock, very excellent Starling. HEN HARDBILL (4): 1, sp., 4, bonny Corn Bunting, we've seen larger, but never one so beautifully coloured; 2, Marley, sweet little Redpoll; 3, Askew, pretty Siskin; 4, Orange, Bullfinch. FOR. (small) (5): 1, Ward, Java Sparrows; 2, Miss Whitbread, Zebras; 3, Sheldon, Russian Goldfinch; 4, Woodcock, Striated Finches; vhc, Puck. LARGE (4): 1, sp, Puck, well-known Shama, a splendid specimen; 2, 3, 4, Reed, Glossy Starling, Cowbird, and Virginian Cardinal in the order named. HYB. LIGHT CAN. (4): 1, Lamb, lightly marked Goldfinch in rare form, well staged; 2, Archer, good Greenfinch-Can.; 3, Botting, samo variety as winner; 4, Mortlock. DARK (11): 1, sp, Howick, well-known Can.-Bull.; 2, hc, Smith, both good col., well marked Siskin-Can.; 3, Lamb, Can.-Bull., fails in condition; 4, Edwards; vhc, c, Cornick. A.O.V. (6): 1, 2, Lamb, both well-known, Goldfinch-Bullfinch and Redpoll-Goldfinch, often described; 3, Askew, nice little Redpoll-Siskin; 4, Archer, Goldfinch-Bullfinch; vhc, Edwards, Linnet-Bullfinch, with severe cold in one eye, or would have gone up; wrong class, No. 3, undoubtedly a foreign hen Grosbeak.

BELFAST O.S.

47th annual exhibition of Canaries in the Clarence Place Hall, 2nd Nov. The great bulk of the birds were Scotch Fancies, and some really fine specimens were shown, notably the yellow piebald cock belonging to Mr. R. Trimble, which was awarded the cup; in the judge's opinion this is one of the best Scotch Fancies ever bred in Ireland. Mr. Trimble was also runner-up with a fine yellow foul hen. In Norwich the quality was average, no bird standing out prominently. Some excellent specimens were exhibited in the mule classes. Mr. J. Rock judged Scotch Fancy classes, and Mr. J. E. Adams the other classes, the awards giving general satisfaction. The exhibition, which was under the supervision of Mr. R. Trimble (president) and Mr. J. Ronaldson (secretary), was well patronised by visitors.

AMBLE.

Annual Show held Nov. 9th, when entries were much the same as in former years, and some grand birds were staged. The Council Hall, in which the Show was held, is an ideal place, well lighted and no draughts. In the following officers the Society has plenty of talent with which to carry out a successful show:—President, Mr. A. Anderson; committee, Messrs. Lightly, Goggie, Morgan, Aston, and Hume; treasurer, Mr. J. P. Whittle; secretary, Mr. J. Crackett. Quite a good gate was crowning their endeavours to run the show successfully. They are much indebted to the Amble public, who, we learn, have responded well to the Society's appeal for specials, etc. Mr. A. Dippie (Morpeth) judged, and his awards seemed to give entire satisfaction.

FALKIRK.

Annual show of the Falkirk O.S. held November 2. The show proved a great success, the entries being twenty over last year. Mr. J. D. Maxwell won the Scotch Fancy cup with a nice yellow piebald cock, and Mr. P. Maxwell was runner-up with a nice green hen. Mr. G. Paterson won the Norwich cup, Mr. Hutton being runner-up. Mr. A. McDougall won the Border cup. The judges were: Scotch Fancy, Messrs. A. Price, Barrhead, and J. Hendry, Leith; C. Campbell, Glasgow, Norwich, Border, Mules, and British.

WOOLSTON.

Annual show, open to the county of Hants, held Nov. 6 in the Victoria Hall. There was a capital entry, and the arrangements were excellent. The chief drawback was the somewhat indifferent light, this being chiefly attributable to structural arrangements. Mr. F. G. Etheridge makes a splendid hon. secretary, his assistant, Mr. G. Lock, also taking an energetic part in the management. The committee were Messrs. F. West, F. W. Batt, A. E. King, A. Roberts, E. Etheridge, W. Taylor, H. Newman, J. Blaxall, A. Standing, J. Welsh, R. E. Hardy, D. Callaway, H. Dear, W. J. White, and H. Stockley. The show was opened in the afternoon by the President (J. N. Campbell, Esq.) in a felicitous speech, and hearty thanks were accorded to him for his interest in the society. The quality, especially in the Yorkshire classes, was really tiptop, the specials for best cage bird in show, best cage bird shown by a member, and best Yorkshire in show all falling to a grand bird exhibited by Mr. L. B. Yates. Norwich were nice classes for quality; and there were some rattling exhibits in the novice classes. In the British bird section Mr. J. Welch exhibited a magnificent Nightingale, which justly secured special. Woolston Society has reason to be proud of the grand display, and one and all may congratulate themselves upon the results of their labours. Mr. Geo. Gardner judged.

The Critique.

NOR. CK.: 1, hc, Jupe, winner yell., nice shape, rare qual., col.; 2, White, buff, nice shape, scarcely so compact or well staged; 3, Etheridge, neat buff, hardly so good in qual.; vhc, Adams; c, Brown. HEN: 1, Jupe, yellow, fine quality of feather, nice shape, a neat hen; 2, Page, yell., hardly so rich in qual., still nice; vhc, hc, White. 1912 CK.: 1, spl, Jupe, a sweet bird, rare type, full of colour and nice in leather; 2, Foyle, good but for a hinge tail; 3, White, again a good bird, has the same habit; this is a great fault in a Norwich, and stops many an otherwise good bird; vhc, Weekes; hc, c, Hartnell. C. OR C.B.: 1, spl, Tomes, fairly nice frontal crest, somewhat handicapped by horns; vhc, Cawte. YORKS CL. YELL. CK.: 1, spl, Yates, a wonder, up like a rocket, rare qual.; 2, vhc, hc, Adams, another grand position bird, handicapped by a little too much frill. What a number of Yorkies are showing this frill this season! Is it the dawn of the era of honesty? BUFF: 1, four spls, vhc, Yates, quick, nervy, grand positioned bird, splendidly cut away, long behind leg, neat head, and gets up beautifully; 2, Egerton, grand bird, wing carr. hardly so nice as winners; 3, c, Adams, not quite the length or the display of leg, but very neat and nicely moulded; hc, Grant; a fine class. TKD. ETC. CK.: 1, 3, vhc, Adams, leader grand position, rare length of side and behind the leg; 2, Grant, very sweet, captivating, but hardly the length at all points; hc, White; c, Lomer. HENS: 1, 3, hc, Adams, a fine team of hens, 1st tapers beautifully and full of nerve; 2, Yates, just a trifle slack at waist, but very shapely and nervy; vhc, E. Etheridge; c, G. H. Etheridge. 1912: 1, c, Adams, good upstanding yell., lovely feather, nervy, and neat; 2, Holliday, grand style, just a trifle slack in feather; 3, E. Etheridge, buff, beautiful shape and action, well shown; vhc, hc, Yates. MULE: 1, spl, Dr. Weekes, good Greenie Can.; 2, Page, Goldie Can.; vhc, Yates; hc, W. J. White; c, S. White. NOV. CLASSES—NOR.: 1, Mrs. M. Etheridge, ticked buff, very fine undercolour and nice feather and type; 2, Foyle, good cl.; vhc, Hartnell; hc, Othen. YORKS: 1, spl, 3, Mrs. Wainwright, two neat birds, winner best style, position and leg; 2, Othen, buff, nice pose, trifle frilly and open; vhc, Mrs. M. Etheridge; hc, W. J. Etheridge; c, Egerton. GOLDIE: 1, spl, Etheridge, nice face bars and buttons, brightest and best toned Finch; 2, White, not so good in face, but a neat Finch; vhc, Shephard. BULLIE: 1, White, best col., none too stout; 2, Mrs. M. Etheridge, loses a trifle in colour; vhc, Flintoft. GREENIE: 1, 2, White, two nice-coloured Greenies, hardly substance enough. LINNET, SIS., ETC.: 1, 2, White, Linnet and Redpoll respectively, nice colour, etc.; vhc, Shenhard. A.O.S.: 1, spl, Welch, magnificent 'Gale, steady as a Lord Chief Justice, saucy and fearless, rich in col., in lovely trim, a credit to its owner; 2, Lomer, good Yell. Bunting, well shown; 3, hc, White; hc, Mrs. W. J. White. FOR.: 1, spl, Standing, Cockatoo, in nice feather; 2, vhc, Slade, the former a nice Pekin Robin; hc, Flinoff.

CLYDEBANK AND DISTRICT O.S.

Twenty-sixth annual show, held in the Co-operative Hall, Hume Street, November 9, under the distinguished patronage of the following: A. Acland Allan, Esq., M.P., Col. H. Brock, W. D. Black, Esq., D. Cameron, Esq., Mrs. Stark, Clyde Bank Co-operative Society, and others. Judges: Messrs. D. Black, Govan, A. Nisbet, Golston, J. Watson, Glasgow, W. Webster, Greenock; secretary, A. Kirkwood, 148, Kilbowie Road. There were twelve classes for young birds and four for old, with an entry of 150 birds, which was quite up to last year, and quality was above the average. Secretary Kirkwood and his committee had all the show arrangements up to date. The hall is situated in the centre of the town, with abundance of accommodation and light, and is an ideal hall for a bird show. The hall was crowded, many well-known fanciers being present, and a fair number of ladies graced the show with their presence. The cup and gold badge was won with a yell. pied cock, owned by Mr. G. T. Campbell, good size and top end, nice length of side, sweet head and neck, splendid droop, the runner-up being a typical foul buff hen, same owner. The judge's awards seemed to give general satisfaction, with one or two exceptions, where the birds appeared not quite through moult. The show was a great success, the gate proving very satisfactory.

LOWESTOFT.

24th annual show, held at the Swimming Baths, South Lowestoft, Nov. 6 and 7, open to Norfolk Suffolk, Essex, and Cambridgeshire. Entries were fairly good, and amongst them there were some very nice exhibits. The show was well attended by the public, and several fanciers from Norwich were amongst the visitors. The committee would very much like to see more of the Norwich fanciers exhibiting at this show another year, as they give a liberal classification, and the exhibits are well looked after by Messrs. Hart, Kirk, Rackham, and others. Many thanks are due to Mr. Crow, the energetic secretary, who spares himself no trouble to see that everything goes on all right. Mr. W. E. Greeves placed the awards, and gave every satisfaction. Mr. Linder won the Rev. Dickson's Memorial cup for most points in Canary section.

OLD SHILDON.

Annual show, held in the Workmen's Club, Nov. 8 and 9. A fine spacious room was provided, lofty, well lighted, and free from all draughts, and nicely heated with hot water pipes. The exhibits could be seen with every comfort, and their wants were well attended to by a large and enthusiastic committee; in fact, the management throughout was of a highly satisfactory character. The entries were not large, due, we think, to the somewhat limited classification, e.g., Norwich and Yorkshire hens in one class. Mr. Elwell, the secretary, was, as usual, courteous and hard-working. Messrs. Gray Bros. made the awards, but in many of the classes we could not follow them. Members had only one class, but every exhibit was awarded a prize: 37 entries and the value of the 37th prize was 13s. Prizes were all of value, and consisted of clocks, cruets, vases, teapots, blankets, cases of cutlery, carpets, bags, umbrellas, hams, boots, travelling rugs, coal vases and kettles, the lowest prize being a pair of handsome copper kettles.

GOVANHILL AND DISTRICT O.S.

7th show, held in the Lesser Dixon Hall, on Nov. 2. President, Wm. Tennant; vice, John McMichael; sec. and treas., Charles C. Watson. Judges, Jas. Carlaw (Falkirk), J. Dalgleish (Edinboro'), and John Park (Govan). There was a considerable falling off in the number of entries compared with last year, due to a bad season's breeding. Some typical Scots Fancies were staged. The first yell. cock runner-up for the cup, the first yell. hen cup winner, belonging to Mr. James Vernall, are a pair of capital birds, and real good types. Sec. Watson had all his arrangements made to perfection, the birds being nicely staged along the south end of the hall. The latter is well adapted for show purposes in every way. During the afternoon the show was well patronised, there being a large turn out of visitors. The awards gave all round satisfaction. Ex-Councillor Dr. Garey handed the prizes over to the successful winners.

WHITEHAVEN.

A record collection greeted exhibitors and visitors who attended the 14th annual exhibition held Nov. 8 and 9 in the Oddfellows' Hall, a spacious well adapted room. Norwich were well represented, a fine collection of typical birds filling the classes. This being one of the patronage shows of the W.Y.C.C., the cream of the members' birds, as well as those of several leading Yorkshire exhibitors, were forward. The champion section contained birds of exceptional merit. Only 19 birds put in an appearance in the three novice classes. Bords. with the exception of the unevenly marked classes were good, both in numbers and quality, the medal for best member's bird being awarded to the buff ock belonging to Mr. Rae, of Embleton; special for best of opposite sex falling to a lovely yellow hen belonging to Mr. Harding, Harrington. British were also nice classes, the two Linnet classes being exceptionally good ones. The committee responsible for the carrying out of the show consists of Messrs. J. Ellwood (chairman), T. Brown, J. Kelly, W. Levason and T. D. Ayre, who with Mr. W. T. Douglas as secretary, spared themselves in no way to merit success, being indefatigable in working, and courteous and obliging in every respect. Prize money was paid out to all exhibitors present, absent ones having it forwarded within a few days. The judges were: Borders, Mr. Harry Davidson, Lockerbie; remainder, Mr. J. H. Roe, Derby.

EXETER C.B.S.

Sixtb annual members' show, Nov. 2, in the Market Hall. Entries came up well, especially in Norwich, Yorkshires, and Finches. The former contained some old winners in open competition, most notably Mr. Middleton's buff cock. Yorks. were a grand lot, and those belonging to Mr. Elston were capable of holding their own in any competition. Mr. Marshall also staged a grand team of Mules, other well-known winners being Miss Joseph's Jonque Goldfinch Canary, and lightly variegated. ditto. Goldfinches were the finest lot seen in the county, and Crest were an even lot, the winning Crest possessing a grandly radiated Dk. Crest of beautiful texture. The other sections were not far behind, if anything. The Norwich cup was won with a shapely unflighted yell. cock of Mr. Jas. Martin, who secured most of the honours in this section with a fine team. The Yorks. cup was won by Mr. A. Elston again with an unflighted. Like the former, this exhibitor staged a grand team; one, a grand buff, cardless owing to his wild condition, could win at most shows. The Crest cup was won by Mr. J. Johnson; Mule cup, Mr. Franks, and British cup, Mr. R. D. Chudley, with a fine Hawfinch. Mr. Pope judged to the satisfaction of everyone.

FORFAR.

Third annual show held in the Masonic Hall, Nov. 9, under the patronage of the S.P.C., B.F.C.C., and S.B.B. and M.C. The entry was very poor considering the classification and prize-money offered —£1 per class. The entry totalled 303 in 36 classes, 70 down on last year, the falling-off being mostly in Border Section. The hall is a splendid one for the purposes of a show, being well lighted from the roof, the birds being well staged round the sides of the hall and down the centre. The executive are a rare set of workers. Mr. John Bowman, the genial President, was the life of the show, and did everything in his power to make the wheels go smoothly. The Vice-President, Mr. Kennedy, was also working hard to the same end, while the committee, Messrs. Fyfe, Kydd, Ily. Bowman, Simson, and Anderson, were all in attendance and kept the work well in hand. Quality was of the best, and included many of the Brechin winners of the previous Saturday. The Border Cup winner at Brechin was beaten for the Forfar Cup, and the decision caused a lot of excited comment among the visitors, many of whom expressed an opinion that a mistake had been made. The awards in certain of the Border classes seemed to meet with some little disapprobation. The Bowman Rose Bowl for best Norwich was won by Mr. Smeaton with his splendid non-fed yellow cock; Bowman medallion for best Norwich of opposite sex to cup winner by Mr. Grewar's unflighted buff hen. Mr. Smeaton also won S.P.C. medal for best cock, and Mr. George Mitchell medal for best hen. Mr. George Steven annexed Sandiford's medal, and also Hyde's teapot. Border Cup was won by Mr. Henderson, Buckhaven, the runner-up being Mr. John Craig, B.F.C.C. medal was won by Mr. T. Arnott, Kirkcaldy. The judges were:—Norwich, Mr. Sloan, Glasgow; Borders, Mr. Peters, Buckhaven; British, etc., Mr. W. Bishop, Stirling. The secretary, Mr. D. Kerr, had all his arrangements well forward, and made a very good start for a novice.

MAIDENHEAD.

Annual show, held Nov. 6 and 7, in the Skating Rink. Entries were about the same as last year, but it was a great pity Windsor and Oxford shows clashed, which must have made a difference to entries. The fee of 2s. for 10s., 5s. and 2s. 6d. prizes may have kept entries away. Birds were staged by Messrs. J. W. Goldsmith and G. W. Baylis, who well looked after their wants. Mr. T. WARRINGTON.

Held Nov. 9, in the Kendrick Street Schools, a compact, well lighted room, and well heated, perhaps a little too hot in the afternoon. The show was very strong in the Yorkshire section, and in the champion classes some of the champions of the day were on view. Novice classes were exceptionally strong in both Yorks. and Norwich. Norwich champion classes did not fill well, although there were some grand birds amongst them. The Greens, Yorks., and Norwich were cancelled, not having the Green Club patronage. Border Fancies were really good, the Green class being a very fine one. Mules and Hybrids were good, and here we saw one or two notably good birds taking a back seat. British in the five classes which stood were very good, and in the Goldfinch, etc., class one or two "crack" Finches were left out of the tickets, one notably, Mr. A. P. Hurst's well-known winning Goldie. In the A.O.V. Hardbill class, a splendid Waxwing won. Surely a mistake has arisen here somehow. The officials worked well, and had matters well in hand all through, and the only annoyance came through the printer failing to complete the catalogue properly, which left many disappointed who visited the show. Mr. Wellings judged Norwich, Mules, and British, and Mr. Battye Yorkshires, Borders, etc., and in one or two instances only did we hear adverse comment, the awards generally being well received.

GRANGEMOUTH.

A record entry: Referee has to decide upon special winner.

The Grangemouth and Dis. O.S. held their fourteenth annual show, Nov. 9, which we must vote a great success. Notwithstanding the enforced cancellation of all of the six Scotch Fancy classes, they still had a record entry of over 500 birds, and not a bad one amongst the lot. The show was housed in the Town Hall, than which we know of no better for the purpose. The lighting from roof and sides is all that could be desired, and the comfort for exhibits and exhibitors alike is par excellence. There was a rare tussle for the cup for best Bord. or Nor., Mr. Chalmers championing the Border and Mr. Winter the Norwich. As neither would give way a referee was called in to settle the matter, with the result that the cup was given to Mr. Wilson's (Bannockburn) Border. Cup for best Crest or C.B. was won by Mr. Moir's young Crestbred cock, a bird which we predict will be heard of again. Mr. Bell won cup in the Mule, Brit. and For. classes with his four-pointed Goldfinch, a popular win. Mr. Smart, the President, a name to conjure with in the Norwich world, is the right man in the right place, and he did yeoman service to make the show the success it undoubtedly was. Mr. Scaife, the Treas., another well-known exhibitor, was a willing and hard worker, whilst Mr. Woodhouse, the able and energetic secretary, has little to learn in the way of seeing to the comfort and convenience of exhibitors and visitors alike. He was ably assisted by a committee of good workers, amongst whom we noted Messrs. J. Reid, G. Matthews, J. Moreland, J. Penman, J. Veitch, J. Menzies, D. Meikel, J. M'Pherson, J. M. Aitken, and J. Milne. The judges were: Bord., Mr. A. Chalmers (Kirkintilloch), Nor. and Crests, Mr. J. Winter (Edinburgh), and Mules, Brit. and For., Mr. P. McQuiston (Ayr), and their awards were very well received, and we could find no cause for grumbling.

WEST STANLEY.

Annual show held Nov. 8 and 9. Although the society has been in existence several years they have always previously contented themselves with holding members' shows, and this year is the first time they have ventured with an open event, and it is to be hoped that it will prove to be a financial success. A large mining centre like West Stanley, abounding with keen fanciers, is quite capable of holding a big show, and as they have very capable men at the head of affairs, we have no doubt that, with a little more support from outside fanciers, they will soon become one of the principal shows of the North. The Hibernian Hall was engaged for this show, and it is, without a doubt, one of the finest and most comfortable halls we have yet been in. Lofty and roomy, and kept at a suitable temperature, the only fault we could find with it was the want of a little more top light, otherwise it is practically an ideal place for a show. Entries, though not bad, were scarcely up to the expectations of the committee. The exhibits were splendidly arranged, the staging being quite a treat, the whole effect being very neat and pleasing to the eye. The energetic secretary, Mr. Wm. Elliott, had everything in grand working order, the whole of his work being carried out with accuracy and precision, and he got through his arduous duties splendidly and without the slightest hitch. It would be difficult to find a more genial and courteous secretary than he, and his success in again winning the silver cup in the British and Foreign section for the third year in succession was a very popular one, the cup now becoming his own property. That keen and popular Northern exhibitor, Mr. W. H. Butler, as chairman of the society, heads a grand body of workers, and it would be difficult to overestimate the great services he renders to the club, his keenness and great ability for work being a grand incentive to those under him. He is well backed up by such splendid fanciers as Mr. R. Peart (treasurer), and Messrs. W. Boyd, J. Hunter, S. Foster, W. Thompson, J. Emmerson, T. Burdon, J. Robson, J. Culvert, and M. Crosby, all of them doing their best to make the show a success. A very regrettable incident was the non-arrival of the team of Mr. G. Edwards (Leominster), the birds not arriving until the Saturday morning, the day after judging. We understand that the birds had been at Newport show, and were to have come direct to West Stanley, but whoever is responsible for the delay deprived Mr. Edwards of the opportunity of exhibiting his team here, and it is quite possible that had his birds arrived in time some of the awards might have been different. The "gate" came up very well, and with a good sale of tickets the officials were confident that the show would be a success. Winners of section specials were: Norwich, W. H. Butler; Crests, R. S. Bewick; Yorkshires, L. Dykes; Borders, W. Espie; A.O.V., J. Risebrough; Mules, J. Maddison; British, W. H. Butler; Foreign, J. Scott. Mr. G. Bates won the members' silver cup for most points with three nominated birds, and Mr. W. Elliot, as mentioned above, the silver cup for most points in British and Foreign. Sandiford's medal went to Mr. W. Smith with a very hot yellow Norwich. The judges were Messrs. A. Brown, Canaries, and F. Marwood the remainder.

The Critique.

NORTHWOOD.

Fourth annual show held Oct. 31, in the Church Hall. The arrangements were carried out in a way which left nothing to be desired. Mr. P. J. Barnes makes a most admirable secretary, and his efforts were ably backed up by a hard-working committee consisting of Messrs. Everitt, Fisher, Franklin, Prince, Reason, Waller, Wright and Brookman. Mr. F. J. S. Chatterton judged, and seemed to please everyone. CANARIES (three classes amalgamated) (9): 1, 4, Boffin; 2, hc, Fox; 3, res, Buckingham; vhc, hc, Dumbleton; hc, Nichols. NAT. COL. HIGHGATE, HAMPSTEAD C.B.S.

Fifth annual exhibition, held at Spencer Hall, Nov. 8 and 9. Again the committee have to register a success; this time under the most adverse circumstances. Owing to the resignation of the hon. sec., Mr. Clarke, not long before the show, Herculean efforts had to be made to save the event from collapse. Mr. J. Hyde, with a self-sacrifice which is commendable, stepped into the breach, and in his work received the greatest possible assistance from Mr. Shakespeare and from Mr. C. W. Law, who held the post of secretary with great distinction prior to the advent of Mr. Clarke. The various members of the committee also rendered willing aid, with the result that a splendid list of specials was got together, the whole of the details well arranged, and a splendid entry obtained. The members were delighted, and numerous congratulations were showered on the above hard-working officials and others who rendered aid. Quality throughout was of a very high standard, particularly in Norwich and Yorkshires. The Touche silver challenge cup fell to a splendid yell., unflg. Norwich, shown in the novice section by Mr. W. H. Wills, who received many compliments on his win. In addition this bird won special for best in novice section. Mr. Jones won special for best Yorks., and Mr. Hyde won Mr. Street's colour prize; Messrs. Lovegrove and Lovegrove won Sandiford's medal. A good number of fanciers visited the show. Competition all round was very keen, and it will be seen that the novices made a bold and successful bid for the challenge cup. In many cases in this section, however, birds would have done better if more attention had been paid to washing and staging. Amongst the more prominent exhibitors will be found Messrs. Lovegrove and Lovegrove, Cowie and Elton, Dann, Sparke, C. W. Law, H. T. Jones, Byne, Hyde, Knight, Bush, Kent, Wills, Walmsley, Wakefield, Street, Trigger, Gill, Millsom, Withers, Johnston, Day, Mrs. Giddy, etc., etc. Mr. Geo. Gardner judged, and his awards were well received.

HALIFAX.

Halifax O.S. held their 23rd annual show, Nov. 8th and 9th, in the Friendly and Trades' Hall. They had issued a good schedule, catering for each section with a nice number of classes, and they were rewarded with a total entry of 612, an average of nearly 16 per class. Yorkshires came up well, both in quality and number, the best of them being on view; Norwich were also fair in number for this district, and some very good birds were put down. The British, etc., sections were a failure in regard to numbers, though the quality of the winners was of a very high order. The novice classes were very good in both quality and numbers. Halifax can always raise a good band of workers, and this year was no exception to the rule. The able secretary, Mr. H. Clegg, and his assistant, Mr. Fred Burdekin, worked hard, and had matters splendidly in hand. They were well backed up by Mr. T. Pilling president, Messrs. J. Mottram, S. Haigh, and J. J. Dunn, vice presidents; Messrs. Rose, Ball, Robertshaw, Priestley, McPherson, J. Burdekin, Woodhead, Spenk, Child, Horsman, Dewhirst, Benn, Walsh, Townsend and others, a list of fanciers which guarantees that all passed off with the greatest of precision. A good number of sectional specials were offered, the winners being: Most points, classes 1-11, Messrs. Ogden Bros.; 12-16, Mr. Rowland; 17-22, Mr. Heap; 23-27, Dr. Wilson; 28-29, Mr. Mottram; 30-37, Mr. S. Binns; 38-39, Messrs. Hudson and Birbeck tie. Most points by novice in Yorks. Greens, Mr. Sharp; most points class 37, Mr. Mann. Mr. J. Rohertshaw won sp. for best bird bred by member. Hyde's prize, Mr. Clegg, Mr. Thomas the Ramsden cruet, and Messrs. Heap and Holroyd each won a Sandiford medal. The room is a new one for this show, and answers the purpose admirably. Messrs. W. A. Cowgill, Bradford, and A. G. Davis, Manchester, officiated as judges, their awards meeting with full satisfaction.

DOVER.

Twelfth annual show, held in the Market Hall, Nov. 6 and 7. The exhibition was opened by the Mayor and was quite a success; the entries came up well, and the quality was top-top. Some grand Norwich were shown by Mr. Wickham, who won sp. for best. Yorks were a hot lot, Mr. Leaver winning two cups with a grand clear yellow. British were also good, especially Bullfinches and Linnets. Mr. W. R. Miles judged, and his decisions were very well received. The staging of the birds was under the special supervision of Messrs. Reeve, Leaver, Brown and Rayner, who saw that their every requirement was effectively supplied, and nothing was left undone. The hon. secs., Messrs. Abbott and Austen, had everything well in hand; catalogues with awards were out in good time, and it is satisfactory to record that the efforts of such hard-working officials were crowned with the success which they deserved.

The Critique.

NOR. CL. YELL. (7): 1, Wickham, fine bouncing bird, good head, short neck, nicely packed wings and tail, good col. and qual., takes sp. for best Norwich; 2, Easton, fine size, but not the quality or finish of winner, inclined to open his tail at times; 3, vhc, Meades, good type, nice qual. and col.; 4, c, Taylor, typical bird; hc Kilby. BUFF (7): 1 4, Taylor, former grand type and qual., red hot col., might be a bit better in head; 4th, nice exhibit; 2, Wood, grand head, nice silky feather, bit down in colour; 3, Kilby, nice body, good type and colour; vhc, Wickham; hc, Meades; c, Smith. REPEATING OF ADVERTISEMENTS

Advt. Manager. "Cage Birds."

ALWAYS USE OUR

DEPOSIT SYSTEM.

We are not responsible for the statements made in advertisements, nor of the bona-fides of either buyers or sellers in all transactions the adoption of our Deposit System should be insisted upon

IMPORTANT.

SEND THE FULL COMMISSION.—If the full commission does not accompany the deposit, the vendor will not be notified of its receipt until the amount deficient, plus the extra postage incurred, has been paid to us.

HOW TO REMIT.—Under no circumstances will Cheques or Post-dated Money Orders be accepted as deposits. Uncrossed Postal Orders must be sent and the numbers taken for safety.

RULES.

1.—PROCEDURE.—The intending purchaser should send to this office the amount of the purchase (our deposit fee included), and at the same time he should communicate with the seller, stating what it is he requires sent on approval. We acknowledge receipt of the deposit to both parties. In all cases the depositor should give his name and address, and also that of the vendor, and must write same clearly and distinctly.

2.—END OF TRANSACTION.—The deposit is retained by us until we hear from both parties that the transaction has been completed. If a sale has been effected, we hand the amount deposited to the seller. If a sale has not been effected, we return the amount to the depositor. The transaction must be conducted by the parties themselves. We merely hold the deposit.

3.—AMOUNT OF COMMISSION.—The fee is 6d. for each £1, or fraction of £1, and it must be sent at same time as the deposit.

4.—IMPORTANT POINTS.—The depositor must decide within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the goods whether he will keep or return the same, unless, that is, some other period of approval (of which we must be advised) is agreed upon by both parties. The depositor must at the same time notify us of the fact that he has returned the goods. If the goods are not returned within the said forty eight hours, we reserve the right to send the deposit to the seller after the expiration of that period. And should the seller fail within three days to notify us of the receipt of his goods back again, the transaction will be treated as ended, and the deposit will be returned to the depositor.

5.—A SATISFACTORY PURCHASE.—When a transaction has been completed to the satisfaction of both depositor and seller, both parties must at once return the deposit receipts as a guarantee of its completion. The depositor must at the same time instruct us to pay over the deposit to the seller.

6.—GOODS ALREADY SOLD.—If the goods are sold before our deposit note reaches the seller, or if for any other reason he declines to do business, he must at once return the deposit note to us. Failing its receipt, we reserve the right to return the deposit to the sender after the expiration of three days.

7.—FRESH TRANSACTION.—In case no sale be effected, a deposit is available for purposes of a fresh transaction, provided another deposit fee be paid.

8.—GOODS IN TRANSIT.—Goods in transit are at the seller's risk, and any damage or loss sustained on the journey must be borne by the seller. But goods not approved of must be properly packed and returned by the same means as were used in sending the same.

9.—PAYMENT OF CARRIAGE.—The payment of carriage must be a matter for arrangement between the vendor and depositor. We do not undertake to settle disputes affecting question of carriage. But in the absence of other arrangements the purchaser is liable for the carriage of the goods, and if the goods are sent on approval and returned, each party pays the carriage one way.

10. DISPUTES.—In case of a dispute, the decision of the Editor is final.

in superb value is assured you by purchasing your catching appliances from me. Only practical men who thoroughly understand their work are employed by me, and no expense is spared to insure every article being of highest possible value and service. To test the truth of this statement I cordially invite any person to have any of my catching appliances on approval, put them to every reasonable test against those obtained from elsewhere at higher prices, and if mine are not far better value smash them up, and I will refund every penny of your money. Surely this will convince even the most sceptical person that my goods are what I claim for them. Clap nets made from superfine thread netting, ¾in. mesh, 3 yards long, 5½ft. deep, and 4ft. fly, 4s. pair; ditto 4 yards, 5s.; 5 yards, 6s.; 6 yards, 7s.; 7 yards, 8s.; 8 yards, 9s.; 9 yards, 10s.; 10 yards, 11s. all per pair. Clap nets consist of two nets to the pair, each net guaranteed of above stated size, and are fitted complete with all pegs, poles, lines, etc., ready for immediate use. Loose thread netting as used in above clap nets ¾in. mesh, 7ft. deep, 3d. yard; 9ft. deep, 4d. yard; 12ft. deep, 5d. yard. Extra stout netting 5-8 mesh, for use on rough ground and on sparrow nets, 10ft. deep, 5d. yard, all post free. Batfolding sparrow nets, fitted on 15ft. bamboo poles, 5s. 6d.; ditto, on 19ft. poles, 6s. 6d. complete. Lark nets, ready lined and geared, 15yds. by 12ft., 12s.; ditto, 20yds., 17s.; ditto, 30yds., 24s. complete. Lark netting, 1¼in. mesh, 12ft. deep, 4d. yard, post free. Self-acting spring net traps, 24 by 13in., 1s. 2d.; ditto, 18 by 14in., 11d. post free. Please note these traps are entirely different to the old-fashioned board traps, they can be baited for hard- and softbill at same time, and call bird can be used inside them if desired. Single trap cages, 6d. each, 5s. dozen; double ditto, 1s. each, 9s. 6d. dozen; treble ditto, 1s. 3d. each, 11s. dozen, all with separate compartment for call bird in addition to the traps stated. Patent self-acting and self-acting trap cages, guaranteed to automatically reset immediately each bird is caught, 1s. 6d. each. Round or square topped call cages all wire tops and wood bottoms, 4d. each, 3s. dozen. Real Japanese bird lime, guaranteed strongest lime made, does not freeze, and will hold birds in wet weather, ¼lb. 6d., ½lb. 10d., 1lb. 1s. 6d., sample 3d., all post free. Please note this line must not be confused with any other so-called Japanese lime, as I have no agents, and only supply the public direct. Others are copying name of my lime, but cannot copy the quality. Rest assured that if you have not purchased from me, you have not got genuine Japanese lime. Italian hemp pull lines, specially spun, free from snarl and twist, 60 yards long, 1s. 4d. each, post free. Flirt pegs and lines, 1s. 3d. post free. Brace swivels, three 3d., twelve 6d., post free. Mr. Hedges, Eastbourne, writes, Sept. 13th.—"Send me special selected cock Goldfinch, Linnet, Greenfinch, and hen Bullfinch for enclosed 10/-; Goldfinch I got from you two years ago won six 1sts and specials; the one I had last year won 3rd, but I lost him." Mr. Veitch, Jedburgh, writes: "Send cock Goldfinch, 3/-, two hen Bullfinches, 3/-. Glad to say Goldfinch purchased from you won me two 1sts Hawick, 1st and special Kelso, 5th Edinburgh (class 33), 3rd Galashiels, twice 2nd at our show." W. Jones, Altrincham, December 6th. "Send two cock Linnets and two cock Siskins. Am pleased to say I won 2nd and 4th at Altrincham open class with birds purchased from you." Mr. Ewan, Kirn, writes: "Goldfinch arrived safe, and won 1st and special at our show." Mr. Wcedall, Winsford, Jan. 30: "Send another good Bullfinch. Glad to say last two have won 1st and 2nd every time shown. Unfortunately best one just died; other won 4th large class at big Crystal Palace Show." Walter Dyke, Longridge: "Send cock Goldfinch and hen Bullfinch. Glad to say Hybrid which I bred from Goldfinch and Bullfinch purchased from you has won 1st Leeds (class 19), 2nd Halifax, 1st Leek, 2nd Hamilton, 2nd Hinckley, 1st Portsmouth." Scores like above every year. Est. 1879. Send for catalogue: Sandiford, Bird Specialist, and Judge, Preston. Also 89, Sclater-st., Shoreditch, London.

AMONG SO MANY

advertisements the intending purchaser is apt to be confused, and cannot make up his mind as to who to send to for his birds. This is just where my approval system comes in. Although I guarantee my stock to be exactly as represented in every way, I don't ask you to purchase anything until you have had it on approval and found it to be exactly what you require, then if you are fully satisfied you keep it, but if not, you simply return it, and I immediately refund you money in full. You cannot lose a penny in this way, as you either get exactly what you want or your money back. I have a splendid stock of genuine cock Worcestershire Goldfinches, in perfect health and condition, and full colour, at 2/- each, three 5/-, six 8/6, twelve 16/-. Few specially picked larger cocks, for muling and singing, and warranted now in free song, 3/- each, three 7/6, six 13/-. Specially selected exhibition birds, with full complement of show points, and fit to win immediately, 4/- and 5/- each. (Please note, real cock Goldfinches, cannot be sold at less than above prices; denial challenged.) Hen Goldfinches, 1/-each, three 2/6, six 4/-, twelve 7/-. Grand lot cock brown Linnets, all with nutbrown back and rose red breasts, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/6. Specially selected cocks, for muling, or contest singing, 1/-, and 1/6 each, three 2/-, six 3/6. Real exhibition specimens, 2/6 each. Please note, these are same sort of Linnets as the scores of dozens I send weekly to contest singers and dealers of Lancashire, Yorkshire, Durham, Staffordshire, etc., etc., and I have sold more contest winners than any man alive. Cock Bullfinches, in superb condition, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 8/6. Exhibition specimens, 5/- each. Hen Bullfinches, 1/- each. Specially picked large rich coloured steady hens, for hybridising, 1/6 and 2/- each. Genuine German hand-reared hens, feed from fingers, 4/- each. Few Siberian cock Goldfinches, full song, 5/- each (all exhibition Siberians, gone from this consignment). Splendid lot cock Siskins, full song, 2/6 each, three 6/6. Few Yellows, with bib, 5/- each. Redpolls, cocks or hens, 6d. each, three 1/3, six 2/-. Cock Greenfinches, 6d. each, three 1/-; large yellows, for show or breeding, 1/- each; cock Chaffinches, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-. (Please note, these Chaffinches have correct finish for London singing.) Exhibition Chaffinches, 2/6 each. Splendid lot cock Skylarks, in perfect condition, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; specially picked steady cocks, in song, 1/- and 1/6 each. These Larks are guaranteed Worcestershire caught, and must not be confused with the French flight birds sold so cheaply. Cock Goldfinch Mules, full song day and gaslight, 6/- each. Cock Hawfinches, to moult for show, 5/- and 7/6 each. Goldfinch Linnet, Bullfinch and Lark cages, 6d. each, 5/- dozen. Special travelling cages, to hold 3 birds, 3d. extra. See back numbers for hundreds of testimonials similar to following: "Gordon House, Shotton Colliery, Co. Durham, Nov. 18th. Sir,—Linnets and Goldfinches I had from you few weeks ago are in full song. I never saw better value from anyone than you give. They are like paint, and steady as rocks. I advised a patient to write you for a Goldfinch to-day, and next week two others are sending you orders. I have always found you to be an honourable man in all my transactions with you, and can trust you. I have also recommended lots of my patients to buy from you, and they have always got entire satisfaction.—Yours, Dr. J. W. Cross." Please note, I guarantee sex in every instance and sell genuine cocks at advertised prices. If you do not happen to be an expert in sexing birds, it will please me if you will have any of my birds examined by any expert you know, so that you will know you are not getting hens for your money, as what is worse than keeping hen birds for singing or trying to breed Mules off a hen Britisher and hen Canary. (Imitators, please copy as usual.) All birds are guaranteed thoroughly on hard seed before sent out, and postcard always sent before birds. If you want thoroughly reliable stock, send to the man who has a 21 years' reputation to uphold. No connection whatever with any other advertiser.

HARRY ALLEN, THE ORIGINAL LINNET KING

Look! 190 have joined my Canary Club. You pay what you like. They all say they are the best toned Canaries ever heard. They will sing in a minute in any window in England. I have a very large stock of high-class Rollers, with a wonderful variety of song, singing day and night, 8s. 6d., 10s. 6d., and schoolmasters, unbeatable, with pure hollow rolls and Nightingale jugginger, 12s. 6d., and one of the best Canaries I have heard for 20 years out of this strain, 21s.; real Siberian cock Goldfinches, with deep square cut scarlet blaze, beautifully tanned, splendid wingbars, well buttoned, real toppers, 5/- 6/6, 7/6, and one you do not see every day, and can win under any judge on the bench, 10/6. This is a champion real English Peartree cock Goldfinch, the largest in England, singing hard, 3/-; sure prize winners for the bench, 4/6, and one, a real champion, can win under any judge, 7/-; exhibition Linnets, for the bench; my A1 specials can yet beat the world for steadiness, size, colour and marking, 2s., and one, a real stormer, 4/-. This class of Linnet has won in all the open shows. I sold a Linnet to Sergeant Simpson, that got first prize at Northallerton show in a class of 10, all champions. Look at the fanciers that were exhibiting in this show. I sold the Linnet that got first prize at Newcastle in a class of 34, shown by that clever fancier, Mr. Fred King. This Linnet won at Bramley, Peterborough, and several other shows, and was sold for £3, so if you want a champion Linnet or Goldfinch, send to me. I keep more Linnets than any man in the world, either house-moulted or field-moulted; contradiction defied. Redpolls. Greenfinches. Yellowhammers, Chaffinches, sure winners for the bench, 1/6. Larks, sure winners, 2/6; Larks, singing, daylight and gaslight, perfect in feather, steady as rocks, 1/6, 2/-, and 2/6; hand-reared cock Larks, will sing anywhere indoors, or out, 3/6; and one, a real gem, cannot be beaten, 4/6, with new cage 5/-; very large cock Bullfinches, perfect cap and bib, 3/-; prize-winner, 4/6. Four splendid house-moulted cock Goldfinches, singing daylight and gaslight, have bred Mules, 7/6, and one, a real gem, 10/6. Linnets taught by the champion Linnet of the world, with new cage and my book of Secrets, 3/6; and one with quality notes, 4/6. Please read what others say. 9, Claypit Terrace, Whitechurch, Salop.—Dear sir,—I received Linnet quite safe. He is a grand bird. I have been done so many times before; but I know now where to send. Thanking you for your straightforward dealings.—Yours, B. Rinshall; to H. Allen. The Aviaries, Holmedale, 39, Argyle Street, Ryde, Isle-of-Wight. Dear sir,—Linnet arrived safe, and he is a grand bird.—P. A. Norris. Breeder and exhibitor, winner of over 2,000 money-prizes, medals, cups, cruets, etc. Hundreds in stock, no waiting; send to your old friend, Harry Allen. Bird Specialist and Judge, City Aviaries, 40, Beckett-st., Leeds. (245)

ST. ANDREASBURG ROLLERS

The world's best songsters. Genuine trained St. Andreasburg Rollers, with full change of song by day and artificial light; birds that are sure to please where sweet, classical singing is required. Cocks, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6 each; pure hens, same strain, 2/6, 3/-, 5/6 each. If you require birds to make loud noises, I have Hartz cocks, real loud, free songsters, the best low-priced birds in England. Cocks, in song by day and gaslight, 4/9, 5/3, 5/9, 6/3 each. Matched pairs, for breeding songsters, 6/9, 7/6, 8/6; illustrated price list of Yorkshires and Norwich, post free. Mr. H. Cole writes: Oct. 29th, 1912: "Rollers received in splendid condition. I am more than pleased with them. The quality of their song will secure you more orders." I guarantee every customer satisfaction. All birds on seven days' approval at my sole risk. Neat travelling cages, 3d. each: E. L. Storey, Practical Bird Specialist, Crowle, Doncaster.

THERE'S ONLY ONE

best, and the best Roller on the market to-day is undoubtedly the Leipzig Roller, as imported by me. I want you to prove the truth of this statement by having a Leipzig Roller from me on trial, and an ordinary Roller from elsewhere at any higher price; test them side by side for a week, and if in your opinion and the opinion of any Roller judge you like to ask, mine is not by far the best value at a lower price, return it to me, and I will instantly refund the whole of your out of pocket expenses. By accepting this offer you cannot possibly lose one penny. I am by far the largest retailer of Roller Canaries in United Kingdom, and this trade has been built up solely by the merits of the birds themselves, and not by lavishly displayed advertisements. I import the birds direct, and am sole importer of Weber's Leipzig Rollers, therefore am enabled to sell birds at far less price than others. At present time I have a splendid stock of these Leipzig Roller cocks in full song day and gaslight, with long, hollow rolls, sweet silvery trills, waterbubble runs, soft roundes, piccolo trill, jug-jug of Nightingale, bell, harp, gong, and flute notes, etc., etc., and warranted entirely free from any harsh or objectionable notes, whatever; price, 6/6 and 7/6 each. Special Bandmasters, which excel in the deep bass and hollow bell rolls, 10/-, and 12/6 each. Hens, guaranteed same strain, 2/- each, 3/6 couple. I have also a splendid stock of loud free singing Hartz cocks (often sold as Hartz Mountain Rollers by unscrupulous dealers), in full, loud, vigorous song day and gaslight, just the thing for public bars or coffee houses, where plenty of loud, noisy song is required, 5/- each, seven for 29/9. All are safely and warmly packed in special travelling cages, with food and water to last 48 hours, free of extra charge, and sent on full week's trial at my sole risk during whole time, either on receipt of cash or "Cage Birds" deposit system, and unless birds prove all I say they are and realise your every expectation, the whole of your money is promptly and cheerfully refunded. Following few letters are entirely unsolicited and full address is given so that any sceptical person may make every enquiry as to their genuineness. "16, Brynteg-terrace, Merthyr Vale, Oct. 23. Sir,—Received birds safe and healthy this morning, and I can tell you I am fully satisfied as they are fine birds and well worth money.—Yours, J. Williams." "Rose Vale Cottage, Windsor-st., Rhyl, Oct. 22nd. Sir.—Very pleased with Roller, which arrived safe, and is doing well. Please send another for enclosed P.O.—Yours, W. Griffiths." "56, Belgrave-st., Nelson. Sir,—I would like you to know about Roller cock you sent me in January. He is a knockout for song. He has sung at 2.30 a.m. this summer, and I have had him singing at midnight. In fact, I can get him to sing any time. He is now moulting, but still gives us a tune. Double the price I paid won't buy him.—Yours, S. Addy." "10, St. Andrew-st., Dublin, Oct. 20th. Sir.—The Leipzig Roller I got from you two years ago is better than ever; he is doing so well and in such grand song that I have been offered twice as much as I paid for him, but will not part.—Yours, T. Henry." "26, Nelson-st., Low Moor, Clitheroe, Oct. 18. Sir,—Please send me one of your world-famed Leipzig Rollers, price 7/6. I had one of your Rollers before, and was well satisfied with it. I have had a little experience with Rollers, and can assure you if I get one as good as last I shall be well repaid.—Yours, R. Hitchin." "6, Fell Avenue, Blaydon-on-Tyne, Oct. 25th. Sir,—Birds arrived safe and sound, with which I am delighted. They are two splendid birds, and I could not wish for better. Please send following.—Yours, Geo. Robson." "Halberton, Tiverton, Oct. 5th. Sir,—Roller cock I had from you last year is a beauty, and giving great satisfaction.—Yours, W. Harris." "7, Primrose Hill, Northwich, October 10.—Sir,—Received pair Canaries safe and in good health. They are two nice birds, and I am well satisfied.—Yours, S. Lyons." "20, Tuson-st., Preston, Lancs., Oct. 23. Sir,—Please send one Leipzig Roller cock and 5 hens for enclosed P.O. I have been well recommended to give you my order.—Yours, F. Ridding." "3, Blawarthill-st., Yoker, Glasgow, Oct. 26. Sir,—Bird arrived quite safe, and in best condition, and I am very pleased with it. Thanking you for prompt attention.—Yours, J. Cooper." "I have hundreds of similar testimonials, all open for inspection any time. Please note I am the only importer of this strain of Rollers, and all cocks are stamped on wing "Hans Weber, Leipzig." Save all dealers' profits by sending orders direct to me. (See British Bird and Appliance columns for other advertisement.) (245)

which is proved by the champions we have bred, sold and exhibited for over 30 years, winning thousands of prizes, championships, cups, bowls, medals, etc., at leading shows throughout England, including three times championship Crystal Palace. This season we have supplied some of the biggest champions out, which are winning leading shows. It is a well-known fact that exhibitors keep the best for themselves, but as we cannot follow the shows, all our winners are for sale, including some real gems, fit for Palace or swell shows; also clinking lot of stock birds, the best money can buy, possessing plenty of length, full of style, and feathered like wax, the sort that do breed champions. Cocks or hens, yellow or buff, from 7/6, 10/6, 15/-, 20/-, 30/- each; approval: we guaranteed satisfaction, or return money in full: Messrs. QUALITY WINS

Do you want to improve your stock? if so, get the best. If you are a beginner, be sure you start with good quality birds. They are always the best, therefore the cheapest. Do not be misled by unshapely crossbreds, but have reliable pure bred birds, on seven days' approval at my risk, so that you may judge the value I give. I have had many years' experience, and supplied many winners to my customers. I have none reserved; every bird is for sale; that accounts for my customers doing so well. My Yorkshires are all bred from the very best of high-class exhibition birds, full of quality, of standard length, light in feather, etc. Cocks, on song, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6 each; hens, 3/-, 3/6, 4/-, 4/6 each; matched pairs, properly mated to breed the right stuff, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-.
